I.1 IMM OVERVIEW

The primary purpose of the Income Maintenance Manual (IMM) is to document and communicate the West Virginia Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR) policies and procedures related to determining initial and ongoing eligibility for the DHHR’s Income Maintenance and Emergency and Special Assistance programs. The IMM is used by DHHR staff and the public.

DHHR makes every attempt to ensure that the information contained in the IMM is accurate as of the date of issuance. Compliance with all applicable West Virginia state laws, regulations, and administrative guidelines, as well as applicable federal laws and regulations, is required. Specifically, readers must consider the content in this manual, along with applicable federal and state laws and regulations, when determining actions or interpreting guidelines.

Disclaimer regarding gender-specific terms: Throughout the IMM, whenever a gender-specific term is used, it should be understood as referring to both genders, unless explicitly stated. This is done solely for the purpose of making the text easier to read, and no offense or sexism is intended.

The programs covered by the IMM, in alphabetical order, are:

- AIDS Drug Assistance Program (ADAP), a state-administered program that provides Food and Drug Administration (FDA)-approved medications to low-income people living with HIV who have limited or no health coverage from private insurance, Medicaid, or Medicare.

- Low Income Energy Assistance Program (LIEAP), which partially offsets heating costs for eligible low income individuals responsible for a home heating cost.

- Medicaid, which provides comprehensive health insurance for eligible low income adults and children and the aged, blind or disabled. Medicaid also provides assistance with paying for Medicare cost-sharing for certain low income individuals through the Medicare Buy-in Program. The Medicaid Work Incentive (M-WIN) program is a full coverage Medicaid group that assists individuals with disabilities in becoming independent of public assistance by enabling them to enter the workforce without losing essential medical care.

- Non-Emergency Medical Transportation (NEMT), a program which reimburses Medicaid and Children with Special Health Care Needs (CSHCN) clients for the cost of transportation and other expenses associated with receiving medical services.

- School Clothing Allowance (SCA), two programs, WV WORKS School Clothing Allowance and West Virginia School Clothing Allowance, to assist eligible families with the purchase of clothes for school.
• Special Pharmacy, which provides state-funded assistance to qualifying individuals to pay for anti-rejection drugs needed after transplants, and certain anti-psychotic drugs.

• Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), formerly known as Food Stamps, which provides a monthly financial supplement to qualifying low income families to purchase nutritious food.

• SNAP Employment and Training (SNAP E&T), which provides SNAP clients with opportunities to gain skills, training, or experience to improve their employment prospects and reduce their reliance on SNAP benefits.

• West Virginia Children's Health Insurance Program (WVCHIP), providing comprehensive health insurance to certain children whose income is too high to be eligible for Medicaid.

• WV WORKS, West Virginia’s implementation of Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF), provides monthly cash assistance along with a variety of employment and education related services to low income families with dependent children with the goals of assisting economically dependent and at-risk families to become self-supporting, enhancing the well-being of children, and assisting families near the poverty level to remain self-sufficient.

Policies related to Emergency and Special Assistance Programs are also included in the IMM.

• Emergency Assistance, which is used to help qualifying individuals and families address a financial crisis when they are without available resources.

• Indigent Burial, which provides assistance with a decent burial for qualifying low income individuals who die and have no resources to pay for the interment costs at the time of death.

• Special Reduced Residential Service Rate (20% Utility Program), which enables certain SNAP, Supplemental Security Income (SSI) and WV WORKS clients to receive a 20% discount from their natural gas, electric and water companies during the winter months.

• Tele-Assistance and Lifeline, which provide reduced rate telephone service to qualified low-income individuals.

• Refugee Assistance, which provides cash and medical assistance to eligible refugees, regardless of nationality.
I.2 IMM STRUCTURE

IMM Chapters 1 through 15 cover common processes used by Medicaid, Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), and WV WORKS, and may apply to other programs. These chapters first present policies and procedures common across multiple programs, with exceptions noted, and then describe program specific requirements starting with SNAP, followed by WV WORKS, then Medicaid coverage groups.

IMM Chapters 16 through 28 are program-specific. If a program name appears in a chapter title, then that chapter applies only to that program. For example, “Chapter 16, Specific SNAP Program Requirements,” contains information pertinent only to SNAP.

Following this Introduction are three reference sections:

- The List of Acronyms defines common acronyms used throughout the IMM, and identifies the chapters in which they appear.
- The List of Forms identifies all of the state forms referenced in the IMM, by form number and common name.
- The Glossary defines common terms used throughout the IMM, and identifies the chapters in which they appear. Terms used in only one chapter are defined in that chapter.

The table below summarizes the purpose and content of each chapter.

I.3 IMM CHANGE PROCESS

DHHR updates the IMM on a regular basis in order to remain consistent with changing state and federal policies and regulations.

Changes are documented and communicated in two ways:

1. By DW-17 number, also known as the “change number.” The DW-17 summarizes all of the IMM changes made at a single point in time, by chapter. The DW-17s can be found and searched on the DHHR website at: http://www.dhhr.wv.gov/bcf/Services/familyassistance/Pages/IMMSearch.aspx.

2. Within each chapter, the “Change Log” following the Table of Contents, documents the date a section was changed, the associated DW-17 number, and highlights the specific changes made.

1.1 INTRODUCTION

This chapter describes the application and redetermination processes for the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)—formerly known as the Food Stamp Program, WV WORKS and Medicaid coverage groups, except those related to long term care. (See Chapter 24). Also included is specific information about each program.

Common requirements not specific to any program or coverage group are included together. The common section is followed by a section describing all of the Department of Health and Human Resources’ (DHHR) application forms. The remaining sections cover policies and procedures specific to each program or Medicaid coverage group.
1.2 COMMON INFORMATION

This section contains general information about the application process and information common to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), WV WORKS and most Medicaid and West Virginia Children’s Health Insurance Program (WVCHIP) coverage groups.

1.2.1 APPLICANT’S AND POTENTIAL APPLICANT’S RIGHTS

1.2.1.A Right to Apply

In addition to addressing all questions and concerns the client may have, the Worker must explain the benefits of each program and inform the client of his right to apply for any or all of them.

No person is denied the right to apply for any Program administered by the Division of Family Assistance (DFA) or the Bureau for Medical Services (BMS). Every person must be afforded the opportunity to apply for all Programs on the date he expresses his interest.

Certain programs, such as Children with Disabilities Community Service Program (CDCSP), Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities (I/DD) Waiver, Aged and Disabled Waiver (ADW) and Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI) Waiver, require a medical and/or other determination by a community agency or government division other than the DFA and a financial determination by an Income Maintenance Worker. When an applicant’s medical eligibility for, or enrollment in, such programs is pending, he must not be refused the right to apply, but must be evaluated for any or all Department programs.

When it is not feasible for the applicant to be interviewed, if an interview is required or requested, on the date he expresses his interest, he must be allowed to complete the process at a later date. An appointment may be scheduled for his return, or the client may return at his convenience, depending upon the procedure established by the Community Services Manager (CSM). The same procedure must be used for all applicants within the county. If a follow-up appointment is scheduled and the applicant appears for the interview at the scheduled time, he must be seen on that day and not be required to return again to complete the application process.

NOTE: The applicant may designate a representative to act on their behalf, known as an “Authorized Representative.” Each program has specific requirements related to the Authorized Representative.

SNAP ONLY: SNAP applicants must be given a scheduled interview if it is not feasible to conduct an interview on the date the application is made. Any special needs such as, but not limited to, the applicant’s work schedule, must be accommodated.

1.2.1.B Right to General Information

The Worker must provide the requested information to all those who have applied for benefits, or who inquire about the requirements for receiving benefits. This information includes a basic explanation of the eligibility requirements and answers to general questions.

- If the Worker does not know the answer to the general question, he must consult with his Supervisor.
- If the answer is unknown to the Supervisor, they may submit the question to the appropriate Policy Unit.
- Applicants, potential applicants, or their authorized representative must not be referred to the Policy Unit for a direct response.
- The Worker must not act as a financial planner or make suggestions about the client’s current or future financial situation.

1.2.1.C Right to Consideration for All Programs

It is the Worker’s responsibility to explain and make available all of the Department of Health and Human Resources’ (DHHR) programs for which the applicant could qualify. The Worker must evaluate potential eligibility for all programs based on the available information, unless the applicant specifically states he is not interested in being considered for a specific program.

When an applicant has been evaluated and eligibility is confirmed, a client notice is issued from the eligibility system to inform the applicant that he may be eligible for a benefit for which he did not apply and that he must contact his local office for information or to apply.
1.2.1.D  Right to Voter Registration Services

The National Voter Registration Act of 1993 (NVRA), also known as the Motor Voter Act, is a federal civil rights law that requires public assistance agencies to provide voter registration services. A voter registration application and declination form must be provided at any point a client engages in contact with the DHHR in conjunction with benefits. If the contact is made via any method other than a face-to-face, the application and declination form must be mailed to the client.

West Virginia election laws require that DHHR offices provide voter registration services in conjunction with the following benefits:

- WV WORKS
- SNAP
- Low-Income Energy Assistance Program (LIEAP)
- Medicaid

Workers must provide the same level of assistance with voter registration applications as they would with any other agency form or service. This includes reviewing the voter registration application to ensure all required fields are completed and answering any questions the client may have. Workers must submit all completed declination forms, including those marked “yes,” “no,” or those left blank by the client, and voter registration applications to their county NVRA Coordinator.

See Appendices E, F, and G for Worker, County, and State Coordinator responsibilities related to assistance with voter registration.

The BCF State Coordinator may be contacted at (304) 356-4619.

1.2.1.E  Right to Fair and Equitable Treatment of Applicants and Clients

West Virginia has established procedures for ensuring fair and equitable treatment of applicants and recipients of public assistance (clients). The DHHR prohibits discrimination against its applicants and clients on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, disability, sex, gender identity, religion, reprisal, and where applicable, political beliefs, marital status, familial or NOTE: When an individual who applied for Medicaid through the Federally Facilitated Marketplace (FFM) expresses to the DHHR an interest in voter registration, the Worker must provide a voter registration application. The Worker must also send a declination form if the inquirer decides not to register.

parental status, sexual orientation, or all or part of an individual’s income is derived from any public assistance program or protected genetic information, in employment or in any program or activity conducted or funded by DHHR. (Not all prohibited bases will apply to all programs and/or employment activities.)

Applicable state and federal laws include the following:

- The West Virginia Human Rights Act, West Virginia Code §5-11-1
- The Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996
- The Civil Rights Restoration Act of 1987
- The Food and Nutrition Act of 2008
- United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Departmental regulation 4330-2
- USDA Regulation, 7CFR Part 16

1.2.1.E.1 Individuals with Disabilities

Federal law protects individuals with a disability and defines that as a person who:

- Has a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more of the major life activities of that individual;
- Has a record of such an impairment; or
- Is being regarded as having such an impairment.

There are two key issues regarding discrimination against people with disabilities:

1. Individualized Treatment: Individualized treatment requires that individuals with disabilities be treated on a case-by-case basis, based upon facts and objectivity. Such individuals may not be treated differently on the basis of generalizations or stereotypes.

2. Effective Opportunity and Access: Effective opportunity and access means that individuals must be given the same access and opportunities to programs of assistance as individuals who do not have disabilities.
1.2.1.E.2 Individuals with Limited English Proficiency (LEP)

Federal law also protects individuals with Limited English Proficiency (LEP) and defines that as individuals who:

- Do not speak English as their primary language; and
- Have a limited ability to read, speak, write, or understand English.

1.2.1.E.3 Worker Responsibilities

The Worker has the following responsibilities to ensure fair and equitable treatment of applicants and clients:

- Consider whether a person may have a special need, and how that may affect his ability to comply with rules, fill out forms, attend scheduled appointments, etc.
  - If the Worker determines that a person has a disability or LEP and that affects his ability to comply, the Worker has the authority to make reasonable modifications or accommodations to ensure that the person receives equal access to all programs and services. Any evidence must be documented in the case record and in case comments.
  - If an individual requires an interpreter, the Worker must contact local resources to locate one.
- Enter an indicator in the case record to alert that an accommodation may be needed and also to track cases for Federal reporting requirements.

1.2.1.E.4 Methods and Examples of Accommodations

At this time, West Virginia offers the following methods of accommodations to all applicants and clients:

- Sign Language Interpretation

  The Worker must:
  - Attempt to locate free certified sign language interpreters in the community in advance.
- Contact the Commission for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing in advance to locate names and numbers of local interpreters (if any).
- Contact the current contract holder for language translation and interpreter services.

➢ Visual Impairment Services

All general public information should be made available in accessible formats such as large print, audio, and Braille.

Public entities such as the DHHR are responsible for providing these upon request, unless doing so causes an undue burden. Public entities are prohibited from charging a fee for auxiliary aids and services.

➢ Foreign Language Interpreter Services

If an individual requires an interpreter, the Worker must contact local resources to locate one. If a local community resource cannot be located, the Supervisor of the Worker must contact the DFA Policy Unit for assistance. Following is information about some resources:

- Phone Companies: Verizon offers interpreter services free of charge. An Interpretation Unit is accessible through Verizon’s main phone number.
- Community Resources: Examples of community resources include, but are not limited to the Board of Education, local colleges, and the Division of Rehabilitation Services (DRS).
- Participants in the Refugee Assistance Program: Interpreter services are available for individuals who are participating in the Refugee Assistance Program (See Section 15.8). A request for services can be made by contacting the following agency:

  Office of Migration and Refugee Services
  1116 Kanawha Boulevard
  East Charleston, West Virginia 25301
  (304) 343-1036

Accommodations for an Individual with Disabilities Example 1: An individual applies for WV WORKS. He has a learning disability and is unable to read, comprehend, or complete the application. A reasonable accommodation is for the Worker to read the application to the individual and to explain the information fully.

Accommodations for an Individual with Disabilities Example 2: A client is physically unable to come to the local office for appointments made to keep his benefits. A reasonable accommodation is for the Worker to arrange to do a phone interview and/or a home visit, if necessary.

Accommodations for an Individual with Disabilities Example 3: A client who has limited mobility comes into the office for a redetermination of benefits. An accommodation for this person is to ensure that an interview room equipped for disabled individuals is available for this client at the time of his appointment. If no such room is available, the Worker may assist the client to an appropriate workstation to conduct the interview.

1.2.1.E.5 Complaint Procedures – Client Responsibilities

Any person, who believes that he has been the subject of discrimination on the bases of race, color, national origin, age, disability, sex, gender identity, religion, reprisal, and where applicable, political beliefs, marital status, familial or parental status, sexual orientation, or all or part of an individual’s income is derived from any public assistance program or protected genetic information in employment or in any program or activity conducted or funded by the Department has a right to file a complaint. (Not all prohibited bases will apply to all programs and/or employment activities.)

The individual or his authorized representative can file the complaint using the Civil Rights Discrimination Complaint form (IG-CR-3) by phone or in person to the Civil Rights Compliance Officer, within 180 days of the incident to the following address:

Employee Management
DHHR Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Officer
One Davis Square, Suite 400
Charleston, West Virginia 25301

The individual may also report concerns for federal review within 180 days of the date of the incident to the following address:

Health and Human Services
Office for Civil Rights
U.S. Department of Health & Human Services
Room 515-F
200 Independence Avenue, SW
Washington, D.C. 20201
Or call (202) 619-0403 (voice) or (800) 537-7697 (TTY)
A written complaint should include the following information:

- The name of the person(s) felt to have been treated unfairly;
- The date and description of the alleged discriminatory action;
- The name(s) of other persons, if any, who were present when this action occurred;
- The date the complaint is made; and,
- The signature of the person or representative making the complaint.

➢ SNAP Only

For SNAP benefits only, a copy of the IG-CR-3 must be sent to the following address, or the individual may file a direct complaint to:

United States Department of Agriculture (USDA)
Director, Office of Adjudication
1400 Independence Ave., SW
Washington, D.C. 20250-9410
(800) 632-9992

The individual may also file a Civil Rights program complaint of discrimination with USDA by completing the USDA Program Discrimination Complaint Form, found online, at any USDA office, or by calling (866) 632-9992 to request the form.

The individual may write a letter containing all of the information requested in the form. Send the completed complaint form or letter by mail to:

U.S. Department of Agriculture
Director, Office of Adjudication
1400 Independence Avenue, SW
Washington, D.C. 20250-9410
Fax: (202) 690-7442
Email: program.intake@usda.gov

Individuals who are deaf, hard of hearing, or have speech disabilities may contact USDA through the Federal Relay Service at (800) 877-8339; or (800) 845-6136 (Spanish).

For any other information dealing with SNAP issues, persons should either contact the USDA SNAP Hotline Number at (800) 221-5689, which is also in Spanish, or call the State Information/Hotline Numbers (click the link for a listing of hotline numbers by State) found online.
1.2.1.E.6 Complaint Procedures – DHHR Responsibilities

Each complaint received must be investigated and corrective action taken, if appropriate. The investigations and corrective actions are handled in conjunction with DHHR’s Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Officer.

Each DHHR office must post the American with Disabilities Act (ADA)/Section 504 Notice in a prominent area to provide information regarding rights under the ADA and Section 504.

➢ SNAP Only

For SNAP benefits only, the following USDA nondiscrimination statement must be included, in full, on all materials produced for public information, education, or distribution regarding the program:

The U.S. Department of Agriculture also prohibits discrimination against its customers, employees, and applicants for employment on the bases of race, color, national origin, age, disability, sex, gender identity, religion, reprisal, and where applicable, political beliefs, marital status, familial or parental status, sexual orientation, or all or part of an individual’s income is derived from any public assistance program or protected genetic information in employment or in any program or activity conducted or funded by the Department. (Not all prohibited bases will apply to all programs and/or employment activities.)

If an individual wishes to file a Civil Rights program complaint of discrimination with USDA, they can complete the USDA Program Discrimination Complaint Form, found online, at any USDA office, or by calling (866) 632-9992 to request the form. The individual may write a letter containing all of the information requested in the form. Send the completed complaint form or letter by mail to: U.S. Department of Agriculture, Director, Office of Adjudication, 1400 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20250-9410, by fax (202) 690-7442 or email at program.intake@usda.gov.

Individuals who are deaf, hard of hearing or have speech disabilities may contact USDA through the Federal Relay Service at (800) 877-8339; or (800) 845-6136 (Spanish).

For any other information dealing with Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) issues, persons should either contact the USDA SNAP Hotline Number at (800) 221-5689, which is also in Spanish or call the State Information/Hotline Numbers (click the link for a listing of hotline numbers by State); found online.

USDA is an equal opportunity provider and employer.
1.2.2 OVERVIEW OF THE ELIGIBILITY DETERMINATION PROCESS

The general components of the eligibility determination process and a brief description of each follow.

1.2.2.A Application Process

This process determines initial eligibility for one or a combination of programs. Depending on the program or coverage group for which an individual applies, the application may be submitted by mail, phone, electronically, through the FFM, through inROADS, in person, or it may be received by DHHR through the SSA’s data exchange.

The application may be held, pending receipt of necessary information or verification, but there are processing time limits that must be met. All applications must have a final disposition and the client must be notified of the decision.

1.2.2.B Redetermination Process

Periodic reviews of total eligibility for recipients are mandated by federal law. These are redeterminations and take place at specific intervals, depending on the program or Medicaid coverage group. Failure by the client to complete a redetermination will result in termination of benefits. If the client completes the redetermination process by the specified program deadline(s) and remains eligible, benefits must be uninterrupted and received at approximately the same time.

The redetermination process involves basically the same activities described in Application Process above. Eligibility system changes and client notification of any changes resulting from the redetermination conclude the process.

1.2.2.C Case Reviews and Case Maintenance

While a redetermination is a required periodic review of total eligibility, a review may be conducted at any time on a single or combination of questionable eligibility factor(s).
The case maintenance process may involve a review or activities that update the Department's information about the client's circumstances between the application and first redetermination and between redeterminations. Changes in eligibility or the benefit amount may occur. If so, eligibility system action and client notification of any changes are required.

Some special situations may require a more formal review process. This may be a special procedure to target an error problem.

1.2.2.D Resource Development

SNAP clients must be encouraged to take advantage of any potential resources that may be available, but failure to apply for or accept such benefits does not affect SNAP eligibility.

WV WORKS clients are responsible for taking necessary steps to apply for alternate available resources. This resource development is part of the Personal Responsibility Contract (PRC). See Section 8.2 for details and exceptions.

Medicaid clients are responsible for applying for and accepting alternative means of support. This is an eligibility requirement for this program. See Section 8.2.

1.2.3 WORKER RESPONSIBILITIES

1.2.3.A General

The Worker has the following general responsibilities in the application process. Program-specific responsibilities are found in the program sections of this chapter. The Worker must:

- Accept an application from any person or his representative who wishes to apply.
- Determine if the applicant requires special assistance.
- Ensure the client is given the opportunity to apply for all of the Department's programs on the date that he expresses an interest.
- Inform the client of his responsibilities, the process involved in establishing his eligibility, including the Department's processing time limits, and how the beginning date of eligibility is determined.
• Adhere to the Department’s policies and procedures to establish eligibility, including those regarding timely action and/or decision.

NOTE: In all situations where case information is released to another organization or agency, the information must have form Release of Confidential Information (DFA-CI-1) attached.

• Prior to eligibility system entry for disposition of another application, the Worker must determine if there is an existing case number for the client.
  - When an existing case number is found in another county, the Worker must request immediate eligibility system transfer to the client’s new county of residence. The case record must be mailed to the new county of residence within 10 working days. The request may be accomplished by memorandum, electronic mail, or by telephone.
  - The Worker must determine if there is an existing EBT account and reactivate expunged accounts. He must also inform the client of the availability date of any balance remaining in the account.

• Obtain all pertinent, necessary information through verification, when appropriate.

• Assist the client in obtaining information required to establish his eligibility.
  - Determine whether or not the client is able to cooperate.
  - If he is able, but has not complied, instruct the client that his failure to fulfill his obligation may result in one or more of the following actions:
    - Denial of the application
    - Closure of the active AG
    - Removal of the individual from the AG
    - Repayment of benefits
    - Reduction in benefits
  - The action taken by the Worker depends on the specific requirement. These actions are found with the specific policy or in this chapter under the program-specific information.

• Maintain the confidentiality of all information received from or about the client.

• Per client request, make his case information available, including all electronic submissions and paper documentation, during normal business hours. See DHHR Common Chapters Section 230 for additional information.

• Ensure that copies of all pertinent information are placed in the client's case record or given to appropriate staff to file.
• Ensure that proper case recordings are made to document the Worker's actions and the reason for such actions.

• Ensure that information about available community resources addressing domestic violence is available to all persons who request it, or who, in the Worker's judgment, may benefit from it. In addition, the Worker must make an immediate referral to the appropriate domestic violence or community agency when the client requests such assistance. When possible, the referral must be made the same day. If the agency cannot make arrangements to see the client the same day, a referral to the Division of Children and Adult Services must be made the same day, if possible. See Section 1.2.12.D, Special Situations for additional information about handling domestic violence situations.

• Inform the client that he is authorized to receive information and referral services about Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF; i.e. WV WORKS) and other programs offered by the DHHR.

• Provide a voter registration application and declination form at any point a client engages in contact with the Department in conjunction with benefits. If the contact is made via any method other than a face-to-face, the application and declination form must be mailed to the client. See Section 1.2.1.D to assure compliance with this procedure.

• MEDICAID ONLY: Provide each Medicaid applicant with a copy of the Department’s Notice of Privacy Practices (NOPP). This includes clients who are completing a redetermination of Medicaid eligibility. In addition, the Worker must answer any questions the client may have about the document or about HIPAA or must refer the client to another source of information, such as the Regional or State-level DHHR HIPAA Privacy Officer. When an in-office intake interview is not conducted, the Worker must mail the NOPP with a notice about how to obtain more information. This must be done at each mail-in or online Medicaid application and redetermination.

• Notify the client of the eligibility decision as soon as possible, but at least within the processing time frames for each program or Medicaid coverage group.

NOTE: When an application has been made for WV WORKS and/or Medicaid and the application is denied, withdrawn, approved for a DCA payment, or held pending additional information, the AG must not be required to make a separate application for SNAP benefits as long as the application taken is appropriate for the additional program and includes questions and answers to determine that program’s eligibility. See Section 1.2.9.
1.2.3.B  Home Visits

Home visits may be conducted for any program, during any phase of the eligibility determination process, when the Worker or Supervisor believes a home visit is advisable. The client may also request a home visit due to illness or inability to travel, when he has no person to act on his behalf.

NOTE: Home visits for SNAP AGs may only be made on a case-by-case basis and not because an AG fits an error prone or other profile.

NOTE: For SNAP, home visits must be scheduled. For all other Programs, the visit may be scheduled or unscheduled, at the Worker or Supervisor's discretion. If a home visit is made for another Program, and information is obtained which affects SNAP eligibility or benefit level, it is acted upon whether or not the home visit was scheduled. The client may refuse entry to the Department's representative.

1.2.3.C  Collateral Contacts

When the Worker must make a collateral contact, such as with a client’s employer, the Worker must not disclose the client’s status as an applicant/client of a Department program.

