SECTION 1 – INTRODUCTION AND OVERVIEW

1.1 Introduction

This policy sets forth the philosophical, legal, practice, and procedural issues which currently apply to Youth services in West Virginia. This material is based upon a combination of requirements from various sources including but not limited to: social work standards of practice; accepted theories and principles of practice relating to services for troubled children; chapter forty-nine of the Code of West Virginia; case decisions made by the West Virginia Supreme Court; and, the Adoption and Safe Families Act. Youth Services is a specialized program which is part of a broader public system of services to children and families.

1.2 Philosophical Principles

Philosophical beliefs about children and families involved with the Juvenile Justice System are the single most important variable in the provision of quality Youth Services. Thoughts about families, our interactions with them, the decisions made independently and with families and children, and how the community is involved to assist them are determined in advance by what is believed.

The most basic and powerful influence of helping in Youth Services is expressed by consistently applying professional beliefs and values. The following philosophical principles represent the social work orientation to Youth Services.

Youth Services is child-centered and family focused. The aim is to strengthen the functioning of the family unit, while assuring adequate protection for the child, family and community.

All Youth Services interventions should be directed by helpfulness.

Juvenile offenses are multi-faceted problems which affect the entire community. A coordinated, multi-disciplinary effort which involves a broad range of community agencies and resources is essential for an effective Youth Services program.

It is best to keep children with their parents when safety can be controlled.

The public has a right to a safe and secure community.

Whenever an offense occurs then an obligation by the juvenile offender occurs.

Families have a right to be involved in the casework process.

Effective intervention requires that Youth Services respond in a non-punitive noncritical manner and offer help in the least intrusive manner possible.

1.3 Mission

West Virginia's Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR), Bureau for Children and Families (BCF) provides an accessible, integrated, comprehensive, quality service system for West Virginia's children, families and adults to help them achieve maximum potential and improve their quality of life. In fulfilling this mission, West Virginia's children, families, and adults are given the opportunity to achieve well-being, safety, and independence.

1.4 Purposes

The primary purposes of Youth Services interventions are to provide services which alter the conditions contributing to unacceptable behavior by youth involved with the Department system; and to protect the community by controlling the behavior of youth involved with the Department.

1.5 Roles

The Youth Service Worker has the following roles:

- Problem Identifier – The social Worker gathers, studies, and analyzes information about the child and the family. The Worker also offers help to families in which risk is identified for the child, the family or the community and secure safety for all involved.
- Case Manager – In this capacity the social Worker assesses family problems and dynamics which contribute to the delinquent behavior and plans strategies to eliminate risk to youth, family and community. The end result being to effect change in the family. The Worker orchestrates all the planning for the family including referrals, services and follow-up activities related to the case and facilitates the use of agency and community systems to assist the child and family. The Worker also reviews client progress, maintains accurate documentation and records, and advocates for the youth and family by supporting, creating and promoting the helping process.
- Treatment Provider – The social Worker works directly with the youth and the family as a role model encourages motivation and facilitates problem solving and decision making on the part of the youth and the family.
- Permanency Planner – The child's Worker in coordination with the Multidisciplinary Treatment Team develops a detailed plan that addresses the permanency needs of the child. The Worker is responsible for ensuring that the services provided to the child and families are in coordination with the child's identified permanency plan. In addition, the Worker must also have a concurrent permanency plan for which services are coordinated in case the primary permanency plan no longer becomes appropriate.

The Youth Services Supervisor has the following roles:

- Administrator - The supervisor makes decisions on specific case activities, case assignments and on relevant personnel matters. The supervisor also regulates the practice of social Workers with Youth Services cases and ensures the quality of practice. The supervisor serves as a link between Workers and community resources and with administrative staff.
- Educator - The supervisor plans and carries out activities related to the professional development of staff.
- Coach - The supervisor motivates and reinforces staff in the performance of their duties.

1.6 Legal Basis

Youth Services stems from both a social concern for the care of children and from a legal concern for the rights of children. Although state statute (chapter forty-nine of the Code of West Virginia) does not contain the term Youth Services it is clear from the statutes that the Department has a legal obligation to provide assistance to children and families involved with the Juvenile Justice System. The Department has chosen the term Youth Services as the designation for the services provided to meet our obligations under the Juvenile Justice Statutes. These obligations are set out in chapter 49 of the Code. Excerpts from Chapter 49 regarding these obligations are included here. However, reference should be made to the entire Chapter and to Chapters 27, 48 and 61 which contain the statutes for Mentally Ill persons, Domestic Relations and Crimes and Their Punishments. The statutes may be found within FACTS (go to FACTS, Help, Court/Legal, WV Code) or on the internet at www.legis.state.wv.us.

The Youth Services casework process is based on an analytical model for problem solving. This includes an assessment of safety throughout the life of the case, choosing among alternative treatment strategies and continuously evaluating the effectiveness of selected strategies. The process is based on several principles:

- It is sequential, activities are ordered and continuous.
- The process is logical, based on reason and inference.
- It uses a unified, reflective coherence.
- The process is progressive, based on step-by-step procedures.
- There is interconnectedness between the steps of the process based on progression.
- Flexibility is critical due to the dynamic nature of Worker-client interaction.
- Flexibility allows the Worker to respond spontaneously to the clients' needs.

The casework process consists of a number of basic steps. The steps can vary depending on whether or not there is involvement of the court. In general the process will proceed as follows:

- Intake
- Referral acceptance, screen out and refer the family to appropriate resources if necessary
- Completion of the Youth Behavior Evaluation on all accepted referrals
- Completion of the Comprehensive Assessment and Planning evaluation on all cases in which the youth is before the court
- Development of a case plan
- Service provision

SECTION 2 - INTAKE

2.1 Intake

Intake is a distinct step in the Youth Services decision making process. Intake involves all of the activities and functions which led to a decision on how to identify referrals for Youth Services and the determination of what steps should be taken by the Department. The Intake process consists of the documentation of referral information and the supervisory screening of the referral to determine appropriate action. The primary purposes of intake are: to assist the reporter in providing information; to interpret to families and the community what Youth Services are; to evaluate the youth and the youth's family situation to determine whether intervention is warranted; to gather sufficient information to make necessary decisions; and to refer families and children to appropriate agencies/services when indicated.

The primary purpose of intake is to identify cases that require intervention by Youth Services. During this process the Worker will attempt to explore with the reporter, insofar as possible, the allegations being made to determine whether or not Youth Services intervention is warranted.

At the conclusion of the interview of parents if the determination is that Youth Services Intervention is not warranted, the intake process will be terminated.

In some instances, the referral is made by someone other than the parent(s) and the Worker may not interview the parent(s) until after the intake is approved and assigned in FACTS. If, after interviewing the parent(s), a determination is made that Youth Services intervention is not warranted, documentation should be completed in the Intake and then it should be Screened Out.

A reply to the reporter, especially in the case of school Attendance Officers, will be made by fax or telephone. For this reason it is crucial that the Worker completing the intake be as thorough as possible in documenting the referent's information.

2.2 Intake Process

When gathering information from the referent the Worker, in general will:

- Interview the reporter, probing for information in all areas and clarifying information and attitude conveyed by the reporter and whenever possible, recording exactly what the reporter says.
- Ask the referent questions in a non-leading and open-ended manner.
- Listen closely for tone of voice, voice level, rushed speech, contradictions in information and attitude conveyed by the reporter.
- Elicit information by using appropriate communication techniques including expressing feeling, support, educational and reality-orienting techniques.

When interviewing the referent, the Intake Worker will attempt to specifically gather information in the following areas and record that information accurately.

- Obtain the reporter's name, address, and contact information.

- Record relevant demographic information about the youth and the family (names of all members of the household and their relationship to the youth, address and telephone numbers, dates of birth, sex, race, social security numbers; schools, non-custodial parents).
- Record the reporter's relationship to the youth and the family, why the reporter is making a referral at this time, and whether the family knows the report is being made.
- Obtain the concerns of the reporter.
- Clarify the referent's statements whenever necessary.
- Determine other individuals who may be able to contribute further information.
- Determine what may be expected as a result of the referral.
- Determine whether the referent is aware of previous involvement with Youth Services or Child Protective Services.

When gathering information from the reporter the Worker will:

- Enter the Parent or Caregiver as the case name.
- Interview the reporter, probing for information in all areas and clarifying referent's statements whenever necessary.
- Complete all intake screens in FACTS and document where information is incomplete or unavailable.
- Be sure to check the appropriate box for the source of the referral. This is critical when the referral is made by a Juvenile Probation Officer as checking the appropriate box will cause the Notification Date and hearing Screens to become mandatory.
- Note the attitude of the reporter and document the appropriateness of the referent.
- Forward the referral to the Youth Services Supervisor's In-box in FACTS.

2.3 Documentation of the Referral

After the Worker has completed interviewing the referent then the Worker will complete the screen in FACTS necessary to document the referral and send to their supervisor for review and approval.

2.4 Screening Process

Screening is the term used to describe the process by which the supervisor reviews the information gathered at intake and decides what actions should be taken in regard to the referral. The actions to be taken may depend in part on who made the referral. For example: a referral from a Juvenile Probation Officer may never be screened out (See G below).

The first step in the screening process is to determine if the information gathered at intake is sufficient. If the information is not sufficient then the Youth Services supervisor may contact the referent personally or direct the Intake Worker to do so.

Once the supervisor has determined that the information gathered at intake is sufficient then the supervisor will make one of the following decisions: screen out the referral, involve child protective services, refer the family to a community services provider, or open a case for youth services.

A. Screen Out the Referral

A referral for Youth Services may be screened out for the following reasons:

- The report is blatantly false.
- There are no children involved and the youth in question is eighteen or older.
- There is not sufficient information to locate the family.
- The referral is not appropriate for Youth Services but appears to require Child Protective Services involvement only.
- The family does not live in West Virginia.
- Behaviors described are within normal limits for the youth's age and functioning level.
- The report is a duplicate and the case is already being, or has been, appropriately addressed.
- The report is made on a person who does not fall within the target population served by Youth Services.