1.2.3.C.1  SNAP Only Exception

DHHR staff must not initiate contact with law enforcement officials to disclose information regarding SNAP clients. However, information pertaining to a SNAP client or member of his household may be provided when written requests from federal, state, or local law enforcement officers are received on the official department letterhead of the issuing law enforcement agency and verifies the following:

- The individual is fleeing to avoid prosecution, custody, or confinement for a felony; or
- The individual is violating parole or probation; or
• The individual has information necessary for the officer to conduct an official duty related to either of the two statements immediately above.

The Worker provides only the individual’s last known address, SSN, and, if available, a photograph of any member of the individual’s household. It is the responsibility of the CSM to review and approve the release of all such information. If a written request for information is questionable, the Supervisor or CSM must contact the DFA Economic Services Policy Unit for assistance. Additional guidance on releasing confidential information is outlined in the DHHR Common Chapters Sections 200 – 250.

1.2.3.D Coding Cases as Confidential

When the Worker is aware that an applicant is an employee of the Department, a relative of a Department employee, or otherwise clearly may have an interest in limiting access to his case information, he must notify his Supervisor. The Supervisor codes the case as confidential for the client’s protection.

1.2.3.E Cases Involving Domestic Violence

When the client discloses a domestic violence situation, extreme caution must be taken to safeguard any information about the individual’s location or living situation.

• The Worker must not contact the individual named as the abuser, or his relatives or friends, for any information or verification required from the client.

• The case must be coded in the eligibility system with the domestic violence indicator to alert all who access the case about the client’s situation.

• Copies of any information that involve a domestic violence situation must never be placed in the case record to ensure the safety of the client and to ensure that the alleged abuser does not gain access to information that may compromise the safety of the client.

• If it is necessary to make contacts with a domestic violence agency or the Division of Children and Adult Services, or to maintain records for the purpose of documentation of the situation for a WV WORKS temporary exemption from work requirements, the information must be maintained in a separate file that is secured and available only to Supervisors. Information maintained in a separate file regarding domestic violence may be presented as evidence at a Fair Hearing, as long as the client agrees to use of the information for such purpose.
Information about a domestic violence situation or the whereabouts of an individual or family who has left a domestic violence situation for a safer residence must never be recorded in the case record, in order to ensure the safety of the individual or family.

1.2.3.F Determining Race and Ethnicity for Federal Reporting

It is the Worker's responsibility to determine the client's appropriate race and ethnic category and correctly enter the information in the eligibility system.

1.2.3.F.1 Race

When a client identifies himself as being of a single race or a combination of races, the appropriate race is entered in the eligibility system. The following are the races with which he may identify:

- Asian Indian
- Black or African American
- American Indian or Alaska Native
- White
- Native Hawaiian or other Pacific Islander
- Chinese
- Filipino
- Japanese
- Korean
- Vietnamese
- Guamanian or Chamorro
- Samoan
- Other Asian

1.2.3.F.2 Ethnicity

The client must be placed in an ethnic category, regardless of the race with which he identifies:
• Hispanic or Latino
• None of the above

If Hispanic or Latino:
• Mexican
• Mexican American
• Chicano/a
• Puerto Rican
• Cuban
• Other

Race and Ethnicity Example 1: The client identifies his race as Black, with some Hispanic ancestry. His ethnicity is entered as “Hispanic or Latino.”

Race and Ethnicity Example 2: The client identifies his race as White, with no Hispanic background. His ethnicity is entered as “None of the above.”

When the client refuses to identify his race and/or ethnicity, the Worker must use his best judgment when entering the information in the eligibility system.

1.2.4 CLIENT RESPONSIBILITY

The client’s responsibility is to provide complete and accurate information about his circumstances so that the Worker is able to make a correct determination about his eligibility.

1.2.5 INTAKE INTERVIEW

The policies in this section apply to interviews that are required, as well as interviews requested by the client.

WV WORKS, Emergency Low Income Heating Assistance Program (LIEAP), and Emergency Assistance require a face-to-face interview. An interview is required for SNAP, but may be completed by phone or face-to-face. Medicaid does not require an interview.

The interview may be completed by the client or authorized representative visiting the office, or by the Worker making a home visit. Whether or not a face-to-face interview is required is found... in program-specific sections of this chapter, along with any information that is specific to a particular program.

When it is not feasible for the applicant to be interviewed, if an interview is required or requested, on the date he expresses his interest, he must be allowed to complete the process at a later date. An appointment may be scheduled for his return, or the client may return at his convenience, depending upon the procedure established by the CSM.

- The same procedure must be used for all applicants within the county.
- If a household misses a scheduled interview appointment, it is the household’s responsibility for rescheduling. To the extent practicable, the State agency must accommodate the applicant.

SNAP-ONLY EXCEPTION: SNAP applicants must be given a scheduled interview when it is not feasible to conduct an interview on the date the application is made. Any special needs such as, but not limited to, the applicant’s work schedule, must be accommodated.

Regardless of the program or Medicaid coverage group for which the client applies, the Worker is responsible for the following when an interview is conducted:

- Screening the client for all DFA benefits and explaining that he may be eligible for more than one benefit. The client must be given the opportunity to apply for any programs in which he expresses an interest, even if the Worker is able to pre-determine his ineligibility.

- Informing him that providing SSN’s for non-applicants is not required but will be used to facilitate enrollment in insurance affordability programs for verification of financial information.

- Reviewing the DFA-2 or other application form to make certain that the client understood each question and answered to the best of his ability. If the client is unable to complete the form himself, and there is no one else to help him, the Worker must complete the form based on information provided by the client.

- Explaining the applicant's responsibility to provide complete and accurate information and the penalties for failure to do so.

- Discussing all statements on the DFA-RR-1 with the client to be sure he understands each one and marks each appropriately.

- Explaining fully the benefits of the program(s) for which the client applies. This includes: when benefits are received, how the benefits are received, description of the benefit, how to use the benefit, as well as any other pertinent information related to receipt and use of the benefit.

- Explaining how eligibility for the program(s) is determined and, if applicable, how the amount of the benefit is computed.
- Explaining the applicant's reporting requirements.
- Providing the applicant with a list of verifications needed to determine eligibility, using form DFA-6 or the verification checklist. He must also be told the penalty for failure to provide the verifications and what he must do if he finds he cannot obtain it by the deadline.
- Explaining other resources within the agency from which the client may benefit.
- Explain to the client that he is authorized to receive information and referral services about TANF and other programs offered by the Department.
- Finding resources to meet the client's emergency needs by referral to a community resource or by an application for Emergency Assistance.
- Ensuring that information about available community resources that address domestic violence issues is made available to all persons who could benefit from it. All clients who request assistance in dealing with domestic violence should be referred to a local domestic violence agency, so that an interview may be conducted the same day. When this is not possible, referring the client to the Division of Children and Adult Services.

NOTE: When the applicant has completed the interactive interview, and there is a technical failure that prevents printing the DFA-2, form DFA-5 must be signed by the applicant and filed in the record with the DFA-2 after it is printed. He must not be required to return to the office to sign the DFA-2 when the DFA-5 has been signed.

1.2.6 APPLICATION SUBMISSION

The Department must accept applications submitted by mail, fax, in-person, telephone, or electronically through inROADS, the Federally Facilitated Marketplace (FFM), or the Social Security Administration (SSA).

The Worker must accept an application from any person or his authorized representative who wishes to apply.
1.2.6.A Paper Applications

The Department responds to requests for applications to be mailed to potential applicants and accepts applications submitted by mail. The following is a general description of the mail-in application process.

NOTE: The same basic process applies when the client or his representative picks up and/or drops off an application for the client, without a contact with the Worker, and when the client requests in writing that an application form be mailed to him. The following description does not indicate which form is mailed, because the form depends upon the program or Medicaid coverage group for which the client wishes to apply. The appropriate forms are shown with each program and coverage group found in the program-specific sections which follow.

1.2.6.A.1 Applications Requested by Telephone

If an individual telephones a DHHR county office to request an application be mailed to him, the Worker will inform him of the following:

- If the applicant wishes, a Worker will complete the application for him in a face-to-face interview, either in the office or in his home.
- The mail-in application procedure will result in a delay in processing his application due to a delay in receipt of the form through the mail, and depending on the program, a face-to-face or telephone interview, if required.
- If the applicant wishes, he may complete the inROADS application process, if applicable.

1.2.6.A.2 Applications Submitted by Mail

When the application form is returned containing at least the applicant's name, address, and signature, an application is considered complete and requires action from the Worker to Approve, Deny, or Withdraw.

The date of application is the date the completed application form is received by the county office.

Complete applications forms must be date-stamped when received.
The application is logged and assigned to a Worker for processing and completion.

1.2.6.B  inROADS
The client may submit applications online using West Virginia inROADS for some programs including, but not limited to, SNAP, certain Medicaid coverage groups, and WVCHIP.

Individuals submitting applications using inROADS must electronically sign the application.

When the application is submitted by inROADS, the date of application is the date the application is submitted.

1.2.6.C  Community Partners
Some inROADS applications are submitted with the assistance of a Community Partner. This is an agency or organization that assists individuals and families in applying for benefits that include, but are not limited to, SNAP, Medicaid, WVCHIP, SCA, and LIEAP. An example of a Community Partner is the Primary Care Association.

Community Partners who enter into an agreement with DHHR are permitted to verify the identity and citizenship of the applicant and submit the application with an electronic signature. The Community Partner may choose to submit any verification to the local office on behalf of the applicant.

1.2.6.D  Federally Facilitated Marketplace
Individuals may apply online at the Federally Facilitated Marketplace (FFM, the Marketplace) for insurance affordability programs and MAGI Medicaid coverage groups, including Parents/Caretaker Relatives, Adult, Pregnant Women, Children Under Age 19, and WVCHIP. When the individual’s income is at or below the income limits for Medicaid, the Marketplace will determine the applicant’s eligibility for Medicaid or WVCHIP and forward the data file to the eligibility system. The eligibility system will determine the specific Medicaid or WVCHIP coverage group through which Medicaid will be issued without delay.

The Marketplace’s responsibility of determining eligibility for Medicaid is limited to Medicaid coverage implemented through the Affordable Care Act (ACA) in West Virginia effective October 1, 2013, and includes MAGI groups only. The Marketplace is not responsible to assess or determine eligibility for other Medicaid or other Department programs, benefits, or services. When the Worker identifies the individual’s potential eligibility, the Worker notifies the individual of the application process for any other programs or services.

1.2.7 CLIENT NOTIFICATION

The client must be notified in writing of the final decision on his application and the reason for it. Notification must be provided for each Program for which the client applied, but notification for more than one program may be included on one form letter. Under some circumstances, the eligibility system automatically generates notification to the client.

NOTE: There is specific, court-ordered client notification policy that must be followed. There are also specific forms that must be used and detailed procedures to follow. See Chapter 9.

During the intake interview or during some other client contact prior to written client notification, the Worker may know whether or not the client is eligible and, if so, the amount of the benefit. The Worker may tell the client the status of his application and/or benefit level, if he so chooses. However, even if the client has been told his status and/or benefit level, he must still receive the information in writing.

When an applicant may be eligible for a program or Medicaid coverage group for which he did not request, a notification is issued from the eligibility system to inform the applicant that he must contact his local office for information or to apply.

1.2.8 COMPLETION OF THE APPLICATION PROCESS

The application process is completed when the following have occurred:

1. The Worker has:
   - Approved the application when all eligibility requirements are met; or
   - Denied the application when at least one eligibility requirement is not met or the client has failed to establish eligibility.

2. The client is notified of the action taken.
The client receives his initial benefit, if eligible.

1.2.9 ADDITION OF A BENEFIT TO AN ACTIVE CASE

When a member of the SNAP AG applies for WV WORKS or Medicaid, a new application form is not required when all of the following conditions are met:

- The latest application or redetermination for the existing program or Medicaid coverage group was completed using a DFA-2 or inROADS application.
- Sufficient information about eligibility requirements for the new program or Medicaid coverage group is on the latest DFA-2 or inROADS application.
- Verification required for the new program or Medicaid coverage group is contained in or recorded in the eligibility system or the case record.
- The DFA-2 or inROADS application contains the signatures required for the new program or Medicaid coverage group.
- If required, program sections on the DFA-RR-1 were previously completed.

NOTE: A recording in the eligibility system case record must justify the lack of a DFA-2 or inROADS application.

1.2.10 REAPPLICATIONS

1.2.10.A SNAP

When an application has been made and requested information is not received, according to the time limits established in Section 1.4, the client must not be made to complete a new application if the information is returned within 60 days of the original application date. Once a decision is made to deny, the applicant must reapply.
1.2.10.B  WV WORKS and Medicaid

If an applicant AG fails to provide the verifications requested on the DFA-6 or verification checklist within the specified time limit and the application is denied, the AG must be given an opportunity to have its eligibility established for up to 60 days from the date of application without completion of a new form.

If the client brings in the verifications before the 60-day period has expired, the Worker determines the AG's eligibility based on the original application, noting in Case Comments any changes which have occurred since the form was completed. If the application is approved, WV WORKS benefits are not retroactive to the date of application because the approval delay was the fault of the client. Benefits are issued from the date the client provides the verification. The Worker provides benefits using information reported during the original application and any other pertinent information provided prior to approval.

- The reapplication occurs no later than the end of the second month following the month of the most recent AG closure;
- The AG was closed for reasons other than failure to complete a redetermination, and a redetermination was not due the effective month of closure;
- The AG, Needs Group, Income Group composition, income, and other eligibility factors have not changed significantly;
- The category of relatedness has not changed (not applicable for WV WORKS);
- The information provided by the client is not questionable; and,
- The latest application form contains the appropriate signatures.

MEDICAID-ONLY NOTE: When the latest application form is a DFA-SLA-1 or a DFA-QSQ-1, the AG may only be reopened for a Medicaid coverage group for which such forms are appropriate.

MEDICAID-ONLY NOTE: AFDC-Related and SSI-Related Medicaid AGs that do not have a spenddown, but are closed due to a change in the AG’s circumstances that results in a spenddown, are not required to reapply or complete a new application for the new period of consideration (POC) that follows AG closure. See Section 10.17.
1.2.11 REDETERMINATIONS

Each program and Medicaid coverage group has its own policies related to redetermination. Please see the program-specific sections for details.

NOTE: At redetermination for one program or Medicaid coverage group, the client may want to apply for an additional benefit. If so, the same DFA-2 or inROADS application is used as an application for the new benefit and a redetermination for the active AG, regardless of the program or Medicaid coverage group.

1.2.11.A Redeterminations Submitted by Mail

Clients of some Medicaid coverage groups, WVCHIP, and other programs receive an instruction letter and redetermination form that is submitted by mail, along with appropriate verifications. The client must complete, sign, and mail or bring the form and other required information to his local DHHR office or the Customer Service Reporting Center as directed by the letter. The client may always request a face-to-face interview.

1.2.11.B Redeterminations Submitted by inROADS

Clients of some Medicaid coverage groups, WVCHIP, and other programs receive an instruction letter and redetermination form. The client may choose to return the completed form and information by mail or complete the redetermination online by using inROADS. The client receives certain information in the letter that must be entered online to use the inROADS redetermination process.

No signature page is required and the redetermination is considered electronically signed when the client uses this process and enters information from the letter and other identifying information requested.

The online process is available for use through the end of the month the redetermination is due.

The Worker processes redeterminations submitted by inROADS using the eligibility system.
The client may also submit an application for another benefit(s) at the time of the inROADS redetermination.

1.2.12 SPECIAL SITUATIONS

1.2.12.A Applicant Receives Benefits from Another State

When an applicant states that he is or has been receiving SNAP benefits, cash assistance, and/or Medicaid from another state and presents a letter that shows the last date for which he received benefits, contact with the other state is usually necessary only to inquire about repayment of benefits in that state, if the issue is not addressed in the letter.

The Worker must obtain the following information by telephone from the other state.

- Date on which the client last received or will receive his last benefits;
- Effective date of the termination of benefits;
- The individuals included in the benefit;
- Whether or not any of the client's last benefits were returned to the agency; and,
- Whether or not the client owes a repayment to any program.

The American Public Human Services Association (APHSA) Directory contains current telephone numbers for other states. This information may also be found on state websites on the internet.

Each program has specific requirements related to receipt of benefits from other states. Refer to Date of Application under each program section below.

1.2.12.A.1 SNAP Cases Containing ABAWDs

The Worker must contact the other state to determine and record how many months of his three-month limit without meeting the work requirement he has used since the start of the 36-month period in West Virginia.

NOTE: The effective date of benefit closure in West Virginia is the month for which the client last received benefits. This may not be true in other states.
The Worker must determine how many months the client received TANF payments in the other state.

States had until July 1997 to convert from AFDC/U to a TANF-funded program. Therefore, for benefits received prior to July 1997, the Worker must also determine how many months of the cash assistance payments were funded under TANF. Appendix C contains information about when other states converted to TANF funding.

When an individual receiving Medicaid from another state moves to West Virginia and applies for Medicaid, the Worker must determine when payments by the previous state of residence stopped. See Chapter 24 for Long Term Care cases. Medicaid coverage in West Virginia will begin the month the client establishes residence in West Virginia.

The following procedures are used when an applicant requests, mails, or makes his application in the office of a county in which he does not reside.

When a mail-in application is received in the incorrect county office, it must be mailed to the correct county office the same day it is received. In addition, the correct county office must be notified the same day by electronic mail that the application is being mailed.

If the client visits the incorrect office to apply, the application must be accepted and an intake interview completed. The Worker must:

- Complete a system transfer to the correct county office on the date the application is made. The correct county office must be notified by electronic mail that the case is being transferred.
• Inform the client of additional requirements he may have to complete in the correct county.

• If the client, after explanation of the available programs, wants to apply for SNAP benefits, the contact county screens for Expedited Service eligibility, explains this to the client, and notifies the correct county office that this was done. Expedited benefits are issued by the county of residence.

1.2.12.B.2 Applications Requested by Telephone

If the client telephones the incorrect office:

• The Worker must give him the address and telephone number of the appropriate office.

• If he requests an application be mailed to him and does not choose to contact the appropriate office to have this done, one is mailed to him from the contact office, along with instructions to return it to the address of the correct county office. The Worker must notify the other office by electronic mail within prescribed time limits, based on the date of application established by the contact office.

1.2.12.B.3 Applications Submitted by inROADS

When an applicant submits his application by inROADS to a county in which he does not reside, the Worker must transfer the RFA to the proper dashboard.

1.2.12.C Communication with the Social Security Administration (SSA)

Each CSM is responsible for appointing a contact person to communicate with a contact person in the local SSA office. This contact person does not interpret policy, but works out communication problems and any problems dealing with the completion and forwarding of forms, including those involved in the joint application process for SNAP benefits. The Department's contact works directly with the contact from SSA.
Any matters that cannot be worked out between the local office and the SSA contact person are referred to a DFA Policy Unit and to the SSA District Office by the appropriate staff.

NOTE: The Worker must not contact the SSA regarding LIS files received through data exchange. The SSA uses different eligibility criteria than DHHR. The Worker may issue a verification checklist or a DFA-6 if information in the LIS file and the Department’s records differ and must be reconciled.

1.2.12.D Domestic Violence

Information about community resources that address the issue of domestic violence must be readily available in each waiting room of each county office. The information must be written and must be available for the client to take with him discreetly, without having to ask for it.

In addition, the Worker must provide such information when it is requested. When possible, this must be accomplished during the office interview. In order to ensure the safety of the individual to whom information about domestic violence is given, it is suggested that the domestic violence information be part of a packet that contains a variety of information.

If, during the interview, the Worker observes language or other behavior that is threatening and discussion of such matters could pose a possible threat to the client, the Worker must avoid direct discussion with the client. In those instances, a referral to the local domestic violence program, other available community resources, or to Social Services is in order so that a contact can be made without the threat of additional harm to the client.

Each CSM is responsible for coordinating efforts between DFA staff, Division of Children and Adult Services, and available community resources. The CSM is also responsible for making sure that up-to-date information about domestic violence services is available at all times.

Programs and Medicaid coverage groups have different allowances for verifications when the applicant attests to being a victim of domestic violence. See Chapter 7.

1.2.12.E Applications Submitted From the WV Division of Corrections (DOC) or Regional Jail Authority (RJA)

The West Virginia Division of Corrections (DOC) or Regional Jail Authority (RJA) will provide the Bureau for Medical Services (BMS) a list of incarcerated individuals who have been admitted as inpatients in medical institutions for at least 24 hours. Hospitals will also provide a list to BMS of incarcerated individuals who have been admitted for services for reconciliation against the DOC and RJA list.

- If the individual is a current Medicaid recipient, BMS will code the Medicaid Management Information System (MMIS) with the appropriate incarceration status. This will place a restriction on payment of Medicaid services while the recipient is an inmate, or incarcerated. BMS will also notify the Customer Service Reporting Center (CSRC) if the client is not coded as incarcerated, so the living arrangement code in the case can be updated.

- If the individual is not a current Medicaid client, BMS will notify DOC or RJA to assist the individual with submitting an application via inROADS.
  - The inROADS applications will be forwarded to the CSRC for processing. If Medicaid eligible, the incarcerated individual living arrangement code will inform BMS/MMIS of the recipients’ incarcerated status. The CSRC notifies BMS by email that the application has been processed.
1.3 APPLICATION FORMS

The forms described in this section are used to make an application for programs and Medicaid coverage groups included in the Income Maintenance Manual (IMM) such as the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), WV WORKS, Low-Income Energy Assistance Program (LIEAP), School Clothing Allowance (SCA), and health coverage programs that include Medicaid, the West Virginia Children’s Health Insurance Program (WVCHIP), and qualified health plans.

The application:

- Is used for gathering client information which is used to determine eligibility and the need for other services offered by the Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR).
- Is a fact sheet containing relevant information about the assistance group (AG) and other members of the household who are not included in the AG.
- Serves as a legal document and may be used in any court case.

Program-specific instructions for application completion or usage are described in the application procedures under each program and coverage group section and summarized in Appendix A.

1.3.1 COMMON APPLICATION FORMS

The applications listed below can be used to apply for one or more programs including SNAP, WV WORKS, Medicaid, and WVCHIP.

1.3.1.A Application for Benefits DFA-2

The DFA-2 is also known as the “CAF” or Common Application Form.

1.3.1.A.1 Purpose

The DFA-2 can be used to apply for most Division of Family Assistance (DFA) programs including SNAP, WV WORKS, and Medicaid as well as WVCHIP.
Because the DFA-2 can be used for multiple programs, denial of an application for one program may lead to approval for another.

The DFA-2 which contains, at a minimum the applicant’s name, address, and signature is used to protect the date of application for SNAP, Medicaid, and Emergency Assistance (EA).

1.3.1.A.2 Submission Format

The DFA-2 may be:

- Completed by the Worker in the eligibility system; or,
- Completed on paper, known as the DFA-2 shelf document, when circumstances do not permit completion of the application process in the eligibility system.

1.3.1.A.3 Related Forms

➢ Rights and Responsibilities DFA-RR-1

The DFA-RR-1 is required each time a DFA-2 or DFA-5 is completed. The client must read, or have read to him, all the statements preceding his signature before signing the form. He must also indicate his understanding of, or agreement with, each statement by checking the appropriate block beside the statement.

The Worker must provide any explanation and information the client needs to understand the statements. After completing all applicable sections, the client signs the form. Failure to sign the form results in ineligibility.

When a client checks “no” to an item, it does not result in immediate ineligibility. The client has to actually fail to comply with the requirement in order to result in ineligibility.

Rights and Responsibilities Example: The client applying for SNAP benefits checks “no” to the statement concerning the requirement to cooperate with Quality Control (QC). The AG is eligible and benefits are approved. QC selects the case for review in the second month. The client refuses to cooperate and, only then, is notice of closure sent.

➢ Document for Protection of Application Date DFA-5
When the applicant has completed the application, and there is a technical failure that prevents printing the DFA-2, Form DFA-5 must be signed by the applicant, attached, and filed in the case record with the subsequently printed DFA-2. The DFA-RR-1 must also be completed and signed. He must not be required to return to the office to sign the DFA-2 when a DFA-5 has been signed.

Request for Information and/or Verification Checklist DFA-6

When the Worker does not have sufficient information to make a decision, it is necessary to complete form DFA-6 or verification checklist to inform the applicant of the additional information needed. All requests for verification must be made using the DFA-6 form and/or verification checklist.

The Worker must clearly state on the form what items must be returned by the applicant, as well as the date by which the information must be returned.

The applicant’s failure to return information or the return of incomplete or incorrect information that prevents a decision from being made on the application will be considered failure to provide verification and will result in a denial of the application.

Release of Confidential Information Statement DFA-CI-1

In all situations where case information is released to another organization or agency, the information must have form DFA-CI-1 attached to it.

1.3.1.B inROADS Application
-------------------------------

inROADS is the online system that allows clients to be evaluated for or apply for certain benefits.

1.3.1.B.1 Purpose

This application can be used for:

- SNAP
- Medicaid
- WVCHIP
• Health care coverage through the Federally Facilitated Marketplace (FFM)
• Medicare Premium Assistance (MPA)
• Regular LIEAP and
• School Clothing Allowance (SCA)

The rights and responsibilities are included with the inROADS application; the DFA-RR-1 is not required.

1.3.1.B.2 Submission Format

The inROADS application is submitted by the applicant through the Department’s public-facing web portal.

1.3.2 SNAP ONLY APPLICATION FORM DFA-SNAP-1

The DFA-SNAP-1 Application for SNAP is used for SNAP-only applications. No DFA-RR-1 is required.

NOTE: Printing a DFA-2 after the interview is not required if a signed DFA-SNAP-1 is received.

1.3.3 WV WORKS ONLY DFA-RFA-1

The DFA-RFA-1 Request for Assistance may be used to protect the date of application for WV WORKS. The form is considered complete when it contains, at a minimum, the applicant’s name, address, and signature.

The DFA-RFA-1 should be used when the client is in the local office and time does not permit conducting an interview on the date the client wishes to apply for benefits. If the applicant does not follow through with the application requirements for WV WORKS, the correct action is denial of those benefits in the eligibility system.

When an application is requested by mail, the DFA-2 or other appropriate program application must be sent. The DFA-RFA-1 must not be mailed to the client.
1.3.4 MEDICAID APPLICATION FORMS

1.3.4.A Single Streamlined Application (SLA), DFA-SLA-1, SFA-SLA-2

1.3.4.A.1 Purpose

The SLA, also known as the Application for Health Coverage and Help Paying Cost, allows individuals to apply with the Department for all health coverage programs including WVCHIP.

The DFA-SLA-1 and DFA-SLA-2 (short form) are the shelf document (paper) versions of the single-streamlined application used to apply for health coverage only. These applications collect information needed to determine eligibility for health care coverage groups on the basis of Modified Adjusted Gross Income (MAGI).

- The DFA-SLA-1 is used for a family, or when there is more than one individual in the household.
- The DFA-SLA-2 is used by a single individual.

The SLA is available at community and business sites throughout the State. The form is given to anyone who requests it, regardless of the county in which he resides, if different from the county of the special outreach site.

The SLA must be available for distribution in all county DHHR offices and provided to anyone who makes the request.

When the client requests the SLA mailed to him, this must occur the same day as his request.

When received, the client has the option of completing the SLA the day he receives the form and leaving it at the DHHR office for processing, taking it with him for completion and returning it to the local office at a later date, or returning with the form for completion in the office.

NOTE: Regardless of the option chosen, at no point is the applicant required to register with the receptionist or meet with a Worker in order to receive a SLA or have it processed.
1.3.4.A.2 Submission Format

The SLA can be submitted by mail, phone, electronically through the Federally Facilitated Marketplace (FFM) or inROADS, or in person for all health coverage and insurance affordability programs.

1.3.4.A.3 Related Forms

➢ Supplement to Application for Health Coverage DFA-SLA-S1

The DFA-SLA-S1 is the supplement used in addition to the DFA-SLA-1 or DFA-SLA-2 to collect additional information required to determine eligibility for Medicaid coverage groups on a basis other than MAGI.

The DFA-SLA-S1 is a supplement only and is not used as an application.

1.3.4.B Medical Assistance Application DFA-MA-1

The DFA-MA-1 is a shelf document that can only be used to apply for the following Long Term Care (LTC) Medicaid categories: Nursing Facilities Services, Intermediate Care Facilities (ICF) for Individuals with Intellectual Disabilities, Aged and Disabled Waiver (ADW), Intellectual Disabilities and Developmental Disabilities (IDD) Waiver, Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI) Waiver, and Children with Disabilities Community Service Program (CDCSP).

The DFA-RR-1 is not required.

The DFA-MA-1 must only be used for applicants that are not eligible for Medicaid coverage using the Modified Adjusted Gross Income (MAGI) methodology, otherwise the DFA-SLA-1 and DFA-SLA-S1 or DFA-2 must be used as the Medicaid application.

1.3.4.C QMB/SLIMB/QI-1 Application DFA-QSQ-1

The DFA-QSQ-1 is used for QMB, SLIMB, and QI-1 applications only.
No DFA-RR-1 is required.

When Low Income Subsidy (LIS) files are received from the Social Security Administration (SSA), applicants who are not current Medicare Premium Assistance (MPA) clients are issued a DFA-QSQ-1 through the eligibility system.

1.4 SUPPLEMENTAL NUTRITION ASSISTANCE PROGRAM (SNAP)

This section describes the process for determining initial and ongoing eligibility for the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP). The purpose of SNAP is to provide an effective method of assuring that the food needs of low-income assistance groups (AG) are met. This is accomplished through the issuance of SNAP benefits to AGs who meet the eligibility criteria established by the Food and Nutrition Services (FNS) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). Benefits are issued to the AG’s electronic benefits transfer (EBT) account.

These SNAP benefits may be used in grocery stores or other establishments that are authorized by USDA to accept SNAP benefits. The AG may purchase any food or food products for human consumption. SNAP may also be used to purchase Meals on Wheels meals, seeds, and plants for food production in home gardens. In addition, homeless AGs may purchase meals from a public or private non-profit establishment approved to feed homeless persons. Alcoholic beverages, tobacco, and non-edible items, such as cleaning supplies and paper products, are specifically excluded.

1.4.1 APPLICATION PROCESS

Applications may be submitted using the DFA-2, DFA-SNAP-1, or inROADS. See Section 1.2 for the inROADS process. When an AG completes an application, the worker must offer to provide a copy of the completed application. If the AG specifically requests the copy of the application be in an electronic format, the worker must provide a copy in an electronic format.

Usually an application form is required to reapply for SNAP benefits. However, there are times when an AG may reapply without completing a new form.

When the client requests benefits following the denial of an application or redetermination beyond the time limits specified in Section 1.4.9 below, a new application form and interview is required.

When benefits are closed due to a change in circumstance, other than a missed redetermination, and the client requests his benefit be reopened within the certification period, no new application form is required when the client has not missed an issuance month. When no issuance month has been missed, the AG remains in the original certification period.

If the AG has missed an issuance month and is not eligible for reinstatement of benefits, a new application form and interview is required. If the application is approved, the AG will be assigned a new certification period.
Application Example 1: An application is made on June 10, and a DFA-6 is issued with a due date of June 20. The client does not provide the requested verification and the application is denied. On July 20, the client provides the information and the Worker is able to determine eligibility for the AG. Benefits are approved as of July 20, and no new application form is required.

Application Example 2: Same example as above, except the requested verification is not returned until August 20. The benefit may not be approved until the client completes a new application and interview.

1.4.1.A Failure to Provide Requested Verifications

If an applicant AG fails to provide the verifications requested on the DFA-6 or verification checklist within the specified time limit and the application is denied, the AG must be given an opportunity to have its eligibility established for up to 60 days from the date of application without completion of a new form.

If the client brings in the verifications before the 60-day period has expired, the Worker determines the AG’s eligibility based on the original application, noting in Case Comments any changes which have occurred since the form was completed. If the application is approved, SNAP benefits are not retroactive to the date of application because the approval delay was the fault of the client. Benefits are issued from the date the client provides the verification. The Worker provides benefits using information reported during the original application and any other pertinent information provided prior to approval.

Application Example 3: Mr. Balsam applied for SNAP benefits on November 1. A DFA-6 was issued requesting verification of income by November 30. Mr. Balsam did not provide the verification by this date and his application was denied. Mr. Balsam brought in the requested information on December 5. No new application form is required because he provided verification within 60 days of the date of application. However, if Mr. Balsam is eligible, SNAP benefits are issued from December 5.

Different procedures apply when the case is closed because of failure to provide needed verification at the time of redetermination. When the client provides the verification within 30 days of the end of the certification period, it is still considered a redetermination and a new application is not required. See Section 1.4.18, Application and Redetermination Variations, for instructions on proration due to delayed processing.

Application Example 4: Ms. Sunflower reports the start of a new job on July 1. A DFA-6 is issued to her with a due date of July 10. Ms. Sunflower does not provide the requested information by that date and the benefit is closed effective July 31. On July 30, she provides the requested information and benefits are reopened effective August 1. No new application form or interview is required. The AG remains in the original certification period.

Application Example 5: Same example as above, except that the information is not returned until August 5. Benefits may not be approved until Ms. Sunflower completes a new application and interview. The AG will be assigned a new certification period if the application is approved.

1.4.1.B Categorically Eligible AGs

Categorically Eligible AGs, as defined in Section 1.4.17.C, do not require a new form when all of the following conditions are met:

- There is a WV WORKS application pending; and
- SNAP benefits were denied; and
- Subsequent to the denial, they are determined eligible to receive WV WORKS; and
- The AG is otherwise Categorically Eligible.

The Worker provides benefits using the original application and any other pertinent information provided subsequent to that application. Benefits are paid from the date for which WV WORKS eligibility is established or the date of the original SNAP application, whichever is later. Changes must be recorded in case comments.

NOTE: If an active WV WORKS case, also certified for SNAP benefits, is closed and there is enough information to continue the SNAP certification, benefits are continued with no interruption. A new application must not be required. See Chapter 10.

1.4.1.C SNAP Work Requirement Penalty Expires

When an individual’s SNAP work requirement penalty expires, or he becomes exempt, he is added to the AG, if otherwise eligible, without having to complete an application, unless he is the sole AG member.
1.4.1.D  Failure to Complete the Interim Contact Form

When a SNAP AG is closed for failure to complete the interim contact form, a new application is not required when the form is returned by the last day of the 13th month for households certified for 24 months. For households certified for 12 months, the form must be returned by the last day of the seventh month. Benefits are prorated from the date the interim contract form is returned. If the form is not returned, a new application must be completed.

1.4.1.E  Able-Bodied Adult without Dependents (ABAWD) Exemption

A new application is not required for an ineligible ABAWD unless he is the sole AG member when the following occur:
  • The ABAWD becomes exempt;
  • The county in which he resides becomes exempt;
  • The county of which he resides becomes a NILC;
  • The State of West Virginia begins a new 36-month tracking period.

1.4.1.F  Face-to-Face Interview Waiver

When a SNAP AG is included in the face-to-face interview waiver and is closed for failure to return a completed CSLE form, a new application is not required when the completed CSLE is returned by the last day of the month following the end of the certification period. See Section 1.4.18, Application/Redetermination Variations.

1.4.1.G  Reinstating from the Date the Household Provides the Information

A SNAP AG can be reinstated from the date the household provides the information and/or necessary verification without a new application when they meet the following conditions:
  • The SNAP benefits must be in closed status,
  • The SNAP AG has at least one full month remaining in the certification period after the last month benefits are received,
• The SNAP AG must report and verify a change in circumstances during the 30 days following the last month benefits are received, and
• The SNAP AG must be eligible for SNAP benefits during the reinstatement month and the remaining months of the certification period.

1.4.2 COMPLETE APPLICATION

When the applicant signs a DFA-2 or DFA-SNAP-1 which contains, at a minimum, his name and address, his application is complete, and must be acted upon.

When the applicant submits his application by inROADS, the application is considered complete.

An interview must be scheduled. See Section 1.4.4, Interview Required, below.

An application is considered incomplete when the applicant chooses not to sign the DFA-2 or DFA-SNAP-1. When the applicant chooses not to sign, it is a withdrawal and appropriate eligibility system action and client notification must be completed. The recording in case comments must specify that the client did not want to sign the application and the reason for his decision.

NOTE: The Worker should always encourage the client to sign the application to avoid a misunderstanding that he was denied the right to apply.

When the applicant chooses to leave or end the interview before it is complete and does not indicate to the Worker that he wants to withdraw his application, it is considered a withdrawal and appropriate action is taken.

1.4.3 DATE OF APPLICATION

The date of application is the date the applicant submits a DFA-2 or DFA-SNAP-1 in person, by fax, other electronic transmission, or by mail, which contains, at a minimum, his name, address, and signature. When the application is submitted by mail or fax, it is considered an original application and the date of application is the date that the form with the name, address, and signature is received in the local office.
All SNAP applicants must be screened for Expedited Service on the day the application is made, whether the client is applying for SNAP benefits only or SNAP benefits in combination with any other program.

When the application is submitted by inROADS, the date of application is the date it is submitted.

NOTE: When the applicant has completed an in-office interview and there is a technical failure that prevents printing the DFA-2, Form DFA-5 must be signed by the applicant. The DFA-5 is used only in conjunction with an application completed in the eligibility system when the DFA-2 (aka “CAF”) cannot be printed for signature. Completion of the form, with no corresponding application in the eligibility system, does not protect the date of application.

Form DFA-RR-1 must also be completed and signed. He must not be required to return to the office to sign the DFA-2 when a DFA-5 has been signed. However, completion of a DFA-5 alone, without a corresponding application in the eligibility system, does not protect the date of application.

When a new DFA-2 or DFA-SNAP-1 is not required, the date of application depends on the situation. See Section 1.4.1, Application Process, above.

1.4.4 INTERVIEW REQUIRED

An interview is required when an application form is required. See Section 1.4.1, Application Process, above for situations when an application form is not required. See Section 1.4.5, Who Must Be Interviewed, below about authorized representatives.

All individuals who apply for SNAP benefits using any method, are interviewed by phone unless the individual chooses to be interviewed face-to-face.

The worker must explain the interview options that are available.

When an interview is completed by phone, an application form is still required. If the client submits an application form with only a name, address, and signature to protect their application date, the customer must provide another signature attesting the information provided during the phone interview is accurate.

If the client provided enough information to determine eligibility, but the Worker discovers discrepancies or additional information from the interview, it is not necessary to send the client another application for signature. Instead, the Worker documents in the case record the differences.

Interview Required Example 1: An application is received that contains only the applicant's name, address, and signature. The Worker schedules and completes a phone interview. During the interview, the applicant reports information about household members, income, and expenses that was not included on the application. The Worker must print the Common Application Form (CAF) and mail to the client for a signature to attest to the information provided during the interview.

Interview Required Example 2: An application is received providing income, household composition, and utility amounts. During the interview, the Worker discovers there is a rent obligation. It is not necessary to require another signature or updated application.

When a SNAP application is submitted using inROADS, the Worker must schedule an interview with the client after the application is received.

1.4.4.A Procedures for Missed Scheduled Interviews

-------------------

When an application is received in person, by mail, or by inROADS, and the client subsequently misses a scheduled interview, the following procedures apply.

- Notice must be sent to the client informing him that he missed the scheduled interview and that it is his responsibility to reschedule. The notice is system-generated once the Worker updates the client’s status to “no show.” This notice must be sent to the client within a reasonable amount of time to ensure that the interview and/or application can be completed within the 30-day application processing period.

- If the client contacts the office within 30 days from the application date, the Worker reschedules the interview and issues a notice to confirm the rescheduled appointment. If eligibility is established in the 30-day application processing period, benefits are prorated from the date of application. The application is denied on the 30th day after the application date, if the interview cannot be rescheduled within the 30-day application processing period.

- If the client misses both interviews or fails to keep or postpones the second interview at his request until after the 30th day following the date of application, the delay is the fault of the client. No benefits are issued until he completes an interview and supplies information to establish eligibility. The beginning date of eligibility is the date the information is supplied. Provisions in Section 1.4 for the beginning date of eligibility apply.
when the client completes all application requirements, including the interview, within 60 days of the date of application.

- Deny the application on the 30th day after the date of application when the client misses the scheduled interview and does not contact the office to reschedule it.

Missed Interview Example: An application is received by mail on October 1 and an interview is scheduled for October 10. The client fails to complete the interview and the notice of missed interview was issued. The client does not contact the Worker to reschedule the interview by October 30 and the Worker denies the application on October 31.

1.4.4.B Face-to-Face Interview Waiver Application Process

A scheduled interview notice is not required when an interview is conducted the same day the application is received. A scheduled interview notice is required when an interview is not conducted on the date the application is received. This is applicable, regardless of the method in which the application is received.

The interview must take place the same day the application is received via inROADS or a scheduled interview notice is required. When the application is submitted through inROADS after business hours, the filing date is considered the same day.

1.4.5 WHO MUST BE INTERVIEWED

1.4.5.A AG Member

Any adult member of the AG may be interviewed and sign the DFA-2, DFA-SNAP-1, or inROADS application. If there is no member of the AG age 18 or over, any member may apply.

The applicant may bring any person he chooses to the interview. This person may participate in the interview only to the extent the applicant wishes. The AG must be informed that it is responsible for repayment of any overissuance caused by erroneous information provided by this person.
1.4.5.B Authorized Representative

An adult non-AG member may participate in the interview as an authorized representative (AR) of the AG, either with or without an AG member. This individual must be authorized and designated in writing by an adult member of the AG or by any AG member if there is no member at least age 18. The authorized representative must have sufficient knowledge of the AG’s circumstances to provide the necessary information. The authorized representative may act on the AG’s behalf in making an application, completing a redetermination or reporting information during the certification period. See Section 10.4 for reported changes.

Different individuals may be selected for each activity which may involve an authorized representative, i.e., one AR may participate in an interview and a different AR may report a change. Unless it is otherwise documented from the AG, the authorized representative who completes the application is assumed to be authorized to report changes as well.

NOTE: An authorized EBT cardholder is considered to be authorized to report changes as well, but must not be considered authorized to complete an application or redetermination, unless specified by the AG.

A recording must be made in case comments regarding the authorized representatives’ status.

The AG must be informed that it is responsible for repayment of any overissuance caused by erroneous information provided by the authorized representative.

➢ Restrictions of Authorized Representatives

The Regional Director (RD) or Community Services Manager (CSM) may disqualify an authorized representative or authorized cardholder for up to one year, provided there is evidence that the individual has committed any one of the following offenses:

- Misrepresenting an AG’s circumstances; or
- Knowingly providing false information about the AG; or
- Using SNAP benefits improperly; or
- Using WV WORKS benefits improperly.

The Worker must send written notification to the affected AG and the authorized representative or authorized cardholder 30 days prior to the date of the disqualification. The letter must include: the fact that disqualification of the individual is proposed, the reason for the action, the AG’s right to a Fair Hearing, the telephone number of the office and the name of the person to contact for additional information.

This disqualification provision does not apply to drug and alcoholic treatment centers and Group Living Facilities (GLFs) which act as authorized representatives, information providers or authorized cardholders for their residents.

The following restrictions apply for SNAP Authorized Representatives:

- Homeless meal providers may not act as authorized representatives for homeless SNAP clients.
- Individual disqualified for an Intentional Program violation cannot act as an authorized representative during the disqualification period unless it has been determined no one else can serve as an authorized representative.
- Retailers accepting SNAP cannot act as authorized representatives.
- DHHR employees or contractors involved in certification or issuance processes may not act as authorized representatives without written approval from the Community Services Manager (CSM) or Regional Director (RD) and there is no one else can serve as an authorized representative.

1.4.6 WHO MUST SIGN

More than one signature is never required for a SNAP application.

If an applicant for, or recipient of WV WORKS is applying for SNAP benefits, the SNAP benefits cannot be denied solely because of the absence of the two signatures that may be required for WV WORKS. The rules governing who must sign are the same as below.

Only an AG member or authorized representative may sign the application.

1.4.7 CONTENT OF THE INTERVIEW

The identity of the applicant AG member and/or authorized representative must be verified and documented in the case record prior to benefit approval.

In addition to the responsibilities in Section 1.2, the Worker has the following additional responsibilities during the intake interview specific to SNAP:
• Screen for expedited service.

• Explain all aspects of SNAP including application processing time limits, expedited service, basis of initial and ongoing issuance, combined issuance, method of issuance, date benefits should be received, how to use SNAP benefits and the EBT card.

• For homeless AGs with shelter costs, explain the option of using the Homeless Shelter Standard Deduction versus actual shelter and SNAP Standard Utility Allowance (SUA) costs.

• Explain that the receipt of SNAP has no effect on time limits for WV WORKS, and SNAP benefits may continue even when WV WORKS stops.

• Explain certification periods and specific reporting requirements.

• Explain the Department of Health and Human Resources’ (DHHR) employment and training programs and the requirements for keeping job/training appointments, accepting employment or training, registering for SNAP Employment and Training (SNAP E&T) and the consequences for failing to comply with the requirements.

• When appropriate, explain the definition of an ABAWD, the time limits, the work requirements, and exemptions.

• Explain the authorization to receive information and referral services about Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) and other programs offered by the West Virginia DHHR.

• Explain the following about Electronic Benefits Transfer (EBT):
  o SNAP benefits will be deposited into an EBT account and accessed with an EBT card
  o When the card will be received and how to create a personal identification number (PIN).
  o The card must be activated prior to use.
  o When the benefits will be available in the account.

NOTE: The Worker must determine if there is an existing EBT account and reactivate expunged accounts. He must also inform the client of the availability date of any balance remaining in the account.
The importance of choosing an authorized cardholder who can also access the EBT account.

NOTE: For EBT, the AG may have an authorized cardholder to spend benefits from the AG’s EBT account. There is not a separate case or EBT account, but the authorized cardholder has a separate EBT card with his own Personal Identification Number (PIN) and uses the card to spend benefits from the AG’s EBT account in the same manner as the AG’s payee. The authorized cardholder, authorized representative and the information provider may be the same or different individuals, at the discretion of the AG’s payee.

Services which are available by calling the EBT Helpline and using either the Interactive Voice Response Unit (IVRU) or speaking with a Customer Service Representative (CSR). These services include, but are not limited to, activation of a new card, deactivating a lost/stolen/damaged EBT card, obtaining a new or different PIN, cancellation of an authorized cardholder or checking an account balance.

The client must be told during the intake interview that his Combined Issuance must last until his next issuance is available and the date his next issuance will be available. He must also be told that no additional SNAP benefits are available should he use them all prior to receipt of the next issuance.

1.4.8 DUE DATE OF ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Additional information requested from the applicant is due 10 calendar days from the date of the DFA-6 or verification checklist.

1.4.9 AGENCY TIME LIMITS

It is a requirement that the DFA-6 or verification checklist be given to applicants no later than 10 days after the date of application, if one is required.

The Worker must take eligibility determination action on all applications.
If eligible, the client’s first SNAP benefits must be available for use within 30 days of the date of application, unless Expedited Service applies. See Section 1.4.16, Expedited Processing.

Agency Time Limits Example 1: Mr. Marigold submits a SNAP application by mail on April 8. The Worker completes a phone interview with him on April 12 and issues a verification checklist for Mr. Marigold to return verification of income by April 22. He fails to return the information by April 22, so the Worker must deny the application on or after April 23, but no later than May 8, which is the 31st day from the date of application.

Agency Time Limits Example 2: Mrs. Violet submits a SNAP application using inROADS on May 1. The Worker completes a phone interview with her on May 6 and no further verification is needed. Even though the Worker has until May 31 for Mrs. Violet to receive her first SNAP benefits, the application should be processed on May 6 or as close to this date as possible.

Following are the time limits for denying an application.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Denial Reason</th>
<th>Time Limit</th>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Application and Interview completed, found ineligible</td>
<td>No later than the 31st day from the date of application</td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>Client missed scheduled interview</td>
<td>Wait until the 31st day</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

1.4.10 AGENCY DELAYS

If, because of an agency error, an application has not been acted on within the required time limit, corrective action must be taken immediately.

If the agency failed to request the necessary verification, the Worker must immediately send a DFA-6 or verification checklist to the applicant and note that the application is pending. When the information is received, benefits are retroactive to the date of application.

If the agency failed to act promptly on the information already received, benefits are retroactive to the date eligibility would have been established had the agency acted in a timely manner. See Section 9.2 for notification requirements.
Agency Delay Example: Application was made November 2. The pending information was received November 17, but the Worker overlooked the application until December 17. It was processed on December 17 when the Worker discovered the error. The client was found eligible. The client is issued benefits retroactive to November 2.

1.4.11 REPAYMENT

When there is an outstanding claim, the eligibility system automatically initiates repayment upon approval. See Chapter 11.

1.4.12 PENALTIES

The Worker must determine if any member(s) of the applicant AG has been disqualified and the length of the disqualification period.

1.4.12.A Work Requirement Penalty

Individuals who have not complied with a SNAP work requirement may be ineligible for a specified time. The Worker must determine if any AG member is still subject to a penalty. See Chapter 14.

1.4.12.B Disqualifications

Individuals who have committed an Intentional Program Violation (IPV) are ineligible for a specified time, determined by the number of previous IPV disqualifications. See Chapter 3.
1.4.13 BEGINNING DATE OF ELIGIBILITY

The beginning date of eligibility is the date of application when all eligibility criteria are met within 30 days of the date of application or the date that a signed signature page from inROADS is received. Benefits for the initial month are prorated from the date of application, over the number of days remaining in the month. Initial month means the first month following any period of time in which the AG was not participating.

NOTE: A sole AG who is an ABAWD that loses eligibility for failure to meet ABAWD requirements must reapply. If the client is not eligible on the date of application, the application must be denied. If the client is eligible, the benefits are prorated from the date of application.

If the AG fails to provide the information requested on a DFA-6, verification checklist or an electronic signature within the 30-day processing time limit, but provides it within 60 days of the original application date, the date of eligibility is the date the information was provided. See Section 1.4.3. This only applies at application.