B. Involve Child Protective Services

When a Youth Services Worker or Supervisor suspects a child is abused or neglected or subject to conditions that are likely to lead to abuse or neglect, a Child Protective Services referral must be made. A Child Protective Services referral may be made at any point in the Youth Services Casework Process including upon receipt of the youth services referral, upon initiation of the referral or when the Youth is in Foster Care and the parents are negligent in performing their parental duties. It is possible that a family may be appropriate for both Youth Services and Child Protective Services. If no Youth Services issues exist, then the family will be opened as a Child Protective Services case and assessed by Child Protective Services.

In addition, if there is or has been previous Child Protective Services involvement, then the Youth Services Supervisor will consult with the appropriate Child Protective Services Supervisor regarding the case.

C. Refer the Family to a Community Services Provider

If in the opinion of the Worker the juvenile is not presenting a risk to himself, his family or his community then the Worker may recommend that a referral be made to a non-paid community provider. (A community services provider is an agency that provides services that could address the issues raised in the referral at no cost to the family. Some examples may be a Family Resource Center, Big Brothers /Big Sisters, the Salvation Army, The YWCA or YMCA and so on.) An appropriate referral may also be made to a provider who accepts Medicaid or private insurance for behavioral/mental health needs.

A review to determine whether community agencies may best serve the family should be made often. The ability of community resources to meet the needs of the family and youth will directly impact involvement of Youth Service staff. In the instance when a court-involved Youth has a referral made to a community agency at the dispositional court proceeding, and the judge deems these services sufficient to meet the needs of the family and Youth, the court may dismiss the proceeding.

To make a recommendation for a referral to a community services provider the Worker will take these actions in FACTS:

- On the Request for Services screen select the Accept/Screen Out tab;
- From the pick list associated with this screen select Screen Out and Refer for Services; and,
- Click on the approval button to send to the supervisor for review.

The supervisor will:

- Review the information from the Request to Receive Services Screens to determine whether sufficient information has been entered to justify the Intake Worker's recommendation;
- If the supervisor agrees with the Worker's recommendation then the supervisor will approve the intake and assign the referral to a Worker.

Upon assignment of the referral the Worker will:

- Contact community services providers in the area to discuss the referral and pick the most appropriate service to match the needs of the family and/or juvenile; and,
- Notify the family and the agency by mail that the referral has been made.

The family may refuse to cooperate with the community based services. The Department cannot require participation. If no Child Protective Services concerns have been reported or discovered, then the case may be closed. However, if it is felt that a child under the age of 18 is subject to conditions where abuse or neglect is likely to occur or behavior control influences are documented, a Child Protective Services referral must be made.

D. Open a Case for Youth Services

If the intake information indicates that there is significant risk to the youth, the youth's family or the community, or that Behavior Control Influences are present, then a case will be opened and assigned to a Worker. Once a case is accepted for services, a Youth Services Worker will be dispatched to the youth's home to complete the Youth Behavior Evaluation (Youth Behavioral Evaluation).

2.4.1 Referral from Juvenile Probation Officers

Juvenile Probation Officers (JPO) are required by statute to notify the Department when a petition alleging that a child is a status offender or a delinquent is filed and it appears that the Department will become involved in providing services to the juvenile and the juvenile's family, which may include a program of treatment or therapy.

All referrals from Juvenile Probation Officers which meet these criteria will be accepted and assigned to a Worker without exception.

Note: It is important to remember that a JPO or other court official may call and request that a Youth Services Worker be present for a hearing in front of a magistrate or circuit court judge. In these instances the supervisor will direct the Youth Services Worker to attend the hearing even if no advance notice is given. All situations are unique, however according to W. Va. Code § 49-4-714(b) following the adjudication, during the mandated dispositional proceeding, all parties are given an opportunity to be heard. The Youth Service Worker, agency representatives or any other person who may assist in providing recommendations for the particular needs of the family and the juvenile shall be given an opportunity to be heard by the court. If a juvenile is placed in the custody of the Department as a result of a hearing then a case will be opened and assigned.

If a juvenile charged with delinquency is transferred to adult jurisdiction, the court order should be documented and the Youth Services intake reviewed for closure.

2.5 Notification of Detention – Status Offenders

W. Va. Code § 49-4-705(b), allows a law-enforcement officer to take a juvenile into custody absent a court order under certain limited circumstances: 1) grounds exist for the arrest of an adult in identical circumstances; 2) emergency conditions exist which pose imminent danger to the health, safety and welfare of the juvenile; 3) the juvenile is a runaway; 4) the juvenile is a fugitive; 5) the juvenile has been driving under the influence of any amount of alcohol; or 6) the juvenile is a named respondent in an emergency domestic violence petition. If the juvenile is an alleged status offender the law-enforcement officer may notify the Department that the child has been taken into custody and will be detained in a non-secure or staff-secure facility.

Any such notification should be considered a referral for Youth Services unless there is already an open case involving the juvenile. All such referrals should be sent to the supervisor as soon as possible after the information has been entered into FACTS.

2.6 Recurrent Referrals

The term “recurrent referrals” means that more than one report has been received involving the same youth. Recurrent referrals may come from the same source as the original, adding more information to the first contact, or from a different source.

If the Youth Services Supervisor, after reviewing the initial report, decides that the information did not appear to meet the criteria for opening a Youth Services case, then the case most likely would have been screened out. However, if the supervisor receives more than one referral from a concerned individual, or individuals, related to the same youth then the Youth Services Supervisor should consider the new information and make a decision on whether it has merit and meets the eligibility criteria. The Youth Services Supervisor will decide whether to assign the case to a Youth Services Worker for follow up. If the Youth Services Supervisor remains undecided, after reviewing and evaluating multiple referrals, then the Youth Services

Supervisor should consult with the Community Services Manager or Program Manager in his or her district for direction on how to proceed.

2.7 Response Times

The Youth Behavioral Evaluation, which is critical to the case process, will be completed within 15 days on all referrals. The probation officer shall notify the Department at least fifteen working days before the court proceeding in order to allow the Department sufficient time to convene and develop an individualized service plan for the juvenile. These referrals from Juvenile Probation Officers will need to be assigned immediately and the Youth Behavioral Evaluation completed within 15 working days.

Should the court order services to the family, the Worker will provision these in FACTS through the Service Log. The case process for court involved cases and non-court cases will follow the same workflow and be bound by the same response times.

Workers and supervisors should feel comfortable with self-regulation of referral processing within a fifteen-day timeframe.

2.8 Juvenile Petitions

W. Va. Code § 49-4-704(e) requires the circuit clerk to notify the Department whenever a petition alleging that a child is a status offender or a juvenile delinquent is filed in circuit court. Another form of petition may result from a domestic violence petition filed pursuant to West Virginia Code § 48-27-403 by or on behalf of the juvenile's parent, legal guardian or other person with whom the juvenile resides that results in the issuance of an emergency protective order naming the juvenile as the respondent shall be treated as a petition arising under W. Va. Code § 49 Article 4 Part VII, alleging the juvenile is a juvenile delinquent. The statutes do not specify the form that the notification must take. It is assumed that practice may vary from circuit to circuit. For example: In some circuits a copy of all juvenile petitions may be sent to the Community Services Manager or to another person in the Community Services District. In some circuits a list of all petitions may be sent to the CSM or another staff person.

Each Community Services district is responsible for developing a protocol for storing the information in a confidential manner and for keeping track of the petitions that have been filed. It is recommended that a spread sheet format be developed to keep track of the petitions. The information contained in the spread sheet: petition date; county where the petition was filed; youth's name; parent(s)' name; case number (if applicable); physical location of paper petition; and, whether or not the petition is for a status offense or delinquency.

2.9 Notification to Referents

The Youth Services Referral Feedback Form is generated from FACTS, advising the referent that appropriate action is being taken to address the concerns reported. The letter will be mailed to the referent within 72 hours of receipt of the referral.

SECTION 3 – FAMILY ENGAGEMENT

3.1 Importance of Family Engagement in Youth Services

The importance of engaging the entire family to understand and solve the problems which have brought the youth to the attention of Youth Services cannot be understated. Truancy, incorrigibility, breaking curfew, and running behaviors are all symptoms of problems the youth is experiencing. Those problems affect the family unit, and must be addressed by the entire family. Additionally, diligent efforts of the Youth Services Social Worker to identify and locate all relatives and fictive-kin at the earliest contact with the family will be extremely helpful if the youth's behaviors are not controllable by the parent(s) or guardian(s). Utilizing a fit and willing relative or other supportive adult for short respite out-of-home interventions are preferred to placement of the youth in a foster care setting.

The Youth Services Social Worker should use tools such as booklets, videos and brochures, to educate the family on court and child welfare processes. Great care must be taken to ensure family members understand the traumatic and financial impact foster care placement will have on everyone involved.

3.2 Referral for Family Assistance

Stressors on families can come from many sources. Alleviation of some of those stressors may be achieved through addressing the financial, medical and legal needs of the family through referrals for family assistance (TANF, SNAP, etc.), linkage to Affordable Care Act medical insurance or Medicaid, and referral to legal aid or public defenders. Providing this information to families demonstrates compassionate understanding of the larger issues which impact relationships and communication dynamics in the family unit.

3.3 Foster Care Candidacy

In 2006 the definition of who qualifies as a foster care candidate was narrowed, as well as the documentation requirements pertaining to those children. The Administration for Children Youth and Families (ACYF) issued the following policy, ACYF-CB-IM-06-02, dated June 9, 2006, which states: "New section 472(i)... permits a State to claim Federal reimbursement for allowable administrative costs for a potentially title IV-E eligible child who is at imminent risk of removal from the home if: reasonable efforts are being made to prevent the removal of the child from the home or, if necessary, to pursue the removal, and the State agency has made, at least every six months, a determination or redetermination that the child remains at imminent risk of removal from the home."

The Family Service Plan Section 7 states, "Foster Care Candidates are those children and youth who are at imminent risk of removal from their home, absent effective preventative services. A child or youth is at imminent risk of removal from the home if the state is pursuing removal or attempting to prevent removal by providing in-home services. A child or youth is not a candidate for foster care if the planned out of home placement for the child or youth is an arrangement outside of foster care, such as a detention facility or psychiatric residential facility.

The Youth Services Social Worker will print the names of those children who are at imminent risk of removal from the home on the Family Service Plan, under the statement on the form "Identify the child(ren) or youth who are at imminent risk of foster care placement if the preventative services outlined in the case plan are not provided."

The parent(s) and caregiver(s) in the home will sign the Family Service Plan, acknowledging that they understand that should the family not be able to comply with the service plan and meet the goals laid out in it, their child(ren) may be removed from the home.

SECTION 4 - YOUTH BEHAVIORAL EVALUATION

4.1 Introduction

The assessment of a request for Youth Services or the referral for Youth Services from the court sets the stage for the problem validation, service provision and the establishment of a helping relationship. The assessment process includes information gathering and analysis to determine safety needs.

While the process of assessment is occurring the supervisor will conduct regular supervisory meetings with the Youth Services Worker to provide support, guidance and case consultation and to regulate the quality of casework practice.

4.2 Assessment Instruments and Processes

The Department has chosen to use the Youth Behavioral Evaluation (YBE) as the assessment instrument in all Youth Services cases, which is completed first in the process and must be done within 15 days Services of the referral.

In addition, the Department has chosen to use the Comprehensive Assessment Planning System (CAPS) process for those Youth Services cases in which a juvenile is involved with the court. Any juvenile and the juvenile's family who are receiving Youth Services can, if circumstances warrant, receive a CAPS assessment. (See Comprehensive Assessment and Planning Process (CAPS) policy for more information)

4.3 Youth Behavioral Evaluation (Youth Behavioral Evaluation)

The Youth Behavioral Evaluation is the first assessment tool utilized in Youth Services to determine the level of risk; and the presence of behavior control influences presented by the youth completed within 15 days of the referral.

4.4 Youth Behavioral Evaluation Assessment Protocol

With the passage of Senate Bill 393 during the 2015 legislative session, the Youth Behavior Evaluation must be completed for every youth to determine the risk of reoffending. Upon assignment of a referral the Youth Services Worker will:

- Review the report and all other Youth Services and Child Protective Services cases/reports in FACTS, hard files and any other available documentation concerning the family and child;
- Develop a plan for completion of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation taking into account the response times including whether or not the referral was made in conjunction with a court proceeding. The preferable site for interviewing the juvenile and other family members is the juvenile's home. Sometimes this is not possible, or due to the emergent nature of the referral it is preferable to interview the juvenile in another site such as at school.
- Consult with the appropriate Child Protective Services Supervisor or Child Protective Services Worker if the initial referral indicates that there are potential Child Protective Services issues or if there is a history of Child Protective Services involvement;
- Contact the family to set a time and date for the home visit.

4.5 Components of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation

As stated in the preceding section, the Youth Behavioral Evaluation is used to assess the presence of or absence of risk and behavioral control influences. The Youth Behavioral Evaluation consists of a set of questions in each of eleven categories. Those categories are:

- Youth's behavior
- Youth's relationships
- Youth's self-perception
- Youth's mental health
- Youth's academic status
- History and socialization
- Parent//caretaker attitude
- Family history
- Family functioning/management
- Community status
- Neighborhood attachment

Behavioral control influences are those conditions which are currently present in the home and pose a threat to the safety of the juvenile or the juvenile's family or the community. Behavioral control influences include:

- Youth refuses to live at home or is a runaway and has no established residence.
- Youth is suicidal.
- Youth is self-destructive.
- Youth is violent, physically aggressive, or out of control.
- Youth abuses alcohol, drugs, or other dangerous substances.
- Youth inflicts intentional harm to a person, animal, or property without remorse.
- Youth's peer relationships reinforce or promote unacceptable behaviors.
- Youth's parent refuses to let youth live at home and youth has no permanent "appropriate" place to reside.

- Parents do not function in parental role specifically related to controlling a youth's unacceptable or negative behavior and the youth's behavior is a threat to the community or the youth.
- Family members are violent to each other.
- Youth's behavior provokes a serious reaction from others.
- Parent encourages youth to commit delinquent acts.
- Parents request placement because of youth's behavior and their inability to control it.

4.6 Purposes

Youth Services is statutorily charged with the responsibility to make a reasonable effort to prevent placement of youth. A thorough Youth Behavior Evaluation with detailed documentation is integral to that responsibility. The purposes of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation are:

- To determine whether the information gathered through the intake/referral process is accurate;
- To assess the presence of or absence of behavioral control influences which could affect the safety of the youth, the youth's family or the community;
- To secure safety as indicated; and,
- To assure that the parent/caregiver understands the Department's role in providing services to address issues relating to troubled youth.

4.7 Decisions

The decisions that must be made during the administration of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation are:

- Is this a case that warrants Youth Services intervention?
- What is the level of risk to the child?
- What behavioral control influences, if any exist, affect safety?
- If behavioral control influences are present how can safety be assured?
- What is the family's potential for participation with Youth services?

4.8 Interviews

The Youth Services Worker will interview all members of the household, including the parents/caregivers and other children. It may be useful to speak with collateral contacts such as school personnel, a JPO, community service providers, Child Protective Services Workers or other individuals who have knowledge of the youth's situation. In completing the Youth behavior Evaluation, the Worker will:

- Make face to face contact with family members in the family's home, within the specified time frames set forth in this policy.
- Identify him/herself as a Youth Service Worker with the WV Department of Health and Human Resources. Display state employee identification to all family members and any other individuals to be interviewed

- Inform the parent/caregiver of the reason for the visit, giving a brief description of the concerns which have resulted in a visit to the home. Explain that the reason for the visit is that someone has expressed concerns about the youth's behavior and/or safety. Advise the parent/caregiver that the purpose for the visit is to verify whether there is any validity to the referral information received by the Department, and to identify any risk or safety concerns present.

If permission to conduct the investigation is declined by the parent/caregiver, then the Youth Services Worker will explain to the parent/caregiver that s/he, the Youth Services Worker, must discuss the refusal with the Youth Services Supervisor who will provide direction on how to follow up. Document any refusal to cooperate by the family in FACTS.

Provide the parent with the Youth Services Handbook, outlining the Youth Services Program and what we hope to accomplish through intervention. Briefly explain the contents of the booklet and assure the parent/caregiver that, if s/he has any questions regarding the material, then the parent/caregiver is welcome to call the DHHR at the contact information provided and request explanation/clarification. As a part of this explanation the Worker should point out to the family their rights including the right to decide not to receive services, the right to request services and the grievance process.

The Youth Services Worker will provide the parent/caregiver with contact information.

The Youth Services Worker will interview each member of the household separately, if possible. (Some parents may prefer to be present when younger siblings are being interviewed and should be allowed to do so.)

Interview all family members in the following sequence, if at all possible:

- Parent/caregiver
- Youth's siblings
- Identified youth
- Collaterals, as appropriate

If unable to complete all interviews at all or in this order, document the reasons in FACTS.

Make arrangements to interview those individuals not present at a later date, even though this may require returning after regular working hours, to accommodate work schedules of other household members.

Upon completion of the interviews, the Youth Services Worker will reconvene with the parent/caregiver. The Youth Services Worker will share a verbal summary with the parent/caregiver and will summarize the Youth Behavioral Evaluation findings.

If the Youth Services Worker finds that there is a need for safety services, then a Behavior Control Plan will be designed in cooperation with the youth and the parent/caregiver.

4.9 Completion of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation

The Youth Behavioral Evaluation will be completed at the time when sufficient information has been collected and/or at any point in time during the life of the case where a new request for or referral for Youth Services is received and the new information is sufficient enough to suggest that a new assessment is required. The completion of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation within 15 days of the referral requires the Worker to take the following actions.

A. Identifying Risk

The Worker will document the information about risk in FACTS. When weighing information to complete the risk assessment component of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation the Worker will:

- Document the information in FACTS on the screens for the Youth Behavioral Evaluation;
- Document the appropriate information in the narrative section for each of the categories. If the Worker is unable to obtain information about one of the categories then the narrative screen for that category should be left blank.
- Include both positive and negative information for each category.

Place a check mark next to the appropriate risk rating for each category. (The risk rating screen is mandatory if information is entered into the narrative box.) The risk ratings are ranked in order of severity. The Worker should examine the description of the risk ratings and choose the one that mostly closely corresponds to the description entered into the narrative screen. In choosing a risk rating it is not necessary that all of the elements in a particular category be present. The Worker should choose the rating that most closely resembles the majority of the conditions that are usually present.

OVERALL RISK RATING as calculated by the evaluation process determines:

High risk of future status offense/ delinquency	32 to 44
Significant risk of future status offense/ delinquency	24 to 31
Moderate risk of future status offense/ delinquency	16 to 23
Low risk of future status offense/ delinquency	9 to 15
No risk of future status offense/ delinquency	0 to 8

According to W. Va. Code § 49-2-907 (a) should a juvenile be adjudicated delinquent, and the risk rating from the YLS/CMI or the YBE determine the juvenile to be high risk (YBE 32-44 Overall Risk Rating) or who has committed an act or acts of violence, the court may order the juvenile to be delivered into the custody of the Division of Juvenile Services, for transfer to a juvenile diagnostic center for a period not to exceed thirty days. During this period, the juvenile will undergo examination, diagnosis, classification and a complete medical examination and shall at all times be kept apart from the general juvenile inmate population.

B. Identifying Behavioral Control Influences

The Worker will enter information about Behavioral control Influences. When weighing information to complete the Behavioral Influences Component of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation the Worker will:

Determine the presence or absence of any Behavioral Control Influences;

- Identify the Influence or Influences that are present in each category by making the appropriate selection on the FACTS screen. Some categories contain more than one Behavioral Control Influence and the Worker should check all that apply; and,
- If any Behavioral control Influences are present then the Worker must enter the information on the screen to indicate whether an In-Home Behavioral Control Plan will work in this home.

Note: The Behavioral Control Influence screens are not enabled if there is no information entered into the corresponding narrative screen.

C. Request Approval

After entering the information necessary to complete the documentation of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation the Worker will:

- Review all of the screens to make sure that the information is complete and accurate; and,
- Send the Youth Behavioral Evaluation to the supervisor's in-box for review and approval.