EXCEPTION: For migrant and seasonal farm workers, the initial month is the first month following any break in certification of more than one month.

If an AG applies in West Virginia, but received SNAP benefits for the same month in another state, the beginning date of eligibility is the first day of the month following the last month of receipt from the other state.

1.4.14 CERTIFICATION PERIOD

The beginning date of eligibility starts the AG’s Certification Period.

The client’s certification period must be the longest possible period, but must not exceed 24 months for AGs in which all adult members are elderly or disabled with no earned income or only excluded earned income. All other AGs are certified for 12 months except for applications that qualify for expedited services and verifications have been postponed.
1.4.14.A Establishing the Certification Period

1.4.14.A.1 Certification Periods

Upon determination of eligibility, an AG is assigned one of four certification periods as follows.

➢ One Month

Expedited Service cases which apply prior to the 16th of the month and do not provide the necessary verifications prior to approval. If verifications are provided within the time limit given, the certification period is extended an additional 11 or 23 months based on the AG’s reporting requirements.

➢ Two Months

AGs eligible for Expedited Service who apply on or after the 16th of the month and have verification postponed. See Section 1.4.19.A.3, Combined Issuance. If verifications are provided within the time limit given, the certification period is extended an additional 10 or 22 months, based on the AG’s composition and income.

➢ 12 Months

All AGs except those described below for 24 months.

➢ 24 Months

All AGs in which there is no earned income or only excluded earned income and all adult AG members are:

- At least age 60; and/or
- Disabled.

NOTE: These AGs may include individuals under age 18 as long as all adults are disabled and/or elderly.
1.4.14.A.2  Interim Contact Report

A contact report must also be made midpoint of certification. However, no interview is required for this report. The Interim Contact Report is automatically mailed to the AG by the eligibility system. The client must complete the Interim Contact Report and return it to the local office.

1.4.14.B  Adjusting the Certification Period

1.4.14.B.1  Extending a Certification Period

Once a 12-month certification period is established, the Worker may extend it to a total of 24 months only when all adult AG members are elderly or disabled and the AG has no earnings or only excluded earnings. No certification period may exceed a total of 24 months.

1.4.14.B.2  Shortening a Certification Period

Once a 24-month certification period is established, the Worker must shorten it in the following situations and advance notice must be given.

- The AG has an onset of non-excluded earned income;
- The AG is joined by an individual with non-excluded earned income;
- The AG is joined by an adult who is not elderly or disabled.

When the AG no longer qualifies for a 24-month certification period, the Worker must complete a redetermination when the advance notice period ends and assign a new certification period based on the AG’s current circumstances.

AGs certified for 12 months may not have their certification period shortened for any reason except ineligibility.

EXCEPTION: When an adult who is not elderly or disabled joins the AG and the AG is approved for WV WORKS, the Worker must give advance notice that the SNAP certification period was shortened. No additional SNAP redetermination is required at this time. The WV WORKS application serves as the SNAP redetermination in this instance only.
➢ Shortening a Certification Period Examples

Example 1: An AG is composed of two elderly individuals who have only unearned income. The 24-month certification period is January 2015 through December 2016. On June 2, 2016, the AG adds their 25-year old son, who is not disabled. The Worker notifies the AG that the certification period is being shortened and they must report for a redetermination in July 2016. When the redetermination is completed, a new 12-month certification period is assigned based upon the AG’s new circumstances.

Example 2: An elderly couple with only unearned income is certified for 24 months beginning January 2016. On May 20, 2016, their 30-year-old daughter and her 10-year-old child move into the home. The daughter applies for WV WORKS for her and her child and is approved for benefits beginning in June 2016. The Worker sends advance notice to the household that their certification is being shortened and they must complete a redetermination. When the redetermination is completed and changes are made for the current circumstances, the certification is reset to 12 months.

Example 3: An elderly couple with only unearned income is certified for 24 months beginning January 2016. On May 24, 2016, their 12-year-old granddaughter moves in with them. They apply for WV WORKS and are approved for benefits beginning May 2016. The SNAP certification period is not shortened because the new AG member is not an adult. The WV WORKS application does not serve as the SNAP redetermination.

Example 4: A one-person AG with no income is certified for 12 months, as the AG member has a pending Retirement, Survivors, and Disability Insurance (RSDI) disability claim. In the second month of the certification period, the RSDI is awarded and it is determined the AG is still eligible for SNAP. The certification period is extended 22 months to equal a total of 24 months, now that all adult AG members are disabled without earnings.

Example 5: An AG composed of two elderly adults with earnings and one child is certified for 12 months. In the second month, the AG reports the loss of earned income. Because all of the adult AG members are elderly without earned income, the certification period must be extended to 24 months. The extended certification period starts the month the change is effective.

Example 6: An AG with only excluded earnings is composed of two children and two disabled adults and is certified for 24 months. In the 19th month, the AG reports the onset of non-excluded earnings. The Worker must send the advance notice informing the household that a recertification interview is required. Upon completion of the interview and changes made for the current circumstances, their certification period is reset at 12 months.

1.4.15 REDETERMINATION

Redetermination procedures follow the same procedures as an application. An interview is required unless it is completed by the Social Security Administration (SSA). When found eligible, the client’s new certification period is established based on the current household circumstances.

1.4.16 EXPEDITED PROCESSING

Expeditied Service is the term used for special procedures in processing applications meeting specific requirements.

It is possible for a client to qualify for Expedited Service at any time during the application process.

1.4.16.A Eligibility Requirements

The following groups of cases are eligible for Expedited Service if otherwise eligible. They are:

- Those whose monthly gross income is less than $150 and whose liquid assets do not exceed $100.
- Migrant and seasonal farm worker AGs which have been determined Destitute, as defined in Chapter 4, and whose liquid assets do not exceed $100.
- Eligible AGs whose combined monthly gross countable income and liquid assets are less than the AG’s monthly paid and unpaid shelter and the appropriate utility standard, if eligible. The AG’s income and liquid assets must be less than the AG’s monthly paid and unpaid shelter costs and the SUA amount for which the AG is eligible.
There is no limit to the number of times an AG may be certified under expedited procedures, as long as, prior to each expedited certification:

- The AG either completes the verification requirements that were postponed at the last expedited certification; or
- Was certified under normal processing standards since the last expedited certification.

NOTE: Liquid assets must be evaluated when determining eligibility for Expedited Services even though the assets may not be counted toward the SNAP asset limit or are not required to be verified.

Expedited Service Example 1: Mr. Aster was due for redetermination in April. He kept his scheduled appointment and continues to be eligible. He is not eligible for Expedited Service because his normal issuance cycle continues.

Expedited Service Example 2: Mr. Begonia applies for SNAP benefits on May 1 and is found eligible for Expedited Service. He is certified for one month only and verification is postponed. He reapplies on May 12 for June. He provides all verification that was postponed from the previous expedited certification. Mr. Begonia has $0 income and is eligible beginning in June. He qualifies for Expedited Service because he provided the postponed verification from the previous expedited certification.

1.4.16.B Screening for Expedited Service

Every applicant must be screened and a decision made on the date of application for eligibility for Expedited Service whether or not the applicant requests this service.

If, for any reason, an AG is not identified on the date of application as being eligible for Expedited Service, or is not eligible at that time, and the Worker subsequently discovers that the AG is entitled, the Worker provides Expedited Service as if entitlement had been established on the date of application. However, the time limits are calculated from the date the Worker discovers the entitlement, not from the date of application.

AGs requesting, but not entitled to Expedited Service, have their applications processed according to normal standards. See Section 9.2 for notification requirements.

The DFA-2, DFA-SNAP-1 or the case record must show that the application was screened for Expedited Service and the justification for the Worker’s decision at application. Any changes in the original decision documented in the case record.
1.4.16.C Variations in Application Processing Procedures

AGs which qualify for Expedited Service are entitled to receive faster service. To ensure faster service, some exceptions to standard procedures apply.

1.4.16.C.1 Verification/Work Requirements

Only verification of identity is required prior to approval for Expedited Service.

Verification of standard eligibility requirements is temporarily postponed, unless verification can occur within the Expedited Service time frame.

Eligibility requirements must be met prior to approval, even though routine verification is temporarily postponed for Expedited Service.

This does not mean that eligibility requirements are waived prior to approval, only that the routine verification of them is postponed. This also applies to the verification of and the application for a Social Security Number (SSN). All reasonable efforts must be made to meet all routine verification requirements prior to approval. See Chapter 7.

Postponed verification must be received prior to the second issuance.

If the applicant is able to verify identity, before, or at the same time, the additional information for which the case was pending is received, procedures for Expedited Service apply. The client also qualifies for Expedited Service if the verification of identity is received at the same time the pending information is received. In addition, if the pending information is received, but not acted on, and then the verification of identity is received, Expedited Service procedures are appropriate. This must be explained to the client.

Prior to approval, the non-exempt individual(s) who completes the application process is subject to the work requirements that apply at application. The Worker must also attempt to have all other non-exempt individuals in the AG comply with the work requirements prior to approval. When this is not possible within the Expedited Service time frame, all other non-exempt individuals must comply with the work requirements by the second issuance.

EXCEPTION: Combined issuance procedures require compliance prior to the third issuance.
1.4.16.C.2 Time Limits

Federal regulations require that SNAP benefits must be available for use by an eligible Expedited Service AG no later than the close of business on the seventh calendar day following the date of application.

To ensure this happens, consideration must be given to the following factors:

- SNAP benefits are available in the client's EBT account the day after approval in the eligibility system.
- If the AG does not already have an EBT card and/or PIN, the EBT card is mailed the day after entry of information in the eligibility system.
- The client must have benefits available for use no later than seven calendar days after the date of application, including weekends and holidays.
- If Expedited Service eligibility is overlooked on the date of application or the client subsequently becomes eligible for Expedited Service, action must be taken on the same date the Worker discovers the client is eligible.
- The intention of the Expedited Service policy is to provide assistance quickly. When an uncontrollable situation forces a delay, the application must be processed as soon as possible. A recording in the eligibility system must substantiate the reason any expedited service approval was not confirmed timely.

1.4.17 SPECIAL CONSIDERATIONS

Special considerations are outlined below.

1.4.17.A Joint Supplemental Security Income (SSI) and SNAP Application/Redetermination Process

Social Security Administration (SSA) offices accept SNAP applications for pure SSI AGs and forward them to the local office for eligibility determination.

The work requirements in Section 14.2 are waived for individuals who complete the joint SSI/SNAP application process until eligibility for SSI is determined.
The date of application is the date the SSA/DHS-1 was signed at the SSA office.

NOTE: When a resident of an institution applies for SSI and SNAP benefits jointly prior to leaving the institution, the application date is the date the individual leaves the institution.

A pure SSI AG is one in which all members of the AG are either recipients of, or applicants for, SSI on the date application is made.

1.4.17.A.1 The SSA Responsibilities

- Inform each client in a pure SSI AG that he may apply for SNAP benefits at the SSA or the local DHHR office, and that service may be faster if they choose to apply at the DHHR office. If the client prefers to apply at the DHHR office, the SSA provides him with the address and telephone number of the appropriate office.
- Assist the client in completing form SSA/DHS-1.
- Inform the client to contact the local office about the status of his application.
- If the AG qualifies for Expedited Service, inform the applicant that the AG may receive these benefits faster if he applies at, or delivers the application to, the local office.
- Forward the SSA/DHS-1 to the local office within one working day, following procedures worked out between the CSM and the SSA contact person. See Section 1.2.12.C.
- Complete an SSA/DHS-1 for a redetermination when the client requests this service. SSA may initiate this action. Since SSA accepts the client's statement that his case is due for redetermination, the local office may receive, SSA/DHS-1 for persons who are not actually due for redetermination.
- The local office completes the redetermination when the SSA/DHS-1 is received, whether it is due or not.
- A redetermination is indicated by “Recertification” written in red at the top of the SSA/DHS-1.
- All procedures and time limits which apply to applications accepted by the SSA, apply to redeterminations accepted by the SSA.
1.4.17.A.2 Worker Responsibilities

- Screen and, if eligible, process the application for Expedited Service.

  NOTE: The date of application for the Expedited Service time limits is the date the application is received in the local office.

- Screen the SSA/DHS-1 to determine if further information is necessary.

  If the form is incomplete, any needed information must be supplied by the client. The form is not returned to the SSA, and, under no circumstances, is the client required to visit the local office for completion of the form. The client can be requested to visit the office, but the application cannot be denied solely because he does not. Needed information may be obtained by telephone, mail, or home visit.

  If verification not provided by the SSA is needed, the Worker must notify the client of the required information within three working days of the date the application is received from the SSA.

- Process according to normal procedures if the AG does not qualify for Expedited Service.

- Process any SSA/DHS-1 forms completed as redeterminations the same way applications are handled.

1.4.17.A.3 Quality Control (QC) Errors

If an error is a result of information supplied by the SSA, it is not included in the county's error rate. However, if the SSA supplied the correct information and the Worker failed to take the appropriate action, the county is charged with the QC error.

1.4.17.B Mail-In SNAP Applications

If the client calls to request an application be mailed to him, the Worker must screen the client for Expedited Service over the telephone and advise him of his potential eligibility.
If the client is eligible for Expedited Service, the Worker may complete the interview over the telephone and mail the completed application to the client for signature. The days the application is in the mail to and from the household and the days the application is in the household’s possession pending their signature will not be included in the Expedited Service period. Case comments will need to be made stating the day the application is mailed and the date it is received in the office with a signature.

If the client is eligible for Expedited Service and cannot complete a telephone interview or is not eligible for Expedited Service, the Worker will mail the application. The Worker schedules an interview no later than five working days after the DFA-2 or DFA- SNAP-1 is received. The interview may be scheduled by telephone or by letter.

If the applicant keeps the appointment for the interview, procedures for the intake interview and application processing apply. See Section 1.4.4.A, Procedures for Missed Scheduled Interviews.

1.4.17.C Categorical Eligibility

Categorical Eligibility may be determined at any time as long as the eligibility requirements are met.

1.4.17.C.1 Who Is Eligible

➢ AGs Authorized to Receive a TANF-Funded Benefit

When an AG has at least one member who is authorized to receive benefits from TANF-funded programs or is authorized to receive information and referral services about TANF and other department programs, the AG is categorically eligible.

Authorized to receive means the AG is coded in the eligibility system as active for a benefit whether they are receiving it or not. Those authorized to receive include individuals who have been determined eligible for benefits and notified of the determination, even if benefits have not been received or accessed or the benefits have been suspended, recouped or not paid because they are less than a minimum amount or they have not yet received the information or referral.

TANF-funded Programs: The following are TANF-funded programs:

- WV WORKS: Any month for which the AG is authorized to receive benefits
• Employment Assistance Program (EAP): Any month for which the AG is authorized to receive benefits
• Diversionary Cash Assistance (DCA): three months beginning with the month of approval
• Support Service Payments: As long as actively enrolled in Work Programs (WP)
• School Clothing Allowance (SCA) and West Virginia School Clothing Allowance (WVSCA): Until the voucher expiration date

Authorized for Information and Referral Services

AGs with income at or below 200% are authorized to receive information and referral services. The DFA-SNAP-I&R-1 is mailed to the AG by the eligibility system to inform the client of potential programs or services available to him. The DFA-SNAP-I&R is paid for by TANF/MOE funds.

➢ AGs Containing Only Individuals Authorized to Receive SSI

When the AG contains only individuals approved for SSI, the AG is categorically eligible. This also includes the following:

• Persons determined eligible for SSI even though benefits have not been paid yet.
• Persons determined eligible, but who receive zero benefits, such as:
  o SSI recipients whose benefits are withheld for repayment
  o Persons whose SSI payments are suspended.

1.4.17.C.2 Who Is Not Categorically Eligible

An AG cannot be categorically eligible in the following situations:

• A person who is normally required to be a member of the AG is disqualified due to an IPV.
• The AG refuses to cooperate in providing information necessary to make an eligibility determination.
• The AG is ineligible due to the striker provisions.
• A person who is normally required to be a member of the AG is disqualified due to being convicted of a specific felony offense. The felony must meet two criteria:
The felony must involve an element of the possession, use, or distribution of a controlled substance as defined by Section 802 (6) of the Controlled Substance Act; and

The offense of conviction has at least one of the following elements:

- Misuse of SNAP benefits
- Loss of Life
- Causing of physical injury

• The AG does not meet any of the requirements in Categorical Eligibility, Who is Eligible section above.

NOTE: Persons who are normally required to be included in the AG are individuals who purchase and prepare with a member of the AG or are require under Section 3.2.1.A to be included in the AG.

• The presence of any of the following people does not prevent the remaining AG members from being categorically eligible.
  - Ineligible non-citizen
  - Ineligible student
  - Any individual disqualified due to enumeration
  - A person institutionalized in a non-exempt facility

1.4.17.C.3 Presumed Eligibility Requirements

Once it is determined that an AG qualifies for Categorical Eligibility, the following eligibility requirements are presumed to be met.

- Asset limit: The transfer of assets policy is applied as appropriate. See Chapter 5.
- Gross income limit, when applicable
- Net income limit
- Sponsored alien information
- Residency
- SSN information: Only if the AG member is receiving a benefit which requires the SSN to be verified.
If any of the presumed information is questionable, it is verified. All other eligibility requirements of the SNAP Program are applicable to categorically eligible AGs.

NOTE: While categorically eligible AGs are presumed to meet both income limits, those with more than two members are not automatically eligible for SNAP. The monthly net income of an AG must be eligible for an issuance based on Chapter 4, Appendix C.2. Categorically eligible AGs containing one or two individuals automatically receive the minimum benefit, unless it is a prorated benefit.

1.4.17.C.4 Special Processing Requirements

The following special processing requirements apply.

- TANF Benefit Applicants

To determine if an AG is categorically eligible due to its status as a recipient of TANF-funded benefits, the Worker may temporarily postpone, within the 30-day processing limit, the SNAP eligibility determination if the AG is not eligible for Expedited Service and appears categorically eligible.

The Worker must not deny an AG that could be categorically eligible until the 30th day to determine if the AG is eligible to receive a TANF-funded benefit.

This applies to AGs that:

- Have an application for TANF-funded benefits pending; and
- Are denied SNAP benefits; and
- Are later determined eligible for TANF-funded benefits; and
- Are otherwise categorically eligible.

The Worker must provide benefits using the original application and any information supplied later. Benefits are issued from the date for which TANF-funded benefit eligibility is established or the date of the original SNAP application, whichever is later. The client cannot be required to complete a new DFA-2, DFA-SNAP-1 or another interview. The Worker may contact the client to update the DFA-2 or DFA-SNAP-1 information by mail or by telephone.
SSI Applicants

Persons who apply for SSI and SNAP benefits at the same time have SNAP eligibility determined as any other AG until Categorical Eligibility is met.

SSI applicants who are denied SNAP benefits must be informed in the denial notice of the possibility of potential Categorical Eligibility should they become SSI recipients.

1.4.17.C.5 Categorical Eligibility Examples

Categorical Eligibility Example 1: A WV WORKS case was closed five months ago but is still enrolled in Work Programs (WP) as the AG is still eligible for support service payments. The AG last received a payment four months ago but is still categorically eligible.

Categorical Eligibility Example 2: A person applies for SNAP benefits and is authorized to receive information and referral services about TANF-funded programs. The DFA-SNAP I&R-1 is mailed out the day of approval and the client receives it five days later. The client is categorically eligible from the day of application even though the DFA-SNAP I&R-1 is received five days later.

Categorical Eligibility Example 3: A family of five with a total gross income of 185% FPL applies for SNAP benefits. The household income exceeds the gross income limit for SNAP; however, the family is eligible to receive information and referral services because their income is below 200% FPL, which means the AG is presumed to have met the gross income limit (as well as the other requirements listed in 1.4.17.C.3). The family’s net income must then be calculated to determine if they are eligible for an issuance.

Categorical Eligibility Example 4: Four individuals who purchase and prepare together apply for SNAP. One of the individuals is ineligible due to a IPV disqualification. The AG cannot be categorically eligible, so must meet all SNAP requirements to be eligible, including being within the gross income, net income and asset limits.

Categorical Eligibility Example 5: A mother, father and three children apply for SNAP benefits. The father is an ineligible non-citizen. If the SNAP AG’s total gross income (including the amount deemed by the ineligible father) is equal to or less than 200% FPL, the AG can be determined categorically eligible.
Categorical Eligibility Example 6: An individual who purchases and prepares with other members of a SNAP AG is an ineligible student who has a felony conviction for drug possession, which had an element of misuse of SNAP benefits, or loss of life or the causing of bodily injury. The individual’s status as a student has no effect on categorical eligibility. However, the felony offense for possession of a controlled substance with any of the three elements listed in Section 1.4.17.C.2 prevents the AG from being categorically eligible.

1.4.18 APPLICATION/REDETERMINATION VARIATIONS

Redetermination procedures are the same as application procedures except in the following situations.

1.4.18.A Redetermination Forms

The following methods can be used for redetermination:

- System generated redetermination forms (CSLE or CSLR)
- inROADS
- DFA-2 and DFA-RR-1
- DFA-SNAP-1

The eligibility system automatically mails the CSLE in the last month of the certification period. The form must be completed and returned prior to the scheduled interview date specified on the CSLE/CSLR. The form is considered complete when signed and dated by the client or his authorized representative or completed and submitted by inROADS.

1.4.18.B Redetermination Cycle

When a case is redetermined and found eligible, a new certification period is established. See Section 1.4.14, Certification Period.
1.4.18.C Redetermination Interview

An interview is required regardless of the method by which the redetermination is completed. A phone interview is conducted unless one or more of the following criteria is met:

- The client or his authorized representative requests a face-to-face interview. The Worker must schedule the appointment; or
- The Department determines that a phone interview is not appropriate due to questionable circumstances. The criteria stated in Section 7.2 for questionable circumstances for verifications, also apply to and serve as guidance for scheduling face-to-face interviews due to questionable circumstances. Supervisory approval and case documentation is required when scheduling a face-to-face interview due to questionable circumstances.

1.4.18.D Scheduling Interviews

When the client submits a redetermination, either in person, by mail, fax or inROADS, but fails to complete a scheduled interview for redetermination, he is notified of the missed interview and that it is his responsibility to reschedule the interview. In addition, he receives notice of AG closure if the redetermination is not completed.

When the client does not submit a redetermination form, he is only notified of AG closure.

Scheduling an Interview Example 1: A SNAP redetermination is scheduled for September 1. The client calls the office and requests a redetermination form be mailed to him and that an interview be scheduled to accommodate his work hours. The interview is scheduled for September 10 and the client returns the redetermination form by mail on September 7. The client misses the scheduled interview on September 10. Because he filed a redetermination by mail, but missed a scheduled interview, the Worker sends a notice to inform the client he is responsible for scheduling another interview. At adverse notice deadline, if the client has not completed the interview, a closure notice is sent.

Scheduling an Interview Example 2: Same situation as above, but the client does not file a redetermination or appear for an interview. No notice is required for a missed interview because a redetermination was not submitted, but a closure notice is sent.
All SNAP AGs must receive a notice of expiration of the certification period. For cases certified for more than one month, the notice must be received in the month prior to the last month of certification.

The local office has the following options in scheduling redetermination interviews:

- Schedule an interview by sending an appointment letter to each AG to be redetermined. The appointment may be scheduled anytime during the last month of certification. However, if the client’s appointment is scheduled after the 15th, he may request and must be granted an appointment for the 15th or earlier. The client must be given 15 days from the date of the appointment letter before any penalties are applied for failure to keep the appointment.
- Redeterminations for pure SSI AGs may be initiated by SSA staff and completed by the Worker. The AG is notified of this service by form ES-FS-3. See Special Considerations below.

1.4.18.D.1 Aligning SNAP, TANF and MAGI Medicaid/CHIP Review Dates

The following information will be needed for MAGI Medicaid and WVCHIP only during the SNAP Redetermination interview. The household’s tax filing status will need to be updated. Verification procedures found in Section 7.2 must be followed to approve or deny MAGI Medicaid and WVCHIP. MAGI Medicaid and WVCHIP must also have their period of eligibility renewed to align with TANF redeterminations.

- If the CSLE/CSLR is not completed and returned by the end of the certification period, benefits are stopped. Notice of closure is required, but advance notice is not required.
- If the CSLE is returned in the month after the end of the certification period, no DFA-2 or DFA-SNAP-1 is required for reapplication. The CSLE/CSLR is used as the application form and benefits are prorated from the date the application is received in that month.
- If the CSLE/CSLR is used as an application form, an interview is required.

NOTE: Failure of client to provide information related to Medicaid or WVCHIP only will have no effect on SNAP benefits.

When an AG submits a completed CSLE/CSLR or inROADS redetermination prior to the scheduled interview date, the Worker must contact the AG at the scheduled time to conduct the telephone interview. The Worker must make a reasonable attempt to contact the AG to conduct the telephone interview. If an AG does not answer the Worker’s call, the Worker must document in case comments the reasonable attempt(s) made prior to a determination that the appointment was missed. The AG is notified of the missed interview and it is the AG’s responsibility to reschedule. The notice of missed interview is included in the notice of closure and/or denial.

When an AG submits a completed CSLE/CSLR or inROADS redetermination after the originally scheduled interview date, the Worker must schedule another interview appointment. The interview appointment must be scheduled using current system procedures allowing time to provide notice to the client and to conduct the interview.

1.4.18.E Completion
---

A SNAP redetermination is a reapplication for benefits. Under no circumstances are benefits continued past the month of redetermination, unless a redetermination is completed and the client is found eligible.

If the recipient is no longer eligible, the SNAP AG is closed.

1.4.18.E.1 Benefit Issuance at Redetermination

Uninterrupted Benefits at Redetermination

Clients who submit their redetermination form in a timely manner, complete the interview and provide requested verification within the agency time limits, must receive uninterrupted benefits or have lost benefits restored if the Agency’s delay causes benefits to be interrupted. The client does not lose the right to uninterrupted benefits if the time limits established for verification extends into the new certification period.

Clients who fail to submit their redetermination form timely, fail to complete an interview or fail to submit missing verification by the established deadline lose the right to uninterrupted benefits.
Uninterrupted benefits are benefits received within 30 days of the last issuance. For longer certifications, uninterrupted benefits are benefits received at the usual time in the issuance cycle.

EXCEPTION: AGs which have met all redetermination requirements are entitled to uninterrupted benefits. When this cannot be done due to the time frame for submitting missing verification, the Worker must take action to reinstate benefits so that the client receives benefits within five working days after supplying the missing verification, if eligible. Some failures to provide verification may only result in loss of a deduction, not eligibility.

Benefits Not Prorated

In the following redetermination situations, benefits are not prorated and the certification period begins the month following the end of the previous certification period.

- The verification is due within the last month of the certification period and is returned by the last day of the certification period; or
- The verification is due after the last day of the certification period and is returned by the date the Worker specifies. A reapplication is not required.
- The redetermination is not submitted until the month following the end of the certification period due to an Agency error.

Benefits Prorated

In the following redetermination situations, benefits are prorated and the certification period begins the month following the end of the previous certification period and a reapplication is not required.

- The verification is due within the last month of the certification period and is not returned until the following month. Benefits are prorated from the date the verification is returned.
- The verification is due after the last day of the certification period and is returned after the due date, but by the end of the month it was due. Benefits are prorated from the date the verification is returned.
1.4.18.E.2 When a New Application Is Required

In the following redetermination situations, a new application is required. Benefits for the first month of certification and the beginning of the certification period are determined as they are for any other applicant.

- The verification is due within the last month of the certification period and is not returned by the end of the certification period or during the following month; or
- The verification is due after the last day of the certification period and is not returned by the last day of the month it was due, i.e., the month following the end of the certification period.
- The AG does not submit a redetermination before the end of the certification period.

If the CSLE/CSLR is not completed and returned by the end of the certification period, benefits are stopped. Notice of closure is required, but advance notice is not required. If the CSLE is returned in the month after the end of the certification period, no DFA-2 or DFA-SNAP-1 is required for reapplication. The CSLE/CSLR is used as the application form and benefits are prorated from the date the application is received in that month.

Redetermination Example 1: A SNAP AG is redetermined on July 3 and submits required verification by July 20. The new certification period begins August 1. Benefits are not prorated.

Redetermination Example 2: Same situation as above, but the verification is not provided until August 4. No reapplication is required and August is the first month of the new certification period. Benefits are prorated from August 4.

Redetermination Example 3: A SNAP AG is redetermined on July 29 and the verification is due by August 8. The verification is received in the local office on August 4. The first month of the new certification period is August. Benefits are not prorated.

Redetermination Example 4: Same situation as above, but the verification is returned on August 20. The first month of the new certification period is August. Benefits are prorated from August 20.

Redetermination Example 5: Same situation, but the verification is not returned until September 3. The AG must apply with a new application because the verification was not returned within the month following the last month of the certification period.
1.4.18.F  Overdue Redetermination

SNAP AGs which are due for redetermination and for whom a redetermination has not been completed are automatically closed by the eligibility system on the adverse action deadline of the month when a redetermination is due. A redetermination is not considered completed until SNAP benefits have been confirmed as approved or denied within the eligibility system.

1.4.19  THE BENEFIT

USDA is responsible for authorizing business establishments to accept SNAP benefits. SNAP benefits may be used to purchase food for home preparation and/or seeds and plants which produce food for home consumption. SNAP benefits cannot be used to buy hot foods that are ready to eat or foods that may be eaten in the store.

SNAP benefits are deposited into an Electronic Benefit Transfer (EBT) account and accessed by using an EBT card. This is the SNAP identification card for the AG.

1.4.19.A  Initial Benefits

Initial benefits are usually received or are available within three days of entry in the eligibility system.

1.4.19.A.1  Amount

A determination of the initial SNAP benefit month must be made to determine if initial benefits must be prorated. Any month determined to be an initial month must have benefits prorated. The amount of the initial allotment is prorated over the remainder of the month from the date of application. The full month's countable income is used to determine the full month's allotment. The amount of the initial benefit due the recipient is based on the number of days left in the approval month from the date of application as compared to the full month's benefit. Use Chapter 4, Appendix D.
1.4.19.A.2 Method of Issuance

Upon approval, the eligibility system issues a prorated amount for the current month and the next month’s benefit is issued based on the schedule in Ongoing Benefits below.

See Section 1.4.15, Expediting Processing, for combined issuance when Expedited Service applies.

1.4.19.A.3 Combined Issuance

When a SNAP applicant meets all the following criteria, his first prorated benefit and first full benefit must be issued at the same time.

- The client applies for an initial month’s benefits. Initial month is defined as the first month for which the AG is certified for SNAP benefits following any period of time during which the AG was not certified.
- Application is made on or after the 16th of the month.
- The client is eligible for the initial month and the next subsequent month.
- The client is eligible for Expedited Service.

To reduce the time period between the receipt of the Combined Issuance and the third month’s issuance, the approval must be confirmed by the first working day of the third month if the client continues to be eligible.

The policy regarding Combined Issuance applies when the applicant is also a WV WORKS applicant. The procedures used to accomplish the Combined Issuance must not delay the processing of WV WORKS AGs.

The eligibility system notifies each client who receives a Combined Issuance.
1.4.19.B Ongoing Benefits

1.4.19.B.1 Amount

Once eligibility is established, the AG is eligible to receive the full monthly allotment of the SNAP benefits for the certification period.

NOTE: When it is determined that a full month’s benefit is $0, the application is denied or the AG is closed. This applies whether or not the AG is categorically eligible.

1.4.19.B.2 Method of Issuance

SNAP benefits are available in the EBT account on a staggered schedule the first nine calendar days of the month, based upon the payee’s last name.

1.4.19.C  Electronic Benefits Transfer

SNAP benefits are deposited into an EBT account and accessed by using the EBT card and a Personal Identification Number (PIN), similar to a personal debit or ATM card.

The possession of two or more EBT cards that do not identify the individual may be subject to criminal charges.

The following outlines definitions and procedures which are specific to EBT. Additional information about how EBT affects other policy and procedures is found in specific Manual sections which apply.

1.4.19.C.1   EBT Definitions and Terminology

The following is a list of commonly used terms or acronyms associated with EBT.

ADMINISTRATIVE TERMINAL
EBT vendor system used to inquire into EBT account information, reactivate expunged accounts, deactivate EBT cards and, in some instances, make changes to the EBT account.

AUTHORIZED CARDHOLDER
An individual, who, in addition to the payee, may be issued an EBT card and access to the EBT account.

CUSTOMER SERVICE REPRESENTATIVE (CSR)
The CSR for the EBT vendor who is reached through the IVRU toll-free number also referred to as the EBT Helpline. This person has the ability to replace or deactivate lost, stolen or damaged cards and to file a claim on behalf of a client regarding transactions.

DEMOGRAPHIC INFORMATION
Identifying information about the AG’s primary person which is sent to the EBT vendor in order to set up an EBT account and mail the EBT card. This includes the name, SSN and date of birth of the AG’s primary person and the payee’s address.

DORMANT CARD
335 days of non-use.
ELECTRONIC BENEFITS TRANSFER (EBT)
EBT or the use of a card to access WV WORKS, CSI and DCA cash benefits, and SNAP benefits.

EBT HELPLINE
The toll-free number through which the client may access the Interactive Voice Response Unit (IVRU) or CSR.

EXPUNGMENT
365 days of non-use.

INTERACTIVE VOICE RESPONSE UNIT (IVRU)
The IVRU is also referred to as EBT Helpline. The EBT vendor operates the IVRU seven days a week, 24 hours a day. Functions of the IVRU include, but are not limited to, account balance inquiries, card activation and PIN changes.

MOUNTAIN STATE CARD
The West Virginia EBT card.

PAYEE
The term payee identifies the person to whom benefits are issued. For EBT purposes, certain information about the RAPIDS primary person is sent automatically to the EBT vendor in what is called a demographic record. This information is used to set up the EBT account, mail the EBT card and to identify the payee and authorized cardholders for security card replacement procedures. The card is sent to the primary person. A primary person who is not a payee can be issued an EBT card as an authorized cardholder, if so designated by the payee.

PERSONAL IDENTIFICATION NUMBER (PIN)
This number must be used to access EBT benefits with the EBT card. This is not the RAPIDS PIN number.

POINT OF SALE (POS) EQUIPMENT
This is used to spend SNAP benefits at a store. Account balance inquiries may be made using a store’s POS machine located at the Service Desk. Account balances also appear on all receipts printed by a POS machine.

PROTECTIVE PAYEE
A protective payee is a person or an organization appointed to receive the benefits for anyone who cannot manage or direct the management of his or her own basic needs.
STATUS THE EBT CARD
Deactivate the card so that it cannot be used. This occurs when a replacement card is requested, a payee is changed or an authorized cardholder is removed or changed.

1.4.19.C.2 EBT Card Issuance

➢ Initial Card Issuance

The EBT card is issued when the first benefit to be issued into an EBT account is approved. It is mailed the day after the approval in the eligibility system. When the card is received the cardholder must call the EBT Helpline to create a PIN and activate the card.

All cards are mailed to the payee following the address hierarchy in the eligibility system, which includes the card(s) for any additional authorized cardholder(s). It is the responsibility of the payee to distribute the cards to any other cardholder(s).

➢ Legal Guardian or Protective Payee

When the Worker indicates in the eligibility system that the AG has a legal guardian or protective payee, all cards are mailed to the address of that individual. Current policy contains no reference to a specified legal guardian as a payee. Any other representative or protective payee is indicated in eligibility system as a protective payee.

➢ Authorized Cardholder

The AG may designate an additional individual(s) as an authorized cardholder for EBT. The authorized cardholder has his own card and PIN and accesses the EBT account for the specified benefit(s) without restriction. For this reason, the choice of an authorized cardholder and its importance must be stressed with the applicant or recipient. The authorized cardholder is designated, changed, or removed in the eligibility system.

When the individual designated as primary person for the AG has a legal guardian or protective payee coded in the eligibility system, the card for the AG is mailed to that person. In this situation, if the primary person or other individual must have a card, the information must be entered in the eligibility system as an authorized cardholder. All cards are mailed to the address of the legal guardian or protective payee.

NOTE: Only one authorized cardholder may be selected for SNAP benefits. If the AG receives both SNAP benefits and cash assistance, they may select one authorized cardholder for each benefit. The maximum number of cards issued for any case is three.

In order to terminate an authorized cardholder’s access to benefits, the payee must call the EBT IVRU or DHHR Customer Service Center to deactivate the card and contact the DHHR Customer Service or local office to remove or change the cardholder. Local office staff cannot deactivate a card.

➢ Cardholder Security

The demographic information sent to the EBT vendor for the primary person in the AG is the SSN, date of birth and address to which the card is sent. No demographic information is sent for any authorized cardholder. The authorized cardholder must know the date of birth of the AG’s primary person and the address to which the card(s) is mailed. If the SSN is requested for a PIN change, the AG’s primary person provides his own SSN and the authorized cardholder or representative/protective payee must provide zeros.

➢ Frequent Card Replacement

After a client requests a replacement EBT card four or more times in a rolling 12-month time period, an education letter is issued. This letter contains the penalties for trafficking, opportunities for additional education of card handling procedures, and informs the client that future replacements may be blocked until contact is made with the Department.

Investigations and Fraud Management (IFM) will determine if the client meets the criteria for investigation and will notify the Worker for additional action needed on the case.
1.5 WV WORKS

NOTE: When WV WORKS applicants are also Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) and/or Medicaid applicants, requirements in Section 1.2 and Section 1.4 also apply to the SNAP portion of the case and the requirements in Sections 1.2 and 1.6 - 1.22 apply to the Medicaid portion.

1.5.1 APPLICATION FORMS

This section describes the process for determining initial and ongoing eligibility for the WV WORKS Program. A DFA-2 is used.

NOTE: When an application has been made for WV WORKS and/or Medicaid and the application is denied or withdrawn and approved for Diversionary Cash Assistance (DCA), the assistance group (AG) or non-recipient Work-Eligible Individual must not be required to make an additional application for SNAP. SNAP eligibility must be determined based on the information provided for the other programs.

1.5.2 COMPLETE APPLICATION

The application is complete, when the client signs a DFA-2 or DFA-5 which contains, at a minimum, his name and address.

If the client chooses not to sign the DFA-2, the application is considered incomplete and the Worker must take appropriate eligibility system action to deny the application, complete client notification, and record in case comments that the client did not want to sign the application and the reason for his decision. The Worker must encourage the

NOTE: When the applicant has completed the interactive interview, and there is a technical failure that prevents the printing of the DFA-2, Form DFA-5 must be signed by the applicant, attached and filed in the case record with the subsequently printed DFA-2. The DFA-RR-1 must also be completed and signed. He must not be required to return to the office to sign the DFA-2 when the DFA-5 has been signed.
client to sign the application so there is no misunderstanding that he was denied the right to apply.

1.5.2.A Caretaker Relative Option

When a parent(s) is included with his own child(ren) in the AG, the OFS-WVW-10 must not be signed. The form is used only when a caretaker relative receives cash assistance only for children to whom he is not a parent.

For cases in which the caretaker relative is not a natural or adoptive parent, form OFS-WVW-10 must be explained. The form must be signed and completed prior to approval, but not necessarily during the intake interview. Refusal, or other failure, of the caretaker relative to sign the form results in denial of eligibility for the caretaker relative for at least 12 months. Eligibility continues to be denied beyond 12 months, for as long as the caretaker fails to choose. The original form must be filed in the case record and the client must be given a copy. See Section 3.4 for details about the limited choice for the caretaker.

1.5.3 DATE OF APPLICATION

The date of application is the date that the DFA-2, which contains, at a minimum, the applicant’s name and address, is signed. Benefits are prorated from the date of application when all other eligibility requirements are met.

If a household which became ineligible due to a lump sum payment requests recomputation, the date of application is the date of the request.

Because approval depends upon making the application, attending orientation, and completing a Personal Responsibility Contract (PRC) / Self-Sufficiency Plan (SSP) as well as providing verifications, all of which may not be available to the client on the date of application, form DFA-RFA-1 is available to protect the date of application for proration purposes. There must be a full application made subsequent to each DFA-RFA-1. If the applicant fails to follow through with the application, the Worker must deny the DFA-RFA-1 in the eligibility system.

The DFA-RFA-1 may only be used when a DFA-2 is not completed at the time the client expresses an intent to apply for WV WORKS.
1.5.4 INTERVIEW REQUIRED

A face-to-face interview is required.

If a home visit is scheduled for the intake interview, eligibility is not affected by the client's failure to be home for a home visit, unless:

- At least two attempts have been made; and
- At least the second visit was scheduled; and
- The client has not contacted the county office to make other arrangements.

The Missed Home Visit DFA-HV-1 may be left at the client's home, after the first attempt, to advise the client of a return visit. If the DFA-HV-1 is used for this purpose, a copy must be retained by the Worker.

1.5.5 WHO MUST BE INTERVIEWED

1.5.5.A Parent(s)

Information in this item applies only to the intake interview. While it is possible to have only one parent participate in the intake interview, it will usually be necessary for both parents to be interviewed about the PRC/SSP and other WV WORKS requirements.

If the child is living with both parents or a parent and a stepparent, both must be interviewed unless:

- One parent or stepparent is hospitalized; or
- One parent or stepparent is employed and his working hours preclude participation in the interview during the agency's normal working hours.

1.5.5.B Specified Relative

The specified relative with whom the child lives must participate in the intake interview. See Chapter 3 for definition of specified relative.
When the specified relative with whom the child lives has a legal committee, the committee must be interviewed.

If the child is living with only one specified relative and he is unable to participate in the interview, a representative may participate in the intake interview. A written statement, signed by the specified relative, who gives the representative authority to apply on his behalf, is required. However, the specified relative who chooses to be included in the AG must be interviewed about the PRC/SSP and other WV WORKS requirements.

1.5.6 WHO MUST SIGN

The individual(s) who is interviewed must sign the DFA-2. If the child(ren) lives with both parents or a parent and a stepparent, both must sign, even if separate interviews are conducted.

1.5.7 CONTENT OF THE INTERVIEW

In addition to the requirements outlined in Section 1.2, the following specific requirements apply.

1.5.7.A Local Services

1.5.7.A.1 Bureau for Child Support Enforcement (BCSE)

Explain redirection requirements, good cause, penalties for failure to cooperate without good cause, possible referral to BCSE for signature of paternity acknowledgment, and obtain the signature on the DFA-AP-1 or the DFA-AP-1A of the relative with whom the child lives.

1.5.7.A.2 Medicaid

Explain that Medicaid eligibility is a separate determination and how and when the Medical ID card is issued, if appropriate.
1.5.7.A.3 Domestic Violence

Explain that information is available throughout the office and from the Worker regarding domestic violence and that this subject is discussed with all clients. No individual is specifically targeted to receive the information. Disclosure of domestic violence may have an effect on any SSP work requirements or time limits the client is expected to meet while a WV WORKS recipient. If domestic violence is disclosed, the Worker must make a referral to the appropriate community resource or domestic violence program to develop a plan to assist the client in meeting any WV WORKS requirements. See Sections 14.7 for good cause for not complying with the WV WORKS work requirements and Section 18.2 and Section 18.5 for WV WORKS time limits.

1.5.7.A.4 Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC)

Briefly explain that this is a tax credit for people who work or have worked and had earned income under a specified amount. Pamphlets should be in the local offices to explain the EITC in more detail.

1.5.7.B Work Requirements

Explain that participation in a work activity is an eligibility requirement.

- Explain the purpose of WV WORKS; DCA payments, if appropriate; Transitional Medicaid (TM), child care assistance and job placement.
- Non-recipient Work-Eligible Individuals – Explain that non-recipient Work-Eligible Individuals living in the household with an eligible child must complete the PRC, SSP, orientation, and be enrolled in a work activity and meet all other program requirements or the AG is ineligible for WV WORKS.

1.5.7.C Outstanding Claims

Before the case is approved, the Worker must determine if there is a WV WORKS, Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), or AFDC-Related Medicaid claim outstanding. against any member of the AG or the non-recipient Work-Eligible Individual. If so, the Worker must initiate appropriate repayment procedures prior to approval.

If the client has been making voluntary payments, he must be informed that repayment must be made, when possible, from his monthly benefit, i.e., recoupment.

1.5.7.D WV WORKS Eligibility

The worker must discuss the following:

- Explain beginning date of eligibility and the importance of establishing eligibility as soon as possible.
- PRC – Explanation and completion of the PRC is not required to be part of the intake interview, but it may be done at the same time. See Personal Responsibility Contract (PRC) below for details about the PRC requirements.
- SSP – List the goals of each participant and the tasks necessary to accomplish those goals. See Section 1.5.21, Self-Sufficiency Plan (SSP), for details about the SSP requirements.
- The Worker must explain that WV WORKS orientation is required if one has not been completed.
- The Worker must explain that all applicants must complete a mandatory drug screening questionnaire, penalties for failure to cooperate, penalty for providing false information and possible referral to Children & Adult Services. The Worker must explain referrals to a substance abuse treatment and counseling program and a job skills program may be made.
- When the applicant is a Caretaker Relative, the Worker must explain the option of being included or excluded from the AG and answer the client’s questions about the consequences of each choice.

1.5.7.E WV WORKS Post-Employment Options

Discuss the two types of employment support payments:

- Option 1 – Up to a six-month period during which the former WV WORKS participant may be eligible for continued support payments and services; or
• Option 2 – The West Virginia Employment Assistance Program (EAP) which allows the employed former WV WORKS recipient to continue to receive the WV WORKS payment he received prior to becoming employed for up to a six-month period.

1.5.7.F  Client Reporting Responsibilities

1.5.7.F.1  Lump Sum

If the client indicates he may be receiving a lump sum payment, explain the lump sum policy.

1.5.7.F.2  Pregnancy

Explain the need for the client to report immediately when anyone in the AG or a non-recipient Work-Eligible Individual becomes pregnant.

1.5.7.G  Benefit Issuance Options

The Worker must explain that the client can choose between direct deposit and Electronic Benefits Transfer (EBT).

1.5.7.G.1  Direct Deposit

The Worker must:

• Provide an enrollment brochure.

• Explain the advantages of receiving WV WORKS, child support pass- through, and Child Support Incentive (CSI) benefits by direct deposit and that enrollment is optional. The client uses a bank of his choice and once the benefit is deposited, the client is responsible for all dealings with his bank and for all fees and penalties associated with his own bank account. The WV WORKS benefit is deposited on the last State work day of the month prior to the month the benefit is due. The CSI benefit is available on approximately the 20th calendar day of the month.
• Explain how to enroll and dis-enroll in direct deposit.

• Explain that the effective date of the first direct deposit is dependent upon the date of submission of the direct deposit enrollment form and the accuracy of the information provided and is the responsibility of the Auditor’s Office. It is generally the month following the month of enrollment.

• Explain that the client will receive the WV WORKS and CSI by EBT until direct deposit is effective. He may contact his bank or the Auditor’s Office to determine when the benefit has been deposited. After the initial WV WORKS benefit, only the monthly WV WORKS and CSI benefits are direct deposited.

• Explain that once the client chooses direct deposit, this choice continues until the client cancels it with the Auditor’s Office. This is true even if the case is closed and later reopened.

• Explain changes in bank account information must be reported to the State Auditor’s Office after enrollment.

• Explain that when the benefit cannot be deposited into a bank account after enrollment, benefits will be deposited into an EBT account and the client must re-enroll in direct deposit. Until the client submits updated information to re-enroll, benefits will be deposited into an EBT account and accessed with an EBT card.

1.5.7.G.2 EBT

The Worker must explain:

• WV WORKS, DCA and CSI cash benefits will be deposited into an EBT account and accessed with an EBT card. If the WV WORKS and CSI benefits are direct deposited, the WV WORKS benefit and any WV WORKS and CSI supplemental benefits go in the EBT account.

• When the card will be received

• The cardholder must call the EBT hotline to create a PIN and activate their card prior to use.
• When the benefits will be available in the account.

NOTE: The Worker must determine if there is an existing EBT account and reactivate expunged accounts. He must also inform the client of the availability date of any balance remaining in the account.

• The importance of choosing an authorized cardholder who can also access the EBT account.

• Services are available by calling the Interactive Voice Response Unit (IVRU) or by talking with a Customer Service Representative (CSR). These services include, but are not limited to, activation of a new card, replacing a lost/stolen/damaged EBT card, obtaining a new or different PIN, cancellation of an authorized cardholder and checking an account balance(s).

NOTE: For EBT, the AG may have an authorized cardholder to spend benefits from the AG’s EBT account. There is not a separate case or EBT account, but the authorized cardholder has a separate EBT card with his own PIN and uses the card to spend benefits from the AG’s EBT account in the same manner as the AG’s payee. The authorized cardholder and the authorized representative may be the same or different individuals at the discretion of the AG.

• EBT WV WORKS or Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) funds must not be used or accessed in adult entertainment establishments, casinos, gaming establishments, or liquor stores. This provision applies only to establishments which primarily or exclusively sell these products and does not include grocery stores or other establishments which also offer gaming activities or sell these products in addition to other goods.

1.5.8 DUE DATE OF ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

The client and the Worker agree on the date by which additional verification must be obtained.

The Worker must give the client at least 10 days for the information to be returned.

The Worker must approve, deny or withdraw the application within 30 days of the date of application.
1.5.9 AGENCY TIME LIMITS

By the 10th working day following the date of the initial contact when a client expresses an interest in applying for WV WORKS, the Worker must have completed all of the following duties. The initial contact by the client may be in person or by telephone to start the 10-day period.

- Receipt of the DFA-2 or DFA-RFA-1. This must be completed prior to orientation and prior to completion of the PRC; and
- The client’s orientation, when it appears the AG will be eligible; and
- The initial SSP negotiation, when it appears the AG will be eligible; and
- The applicant must complete the Drug Use Questionnaire, DFA-WVV-DAST-1.