4.10 Supervisor Actions

The supervisor will review the Youth Behavioral Evaluation to determine if the information is complete and accurate. If the supervisor has any questions about the information he or she will discuss them with the Worker.

Once the supervisor has determined that the information is complete the supervisor will take the appropriate action to address the Worker's findings.

4.11 Incomplete Assessment

There may be occasions when it is not possible to complete the Youth Behavioral Evaluation. In these instances the supervisor should indicate on the Conclusion Screen that this is an incomplete assessment and select the reason which reflects why the assessment is incomplete. The supervisor can also enter any comments about the assessment in the comments box if they choose to make an explanation of the reasons why the assessment was incomplete.

The supervisor may decide, based on the results of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation, to close the case. This decision can be made when there are no Behavioral Control Influences present and the risk rating indicates that there little or no risk of future status offenses or delinquency.

4.12 Refer to Community Service Provider

The supervisor may decide in some cases of low to moderate risk that the family does not require continued Youth Service intervention but could benefit from a referral to a local service provider. If there is a community service provider who will provide assistance to the family at no charge then the supervisor can choose this option and close the referral or case as appropriate.

4.13 Proceed to Service/Case Planning

The supervisor may decide to direct the Worker to proceed with service or case planning depending on the results of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation for non-court cases. The supervisor will direct the Worker to proceed with case planning if the juvenile is involved in court proceedings.

4.14 Proceed to a CAPS Assessment

If the juvenile is not the subject of a court proceeding then the supervisor should consider whether or not a CAPS assessment is necessary to determine the service needs of the juvenile and the juvenile's family. In general, it is strongly recommended that a CAPS referral be made in the following situations:

- Cases in which Behavioral Control Influences are present;
- Cases with a significant or high risk rating but no Behavioral Control Influences; and,
- Cases in which the juvenile and/or the juvenile's family have previously received non-custodial counseling , Family Support Services or services from a non-paid provider and the services were not effective

4.15 Behavioral Control Plan

A. Introduction

The Behavioral Control Plan is a short term in-home plan that is developed to control those Behavioral Control Influences which pose a threat to the safety of the juvenile, the juvenile's family or the community. The Plan should take into account each identified Influence and specifically address how these Influences will be controlled. In order to fully engage the family in the planning, time should be taken to review assessment results that have been completed thus far. Family members should be encouraged to plan steps that each member can take to immediately impact the influences that lead to the youth's inappropriate behaviors. The family members' involvement in the casework process begins with helping everyone to understand how the Influences pose a threat so that they can gain acceptance and ownership of the Plan.

There is no single model for a Behavioral Control Plan. Each Plan is designed to meet the specific circumstance of an individual juvenile and the juvenile's family. Services may include paid (e.g. safety services) and unpaid providers. These services can be delivered by agencies approved to provide Socially Necessary Services, by agencies which do not charge a fee for services or by friends and relatives.

The Behavioral Control Plan is not intended to alter the conditions which pose a threat to safety but to control them. In order to address the conditions which pose a threat to safety there must be an assessment of the juvenile and the juvenile's family. This information will usually be obtained through a CAPS assessment.

B. Worker Actions

To complete the Behavioral Control Plan the Worker will:

- Create the plan in FACTS;
- Review the identified Behavioral Control Influences and determine which provider(s) are most suited to address them. Providers can be paid or non -paid persons or agencies;
- If the decision is to use Socially Necessary Services such as safety services initiate the referral for these services through FACTS;
- Consider issuing a special medical card if behavioral health services are needed and the family does not receive Medicaid or does not have private insurance which can be used to secure the service (Desk Guide for Special Medical Card can be found at <http://intranet.wvdhhr.org/bcf/pdfs/cf/DESKGUIDE.pdf> and,
- Send the completed plan to the supervisor for review and approval.

After the supervisor has approved the Behavioral Control Plan (BCP) the Worker will print the completed BCP from FACTS and return to the home to discuss it with the juvenile and the juvenile's family.

C. Temporary Placement with Relatives, Friends or Neighbors

In order to provide the parents and child with time apart so that they can calm down and tensions can be deescalated the Worker can explore a temporary alternate caretaking arrangement. If there are relatives or friends of the family who will provide temporary lodging and care for the child then the family may wish to choose this option.

The Worker will need to discuss the arrangements with the family, the child and the alternate caretakers so that everyone is clear about their responsibilities, the conditions surrounding these arrangements including time frames and the conditions under which the arrangement will be terminated.

This placement option is voluntary on the part of the parents and does not involve a transfer of custody to the Department.

D. Temporary Placement in Emergency Shelter Care

In some instances it may be advisable to place the child in Emergency Shelter Care for a period of time until the home situation is calm enough for the implementation of an In-Home Behavioral Control Plan. If such a placement becomes necessary then the family can enter into a Voluntary Placement Agreement with the Department through the execution of an FC-4. In completing the Voluntary Placement Agreement the Worker and the family must carefully consider the responsibilities of the caretakers during the time the agreement is in place including the time limits for the agreement and the conditions under which it can be ended. Within ninety days of signing a voluntary placement agreement (FC-4) and receipt of physical custody of the child, the State Department of Health and Human Resources shall file with the court a petition for review of the placement, stating the child's situation and the circumstance that gives rise to the voluntary placement.

It may be helpful to use a Voluntary placement Agreement until a CAPS evaluation can be completed and an In-Home Behavioral Control Plan implemented.

E. Filing a Petition

Depending on the needs and behaviors of the child the Worker may choose to discuss with the parents the filing a petition. The parents can choose this option and include in the petition a request that their child be detained prior to adjudication and placed in an appropriate detention facility.

F. Court Ordered Placements

Depending upon the circumstances of the Petition the court may place the juvenile in temporary foster care with the Department. In this instance, the Youth Services supervisor and Worker should refer to Foster Care Policy regarding placement procedures. Additionally, the Youth Services Worker will notify the Office of Child Support Enforcement and the Office of Family Support of the child's placement in foster care. The Bureau for Child Support Enforcement is required, by law, to help obtain child support if a child has been placed in Foster Care. Application information and other details on obtaining child support may be found at the Bureau for Child Support Enforcement web site.

SECTION 5 - FAMILY SERVICES PLAN

5.1 Introduction

The family service planning process in Youth Services should be purposeful and planned. Family service planning assures purposeful, logical intervention. Service planning is a deliberate, reasonable, mutually agreed upon strategy to reduce the risk and contributing influences which require Youth Services intervention. Family service planning involves planned action to support a family and its members toward a desired and prescribed outcome. The outcome, if achieved, will reduce the risk which required Youth Services intervention. The likelihood of achieving outcomes is directly related to the appropriateness of family service planning. The most critical and difficult aspect of service planning is agreement and the second is goal setting. Service plans must be client plans, rather than Worker plans. Plans will not work if clients are not invested in them. Clients must be involved if change is to occur.

A. Purposes

The primary purposes of the family service plan are:

- To provide accountability for the Worker to the family and the Department;
- To provide structure for the Worker and the family to follow;
- To serve as the framework for decision making;

- To provide a benchmark for measuring client progress;
- To provide a format for communication with the family;
- To assure a professional approach to helping.

B. Decisions

The decisions that must be made during service planning are:

- Is the plan realistic, specific, creative and manageable;
- Does the plan take into account client capacity and willingness;
- Is the plan founded on information from the Youth Behavioral Evaluation or CAPS;
- Does the plan consider family change and progress;
- Does the plan benefit the family in the most efficient and expeditious manner.

5.2 Involving the Family in Developing the Family Services Plan

In developing the Family Services plan the Worker will:

- Meet with all family members in a planned approach which may include a combination of meetings with individual family members as well as the family as a whole. The order of the interviews is flexible and depends on the particular family and the issues to be addressed.
- Involve the family consistently throughout the planning process. Questions such as “what do you think?” or “how do you feel?” convey interest in their involvement.
- Contact other collateral parties, such as teachers, counselors and other service providers who have information to share that is relevant to service planning; and ask the family what is wanted and needed. A family will likely tell you either directly or through implication.

5.3 The Family Services Plan

For those Youth Services cases that do not involve court proceedings, the Department has chosen to use the Family Services plan as the instrument to guide service delivery. The information to complete the Family services plan is based on:

- The information gathered during the completion of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation and the results of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation; or,
- The information gathered during the completion of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation, the results of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation and the results of the CAPS assessment in those cases in which a CAPS assessment was completed.

The Family Services plan is embedded in FACTS and consists of the following items:

- A statement of the reason or reasons that the Department is involved with the family;
- A description of the strengths of the individual family members;
- A description of the family member’s needs;
- A listing of the goals in priority for the members of the family; and,

- Information about the services to be provided including the provider type, the specific services or services that the provider will deliver, the start date of the services , the frequency of the service and the estimated completion date.

A. Developing the Family Service Plan

In completing the Family Service Plan the Worker will meet with all family members as a group to discuss the information to be entered into the plan. The Worker will involve the family in deciding upon the words that will be used in the sections of the plan. The language should be specific so that the meaning of each section is clear to the family and the Worker. Technical terms and phrases which may be familiar to the Worker but not the family should be avoided. Whenever possible, the Worker should phrase the information in the family's words. In facilitating the discussion of the plan the Worker should assist the family to address the following:

1. Reason DHHR Is Involved With Your Family

The reason that the DHHR is involved with the family should be directly related to the referral, the results of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation and the results of the CAPS assessment if one has been completed. The Worker should assist the family to frame a statement or statements that describe as specifically as possible the reasons which necessitate the involvement of Youth Services.

The statement(s) should not be used to identify one person as the guilty party or to place blame on one family member for the involvement of the Youth Services.

2. What Must Happen for DHHR to No Longer be involved with Your Family

The family should first be encouraged to reflect upon the conditions that were identified in the Youth Behavioral Evaluation and the CAPS assessment if one were completed. Once the family has discussed these findings then the Worker can help the family frame the statements of what must happen. It may be helpful to suggest the family that they develop statements that are change oriented.

The statements of what must happen (change) should be directly related to the reason(s) why Youth Services is involved with this family. The statement must be realistic, within the ability of the family to accomplish, and should be limited in number.