NOTE: Any individual who refuses a Drug Use Questionnaire or a drug test is ineligible for WV WORKS assistance. He becomes a non-recipient work-eligible individual and may still receive WV WORKS for the other members of the household who are otherwise eligible. During the period of ineligibility, he must choose a protective payee who has successfully completed the DFA-WVV-DAST-1 for the WV WORKS benefit for the other members of the WV WORKS AG. Any individual that has had their benefits suspended and has not designated a protective payee for the benefits must be referred to Children & Adult Services.

The Worker must complete an individual orientation session when the next scheduled group orientation session is after the tenth working day.

The Worker must approve, deny or withdraw the application within 30 days of the date of application. When the application must be denied because the client has not responded to a DFA-6 or verification checklist, the Worker must wait until after the tenth day but no later than the 31st day to deny the application.

EXCEPTION: When the delay is a result of factors outside the control of the Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR) and the applicant, or when the client requests a delay, any of the above actions may be postponed. When action is postponed due to the client’s request, his request must be recorded in case comments.
Time Limits Example 1: An applicant telephones the office on June 26, to find out how to apply for WV WORKS. At that time, an appointment is scheduled for him to meet with a Worker on July 5. The next group orientation after the application is completed is July 12, which is past the 10-day time limit. Therefore, the Worker must complete an individual orientation session for this applicant, preferably at the intake interview on July 5.

Time Limits Example 2: An applicant contacts the office by telephone on September 10, to find out how to apply for WV WORKS. At that time, an appointment is scheduled for him to meet with a Worker on September 13 and to attend group orientation on September 19. The applicant is caring for his mother until she can be placed in a nursing home. Placement is expected on September 25, so he requests that his appointments be rescheduled for later that same week. He is then scheduled to meet with the Worker on September 26 and to attend group orientation later that same day. Although the application process is completed outside the time limit, it is due to the client’s request which is recorded in case comments.

1.5.10 AGENCY DELAYS

If an application has not been acted on within the required time limit due to agency error, corrective action must be taken immediately.

1.5.11 PAYEE

The payee is the individual in whose name the WV WORKS benefit is issued.

The parent/caretaker relative with whom the child is residing is the payee.

- When the child lives with two parents who are included in the benefit, the parents choose the payee.
- When a child lives with a parent and a non-recipient Work-Eligible Parent, the payee should be the recipient parent.
- When the child lives with a parent and a stepparent, the parent is the payee.
- When the child lives with one relative other than a parent, the specified relative is the payee.
• When a child lives with two specified relatives other than a parent, they must choose who will be the payee.
• When the parent is an unemancipated minor, the parent or other responsible adult with whom the minor parent lives, or who supervises the minor parent’s living arrangement, is the payee.
• When a child lives with an adult who is ineligible due to non-cooperation with drug testing requirements, the payee is designated by the applicant.

For EBT purposes, certain information about the eligibility system primary person is automatically sent to the EBT vendor in what is called a demographic record. This information is used to set up the EBT account, mail the EBT card and to identify the payee and authorized cardholders for security purpose when a call is made to the IVRU. See Chapter 12 for card replacement procedures. The card is sent to the payee, regardless of whether or not he is the primary person. A primary person who is not a payee is issued an EBT card as an authorized cardholder.

1.5.12 REPAYMENT AND SANCTIONS

1.5.12.A Repayment

Before the case is approved, the Worker must determine if there is a WV WORKS, AFDC, or AFDC-Related Medicaid claim outstanding against any member of the AG or the non-recipient Work-Eligible Individual. If so, the Worker must initiate appropriate repayment procedures prior to approval.

If the client has been making voluntary payments, he must be informed that repayment must be made, when possible, from his monthly benefit, i.e., recoupment.

1.5.12.B Sanctions

When the AG has been sanctioned for failure to cooperate with WV WORKS, the benefit is subsequently closed. If a reapplication is made, the AG remains closed until the sanction period ends.
1.5.13 BEGINNING DATE OF ELIGIBILITY

The beginning date of eligibility is retroactive to the date of application once the following requirements are met: complete orientation, complete PRC, complete SSP, and receive necessary verifications including the results of a drug test if required.

There are other circumstances which also affect the beginning date of eligibility as follows:

- If, in the 30-day period prior to the date of application, a parent or caretaker relative included in the payment, or non-recipient Work-Eligible Individual:
  - voluntarily reduces their hours, without good cause; or
  - quits full-time or part-time employment or training for employment, without good cause; or
  - refuses full-time or part-time employment or training for employment, without good cause,

The AG is ineligible until 45 days after the employment or training is no longer available. Benefits may not be issued for any part of the 45-day period of ineligibility. See Chapter 14 for the determination of good cause.

NOTE: The 45-day period of ineligibility applies only to AG members and non-recipient Work-Eligible Individuals at application.

Eligibility Date Example 1: A WV WORKS adult recipient marries an individual who quit a job in the 30-day period prior to the request to add him to the AG. There is no 45-day period of ineligibility in adding him and no sanction is applied because this did not occur at application.

Once an AG is a recipient of WV WORKS, the 45-day ineligibility period will not apply to any active WV WORKS case through the month of closure. Any of the three situations described above are sanctionable offenses in an active WV WORKS case.

When an AG meets all of the following criteria, it is considered a violation and they are not subject to the 45-day ineligibility period. Instead, the AG or non-recipient Work-Eligible Individual is reopened and a sanction subsequently applied. See Chapter 14 for details about applying a sanction.

- The AG was closed due to earnings of a parent, a non-recipient Work- Eligible Individual, or a non-parent caretaker included in the payment and he later quits his job without good cause; and
The quit occurs within the effective month of closure; and

The parent, non-recipient Work-Eligible Individual or non-parent caretaker, reapply for a monthly WV WORKS check during the effective month of closure.

Because the case is considered to be open until the last day of the effective month of closure, the violation is treated as non-compliance and a sanction is imposed. If another sanction(s) has been previously imposed, this sanction is imposed at the next highest level.

The AG is approved for the month following the effective month of closure and then is notified of the imposition of the sanction at the next level. As with any other WV WORKS case, the individual must be provided an opportunity to establish good cause and/or comply during the 13-day advance notice period prior to imposition of the sanction.

Eligibility Date Example 2: A parent is placed in full-time employment on March 5. His anticipated earnings make him ineligible and the AG is closed on March 7, effective March. On March 22, the parent comes to the office to ask for WV WORKS benefits again and states that he quit his job on March 19. The Worker determines that he did not have good cause for quitting, but that he met all other eligibility requirements. His eligibility starts April 1 since he already received benefits for March. There is no sanction applied to the April benefits for this offense, but the Worker notifies him immediately about the imposition of a sanction beginning in May and schedules a good cause hearing.

Eligibility Date Example 3: A parent is placed in full-time employment with a produce shipping company. Two months later, he is laid off. The 45-day waiting period does not apply.

Eligibility Date Example 4: A caretaker relative included in the payment is hired by a temporary agency. Three months later the temporary job ends. The 45-day waiting period does not apply.

Eligibility Date Example 5: A non-recipient Work-Eligible Individual has been working 25 hours per week at a fast-food restaurant. He quits and then applies for WV WORKS, it is established he did not have good cause. The 45-day waiting period applies.

When an assistance group becomes ineligible due to failure of a parent or caretaker, without good cause, to meet the 24-month work requirement, the beginning date of eligibility cannot be any earlier than the first day on which he participates in an activity which meets the 24-month work requirement.

EXCEPTION: A parent with a newborn child has good cause while the child is less than 12 weeks of age for failure to meet the 24-month work requirement.
• If the non-parent caretaker is no longer in a 12-month period for which he chose to be included, eligibility for the otherwise eligible child(ren) may begin as soon as the 12-month period ends, so long as the caretaker chooses exclusion from the assistance group.

• If the AG or non-recipient Work-Eligible Individual is serving a WV WORKS sanction, the beginning date of eligibility is the day after the sanction period ends. See Section 14.8.1. He must re-apply to again receive WV WORKS benefits.

NOTE: When a non-parent caretaker’s 12-month period for which he chose to be included ends, he may again receive WV WORKS for the otherwise eligible child(ren), even when not meeting the 24-month work requirement, as long as he chooses to be excluded from the AG.

If he reapplies during the 12-month period for which he chose inclusion, or after the 12-month period ends and he again chooses to be included, he must meet the 24-month work requirement to receive WV WORKS for the child(ren).

1.5.14 EXPEDITED PROCESSING

There are no requirements for expedited processing. Cases are approved in the order in which eligibility is established.

1.5.15 CLIENT NOTIFICATION

See Chapter 9.

1.5.16 REDETERMINATION SCHEDULE

Cases are normally redetermined annually. A new DFA-2 is required for redetermination. The individual(s) who is interviewed must sign the DFA-2. If the child(ren) lives with both parents or a parent and a stepparent, both must sign.
The redetermination schedule is set automatically by the eligibility system, unless the Worker and Supervisor agree that a redetermination must be completed earlier. When a case is reopened without a DFA-2, the Worker must ensure that the client continues in the same redetermination cycle.

Cases may be redetermined more frequently at the discretion of the Worker and Supervisor when any of the following occur:

- There are persons in the AG or non-recipient Work-Eligible Individuals who frequently change jobs or work intermittently;
- The Division of Program and Quality Improvement (DPQI) has found a client error in the case;
- The composition of the household has frequently changed and is likely to continue to change;
- A substantial change is expected;
- The household reports expenses exceeding its income; or
- The eligibility system schedules a redetermination due to receipt of another benefit, such as SNAP benefits, under the same case number.

1.5.17 THE BENEFIT

The following explains the WV WORKS benefit and how it is issued. The WV WORKS benefit is issued by EBT, unless the client chooses direct deposit. If the client chooses direct deposit, his monthly WV WORKS benefit is deposited into his own bank account. The direct deposit process is described in Direct Deposit below.

1.5.17.A The WV WORKS Benefit

All benefits which are not issued by direct deposit are deposited into an EBT account. Any newly opened case has an EBT account set up and the WV WORKS, DCA and CSI payments are deposited into the EBT account. This applies to the initial benefit for those AGs who choose direct deposit also. Benefits are accessed with the EBT card. There is no warrant number for an EBT benefit.

The initial WV WORKS benefit amount may be different than the ongoing benefit amount.
The initial WV WORKS benefit is prorated from the date of application once all eligibility requirements are met, including signing the PRC and initial SSP, and participating in orientation.

The ongoing monthly benefit is a full monthly benefit and is not prorated.

1.5.17.A.1 Direct Deposit

The client may choose direct deposit, even though EBT is available. When he chooses direct deposit, the monthly WV WORKS and CSI benefits are deposited in the client’s own checking or savings account. The account must be in the name of the payee for the WV WORKS benefit.

Enrollment in Direct Deposit and Effective Date

The client must complete an enrollment form, attach any other appropriate information requested on the form and mail it directly to the State Auditor’s Office. If he returns the form to the local office, the Worker forwards the form to the Auditor’s Office. Questions about the direct deposit process or the individual’s effective date, after submission of the enrollment form, must be directed to the Auditor’s Office at the toll-free number, 1-800-500-4079 or at 304-558-2251.

Direct deposit is generally effective the month following the month in which the form is submitted, when all account information is valid. Until direct deposit is effective, the client receives an EBT deposit.

Receipt of the Direct Deposit Benefit

The benefit is deposited into the account and available to the client on the last State work day of the month which is prior to the month for which the benefit is due. No check stub or deposit information is mailed to the client. Questions regarding deposit of the benefit must be directed to the individual’s bank or the Auditor’s Office.

Direct deposit of the WV WORKS benefit is indicated in the eligibility system with a warrant number which begins with a five.

When the WV WORKS benefit cannot be direct deposited for any reason, the WV WORKS benefit will then be available on the EBT card.
Any time that a direct deposit transaction cannot be completed, the client is removed from direct deposit and he must re-enroll to receive his benefit in this manner. Until such time as he re-enrolls, he will receive an EBT deposit.

Disenrollment from Direct Deposit

The client must request removal from direct deposit by submitting a written request directly to the Auditor’s Office at the address shown on the enrollment form or by calling the Auditor’s Office. Identifying information may be requested.

1.5.17.B EBT

Benefits will be in an EBT account and accessed by using the EBT card and a Personal Identification Number (PIN), similar to a personal debit or an automated teller machine (ATM) card. The AG may still choose direct deposit for the monthly WV WORKS benefit. The following outlines procedures which are specific to EBT.

1.5.17.B.1 EBT Definitions and Terminology

The following is a list of commonly used terms or acronyms associated with EBT.

ADMINISTRATIVE TERMINAL

EBT vendor system used to inquire into EBT account information, reactivate expunged accounts, deactivate EBT cards, and, in some instances, make changes to the EBT account.

AUTHORIZED CARDHOLDER

An individual, who, in addition to the payee, may be issued an EBT card and access an EBT account.

AUTOMATED TELLER MACHINE (ATM)

May be used to access cash EBT benefits.

CUSTOMER SERVICE REPRESENTATIVE (CSR)
The CSR for the EBT vendor who is reached through the IVRU toll-free number also referred to as the EBT Helpline. This person has the ability to replace or deactivate lost, stolen or damaged cards and to file a claim on behalf of a client regarding transactions.

DEMOGRAPHIC INFORMATION
Identifying information about the AG’s primary person which is sent to the EBT vendor in order to set up an EBT account and mail the EBT card. This includes the name, SSN and date of birth of the AG’s primary person and the payee’s address.

ELECTRONIC BENEFITS TRANSFER (EBT)
EBT or the use of a card to access WV WORKS, CSI and DCA cash benefits, and SNAP benefits.

EBT HELPLINE
The toll-free number through which the client may access the Interactive Voice Response Unit (IVRU) or CSR.

EXPUNGED ACCOUNT
When benefits are not used from the EBT account for 365 days, those benefits are removed from the account and are not available to the AG. Other grant months may remain on the account. The Worker must reset the account for these benefits to be accessed.

INTERACTIVE VOICE RESPONSE UNIT (IVRU)
The IVRU is also referred to as EBT Helpline. The EBT vendor operates the IVRU seven days a week, 24 hours a day. Functions of the IVRU include, but are not limited to, account balance inquiries, card activation and PIN changes.

MOUNTAIN STATE CARD
The West Virginia EBT card

PERSONAL IDENTIFICATION NUMBER (PIN)
This number must be used to access EBT benefits with the EBT card. This is not the eligibility system PIN number.

POINT OF SALE (POS) EQUIPMENT
This is used to spend cash or SNAP benefits at a store.

STATUS THE EBT CARD
Deactivate the card so that it cannot be used. This occurs when a replacement card is requested, a payee is changed or an authorized cardholder is removed or changed.
1.5.17.B.2 EBT Card Issuance

➢ Initial Card Issuance

The EBT card is issued when the first benefit to be issued into an EBT account is approved. It is mailed the day after the approval in the eligibility system. Once the benefit account is set up and benefits are deposited into the EBT account, they are accessed with the EBT card. The client must call the EBT Helpline to create the PIN and activate the card prior to use.

All cards are mailed to the payee. See Effect on Card Distribution of Legal Guardian or Protective Payee below when the AG has a legal guardian or protective payee. This includes the card(s) for any additional authorized cardholder(s). It is the responsibility of the payee to distribute the cards to any other cardholder(s).

➢ Effect on Card Distribution of Legal Guardian or Protective Payee

When the AG has a legal guardian or protective payee, all cards are mailed to the address of that individual. Current policy contains no reference to a specified legal guardian as a payee.

Any other representative or protective payee is indicated in the eligibility system as a protective payee.

➢ Authorized Cardholder

The AG may designate an additional individual(s) as an authorized cardholder for EBT. The authorized cardholder has his own card and PIN and accesses the EBT account for the specified benefit(s) without restriction. For this reason the choice of an authorized cardholder and its importance must be stressed with the applicant or recipient. The authorized cardholder is designated, changed or removed in the eligibility system.

WV WORKS AGs may select only one authorized cardholder for WV WORKS. If the AG receives both SNAP and cash assistance, they may select one authorized cardholder for each benefit.

The maximum number of cards issued for any case is three.

Once an authorized cardholder is chosen, the payee may stop the cardholder’s access to the EBT account by calling the EBT IVRU or DHHR Customer Service Center. Local office staff cannot deactivate a card. However, the DHHR Customer Service Center or local office Worker can change or remove a cardholder. If the client first calls the IVRU to stop access to the account, he must still contact the DHHR Customer Service Center or local office to remove or change the cardholder.

➢ Cardholder Security

The demographic information sent to the EBT vendor for the primary person in the household is the Social Security Number, Date of Birth and address to which the card is sent.

No demographic information is sent for any authorized cardholder. The authorized cardholder must know the date of birth of the primary person and the address to which the card(s) is mailed.

If the SSN is requested for a PIN change, the primary person provides his own and the authorized cardholder or representative/protective payee must provide zeros.

1.5.18 DIVERSIONARY CASH ASSISTANCE (DCA)

DCA is a payment method available only to WV WORKS applicants. This method allows a maximum lump sum benefit of an amount equal to the maximum WV WORKS benefit amount, based on family size, multiplied by three. The amount of the DCA payment is based on need and is not automatically issued at the maximum amount. The household becomes ineligible for WV WORKS for three months, regardless of the amount of payment issued.

DCA is available to an applicant at the Worker’s discretion only. It is not a program for which the client applies and is found eligible or ineligible. The Worker and/or Supervisor must determine if a DCA payment is appropriate and offer it to an applicant. The applicant may choose to accept or decline without any effect on his eligibility for an ongoing WV WORKS benefit. Supervisory approval is required for all DCA payments. To be considered for DCA, an applicant must be WV WORKS eligible. If an applicant refuses to cooperate with drug testing as a result of a Drug Use Questionnaire, DFA-WVW-DAST-1 or has a positive drug test, he must not be offered a DCA.

DCA provides an opportunity to relieve a temporary financial need as an alternative to receipt of ongoing WV WORKS payments. When the Worker and the applicant are confident that a one-time payment will meet the temporary need, DCA is explored.

When a case is approved for DCA, the AG must not be required to file a new application for SNAP. SNAP eligibility must be determined based on the information provided on the WV WORKS application.

The DCA benefit is deposited into the EBT account.
DCA does not count toward the 60-month lifetime limit or the 24-month limit.

Transitional Medicaid is available only when all requirements in Section 23.10 are met. Transitional Medicaid eligibility is not based on receipt of DCA.

DCA payments are not subject to repayment unless fraud is established.

DCA is available only one time for an applicant family. Acceptance of the DCA payment in lieu of ongoing WV WORKS payments is an option for the client.

After receipt of a relocation payment due to employment, the household is ineligible for Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) in West Virginia for three months following the month of receipt. This restriction does not apply to victims of domestic violence who have been relocated or relocation for proximity to public transportation.

The Case Manager must make a case comment regarding relocation and the three-month ineligibility period.

The West Virginia Employment Assistance Program (EAP) is considered a continuation of services payment. Participants choosing this option will be ineligible for TANF in West Virginia for three months following the final EAP payment when a relocation payment has been received.

NOTE: If the household contains even one AG member or a non-recipient Work-Eligible Individual who was included in a household which received a DCA payment, another DCA payment cannot be made to that AG. The Worker must check issuance history to determine if a non-recipient Work-Eligible Individual was included in a household which received a DCA payment as these individuals are not tracked by the system.

---

1.5.18.A Determining If DCA Is Appropriate

The following guidelines are used to determine if DCA is appropriate.

- The AG must demonstrate a need which cannot be met with current or anticipated family resources.
- A member of the AG or a non-recipient Work-Eligible Individual in the household must be employed or have a verified promise of employment or other verified source of income within two months of application.
• The applicant must agree to accept DCA by signing the Diversionary Cash Assistance Agreement, DFA-WVW-3, which lists conditions and expectations.

• Child support received by the parent/caretaker or BCSE belongs to the family and is not used to reimburse the DHHR for the DCA.

NOTE: Child support pass-through is not counted as income in determining DCA.

• The household does not include any member who is serving a WV WORKS sanction. The entire AG remains ineligible until the sanction period ends. When the reason for the most recent AG closure is imposition of a sanction, no member of the sanctioned AG may be approved or included in DCA.

Once WV WORKS has been approved again and eligibility is lost for a reason other than imposition of another sanction, the AG may be considered for DCA upon reapplication.

DCA Example: A WV WORKS AG is closed due to imposition of the fourth sanction. During the time the AG is closed, the client finds part-time employment and is later offered a better-paying full-time job out of state. He reapplies at the end of his ineligibility period and asks to be considered for a DCA payment to accept the job out of state. Because the benefit stopped due to a sanction, DCA is not appropriate. The AG is approved for an ongoing WV WORKS benefit. Once he becomes an active participant, he may be eligible for a support service payment to pay relocation expenses, if he is otherwise eligible for such payment.

• If an adult or child would be required to be included in a WV WORKS AG, he is required to be included in a DCA AG and cannot be excluded simply to qualify for DCA. This applies even when no member of the applicant AG has previously received a DCA payment.

• The applicant must agree to have the WV WORKS application withdrawn.

1.5.18.B Determining Financial Eligibility for the DCA

Financial eligibility for the DCA is determined by comparing the gross, non-excluded, countable income of the AG to 100% of the Standard of Need (SON), based on the number of people in the AG.

If the income is equal to or less than the appropriate SON, the Worker must determine the AG’s countable income. See Section 4.5.
If the countable income is less than the maximum WV WORKS benefit amount for the AG size shown in Chapter 4, Appendix A, the AG is eligible for DCA.

1.5.18.C Determining the DCA Amount

The DCA amount is determined as follows.

- Determine the maximum WV WORKS amount that is payable to a family of the same size. This number does not include a non-recipient Work-Eligible Individual. No incentives or reductions are applied when determining the DCA amount.
- Multiply the amount by three. This result is the maximum DCA payment which may be issued.
- There are no circumstances under which the maximum DCA payment amount may be exceeded.
- Determine the amount needed to meet the temporary financial need. The amount may include expenses related to future employment needs and ongoing household expenses.

NOTE: Because payment is limited to one-time-only, the Worker must be certain to include all such needs in this determination. Supplemental payments may not be issued, even if the maximum amount was not used for the first DCA and even if the transaction can be made the same day.

- Compare the amount of the temporary financial need to the maximum DCA amount.

  If the DCA is sufficient to meet the need, payment is issued for the amount of the temporary need.

  If the DCA is not sufficient to meet the need, the DCA may still be approved if the Worker and the client determine that other arrangements can be made to meet the remainder of the need. Support services must not be considered to be a resource that can be used to meet the additional need not covered by the DCA.

  When there is no other resource available to meet the need, DCA is not appropriate. The client is then considered for an ongoing WV WORKS benefit.

- The recipient AG members and the non-recipient Work-Eligible Individual that are included in any DCA payment are considered to receive the benefit of that payment for 3... months. These individuals cannot be included in any other DCA AG for any month for which they received the benefit in another DCA AG.

1.5.18.D Verification of Temporary Needs

When possible, the Worker must verify the need and the amount.

The DCA payment is not limited to only those needs which can be verified. In addition, the amount of the DCA is not limited to only verifiable costs. The Worker is expected to use prudent judgment in determining which needs can be verified.

Verifiable Costs Example: An applicant has agreed to accept a DCA payment instead of an ongoing WV WORKS benefit. In order to accept an offer of employment, he must move his family to another state. The following needs are identified: car repairs, overnight lodging for the family for the trip, food for the family for the trip, rent in a new dwelling for a month, utility deposits and some specialized tools for the new employment. The Worker verifies that the applicant has a car and has the client obtain an estimate of the repair costs.

He also verifies the cost of the specialized tools for the new employment based on the client’s statement that they are necessary. The client does not want his future employer to know that he is receiving help from the DHHR to accept the job, so the Worker does not contact the employer to confirm the need for the tools. However, he does contact some local employers of the same type to ensure that such tools would be used. Note that, in this case, it is assumed that the client has written verification of his employment. Otherwise, contact with the future employer would be necessary to verify the employment.

The Worker and the client agree on the amount needed for the family for overnight lodging, rent, utility deposits and food. These items are not verifiable, since the client does not yet have a place to live in the new state and does not know where he will stay overnight on the drive. It is reasonable to assume that these costs will be incurred in moving to another state, and the amount is negotiated.

1.5.19 ORIENTATION

The purpose of Orientation to WV WORKS is to inform all applicants about WV WORKS, the general policies and requirements.
Orientation is part of the application process. It is an opportunity to make sure that each person understands the services available and the program requirements. It also gives the applicant an easy way to ask questions and receive answers. This will also begin the assessment process by allowing the Worker to determine the issues most important to the applicant.

Each adult and emancipated minor in the WV WORKS AG and non-recipient Work-Eligible Individual must receive orientation to the program. Orientation must be conducted in a group, unless special circumstances of the applicant necessitate an individual orientation.

The important point of orientation is that information be presented uniformly using the standardized orientation materials and the applicant leaves with a good understanding of the Program, his general requirements and services available to him. Not only is it important that each applicant in a District or Region receive the same information, it is equally important that all applicants statewide receive the same information. For that reason, the three forms described below are used to accomplish uniformity. Their use is mandatory.

Attending a WV WORKS orientation and signing the DFA-WVV-4 are eligibility requirements, so eligibility may not be established until these are completed. However, when the AG reapplies for benefits within 3 months of the last day of the effective month of closure, the AG members or non-recipient Work-Eligible Individuals may not be required to complete another orientation session.

Orientation Not Required Example: An AG is closed on April 10. The last day of the effective month of closure is April 30. If he reapplies on or before July 31, no new orientation is required.

1.5.19.A Orientation to WV WORKS (DFA-WVV-4)

This form contains a brief summary of some of the requirements unique to WV WORKS. The Worker must explain the information included on the form and add additional information in response to specific questions. Under no circumstances may delivery of the form to the client with no discussion of the information substitute for a full, uniform orientation to the program.

In addition to the information on the form, when a SSP has not already been completed and will not be completed during the orientation session, the Worker must provide the applicant with a blank copy of the SSP. This will allow time for the applicant to be prepared for the SSP interview.

1.5.19.B PRC
For detailed information about the PRC process, see Section 1.5.20.

1.5.19.C  WV WORKS List of Local Services

The WV WORKS List of Local Services template is included in Appendix D of this chapter. This is a template to assist local offices in producing a list of local services which the client may need or be required to use. The final list may be prepared by each District office or be prepared regionally, depending upon the availability of the services. It is designed to be developed once and reproduced for use during orientation. Use of this list including the attachment is mandatory and must be updated as changes occur. Under no circumstances is staff to copy this template exactly as listed in Appendix D for use. With the exception of Attachment A, the WV WORKS List of Local Services must be designed to reflect the availability and list of services in a particular District or surrounding area/region. It is recommended that the Worker include the most recent Community Resource Guide or Quick Guide with the WV WORKS List of Local Services.

The applicant is expected to initial each item after it is discussed with him, but his eligibility is not affected if he does not. Under no circumstances may delivery of the form to the client substitute for a discussion of all the items on the form.

In addition to the items listed on the WV WORKS List of Local Services, there must be a complete discussion of domestic violence issues which include the following:

- A discussion of the DHHR’s efforts to protect the safety of clients in domestic violence situations by choosing the Family Violence Option included in welfare reform legislation;
- Explain literature is available in different locations throughout the office and from the Worker;
- The benefits of disclosure of domestic violence as it relates to work participation requirements and program time limits; and
- How to disclose, i.e., to the Worker, other individual, etc. It is important that the Worker inform the client that this information is given to everyone who applies and does not indicate the Worker has any knowledge or suspicion of domestic violence. This is especially important when two parents or two non-parent caretakers are being interviewed.

Information on Attachment A of the template regarding sexual harassment must be discussed by the Worker with the client.
1.5.20 PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY CONTRACT (PRC)

The PRC, form DFA-PRC-1, is a contract between each of the adult or emancipated minor members of the WV WORKS AG, or non-recipient Work-Eligible Individual(s), and the Worker, as the representative of the DHHR.

Completion and signature of the PRC form is required prior to approving the WV WORKS AG. However, when the client reapplies for benefits within three months of the last day of the effective month of closure, no new PRC is required.

PRC Example: An AG is closed on April 10. The last day of the effective month of closure is April 30. If he reapplies on or before July 31, no new PRC is required.

Failure, without good cause, to adhere to the responsibilities or any tasks listed on the PRC after signature, results in imposition of a sanction against the AG. See Section 14.8 for information about sanctions.

A separate PRC is completed and signed by each adult and emancipated minor in a WV WORKS AG, and any non-recipient Work-Eligible Individuals in the household. The participant’s signature indicates that he understands and accepts the responsibility inherent in the program.

The Worker must sign the form as the DHHR’s representative. The Worker’s signature indicates that he has explained the participant’s rights and responsibilities and the DHHR’s responsibilities to the participant. It also indicates that the Worker has addressed all of the participant’s questions and concerns before requesting him to sign it.

The PRC is the same for all WV WORKS participants. It states the purpose of the WV WORKS Program and lists the participant’s rights and responsibilities.

Some of the items listed on the PRC duplicate information on the DFA-2. However, the signature on the DFA-2 does not substitute for the signature on the PRC and vice versa.

1.5.21 SELF-SUFFICIENCY PLAN (SSP)

The Self-Sufficiency Plan (SSP), form DFA-SSP-1, is a negotiated contract between each of the adult or emancipated minor members of the WV WORKS AG, or non-recipient Work-Eligible Individual(s), and the Worker, as the representative of the DHHR. The SSP is specific to each participant. It lists the goals, as well as the tasks necessary to accomplish the goals, including specific appointments, assignments and activities for the adult/emancipated minor. In addition, the SSP identifies the circumstances which impede attainment of the established goals and specifies the services needed to overcome the impediments.

The services listed on the SSP may be Support Service Payments or any other type of service provided to the participant or to which he has been referred. When there are no support services available at the time to appropriately address the barrier, the Worker must note this on the form and periodically review the availability of needed services.

Guidance for the assessment process which is crucial to the completion of the SSP is found in Section 18.7.

A separate SSP is completed for each adult and emancipated minor in a WV WORKS AG, and any non-recipient Work-Eligible Individuals in the household.

Completion and signature of the SSP is required to be completed within 10 days of the initial contact when the client expresses an interest in applying for WV WORKS. The initial SSP may be completed on a paper form or in the eligibility system. When the initial SSP is completed on a paper form, the eligibility system must be updated as soon as possible. Whenever the participant reapplies for benefits, a new SSP is required. The participant and Worker must sign and date the initial SSP and each change or addition when they occur. The signatures indicate their agreement to the initial SSP and subsequent changes. The participant’s signature indicates that he understands and accepts the responsibility inherent in the program.

The SSP is a working document and revisions are made when either the participant or the Worker believes it necessary. Frequent changes are expected as the participant progresses toward his goal.

There are four additional considerations for the Worker during the negotiation of the Self-Sufficiency Plan, as follows.

1.5.21.A Initial SSP

A full assessment of the family situation is required to complete a valid, long-term SSP. To prevent a delay in the receipt of benefits to the client, an initial SSP must be completed within 10 days of the initial contact when a client expresses an interest in applying for WV WORKS. It is understood that the initial SSP will not be as comprehensive as subsequent plans.

Prior to completion of the initial SSP, the Worker must explore the following with the participant, at a minimum:
• Does the participant state a disability of any kind? The Worker must code the case management system when the participant has a documented disability.

• Is transportation a problem?

• Is child care a problem?

• Does the participant state family problems would interfere with an activity?

These factors, as well as any other information readily available, must be considered when negotiating the initial SSP.

1.5.21.B  First Full SSP

After the assessment process described in Section 18.7 has been implemented, the Worker is required to complete a full SSP. The first full SSP must be completed and signed within 30 days of the date of application and must be based on information determined through the assessment process, including the information obtained from form DFA-WVW-3A.

1.5.21.C  Subsequent Changes to the SSP

Changes may be made to the SSP when the participant and the Worker agree that changes are appropriate. These changes may be a result of identifying a new impediment to a goal, acceleration of the progress toward self-sufficiency, or on any other change in the client’s circumstances. It may also be changed based on the addition of available services to the area or the loss of such services.

1.5.21.D  Domestic Violence Considerations

During the completion of the SSP, the Worker must make every opportunity available for the individual to disclose domestic violence issues which may affect the participant’s particular requirements as a WV WORKS recipient. It must be stressed with the participant that disclosure may be a benefit in the negotiation process.
If, based on observation of a couple during an interview, the Worker suspects domestic violence is a factor, he may attempt to set up a separate interview at a later date. However, any attempt to do so must be done in a manner which ensures the client’s safety. Under no circumstances must the individual’s safety be compromised or is the participant to be penalized for refusal to conduct a separate interview.

NOTE: When the participant’s SSP involves requirements or exemptions due to domestic violence or plan monitoring with a domestic violence agency, the Worker must take special precautions when recording exemption information on the form or in the eligibility system. No copy of any such plan is filed in the record. The Worker may make phone contacts to monitor the plan and record only general information, i.e. the name of the individual to whom he spoke, but not the organization; a statement that the current plan is being followed satisfactorily, etc. When monitoring the plan, the Worker must not contact the abuser, his relatives or friends, nor leave any messages regarding domestic violence. The domestic violence indicator in the eligibility system serves as documentation of the reason for the requirements or exemption.

1.5.22 RIGHTS OF APPLICANTS AND PARTICIPANTS WITH DISABILITIES

1.5.22.A Introduction

The West Virginia Human Rights Act, West Virginia Code § 5-11-1, the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA) and the Rehabilitation Act of 1993 apply to all programs established by the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996 (PRWORA) which established the TANF program. WV WORKS was established as a TANF program, and as such, the laws established under the Acts referenced above apply to WV WORKS.

These Acts provide:

- That no qualified individual with a recognized ADA disability will, by reason of that disability, be excluded from participation in, be denied any of the benefits or be discriminated against by the agency administering the program
- Discrimination by any agency which receives Federal financial assistance to support their TANF program is prohibited
All TANF agencies are subject to review by the Office of Civil Rights and any complaints regarding discrimination are to be referred to and investigated by that office. See Section 1.2 for directions on filing a complaint and for the right to fair and equitable treatment of applicants and participants.

1.5.22.B Accommodations for the Disabled in WV WORKS

Under Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act and the ADA, a disability is defined as an impairment that may be cognitive, developmental, intellectual, mental, physical, sensory, or some combination of these. A disability substantially limits a person’s life activities. The Worker has the responsibility to inform the Work-Eligible Individual that disclosure of any or all of these conditions is voluntary. The Worker must provide any appropriate referrals once the information is provided.

Disabled individuals may have a temporary barrier or exemption. Individuals with disabilities should not be automatically excluded because this practice denies those individuals access to the TANF programs and services. This results in the discriminatory exclusion of disabled individuals from participating in the program. Under the law, every effort must be made to modify practices and policy, when appropriate, so disabled individuals may receive modified training and accommodated job opportunities. This policy allows the disabled to participate in the program and benefit from the employment and training opportunities offered to all other participants.

Two concepts are central to making WV WORKS accessible to all applicants and participants:

- Individualized treatment – All individuals with disabilities must be treated on a case-by-case basis, in a way that is appropriate to accommodate their disabilities.
- Effective and meaningful opportunity – All disabled applicants and participants must be allowed to participate and given the opportunity to benefit from TANF programs in the same manner as all other participants and must be allowed to have meaningful access to the program.

Reasonable accommodations and services, must be available to all disabled participants so all services and programs are accessible to disabled individuals. These types of modifications are required at application and throughout all stages of the WV WORKS program and continue as necessary through employment or even during an extension of the 60 month limit of benefits. Any accommodation and/or modification must be documented in case comments.

Workers must make appropriate referrals to local service agencies that provide the services and assistance necessary to ensure the applicants’ successful participation. Referrals are made using the DFA-ADA-1. Only one referral is made on each form. Distribution of the form is as follows:

- One copy remains in the client file.
- One copy to the client.
- One copy is for the client to deliver to the referral agency.

The DFA-ADA-1A is the follow-up form. The Worker completes this form to summarize the services that have been received and the outcomes of the services.

NOTE: WV WORKS participants who have a documented disability must be coded in the case management system in addition to other component codes even if a referral to a local service agency is declined by the participant. When this occurs, it must be documented in case comments that a referral was offered and refused.
1.6 COMMON POLICIES IN THE MEDICAID APPLICATION PROCESS

The policies and procedures in this section apply to the application process for all Medicaid coverage groups, unless stated otherwise; some exceptions apply. Policies and procedures specific to each coverage group are described in Sections 1.7 – 1.24.

1.6.1 APPLICATION FORMS

Applicants for all Medicaid coverage groups can use the DFA-2, inROADS, the single streamlined application (DFA-SLA-1 or DFA-SLA-2, with supplement if required) or the Federally Facilitated Marketplace (FFM, the Marketplace) to apply.

Coverage group-specific information, including the need for supplemental application forms, is provided below in the sections about each coverage group.

1.6.2 NO INTERVIEW REQUIRED

There is no interview required for any Medicaid coverage group. The Worker may contact an applicant for additional information if needed.

Although no interview is required, when an interview is conducted, the interview requirements found in Section 1.2 are applicable.

1.6.3 DATE OF APPLICATION

Unless specified otherwise in the coverage group specific sections below, the date of application is the date the Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR) receives the application in person, by fax or other electronic transmission, through inROADS or the FFM, or by mail, which contains, at a minimum, the applicant’s name and address and signature.

EXCEPTION: See Section 1.16 QMB/SLMB/QI-1 for when the application is received electronically LIS/MPA file.
NOTE: When a faxed copy or other electronic transmission of an application is received that contains a minimum of the applicant’s name, address and signature, it is considered an original application and no additional signature is required.

1.6.4 DUE DATE OF ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

When the client visits the office and an interview is conducted, the Worker and client decide on a reasonable time for the client to return the information.

When the client mails the application or completes the application in inROADS or the Marketplace, the Worker then uses the verification checklist or form DFA-6 to inform the client of additional information needed.

The client must be given at least 10 days after the date the verification checklist or DFA-6 is mailed to return the information.

1.6.5 COMPLETE APPLICATION

The application is complete when the applicant or his authorized representative submits the correct application which contains, at a minimum, his name, address and signature. When the applicant submits his application by inROADS or the Marketplace, the application is considered complete when the application is signed electronically.

An application is considered incomplete when the client chooses not to sign the SLA, DFA-2, or DFA-5. When this occurs, it is a withdrawal, and appropriate eligibility system action and client notification must be completed. The recording in case comments must specify that the client did not want to sign the application and the reason for his decision. The client should always be encouraged to sign the application so there is no misunderstanding that he was denied the right to apply.

EXCEPTION: for SSI-Related Aged, Blind, or Disabled, additional information related to medical bills is due 30 days from the date of application.
1.6.6 AGENCY DELAYS

When the Department fails to request necessary verification, the Worker must immediately send the eligibility system verification checklist or form DFA-6 to request it. He must inform the client that the application is being held pending. When the verification is received and the client is determined eligible, medical coverage is retroactive to the date eligibility would have been established.

When the application is not processed within agency time limits, the application must be processed immediately upon discovery of the delay and coverage must be backdated for any prior eligibility period. This may be more than three months if due to an agency error.

If the Department simply failed to act promptly on the information already received, benefits are retroactive to the date eligibility would have been established had the Department acted in a timely manner.

The Medicaid client may be eligible to receive direct reimbursement for out-of-pocket medical expenses if the Department has not acted on the application within a reasonable period of time and the delay is not due to factors beyond the control of the Department. See Chapter 10.

NOTE: For Medicaid AGs, when the last case action was a denial due solely to failure to meet spenddown within the application processing time limit, the period of consideration (POC) and/or period of eligibility (POE) is backdated, if appropriate, based on the date the client requests reconsideration of his application.

1.6.6.A Documenting Reason for Delay

To document the reason for any delay in processing a Medicaid application, the Worker must record in comments:

- All actions taken in processing the application; and,
- The results of required case reviews.

The instructions for these procedures are found below.

A rebuttable presumption that the application was not acted on within a reasonable period of time exists when conditions such as, but not limited to, are met:
• Proper documentation, as shown below, which establishes that delay is due exclusively to factors beyond the control of the Department, is not in the case record.
• Documentation for the required case review is not in the case record.

This presumption may be rebutted only by clear and convincing evidence that all necessary actions by the Department for processing the application were undertaken in a timely fashion. This presumption may not be rebutted solely by the testimony of a Worker who failed to meet the documentation requirements.

1.6.6.A.1 Instructions for Documentation for Pending Medicaid Applications

For all Medicaid applications, the documentation in the eligibility system must include, but is not limited to, the following:

• Date of application.
• Date the verification checklist or DFA-6 and 6A were mailed or given to the client.
• Date medical bills submitted by the client were received in the local office.
• Date medical expenses were added to the eligibility system.
• The result of each 30-day review found on comments (instructions in item 2 below).
• All actions related to the MRT process, when applicable, which include, but are not limited to:
  o Date initial medical reports are requested o Date of follow-up activity required to obtain initial reports
  o Date medical reports are received in the county office
  o Date additional medical information, as indicated on the initial medical report or as requested by MRT, is requested o Date of follow-up activity required to obtain the additional medical information o Date additional medical reports are received in the county office
  o Date material is referred to MRT o Date the Worker is notified of the final MRT decision.

This information appears in the eligibility system.
1.6.6.A.2 Procedure for Review of Pending Applications

Applications that have not been entered in the eligibility system must be reviewed at least every 30 days.

The county office must establish procedures to ensure that each pending application is reviewed a minimum of once every 30 days. The results of the review must be documented in the case record. Comments must document the reason the application has not been acted on.

- If this reason is not beyond the control of the Department, the Worker must immediately take any actions necessary to process the application.
- If the application has not been acted on within the required time limit due to missing information from the applicant, the Worker must send a DFA-20 or eligibility system notice NMRL to the applicant informing him of the information which has not been received by the Department. The DFA-20 or NMRL is sent to the applicant at the time of the expiration of the maximum allowable time for acting on the application.

1.6.7 EXPEDITED PROCESSING

There are no Medicaid requirements for expedited processing. Cases are approved in the order in which eligibility is established. For application processing time limits, see Section 1.6.6 Agency Delays and Agency Time Limits within each coverage group.

1.6.8 ELIGIBILITY SYSTEM ACTION

Regardless of the eligibility decision, all applications must be processed and eligibility system action is required to complete the application process.

Each application requires eligibility system action to approve, deny or withdraw.
1.6.9 CLIENT NOTIFICATION

The client must be informed that he is eligible for Medicaid coverage and the date that his coverage begins.

Client notification is accomplished by the eligibility system, when the case is properly coded. The notification includes the beginning date of eligibility. See Chapter 9.

1.6.10 REPAYMENT AND PENALTIES

Repayment and Penalties do not apply to the Medicaid application process. Repayment from the client is only pursued if intentional misrepresentation is established; see Section 11.4.

See Section 2.4 for an explanation of requirements to cooperate with Quality Control (QC) if selected for a QC review.

1.6.11 SPECIAL SITUATIONS

1.6.11.A Coordination between DHHR and the Federally Facilitated Marketplace

The Affordable Care Act (ACA) established standards and guidelines for ensuring a coordinated and timely process for performing eligibility determinations, for facilitating enrollment into coverage and for transferring the applicant's information between the Department and the Federally Facilitated Marketplace (FFM or Marketplace).

The Department must enter into an agreement with the Marketplace which outlines the responsibilities of each agency to ensure prompt determination of eligibility and enrollment in the appropriate insurance affordability program based on the date the single-streamlined application (SLA) is submitted to either the Department or the Marketplace.

The Act also requires that no matter where the applicant submits the SLA, the Department or the Marketplace, they will receive an eligibility determination for any insurance affordability program and be able to enroll in the appropriate coverage, if eligible, without delay.
Regardless of where the applicant submits their SLA, eligibility can be determined for insurance affordability programs including MAGI coverage groups based on the information collected on the application without requiring additional action by the applicant.

NOTE: The SLA does not provide sufficient information for the Department to determine eligibility for non-MAGI coverage groups. If the client indicates potential eligibility for a non-MAGI coverage group, the Department must provide the client with the DFA-SLA-S1 to obtain the additional information needed to determine eligibility. See Section 23.8.2 for information regarding determining eligibility between MAGI and non-MAGI coverage groups.

1.6.11.A.1 Applications Taken by the Marketplace

West Virginia entered into an agreement with the FFM whereby the Department will accept as final the Medicaid and WVCHIP eligibility determinations made by the Marketplace based on MAGI.

The Marketplace determines eligibility for MAGI Medicaid groups and WVCHIP only, in real time without delay when possible. Non-financial and financial information about the applicant is matched with the Federal Data Hub.

When completing the eligibility determination for an applicant that submits a SLA to the Marketplace, the Marketplace must:

- Accept the SLA;
- Check for existing Medicaid or WVCHIP coverage;
- Verify citizenship/immigration status, residency, incarceration status, current monthly income and annual income;
- Apply the reasonable compatibility standard and reconcile any differences;
- Apply West Virginia's state eligibility rules;
- Complete the eligibility determination;
- Provide appropriate notices, fair hearing rights, and communications to the client;
- Transfer the eligible client’s electronic account to the Department, without delay;
- Transfer applications to the Department for applicants requesting a full determination of Medicaid on a basis other than MAGI; and,
- Transfer to the Department for a full eligibility determination, without delay, the electronic account of a client that indicates on their application potential eligibility for a non-MAGI coverage group.
If the individual is over income for MAGI Medicaid or WVCHIP, evaluate him for the insurance affordability programs, Advance Premium Tax Credits and Cost Sharing Reductions (APTC/CSR).

➢ Marketplace Determines Eligibility for a MAGI Coverage Group

When the Marketplace determines the applicant is eligible for a MAGI coverage group, the DHHR must:

- Accept electronic accounts transferred from the Marketplace for clients determined Medicaid or WVCHIP eligible based on MAGI.
- Promptly complete enrollment into the correct Medicaid or WVCHIP coverage group.
- Not request any additional information or verifications from the client.
- Provide additional notification of enrollment to the client, including benefits available.

➢ Marketplace Determines Potential Eligibility for a MAGI Coverage Group

When the Marketplace determines the applicant is potentially eligible for a MAGI coverage group, the DHHR must:

- Accept the electronic account for the client who is assessed by the Marketplace as potentially eligible for a MAGI group
- Notify the Marketplace of receipt of the electronic account
- Not request additional information of verifications from the client already verified electronically
- Conduct any additional verifications that may be required
- Promptly determine eligibility without requiring another application; ensure timeliness standards in this chapter are met
- Notify the client and the Marketplace of the final eligibility determination

➢ Marketplace Determines Potential Eligibility for a Non-MAGI Coverage Group

When the Marketplace determines the client is potentially eligible for a non-MAGI coverage group, the Department must:
• Accept the electronic account for the client who is assessed by the Marketplace as potentially eligible for a non-MAGI group, or when the client requests a full determination.
• Notify the Marketplace of receipt of the electronic account.
• Not request additional information or verifications from the client already verified electronically.
• Promptly determine eligibility without requiring another application; ensure timeliness standards in this chapter are met.
• Notify the Marketplace of the final eligibility determination.

1.6.11.A.2 Applications Taken by DHHR

The Worker determines eligibility for MAGI Medicaid and WVCHIP groups. Non-financial and financial information about the applicant is matched by the Federal Data Hub in real time.

➢ DHHR Determines Eligibility for a MAGI Coverage Group

When the Department determines the client is eligible for Medicaid or WVCHIP based on MAGI, the Department must:
  • Promptly enroll the applicant into the MAGI coverage group. The client may also pursue eligibility for non-MAGI Medicaid coverage groups while enrolled in the MAGI group.

➢ DHHR Determines Applicant Not Eligible for a MAGI Coverage Group

When the Department determines the applicant is not eligible for Medicaid or WVCHIP based on MAGI, the Department must:
  • Promptly determine potential eligibility for APTC/CSR and transfer the applicant’s electronic account to the Marketplace; and
  • Certify for the Marketplace the criteria applied in determining eligibility; and
  • Provide the applicant with a combined eligibility notice, including notice of the Medicaid denial or closure, transfer of their electronic account to the Marketplace, and fair hearing rights.

The DHHR does not determine eligibility for the Marketplace’s benefits but may refer individuals to an in-person assistor or Navigator for assistance.
When an individual is ineligible for MAGI Medicaid or WVCHIP due to income, and he attests to disability, he may be eligible for an SSI-Related, Medicaid Work Incentive Network (M-WIN) or other Medicaid Group. During this time he may receive Marketplace benefits. If approved for other non-MAGI Medicaid coverage, the Marketplace is electronically notified.

When the Department determines the applicant is not eligible for Medicaid or WVCHIP based on MAGI, but are completing a determination for a non-MAGI coverage group, the Department must:

- Promptly determine potential eligibility for APTC/CSR and transfer the client’s electronic account to the Marketplace.
- Provide notice to the Marketplace that the client is not Medicaid or WVCHIP eligible based on MAGI, but that a final determination based on non-MAGI is pending.
- Provide notice to the client in simple language that the Department determined them ineligible for Medicaid or WVCHIP based upon MAGI standards, but are continuing to evaluate them for coverage for non-MAGI coverage groups.
- Provide coordinated content in the notice including that the client’s account was transferred to the Marketplace for an evaluation for APTC/CSR, and that enrollment in APTC/CSR will not affect their potential Medicaid eligibility.
- Provide the client notice of the final non-MAGI Medicaid eligibility determination and fair hearing rights. If the client is determined eligible for a non-MAGI coverage group, the notice should inform the client that the Marketplace will be notified of the client’s eligibility, and that Medicaid eligibility will result in closure of APTC/CSR.
- Notify the Marketplace of the final eligibility determination based on non-MAGI.

1.6.11.A.3 Coordination between DHHR and the Marketplace Involving Appeals

The Department must establish a secure electronic interface so that:

- The Marketplace can notify the Department when an applicant has requested a fair hearing; and
- The applicant’s electronic account, including information provided as part of the appeal, can be transferred between the Department and the Marketplace.