The family must understand that it is not necessary nor are we suggesting that they try to change everything that they do or that we are suggesting that they become a model family. The purpose of the planning process is to identify ways to address those conditions which result in increased risk for the juvenile, family and community.

3. Individual Family Members Strengths

Each family member should be encouraged to identify their strengths. This is helpful in building self-esteem. It is also recognition that each family member has positive qualities and attributes. Listing these strengths provides the basis for a realistic belief that family members have the potential to change.

The Worker can assist the family members in identifying their strengths by reviewing with them the information from the Youth Behavioral Evaluation and the CAPS assessment if one were completed.

4. Individual Family Members Needs

Each family member should be encouraged to identify their needs. The Worker should assist the family members to be realistic in describing their needs. The Worker should assist the family members to be specific and forthright. The needs described should be related to the reasons why Youth Services is involved and what needs to happen to end the Department's involvement.

The Worker can assist the family members in identifying their need by reviewing with them the information from the Youth behavioral Evaluation and the CAPS assessment if one were completed.

5. Prioritized Goals

The Worker should assist the family to develop a list of goals to be achieved. The goals must be related to the conditions which are the basis for Youth Services involvement. The goals should be in order of priority with the most important first, then the second most important, and so forth.

The goals should be as specific as possible and written in behavioral terms which will facilitate evaluating whether or not they are being achieved. For example: in a case of a juvenile who is truant the goals may include, no unexcused absences for the next six week grading period.

The goals should be realistic and limited in number. By this it is meant that the goals should be ones which the family can achieve on their own or with the provision of appropriate services. In addition, the goals should be limited so that the family is not overwhelmed by attempting to meet too many expectations.

6. Services

The Worker will assist the family to consider which services are most suitable for helping them to achieve their goals. Services can be provided by: community agencies that do not charge a fee; agencies or individuals approved to deliver Socially Necessary Services; by informal providers such as extended family members or friends; and, by the Worker who will periodically meet with them to offer assistance as necessary.

The Worker and the family will discuss and decide who will make the arrangements for service provision. In some instances it may be beneficial for the family to initiate the provision of certain services. For example: if the juvenile needs tutoring or other education services then the parents can make the arrangements to discuss these needs with the school officials. It may be that the parents need the school to consider the development of an individual education plan.

The Worker can assist the parents by role playing the interviews that they may experience when requesting services from a provider.

7. Worker Contact

The Worker should meet with the family and the juvenile at least once every thirty days from the initiation of the Service Plan until the time for review of that plan. Contacts may be more frequent and should be mutually agreed upon by the family and the Worker. The Worker may meet with the family as a whole or may find it helpful to meet individually with the caretakers and the juvenile.

The schedule for Worker contact should be documented on the Service Plan as a service. While it may appear unusual to do so, the Workers involvement with the family during the implementation of the Plan is a valuable service. The Worker can use the contacts to provide support and encouragement of the family during the implementation of the Plan. The Worker can also use the contacts to determine if the family requires assistance in securing services. The Worker should also use the contacts to determine if risk has escalated or de-escalated and if previously identified Behavior Control Influences are either no longer a problem or if others have surfaced.

8. Foster Care Candidacy

The Youth Services Social Worker will thoroughly explain that should the family not be able to comply with the service plan and meet the goals laid out in it, their child(ren) may be removed from the home.

The Worker will print the names of those children who are at imminent risk of removal from the home on the Family Service Plan, under the statement on the form "Identify the child(ren) or youth who are at imminent risk of foster care placement if the preventative services outlined in the case plan are not provided." The parent(s) and caregiver(s) in the home will sign the Family Service Plan, acknowledging that they understand that should the family not be able to comply with the service plan and meet the goals laid out in it, their child(ren) may be removed from the home.

B. Completing the Family Services Plan

After the terms of the Family Services plan have been agree upon the Worker will:

- Enter the information in FACTS to record the Family Case Plan;
- Contact the service providers to initiate a discussion about the provision of services;
- For those providers who will be delivering services enter the information in the plan;
- Initiate any referrals for Socially Necessary Services by entering the referral information in FACTS; and,
- Print a copy of the plan for the family.

The Worker should present the copy of the plan to the family in person. This provides one more opportunity to be sure that each family member understands the plan and what is expected of them during the life of the plan. It also provides an opportunity to clarify any questions the family may have.

SECTION 6 - FAMILY SERVICE PLAN EVALUATION REVIEW

6.1 Introduction

Service plan evaluation is a continuing part of the casework process. The dynamic nature of Youth Services necessitates ongoing review. The service plan review is the point at which the Worker, in conjunction with the family, measures observable results against stated goals, in relation to services. It is a specific activity designed to assess risk reduction and it is the point at which the Worker and family step away from the casework to see if things are working. The service plan review is a decision making point in the casework process. It is not simply a time set for updating FACTS or summarizing contacts. The decision to close a case and disengage Youth Services is reached during the service plan review.

Throughout the life of the case the supervisor will conduct regular supervisor meetings with the Worker to provide support, guidance and case consultation and to regulate the quality of casework practice.

Special consideration must be given by the supervisor so as to be in compliance with the Adoption and Safe Families Act, a petition must be filed or joined by the state as defined in W. Va. Code § 49-4-604 to terminate the parental rights of a child who has been in the custody of the Department for 15 of the most recent twenty-two (22) months. Additional instructions on Termination of Parental Rights for youth may be found in Foster Care Policy and the West Virginia Rules of Juvenile Procedure, Rule 44.

A. Purposes

The primary purposes of the service plan review are:

- To identify progress and risk reduction;
- To provide feedback to the family and others involved in the case;
- To determine the need for revision of the service plan;
- To examine service provider performance on the cases;
- To measure change in relation to the reasons why Youth Services became involved with the family; and,
- To disengage Youth Services from family involvement.

B. Decisions

The decisions that must be made during the service plan review are:

- Is the services plan appropriate?
- Does anything need adjusting in the service plan?

- Are services being provided as planned?
- Is progress being made toward the achievement of the goals established in the service plan?
- Is the functioning of the family members changing?
- Is communication among the various persons participating in the service plan up-to-date?
- Have the family's goals been met?
- Does a referral for Child Protective Services need to be considered?
- Are there indications that risk has increased and there is a need for a new Youth Behavioral Evaluation?
- Does the family refuse Youth Services and no legal grounds exist for intervention?
- Does the family need to be referred elsewhere?
- Should the case be closed?

6.2 Family Service Plan Evaluation Review Protocol

The service plan should be reviewed every 90 days from the initiation of the Family Service Plan. If circumstance warrant, the service plan can be reviewed in less than 90 days. However, regular reviews should occur no later that every 90 days.

In completing the service plan review the Worker will:

- Obtain written or verbal input from service providers regarding progress on goals and client involvement in services.
- Meet with all family members to formally review the service plan and evaluate progress towards goal achievement.
- The Youth Services Social Worker will thoroughly explain that should the family not be able to comply with the service plan and meet the goals laid out in it, their child(ren) may be removed from the home.
- Review each goal which was scheduled to be worked on during the period in order to determine progress.
- Document the summary of case activity for the previous 90 day period.
- Document the evaluation of the case activity relative to the service plan for the previous 90 day period.
- Discuss with the family and decide whether the service plan should continue as is, be modified or the case should be closed.

Whenever case closure is being discussed the Worker should consider first completing a new Youth Behavioral Evaluation. The completion of a second Youth Behavioral Evaluation provides the Worker and the family with a means to compare whether there are any Behavioral Control Influences which remain and which must be addressed. Comparing the original Youth Behavioral Evaluation to a second one also allows the family and the Worker to objectively address whether or not risk has been reduced and by how much.

6.3 Approval of the Family Service Plan Evaluation Review

A. Worker Actions

After the service plan review with the family is completed the Worker will:

- Document the information in FACTS to complete the Family Service Plan Review Screens;
- Choose an evaluation decision either to continue or to close the case;
- If the decision is to continue the cases enter the date for the next review; and, send the completed review to the supervisor.

Note: If the decision is to continue the case then the Worker should complete a new Family Service plan and send it along with the evaluation to the supervisor. This will enable the supervisor to compare and contrast the new service plan with the information in the review to determine if they are compatible.

B. Supervisor actions

In deciding whether or not to approve the family service review the supervisor will:

- Check the review for thoroughness and completeness;
- Determine whether all family members were involved in the review;
- Determine whether or not the evaluation of case activity relative to the service plan is adequate;
- Analyze to keep the case open or close the case in relation to progress towards goals;
- If progress has been minimal to none, assure that sufficient evaluation is given to the surrounding issues and that adjustments to the service plan are made;
- Document supervisory consultation and approval within the appropriate screens in FACTS.

SECTION 7 - MULTIDISCIPLINARY TREATMENT TEAM

7.1 Introduction and Purpose

A Multidisciplinary Treatment Team (MDT) is a group of individuals, from different disciplines, who work together with the child(ren) and family to develop a service plan and coordinate services. An MDT becomes the central point for decision making during the life of a case. The Case Plan is developed by the MDT, therefore the child(ren) and family's participation is vital throughout the process. Any person or professional who may contribute to the team's efforts to assist the family and child(ren) must be notified and invited to participate in the MDT, but extra attention must be placed on encouraging the child(ren) and family to participate in the MDT process.

State Statute 49-4-401, requires the Department to establish a multidisciplinary screening, advisory and planning system.

The purpose of the multidisciplinary system is to:

- a) Provide “a system for evaluation of and coordinated service delivery for children who may be victims of abuse or neglect and children undergoing certain status offense and delinquency proceedings”;
- b) “assist courts in facilitating permanency planning, following the initiation of judicial proceedings, to recommend alternatives and to coordinate evaluations and in-community services; and”
- c) Ensure “children are safe from abuse and neglect and to coordinate investigations of alleged child abuse offenses and competent criminal prosecution of offenders to ensure that safety, as deemed appropriate by the prosecuting attorney.”

7.2 When an MDT is required

49-4-406(a) requires that a multidisciplinary treatment team must be convened whenever: A juvenile has been adjudicated as a status offender in accordance with section seven hundred eleven of the West Virginia code; or, when a juvenile has been adjudicated as a delinquent or has received a pre-adjudicatory period of improvement in accordance with section seven hundred and eight and the court or other party motions the Department to convene such meeting; or, when it is likely that an adjudicated delinquent will be placed in the Department’s custody or placed in an out-of-home placement or commitment to a mental health facility for examination and diagnosis at the Department’s expense in accordance with section seven hundred fourteen of Chapter 49 of the West Virginia code.

Statute 49-4-403(a)(2) does not require a multidisciplinary team meeting to be held prior to temporarily placing a child or juvenile out-of-home under conditions requiring immediate or emergency action or when court order places a juvenile in a facility operated by the Division of Juvenile Services.

Multidisciplinary Treatment Teams must continue to meet on a continuous basis, at least every 90 days, until permanency has been achieved for the child and/or the case has been removed from the docket of the court.

7.3 Treatment Team Membership

The statute identifies those persons who are to be included in the multidisciplinary treatment team. In addition to the persons named in the statute other important individuals in the lives of the family and youth should be considered as participants in the MDT meetings.

As provided for in chapter forty-nine of the Code of West Virginia the members shall include:

- The juvenile;
- The juvenile’s case manager with the Department of Health and Human Resources and/or with Division of Juvenile Services;

- The juvenile’s parent(s)/guardian(s), or custodial relatives;
- The juvenile’s attorney;
- Any attorney representing any member of the treatment team;
- The prosecuting attorney or his or her designee;
- An appropriate school official; and
- “Any other person or agency representative who may assist in providing recommendations for the particular needs of the juvenile and family, including domestic violence service providers” (49-4-406[d][2][H]).
- In delinquency proceedings, the probation officer shall be a member of a treatment team.

It is also necessary to notify and invite:

- Adult Service staff for all children age seventeen (17) years or older, who meet the eligibility criteria for Adult Protective Service (APS) intervention, as defined in APS policy section 2.10, to plan for continued adult support if necessary.
- Home finding staff when placement options for the child are being discussed.

The treatment team shall coordinate its activities and membership with local family resource networks and coordinate with other local and regional child and family service planning committees, in order to assure the efficient planning and delivery of child and family services on a local and regional level.

7.4 Initiating and Notifying of a MDT

When a Worker has been requested or required (refer to 1.2) to convene an MDT the Worker should begin scheduling and notifying of the MDT as quickly as possible. When time permits, the Worker should notify team members 15 working days prior to the specified date and time of the meeting.

When circumstances allow, the Worker should receive notification from the juvenile probation officer or circuit clerk at a minimum of 15 working days of the potential involvement of DHHR in a juvenile proceeding. In this instance, MDT must be scheduled and its members must be notified within 24 hours.

Notification may be provided by telephone, fax, or through the U.S. mail. All members should receive a follow up letter of the notification if originally provided by telephone or fax. An MDT notification form should be created through FACTS by filling in required information under the “Notify” tabs in the “courts” screen of FACTS. It can be printed under the “reports” tab in FACTS.

7.5 Prior to the MDT

Because the MDT's role in case planning is so important, it is vital the Worker has as much information about the youth and his/her family as possible before the first MDT, and should include:

- The completion of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation (refer to Youth Services Policy section 3)
- Collateral contacts with doctors, school, counselors, or any person that may have useful information to convey (some of which will require consents to receive this information)
- The completion of a CAPS assessment

Due to emergent circumstances, it will not always be possible to obtain all this information. The goal of the case Worker should always be to obtain this information for the MDT, to be provided at subsequent meetings when necessary. The Worker should at the very least complete the Youth Behavioral Evaluation and refer for the CAPS, and inform the MDT of the expected completion date.

7.6 Conducting the initial MDT

In conducting the MDT the Worker will be responsible for:

- Chairing the MDT and facilitating the discussion of the case.
- Reminding the members that if a juvenile respondent admits the underlying allegations of the case during the multidisciplinary treatment planning process, his or her statements shall not be used in any juvenile or criminal proceedings against the juvenile, except for perjury or false swearing.
- Distributing records and collecting and destroying copies after the meeting.
- Assuring all members understand the rules of confidentiality and sign the confidentiality statement.
- Preparing recommendations of the team for presentation to the court including the Youth Case Plan, or Initial Service Plan.

At the conclusion of the initial meeting the next meeting of the team is scheduled by the Worker chairing the Team. (If the CAPS assessment has not been completed at the time of the first team meeting then the next meeting should be scheduled to coincide with the completion of the CAPS process).

Note: In those cases in which the Department was not provided fifteen working days' notice of a hearing it will not be possible to develop a detailed plan for presentation to the court. The Worker should prepare an Initial Service Plan to the court which includes: any pertinent information from the Youth Behavioral Evaluation such as services or action necessary to ensure safety; the scheduling of a CAPS assessment and the anticipated date of completion; any other information relevant to the case. The Worker should conclude the report by requesting approval to complete all necessary evaluations and information gathering in order to provide the court with a plan for continued service provision including recommendations about placement if necessary.

The Initial Service Plan which details that additional assessments and evaluations will result in revisions, can be completed using the Family Service Planning tool and screens in FACTS. The Family Service Plan can be printed from FACTS Reports menu and provided to the court.

7.7 Recommendations to the Court

State Statute 49-4-406(d)(3) requires that an MDT report is made to the court prior to the disposition. The MDT report advises the court as to the types of services the team has determined are needed and the type of placement, if any, which will best serve the needs of the child. The court must also review the individualized service plan for the child and family, developed by the MDT, to determine if implementation of the plan is in the child's best interest. If the MDT cannot agree on a plan or the court determines not to adopt the MDT's recommendations, it shall, upon motion, or sua sponte, schedule and hold within ten days of such determination, and prior to the entry of an order placing the child in the custody of the Department or in an out-of-home setting, a hearing to consider evidence from the MDT as to its rationale for the proposed service plan.

If the MDT is not in agreement on a plan for the juvenile or if the court does not adopt the MDT's recommended service plan, then the court can hold a hearing to consider evidence from the MDT about their plan. The Regional Attorney General would need to be contacted to file a motion for the hearing to be held.

Regardless of how a family comes to the attention to the Department, the DHHR has identified youth considered appropriate to begin the wraparound process as having :

- Youth, ages 12 to 17 (up to the youth's 17th birthday) with a diagnosis of a severe emotional or behavioral disturbance that impedes his or her daily functioning (according to a standardized diagnostic criteria) currently in out-of-state residential placement and cannot return successfully without extra support, linkage and services provided by wrap-around;
- Youth, ages 12 to 17 (up to the youth's 17th birthday) with a diagnosis of a severe emotional or behavioral disturbance that impedes his or her daily functioning (according to a standardized diagnostic criteria) currently in in-state residential placement and cannot be reunified successfully without extra support, linkage and services provided by wrap-around;
- Youth, ages 12 to 17 (up to the youth's 17th birthday) with a diagnosis of a severe emotional or behavioral disturbance that impedes his or her daily functioning (according to a standardized diagnostic criteria) at risk of out-of-state residential placement and utilization of wrap-around can safely prevent the placement;
- Youth, ages 12 to 17 (up to the age of the youth's 17th birthday) with a diagnosis of a severe emotional or behavioral disturbance that impedes his or her daily functioning (according to a standardized diagnostic criteria) at risk of in-state level 1, 2,3 or PRTF residential placement and they can be safely served at home by utilizing wrap-around;

After a family has been identified as potentially appropriate for wraparound, the worker should then initiate the referral process. Please refer to Safe at Home, WV wrap around policy.

At the conclusion of the hearing the court should make specific findings as to why the MDT's recommended service plan was not adopted.

7.8 On-going MDT's and Worker actions

Again, Multidisciplinary Treatment Teams must continue to meet on a continuous basis, at least every 90 days, until permanency has been achieved for the child and/or the case has been removed from the docket of the court. Each completed MDT should be immediately documented in FACTS in the "MDT" tab under the "Courts" section.

For each child who remains in foster care as a result of a juvenile proceeding the circuit court with the assistance of the multidisciplinary treatment team shall conduct quarterly status reviews in order to determine the safety of the child, the continuing necessity for and appropriateness of the placement, the extent of compliance with the case plan, and the extent of progress which has been made toward alleviating or mitigating the causes necessitating placement in foster care, and to project a likely date by which the child may be returned to and safely maintained in the home or placed for adoption or legal guardianship. Quarterly status reviews shall commence three months after the entry of the placement order. The permanency hearing provided for in Foster Care Policy Section 6.3 may be considered a quarterly status review.

For each transitioning adult (see Youth Services policy Section 1) who remains in foster care, the circuit court shall conduct status review hearings once every three months until permanency is achieved. For each child or transitioning adult who continues to remain in foster care, the circuit court shall conduct a permanency hearing no later than twelve months after the date the child or transitioning adult is considered to have entered foster care, and at least once every twelve months thereafter until permanency is achieved. For purposes of permanency planning for transitioning adults, the circuit court shall make factual findings and conclusions of law as to whether the Department made reasonable efforts to finalize a permanency plan to prepare a transitioning adult for emancipation or independence or another approved permanency option such as, but not limited to, adoption or legal guardianship pursuant to the West Virginia Guardianship and Conservatorship Act. Additional direction on permanency planning can be found in Foster Care Policy Section 4.4.

Any person authorized to convene a multidisciplinary team meeting may seek and receive an order of the circuit court setting such meeting and directing attendance. Members of the multidisciplinary team may participate in team meetings by telephone or video conferencing. The treatment team shall coordinate its activities and membership with local family resource networks and coordinate with other local and regional child and family service planning committees to assure the efficient planning and delivery of child and family services on a local and regional level.

7.9 Combining the MDT with Other Review Requirements

There are requirements both in state statute and in federal regulations requiring the regular review of juveniles who are the subject of an MDT and may or may not be in an out-of-home placement. These statutes and requirements are similar but not identical. The requirements include:

State statute, 49-4-110, which requires a regular review of every case in which a juvenile has been placed outside the home. The statute allows the court to review the case as often as necessary and, at a minimum, must conduct a review once every 90 days.

State statute, 49-4-608, requires an annual review of all children placed in out-of-home care. This provision of the statute is referred to as a permanency review.

Lastly, the federal statutes and regulations require regular reviews of children in foster care every six and twelve months until permanency has been achieved. The six month review is known as the Administrative Review and does not require a court hearing. The twelve month review is known as a Judicial Review and does require a court hearing.

It is possible and it is recommended that MDT meetings and court hearings be combined to meet the various review requirements. By using MDT meetings and court hearings for more than one review process Workers should be better able to manage the casework process.

Some examples of combined meeting include holding an MDT meeting and then immediately following that meeting conduct an Administrative Review. Another example would be to hold the court hearing on the quarterly review of the MDT and then immediately follow that hearing with a Judicial Review or, if all provisions of the requirements can be met, combine the two hearings. In combining meetings the Worker must be careful to be sure that all of the requirements of the different review processes are met.

(The Worker must always apply the Multidisciplinary Team Policy in conjunction with other applicable Foster Care, and Youth Services Policies.)

SECTION 8 - COMPREHENSIVE ASSESSMENT PLANNING SYOUTH SERVICESTEM (CAPS)

8.0 Introduction

The importance of a comprehensive assessment for juveniles and their families who have been referred for Youth Services cannot be overstated. The assessment process sets the stage for the problem validation, service provision and the establishment of a helping relationship with both the juvenile and the juvenile's family. The assessment process includes information gathering and analysis to determine treatment needs.

8.1 Statutory Requirements

State statute requires the establishment of a multidisciplinary treatment planning process for certain juveniles who are the subject of a court proceeding. As a part of the planning process the team is required to develop an individualized service plan.

W. Va. Code § 49-4-406 reads in part: “When a juvenile is adjudicated as a status offender the Department of Health and Human Resources shall promptly convene a multidisciplinary treatment team and conduct an assessment, utilizing a standard uniform comprehensive assessment instrument or protocol.”

For an explanation of the CAPS Process, please refer to the Comprehensive Assessment Planning System policy.

SECTION 9 - INITIAL YOUTH SERVICES COURT CASE PLAN

9.1 Introduction

Case planning when there is no court involvement is limited, in general, to interactions between the Department, the family and service providers. The processes and procedures for this type of case planning are left to the discretion of the Department.

Case planning for juveniles and their family when there is a court proceeding is a much broader and more structured process. It involves fulfilling a combination of requirements from different sources and the management of a series of meetings, reports, casework processes and legal proceedings. The requirements which govern the case planning process for cases in which there is a legal proceeding include:

- The requirements of various state statutes especially W. Va. Code § 49-4-704, 49-4-711, 49-4-714 and 49-4-403;
- The federal requirements applicable to foster care;
- The requirements for case management included in FACTS; and,
- The casework standards adopted by the Department.

With the passage in 2015 of Senate Bill 393, the emphasis on the case plan addressing the rehabilitation of the juvenile to prevent recidivism was heightened. Specifically W. Va. Code § 49-2-1002(c)

(1) The Department of Health and Human Resources shall establish an individualized program of rehabilitation for each status offender referred to the department and to each alleged juvenile delinquent referred to the department after being allowed a pre adjudicatory community supervision period by the juvenile court, and for each adjudicated juvenile delinquent who, after adjudication, is referred to the department for investigation or treatment or whose custody is vested in the department.

(2) An individualized program of rehabilitation shall take into account the programs and services to be provided by other public or private agencies or personnel which are available in the community to deal with the circumstances of the particular juvenile.

(3) For alleged juvenile delinquents and status offenders, an individualized program of rehabilitation shall be furnished to the juvenile court and made available to counsel for the juvenile; it may be modified from time to time at the direction of the department or by order of the juvenile court.

(4) The department may develop an individualized program of rehabilitation for any juvenile referred for noncustodial counseling under section seven hundred two-a, article four of this chapter or for any juvenile upon the request of a public or private agency. As stated in WV Code §49-2-1002(d)

(1) The individualized program of rehabilitation required by the provisions of subsection (c) of this section shall, for any juvenile in out of home placement, include a plan to return the juvenile to his or her home setting and transition the juvenile into community services to continue his or her rehabilitation.

(2) Planning for the transition shall begin upon the juvenile's entry into the residential facility. The transition process shall begin thirty days after admission to the residential facility and conclude no later than three months after admission.

(3) The Department of Health and Human Resources staff shall, during its monthly site visits at contracted residential facilities, ensure that the individualized programs of rehabilitation include a plan for transition in accordance with this subsection.

(4) If further time in residential placement is necessary and the most effective method of attaining the rehabilitation goals identified by the rehabilitation individualized plan created under subsection (c) of this section, then the department shall provide information to the multidisciplinary team to substantiate that further time in a residential facility is necessary. The court, in consultation with the multidisciplinary team, may order an extension of time in residential placement prior to the juvenile's transition to the community if the court finds by clear and convincing evidence that an extension is in the best interest of the child. If the court finds that the evidence does not support an extension, the court shall order that the transition to community services proceed.

§49-2-1002(e) The Department of Health and Human Resources and the Division of Juvenile Services are directed to enter into cooperative arrangements and agreements with each other and with private agencies or with agencies of the state and its political subdivisions to fulfill their respective duties under this article and chapter.

In some instances the requirements such as the state statutes and the federal regulations are similar but not identical. In order to be sure that all applicable provisions of the state statutes and federal regulations are met, the Department has adopted a case planning process which includes all of the possible requirements. This process, however, does not require the Worker to address all of the requirements in every case. Instead, the design allows the Worker to address the requirements on a case by case basis selecting only those which apply.

9.2 The Philosophy of Case Planning for Court Submission

The service planning process in Youth Services should be purposeful and planned. Service planning assures purposeful, logical intervention. Service planning is a deliberate, reasonable, mutually agreed upon strategy to reduce the risk and contributing influences which require Youth Services intervention. Case planning for court involved youth must also be informed by the recommendations of Probation and Court officers.

9.3 The Process for Case Planning for Court Submission

The development of the initial case plan should proceed as follows.

The Department will be notified that a court proceeding has been initiated and it will be necessary to convene a Multidisciplinary Treatment Team.

The Worker assigned to the case will schedule the initial meeting of the MDT and make a referral for a CAPS assessment. (The scheduling of the MDT is one of the responsibilities of the CAPS provider. However, the Department may not be given very much advance notice of the scheduled court proceeding. In such cases the important consideration is to schedule the MDT meeting and it may be quicker if the Worker does so.)

The CAPS provider will furnish the results of the Child and Adolescent Needs and Strengths Assessment within 14 days of the referral, so that this information can be used in Case Planning for Court Submission with the MDT. The MDT meeting is held and the requirements applicable to the juvenile and the juvenile/s family are addressed.

After the MDT meeting the Worker will be responsible for documenting the results in FACTS and developing the case plan.

After the case plan has been completed the Worker will distribute copies to the MDT members and submit the case plan to the court.

9.4 Information Used in Developing the Case Plan

In developing the case plan the Worker and the members of the MDT should consider using, as appropriate and available, information from the following sources:

- The Youth Behavioral Evaluation including the results of the Youth Behavioral Evaluation;
- The Behavioral Control Plan if one has been implemented;
- The results of the Child and Adolescent Needs and Strengths Assessment;
- The results of the CAPS assessment if one has been completed;
- Department case records if the juvenile and/or the juvenile's family have previously been involved with the Department;
- Information from other agencies or providers such as an IEP (Individual Education Plan) developed by education staff; and,
- The information discussed during the MDT.

9.5 Components of the Case Plan

The case plan is embedded in FACTS and consists of information derived from these categories:

- Client information;
- Removal, placement and planning; and,
- Education and medical.

These are broad categories and within each one the Worker and the members of the MDT must consider a number of different items depending on the circumstance of the case.

9.6 Developing the Case Plan

After the MDT meeting the Worker will complete the case plan. The case plan is embedded in FACTS and consists of a series of screens that allow the Worker to choose which information to enter into the plan. In other words, the Worker can tailor the plan to the individual case under consideration by the MDT.

The case plan is a Dynamic Document Exchange (DDE) instrument. This means that it pulls existing information into a prearranged format. In order to use the instrument as designed, it is necessary for the Worker assigned to the case to complete the screens in FACTS which relate to the categories in the case plan.

The categories and the information which should be considered by the MDT include the following:

- Client Information
- Removal, Placement and Planning
- Removal
- If the juvenile is at home at the time of the initial meeting then the Worker will document that information on the case plan.
- If the juvenile has been removed from his home then the Worker and the MDT must address the circumstance surrounding the removal and whether or not reasonable efforts were made to prevent removal.

A. Placement

If the juvenile has been removed from his home prior to the MDT, or the MDT is considering recommending removal, then the Worker and team members must:

- Consider if a foster home will be able to meet the needs of the youth, if not;
- Consider the type of facility where the juvenile is placed or the type of facility the MDT is recommending.
- Consider if the recommendation will be to place the juvenile out-of-state, the reason(s) why there are no suitable or available in-state facilities that can meet the needs of the juvenile.
- Consider whether the placement is in close proximity to the juvenile's community.
- Consider whether the placement is least restrictive in light of the juvenile's needs and behaviors.
- Consider why the placement is in the best interests of the juvenile.
- Consider whether the recommended visitation plan is appropriate.
- Consider how the placement will assure the safety of the juvenile.

- Consider whether the parents/caregiver can contribute to the cost of placement.

After these discussions, the Worker and team members should write an agreed upon recommendation.

B. Planning

In addressing this item the Worker and the MDT members should discuss the:

- Specific services that will be provided to the juvenile and/or the juvenile's parents/caretakers.
- Frequency and duration of services for the juvenile and the juvenile's parents/caretakers.
- Tasks that the Worker or the family will be expected to perform as a part of the case plan.
- Permanency plan if the juvenile is out-of-home or the MDT is recommending placement.
- Concurrent plan for the juvenile.

After these discussions, the Worker and team members should write an agreed upon recommendation.

C. Education and Medical

In developing this part of the plan the Worker and the MDT must discuss the:

- Juvenile's educational progress to date including whether or not the juvenile is achieving satisfactory progress in school.
- Need for additional education services such as the completion of an IEP.
- Results of any medical assessments of the juvenile including a Health Check assessment.
- Results of any behavioral health assessments of the juvenile including a psychological or psychiatric evaluation;
- Results of any medical assessments of the parents; and,
- Results of any behavioral health evaluations of the parents/caregivers including a psychological or psychiatric evaluation.

After these discussions, the Worker and team members should write an agreed upon recommendation.

D. Worker Contact

In developing this part of the plan the Worker and the MDT must discuss the frequency of the contacts between the Worker, the family and the juvenile. At a minimum the Worker should have monthly contact with the family and the juvenile. The frequency could be greater depending on the needs of the family and the juvenile and the services they will be receiving.

9.7 Completing the Case Plan for Court Submission

In order to complete the case plan the Worker will:

- Determine the information that should be contained in the case plan, select the information and have the relevant parts of the plan populated from the information in FACTS.
- The Worker will also need to enter certain information on the case plan such as the goals for the youth and the family and the recommended services.

After completing the case plan the Worker should send a copy of the plan to each member of the MDT along with a cover letter. In the letter the Worker should include the date the plan was submitted to the court, the date of the next hearing and any other information that the Worker believes is relevant to this particular case.

A. Submission of the Case Plan to the Court

After the case plan has been completed the Worker should send a copy of the plan to the Circuit Court which has jurisdiction over the case. The Court will review the plan to determine if implementation is in the child's best interests. If the Court approves the plan then it should enter an order to this effect.

If the recommendations of the MDT contained in the case plan are not unanimous, or if the court determines not to adopt the recommendations of the Team, then the court shall, upon motion or sua sponte, schedule and hold within ten days of such determination, and prior to the entry of an order placing the child in the custody of the Department or in an out-of-home setting, a hearing to consider evidence from the Team as to its rationale for the proposed plan.

B. Requesting a Hearing

In those instances when the court does not adopt the recommendation of the team the Worker will be responsible for contacting the Regional Attorney General to file a motion requesting a hearing; and notifying the members of the Team of the date of the hearing.

SECTION 10 - YOUTH SERVICES CASE PLAN REVIEW

10.1 Introduction

Case plan review is a continuing part of the Youth Services casework process. The dynamic nature of Youth Services necessitates ongoing evaluation. Case plan review is the point at which the Worker measures observable results against stated goals in relation to services. It is a specific activity in which the Worker and the family and MDT members step away from the casework process to see if things are working. Case plan review is a decision making point in the casework process. It is not simply a time set aside for updating FACTS or summarizing contacts. The decision to recommend case closure and disengage Youth Services is reached during case plan review.

Throughout the life of the case the supervisor will conduct regular supervisor meetings with the Worker to provide support, guidance and case consultation and to regulate the quality of casework practice.

10.2 Statutory Requirements

State statute includes the expectation of regular case plan reviews for juveniles who have been involved in a court proceeding and remain under the continuing jurisdiction of the court.

49-4-711(4) which reads: "If the allegations in a petition alleging that a juvenile is a status offender are admitted or sustained by clear and convincing proof, the court shall refer the juvenile to the Department of Health and Human Resources for services ... and order the department to report back to the court with regard to the juvenile's progress at least every ninety days or until the court ... dismisses the case from its docket. In a judicial circuit operating its own truancy program, a circuit judge may in lieu of referring truant juveniles to the department, order that the juveniles be supervised by his or her probation office."

10.3 Purposes

The primary purposes of the case review are:

- To identify progress;
- To provide feedback to the family and others involved in the case;
- To determine the need for revision of the case plan;
- To examine provider performance on the case;
- To measure change in relation to the conditions which warranted Youth Services intervention; and,
- To disengage Youth Services from family involvement.

10.4 Decisions

The decisions that must be made during case review are:

- Is the case plan appropriate?
- Does anything need adjusting in the case plan?
- Are services being delivered as planned?
- Are both the juvenile and the juvenile's family participating in the case plan?
- Is progress being made/
- Does the Behavioral Control Plan, if one exists, need revision?
- Is communication among various persons participating in the treatment plan up-to-date?
- Has the family situation stabilized?
- What recommendations should be made to the court?

10.5 Case Evaluation Protocol

A. Convening the Multidisciplinary Treatment Team Meeting

Every 90 days, from the development of the initial case plan until closure of the case the Worker will convene the MDT to conduct the case plan review. In convening the MDT the Worker will:

- Notify the MDT members of the meeting in writing at least fifteen (15) days prior to the meeting by printing and mailing the Notification of MDT letters from FACTS.
- If it is time for an administrative review arrange for that review to take place immediately following the MDT meeting.
- Contact the family to encourage them to participate in the meeting.
- Invite Adult Services staff to the meeting for all children age seventeen years (17) or older if it appears that continued adult support will be necessary.
- Invite Homefinding Staff if assistance with placement decisions is necessary.

Note: In order to provide a comparison of the family dynamics present at the initiation of the case planning process and those present at the time of case review, it is recommended that the Worker complete a new Youth Behavioral Evaluation prior to the MDT meeting. The comparison between the two instruments can be used to provide an objective basis for evaluating the changes made by the family and the juvenile.

B. Conducting the Multidisciplinary Treatment Team Meeting

During the MDT meeting the Worker will serve as the chairperson and will:

- Remind the members in a post-adjudicatory MDT that if a juvenile respondent admits the underlying allegations of the case during the multidisciplinary treatment planning process, his or her statements shall not be used in any juvenile or criminal proceedings against the juvenile, except for perjury or false swearing.
- Make sure the members sign the confidentiality statement.
- Actively engage the family and the juvenile throughout the meeting.
- Review the previous case plan.
- If the juvenile is in an out-of-home placement review all of the applicable foster care protections such as medical care, education, safety of the placement and so on.
- Provide to the team members copies of any information obtained about the juvenile and the juvenile's family that have been received during the previous 90 days.
- If the juvenile is in foster family care review the out-of-home observation report which includes a report on the progress of the juvenile, any changes in the juvenile's case, an evaluation of the services provided to the juvenile and his family and any other relevant information for each month the juvenile has been in placement with the provider.
- If the juvenile is in a group care facility the Worker will provide a copy of the monthly reports submitted by the provider.

C. Concluding the Multidisciplinary Treatment Team Meeting

Concluding the MDT properly is a very important part of the process. During this phase of the meeting the Worker will need to ensure that the results of the meeting are properly documented, the next meeting has been scheduled and, all issues have been resolved or a plan to resolve them has been developed.

In concluding the MDT the following actions will be completed:

- The Department Worker will document the results of the MDT on the MDT report. This report will also include a place for all individuals to sign that they participated in the MDT and that they agree with the MDT report.

Note: The Department Worker will continue to utilize the MDT report that they are currently using until the MDT report is revised and released to the field.

- The Department Worker will attempt to settle all disagreements prior to the MDT conclusion. The MDT report may contain different opinions. The Department Worker is responsible for documenting the different opinions in the report as they were stated at the MDT and representing these to the court.
- The Department Worker is responsible for collecting all copies of assessments or other documents concerning the child and family that were shared with the members of the MDT. These copies must be properly destroyed to ensure the confidentiality of the child and family.
- The Department Worker will schedule the next MDT meeting prior to the conclusion of the meeting. (The meeting must be held within 90 days.)
- The Department Worker will develop the revised Youth Services Case Plan utilizing the information presented at the MDT.

10.6 Completion of the Revised Case Plan

After the MDT has been concluded the Worker will complete the revised case plan in FACTS and send a copy to the members of the MDT.

10.7 Submission of the Revised Case Plan to the Court

After the revised case plan has been completed the Worker should send a copy of the plan to the Circuit Court which has jurisdiction over the case. The Worker should send a letter with the plan informing the Court that the MDT has met and the case plan has been revised. In addition the Worker should request that the Court notify the Worker of the next scheduled judicial review on the case.

When the Worker receives the notice from the court as to the hearing date then the Worker can notify the other members of the MDT.

Note: Because procedures may vary from Circuit Court to Circuit Court it is recommended that the Worker consult with the Prosecuting Attorney about the method for notifying the Court of the results of the MDT meeting and requesting a quarterly judicial review. If the Court decides to adopt procedure other than those described above that is its prerogative.

The important points are that the MDT meets at least every 90 days and the court reviews the results of the meetings at least quarterly.

11.2. Confidentiality

The confidential nature of Youth Services records is governed by W. Va. Code § 49-6-110. In general, the Code requires that child welfare records be maintained in a confidential manner. The information the Department collects and maintains belongs to the client. This means that clients have a right to read their case record at any time in accordance with law and policy. Information about clients should be shared with them in an open and honest manner. All information should be handled in a respectful and confidential manner. The information generated within DHHR pertaining to a child belongs to the child. This means that the child and other persons specified in chapter forty-nine of the Code of West Virginia have the right to access the record except for:

- Adoption records;
- Juvenile court records; and,
- Records disclosing the identity of a person a complaint of child abuse or neglect.

Records concerning a child or juvenile, except for those noted above, shall be made available under the following circumstances;

- The child, the child's parents whose parental rights have not been terminated or the attorney of the parent or child whenever they choose to review the record;
- With the written consent of the child or of someone authorized to act on the child's behalf; and,
- Pursuant to an order of a court of record.

Whenever a request for the release of a Youth Services record is received the Worker will inform the supervisor of the request, and the supervisor will take the following steps:

- Determine whether the release of information should be made available under the provision of W. Va. Code § 49-6-110. If necessary, consult with the Regional Attorney and/or prosecuting attorney.
- Determine exactly what information is being requested. Is it the entire record or a specific piece of information?
- If possible, make arrangements for the person requesting the information to come to the office at an appointed time.
- Review all information within FACTS and all written/paper records.
- Prepare the requested information that is contained in FACTS by printing the relevant DDE reports from FACTS.
- Prepare the requested information that is contained in paper records if any exists.
- Allow the person to review the documents/information within the office at the appointed time. If the person wants copies of the information provide the copies as requested.
- Request assistance from the Regional Attorney and/or the prosecuting attorney at any time there is uncertainty about whether or not to proceed with a request for release of information.