When conducting a fair hearing, the Department should not request information or documentation from the applicant that is already included in their electronic account.

The Department must transmit to the Marketplace the hearing decision made by the Department.
1.6.11.B Presumptive Eligibility

Individuals receiving services through a Qualified Provider who are interested in applying for Medicaid may apply with the assistance of an Authorized Employee. Qualified Providers may elect to provide Presumptive Eligibility (PE) determinations to individuals who are without any other form of health coverage. Additional information about Qualified Providers can be found in Chapter 400 of the West Virginia Medicaid Provider Manual. Presumptive Eligibility (PE) is not permitted for any other program. It is unrelated to Presumptive Medical decisions for the Medical Review Team (MRT). Eligibility is established on date of determination. Back-dating does not apply to this provision.

Coverage groups eligible for PE:

- Children under age 19
- Pregnant Women
- Parents/Caretaker Relatives
- Adult Group
- Former WV Foster Children
- Breast and Cervical Cancer (BCC) women receiving current treatment

Presumptive Eligibility is limited to once every twelve months, with the exception of pregnant women, who are eligible once per pregnancy.

➢ Duties of the Authorized Employee

The Authorized Employee, which could also include the DHHR hospital employee, makes a PE decision based on preliminary information provided by the individual seeking treatment, or his Authorized Representative (AR) (someone with the patient who would reasonably be expected to know about the individual seeking benefits, including attesting to the individual’s U.S. citizenship or satisfactory immigration status). The Authorized Employee is prohibited from requiring any other verification prior to approval. Additional information gathered includes name, household size, income limit, sex, address, and prior approval for PE in the last 12 months.

Using the same inROADS portal as Community Partners, the Authorized Employee sends the information electronically to the eligibility system and issues a Medical ID card with a PE Medicaid ID. The period of eligibility begins on the date of determination and ends on the last day of the next month, or when a full Medicaid application determination is made, whichever occurs earlier. The decision is not subject to fair hearing rights and advance notice is not required.
The Authorized Employee must assist the applicant or his AR in completing the single streamlined application (SLA) for Medicaid and forward the application to the Department.

If the applicant or his AR is unable or unwilling to complete the full Medicaid application at that time, the Authorized Employee will explain to the patient or AR the different options for completing the SLA. If the applicant indicates he would like to complete his application via telephone, the Authorized Employee must have him contact the call center at 1-877-716-1212. The Authorized Employee should explain that he must call this number because he will be required to give a recorded telephonic signature.

➢ DHHR Worker Responsibilities

Upon receipt of a completed PE application, which should include the PE Medicaid ID, the DHHR Worker begins processing the application. This process combines the two applications together and closes the PE period upon approval or denial of the Medicaid application. The Worker must establish whether the client was eligible at the time of the PE determination, as well as ongoing Medicaid eligibility. Income is verified by the same method as any other application. Medicaid eligibility begins on the first day of the month of the PE determination. Retroactive back-dating is allowed with the Medicaid application, if the client is eligible.

The DHHR Worker or the Qualified Provider must take the BMS-approved PE training and receive certification prior to becoming an Authorized Employee that will be permitted to take application for Presumptive Eligibility. The facility at which the DHHR Worker is placed will have agreed to accept responsibility for all decisions and outcomes of the DHHR Authorized Employee. The DHHR Worker that is at the facility will follow the same procedures for taking Presumptive Eligibility applications as any other PE worker.

1.6.11.C Changing Coverage Groups and Redetermination Period

When one coverage group is closed and another opened, the AG may be assigned a new certification period.

1.6.11.D Spenddown

Spenddown applies to SSI-related and AFDC–related coverage groups only.
Cases that meet spenddown should be entered in the eligibility system in the 30 day application period.

1.6.11.E  Death of the Only Individual Prior to Application or Approval

Death of an individual does not interfere with approval of a Medicaid application. If an application is made prior to an individual's death, the application is processed as usual and approved, if eligible. This item outlines the special procedures that the Worker must follow in the application process and at approval when the only member of a Medicaid AG dies prior to making an application.

1.6.11.E.1  Who Must Sign the Application

If another individual makes the application on behalf of the deceased person, it is preferable that the person be a relative, but any other individual who is interested may make the application.

The Worker must obtain as much information as possible about the deceased person's income and assets, but routine verification is not required.

1.6.11.E.2  MRT Referral

It is not necessary to refer the case to MRT when the deceased person's disability resulted in his death. However, a MRT referral may be necessary to establish blindness or disability when there is a request for Medicaid coverage for a month(s) prior to the person's death and such blindness or disability was not the cause of death, or the Worker is unable to determine if the blindness or disability existed during the month(s).

All other policies and procedures related to disability coverage groups apply.
1.7 MAGI CHILDREN UNDER AGE 19

The Affordable Care Act (ACA) simplified eligibility categories by combining certain existing mandatory and optional eligibility groups. The new Children Under Age 19 coverage group combines prior coverage for children under the AFDC group, Qualified Child and Poverty-Level Children coverage groups into one group. Eligibility is determined using MAGI methodologies.

1.7.1 WHO CAN BE INCLUDED ON THE SAME APPLICATION

The following can be included on the same application:

- Individuals who have a familial relationship with the applicant (spouse, child - biological, adopted or step child; parent - biological, adopted or step parent; sibling - biological, adopted, half or step sibling.)
- Individuals who are a tax dependent of, or on the same income tax return with, the applicant.

EXCEPTION: A non-custodial parent cannot apply for Medicaid or WVCHIP for their child even when claiming their child as a tax dependent. In this situation, based on MAGI rules, the child’s MAGI household includes - himself, his parents (biological, adopted or step parents), and siblings (biological, adopted or step) under 19 with whom he resides. Information necessary to determine the child’s eligibility cannot be determined based on the non-custodial parent’s application; therefore, the case should fail for the child with the reason that the non-custodial parent cannot apply for the child.

- Individuals who are under age 19 and residing with the application filer may be included on an application submitted by an adult application filer, even if the child and application filer are not in a familial or tax relationship.

Adult individuals who do not fall into one of these categories will be notified that they must submit a separate application.
1.7.2 WHO MUST SIGN

The following person(s) must sign the application, depending on the living situation of the child:

- One parent with whom the child lives; or
- The adult with whom the child lives; or
- The representative of an adoption agency that has legal custody of the child; or
- The child who does not live with a parent(s) or other adult.

1.7.3 CONTENT OF THE INTERVIEW

Although not required, when an interview is conducted, the interview requirements found in Section 1.2 are applicable. In addition, the following must be discussed with the client:

- An explanation of the 12-month period of continuous Medicaid eligibility (CME). See Section 10.7.
- That any child under age 18 may be evaluated for SSI-Related Medicaid as a blind or disabled child
- That the client must report when any child becomes pregnant

1.7.4 AGENCY TIME LIMITS

Action must be taken to approve, deny or withdraw the application within 13 calendar days of the date a complete application is received in the county office. A complete application is defined in Complete Application, above. If additional information or verification is required after the complete application is received, the Worker must request it immediately to allow the client 10 days to provide it, as required in Section 1.6.4 above, and to complete the application process within 13 days.

When application is made at the same time for another Medicaid coverage group(s) for another family member(s), or for other Programs, the application process for the Children Under Age 19 group must be completed within 13 days, even though the application process for other individuals or for other Programs may still be pending.
1.7.5 PAYEE

Depending on the child’s living situation, the payee is a parent, other adult household member, or the child.

1.7.6 BEGINNING DATE OF ELIGIBILITY

The beginning date of eligibility is the first day of the month of application, if eligible. Eligibility may be backdated up to three months prior to the month of application, provided all eligibility requirements were met.

1.7.7 REDETERMINATION

1.7.7.A Redetermination Process

Cases are normally redetermined annually. The redetermination schedule is set automatically by the eligibility system.

When possible, the redetermination process is completed automatically using electronic data matches without requiring information from the client. This redetermination process is initiated by the eligibility system, which matches current information with the hub. The Reasonable Compatibility Provision applies each time this occurs. See Section 7.2. If determined eligible after completing the redetermination process, the DHHR will notify the client. The notice will identify the information used to determine eligibility. If the customer agrees with the information, no further action is required. If the client does not agree, he is to report the information that does not match the circumstances.

When the redetermination process cannot be completed automatically, the eligibility system sends a pre-populated form containing case information and requires the client to provide additional information necessary to determine continuing eligibility. A signature is required.

The pre-populated auto-renewal verification checklist form provides the following information:

- A statement that the AG may receive a verification checklist for completion and return, if reported changes require follow-up,

- A statement that the AG(s) will be closed after proper notification, if the redetermination is not completed, and
- Instructions for submitting the pre-populated redetermination form online by using inROADS. A phone number to call is included if the individual has questions about submitting the pre-populated auto-renewal verification checklist online.

The client must be given 30 days from the date of the letter to return the information. The information may be submitted by mail, phone, electronically, Internet, or in person. Failure to respond and provide the necessary information will result in closure of the benefit.

If the client responds and provides the information within 90 days of the effective date of closure, the agency will determine eligibility in a timely manner without requiring a new application. If the client is found eligible, the coverage must be back dated up to three months.

1.7.7.B Rolling Redeterminations

When a change is reported during the certification period which affects eligibility, the DHHR must only request the information on the change reported.

A rolling redetermination will be completed for all MAGI Medicaid and WVCHIP AGs only during a 12-month SNAP or TANF review or another MAGI Medicaid or WVCHIP review. The agency must begin a new 12-month certification period for all MAGI Medicaid or WVCHIP AGs in the case.

Rolling Redetermination Example: A redetermination for SNAP benefits is completed on May 14, 2014. The original Medicaid certification period is April 1, 2014, through March 31, 2015. After the SNAP redetermination is completed, the Worker finds the information provided is enough to begin a new twelve-month Medicaid certification period. The new Medicaid certification period is renewed from June 1, 2014, through May 31, 2015.

When the determination is completed and the individual(s) remains eligible, the new eligibility period must begin the month immediately following the month of redetermination.

If the client’s coverage is interrupted due to agency delay or error, procedures for reimbursement of the client’s out-of-pocket expenses may apply.
1.7.8 THE BENEFIT

1.7.8.A Ongoing Benefits

Effective December 21, 2017 there was a change in the way Medical ID cards are issued. Instead of the separate blue paper card, the Medical ID card is now included in all Medicaid approval notices. The Medical ID card does not include any date parameters since eligibility may terminate.

Medicaid recipients will receive one Medical ID card per case each time there is an approval or renewal for Medicaid for any household member.

In situations where retroactive eligibility is established, the Medicaid coverage will be validated appropriately for each back-dated month.

1.7.8.B Ending Date of Eligibility

The ending date of eligibility is the last day of the month of the effective date of closure.
1.8 MAGI ADULT GROUP

The Affordable Care Act (ACA) established a categorically mandatory coverage group known as “the Adult Group.” Eligibility for this group is determined using MAGI methodologies.

1.8.1 WHO CAN BE INCLUDED ON THE SAME APPLICATION

- Individuals who have a familial relationship with the applicant (spouse, child - biological, adopted or step child; parent - biological, adopted or step parent; sibling - biological, adopted, half or step sibling.)
- Individuals who are a tax dependent of, or on the same income tax return with, the applicant.

EXCEPTION: A non-custodial parent cannot apply for Medicaid or WVCHIP for their child even when claiming their child as a tax dependent. In this situation, based on MAGI rules, the child’s MAGI household includes - himself, his parents (biological, adopted or step parents), and siblings (biological, adopted or step) under 19 with whom he resides. Information necessary to determine the child’s eligibility cannot be determined based on the non-custodial parent’s application; therefore, the case should fail for the child with the reason that the non-custodial parent cannot apply for the child.

- Individuals who are under age 19 and residing with the application filer may be included on an application submitted by an adult application filer, even if the child and application filer are not in a familial or tax relationship.

Adult individuals who do not fall into one of these categories will be notified that they must submit a separate application.

1.8.2 WHO MUST SIGN

The application must be signed by an adult in the household or their authorized representative.
1.8.3 AGENCY TIME LIMITS

Eligibility system action must be taken to approve, deny or withdraw the application within 30 days of the date of application.

1.8.4 PAYEE

The payee is the primary person in the household.

1.8.5 BEGINNING DATE OF ELIGIBILITY

Eligibility begins the first day of the month in which eligibility is established. Eligibility may be backdated up to three months prior to the month of the application, when the client met all eligibility requirements in the prior month(s).

1.8.6 REDETERMINATION

1.8.6.A Redetermination Process

Cases are normally redetermined annually. The redetermination schedule is set automatically by the eligibility system.

When possible, the redetermination process is completed automatically using electronic data matches without requiring information from the client. This redetermination process is initiated which matches current information with the hub. The Reasonable Compatibility Provision applies each time this occurs. See Section 7.2.

If determined eligible after completing the redetermination process, the Department will notify the client. The notice will identify information used to determine eligibility. If the client agrees with the information, no further action is required. If the client does not agree, he is to report the information that does not match the circumstances.
When the redetermination process cannot be completed automatically, the eligibility system sends a pre-populated form containing case information and requires the client to provide additional information necessary to determine continuing eligibility. A signature is required.

The pre-populated redetermination form provides the following information:

- A statement that the AG(s) for the individual(s) listed is due for redetermination;
- The address to which the form is returned, if submitted by mail;
- The date by which the information must be submitted;
- Specific information necessary to complete the redetermination;
- The opportunity to report changes;
- A statement that the AG may receive a verification checklist for completion and return, if reported changes require follow-up;
- A statement that the AG(s) will be closed after proper notification, if the redetermination is not completed; and
- Instructions for submitting the pre-populated redetermination form online by using inROADS. A phone number to call is included if the individual has questions about submitting the pre-populated redetermination form online.

The client must be given 30 days from the date of the letter to return the information. The information may be submitted by mail, phone, electronically, internet, or in person. Failure to respond and provide the necessary information will result in closure of the benefits.

If the client responds and provides the information within 90 days of the effective date of closure, the agency will determine eligibility in a timely manner without requiring a new application. If the client is found eligible, the coverage must be back dated up to 3 months.

1.8.6.B Rolling Redeterminations

When a change is reported during the certification period which affects eligibility, the DHHR must only request the information on the change reported.

A rolling redetermination will be completed for all MAGI Medicaid and WVCHIP AGs only during a 12-month SNAP or TANF review or another MAGI Medicaid or WVCHIP review. The agency must begin a new 12-month certification period for all MAGI Medicaid AGs in the case.

Rolling Redetermination Example: A redetermination for SNAP benefits is completed on May 14, 2014. The original Medicaid certification period is April 1, 2014, through March 31, 2015. After the SNAP redetermination is completed, the Worker finds the information provided is enough to begin a new twelve-month
Medicaid certification period. The new Medicaid certification period is from June 1, 2014, through May 31, 2015.

When the redetermination is completed and the individual(s) remains eligible, the new eligibility period must begin the month immediately following the month of redetermination.

If the client’s coverage is interrupted due to agency delay or error, procedures for reimbursement of the client’s out-of-pocket expenses may apply.

1.8.7 THE BENEFIT

1.8.7.A Ongoing Benefits

Effective December 21, 2017 there was a change in the way Medical ID cards are issued. Instead of the separate blue paper card, the Medical ID card is now included in all Medicaid approval notices. The Medical ID card does not include any date parameters since eligibility may terminate.

Medicaid recipients will receive one Medical ID card per case each time there is an approval or renewal for Medicaid for any household member.

In situations where retroactive eligibility is established, the Medicaid coverage will be validated appropriately for each back-dated month.

1.8.7.B Ending Date of Eligibility

The ending date of eligibility is the last day of the month of the effective date of closure.

1.8.7.C Medical Frailty

Clients in the Adult Group self-attested as medically frail are eligible for either of the following Benefit Packages:

- Traditional Medicaid Benefit Package
- Alternative Benefit Package
If an individual attests they are medically frail, such as having a physical, mental or emotional health condition or a chronic substance abuse, physical, behavior, intellectual or developmental condition in which assistance is needed, the client is placed in the Traditional Benefit Package. Should the client contact the Department and opt to enroll in the Alternative Benefit Package the Worker will code as such in the eligibility system to ensure the correct alternative is provided to Molina Member Services.
1.9 MAGI PREGNANT WOMEN

The Affordable Care Act (ACA) simplified eligibility categories by combining certain existing mandatory and optional eligibility groups. The Pregnant Women coverage group combines former Poverty-Level and Deemed Poverty-Level Pregnant Woman coverage groups.

1.9.1 WHO CAN BE INCLUDED ON THE SAME APPLICATION

- Individuals who have a familial relationship with the applicant (spouse, child - biological, adopted or step child; parent - biological, adopted or step parent; sibling - biological, adopted, half or step sibling.)
- Individuals who are a tax dependent of, or on the same income tax return with, the applicant.

EXCEPTION: A non-custodial parent cannot apply for Medicaid or WVCHIP for their child even when claiming their child as a tax dependent. In this situation, based on MAGI rules, the child’s MAGI household includes - himself, his parents (biological, adopted or step parents), and siblings (biological, adopted or step) under 19 with whom he resides. Information necessary to determine the child’s eligibility cannot be determined based on the non-custodial parent’s application; therefore, the case should fail for the child with the reason that the non-custodial parent cannot apply for the child.

- Individuals who are under age 19 may be included on an application submitted by an adult application filer, even if the child and application filer are not in a familial or tax relationship.

Adult individuals who do not fall into one of these categories will be notified that they must submit a separate application.

1.9.2 AGENCY TIME LIMITS

Eligibility system action must be taken to approve, deny or withdraw the application within 13 calendar days of the date a completed application is received in the local office. If additional information or verification is required after the complete application is received, the Worker must request it immediately to allow the client 10 days to provide it, and to complete the application process within 13 days.

When a DFA-2 is used, the application for Medicaid coverage as a pregnant woman must be processed within 13 days of the date a complete application is received, even though the application for the another program may not require faster processing.

1.9.3 BEGINNING DATE OF ELIGIBILITY

1.9.3.A Application while Pregnant

The beginning date of eligibility is the first day of the month of application, if eligible. Eligibility may be backdated up to three months prior to the month of application, provided all eligibility requirements were met.

1.9.3.B Application after Pregnancy Ends

When the client applies within three months of the termination of the pregnancy, eligibility may be backdated up to three months, prior to the month of application, in which she met all eligibility requirements.

1.9.4 REFERENCES TO THE OFFICE OF MATERNAL CHILD AND FAMILY HEALTH (OMCFH)

When the pregnant woman's application is denied for any reason, or a WVCHIP or children's Medicaid application is denied when a child is pregnant, a referral is made to the OMCFH. A list of these denied applications is generated by the eligibility system and made available to the OMCFH. This permits OMCFH to evaluate the client for other available government-sponsored health care.
1.9.5 REDETERMINATION

A redetermination is completed the second month of the postpartum period. Reviews are scheduled two months after the pregnancy end date, or, if information about the pregnancy is not updated, two months after the pregnancy due date.

In no instance is Medicaid coverage under one coverage group stopped without consideration of Medicaid eligibility under other coverage groups. This is determined before the client is notified that her Medicaid eligibility will end. If eligible for other Medicaid, or WVCHIP, that coverage must not begin until expiration of the postpartum period.

If no redetermination is completed, Medicaid coverage is automatically closed after the adverse notice period.

Rolling Redeterminations do not apply to the Pregnant Women coverage group. When the pregnancy is due or reported ending, the client will be evaluated for MAGI Medicaid using the automatic procedures described above for the Adult Group.

1.9.6 THE BENEFIT

1.9.6.A Ongoing Benefits

Effective December 21, 2017 there was a change in the way Medical ID cards are issued. Instead of the separate blue paper card, the Medical ID card is now included in all Medicaid approval notices. The Medical ID card does not include any date parameters since eligibility may terminate.

Medicaid recipients will receive one Medical ID card per case each time there is an approval or renewal for Medicaid for any household member.

In situations where retroactive eligibility is established, the Medicaid coverage will be validated appropriately for each back-dated month.
1.9.6.B Ending Date of Eligibility

The ending date of eligibility is the last day of the month of the effective date of closure.

The eligible pregnant woman must be notified that she remains eligible for two months after the month in which her pregnancy ends.

NOTE: A Child Under Age 19 who becomes pregnant must receive Medicaid in the Pregnant Women coverage group.

The Pregnant Woman's eligibility ends on the last day of the 60-day postpartum period or on the last day of the effective month of closure.
1.10 CONTINUOUSLY ELIGIBLE NEWBORN (CEN) CHILDREN

1.10.1 APPLICATION FORM

No application is required for CEN children who are born to Medicaid eligible women. See Chapter 23. An application is required for children who are born to non-Medicaid Eligible women as described in Section 1.7.

1.10.2 AGENCY TIME LIMITS

The Worker must open CEN coverage within five work days of the date the birth is reported.

1.10.3 PAYEE

Depending on the child’s living situation, the payee is a parent, other adult household member, or the child.

1.10.4 BEGINNING DATE OF ELIGIBILITY

The beginning date of eligibility is the first day of the month the child was born.

1.10.5 REDETERMINATION

The redetermination for the CEN child is scheduled in the month before the month the child becomes one year old to ensure that the child is evaluated for all coverage groups.

The redetermination process is initiated by the eligibility system, which generates the redetermination form. The redetermination form may be submitted by mail or online by use of inROADS.
The redetermination form provides the following information:

- A statement that the assistance group(s) (AG(s)) for the individual(s) listed is due for redetermination;
- The address to which the form is returned, if submitted by mail;
- The date by which the redetermination must be submitted;
- Any verification which must be submitted with the form;
- A statement that the AG(s) will be closed after proper notification, if the redetermination is not completed;
- Instructions for submitting the redetermination online by using inROADS; and,
- A phone number to call if the individual has questions about submitting the redetermination online.

The redetermination may be submitted online by use of inROADS until the end of the month in which the redetermination is due. Redeterminations submitted online are considered electronically signed.

When the redetermination is completed and the individual(s) remains eligible under another coverage group, the new eligibility period must begin the month immediately following the month of the redetermination.

1.10.6.A Ongoing Benefits

---

Effective December 21, 2017 there was a change in the way Medical ID cards are issued. Instead of the separate blue paper card, the Medical ID card is now included in all Medicaid approval notices. The Medical ID card does not include any date parameters since eligibility may terminate.

Medicaid recipients will receive one Medical ID card per case each time there is an approval or renewal for Medicaid for any household member.

In situations where retroactive eligibility is established, the Medicaid coverage will be validated appropriately for each back-dated month.
1.10.6.B  Ending Date of Eligibility

The ending date of eligibility is the last day of the month of the effective date of closure.
1.11 MAGI PARENTS/CARETAKER RELATIVES

1.11.1 WHO CAN BE INCLUDED ON THE SAME APPLICATION

- Individuals who have a familial relationship with the applicant (spouse, child - biological, adopted or step child; parent - biological, adopted or step parent; sibling - biological, adopted, half or step sibling.)
- Individuals who are a tax dependent of the applicant.

NOTE: A non-custodial parent cannot apply for Medicaid or WVCHIP for their child even when claiming their child as a tax dependent. In this situation, based on MAGI rules, the child’s MAGI household includes – himself, his parents (biological, adopted or step parents), and siblings (biological, adopted or step) under 19 with whom he resides. Information necessary to determine the child’s eligibility cannot be determined based on the non-custodial parent’s application; therefore, the case should fail for the child with the reason that the non-custodial parent cannot apply for the child.

- Individuals who are under age 19 may be included on an application submitted by an adult application filer, even if the child and the application filer are not in a familial or tax relationship.

  Adult individuals who do not fall into one of these categories will be notified that they must submit a separate application.

1.11.2 PAYEE

The payee is the individual in whose name the Medical ID card is written.
1.11.3 BEGINNING DATE OF ELIGIBILITY

Eligibility begins the first day of the month in which eligibility is established. However, eligibility may be backdated up to three months prior to the month of the application, when the client met all eligibility requirements in the prior month(s).

When the client is eligible for backdated coverage, the system must be coded with the month, year on which the backdated period begins.

This date is always the first day of the month of backdated coverage.

1.11.4 CLIENT NOTIFICATION

The client must be informed that he is eligible for Medicaid coverage and the date that his coverage begins.

See Chapter 9.

1.11.5 REDETERMINATION

1.11.5.A Redetermination Schedule

Cases are normally redetermined annually. The redetermination schedule is set automatically by the eligibility system.

Redeterminations occur annually. When possible, the redetermination process is completed automatically using electronic data matches without requiring information from the client. This redetermination process is initiated by the eligibility system, which matches current information with the hub. The Reasonable Compatibility Provision applies each time this occurs. See Section 7.2. If determined eligible after completing the redetermination process, the Department will notify the client. The notice will identify information used to determine eligibility. If the customer agrees with the information, no further action is required. If the client does not agree, he is to report the information that does not match the circumstances.
When the redetermination process cannot be completed automatically, the eligibility system sends a pre-populated form containing case information and require the client to provide additional information necessary to determine continuing eligibility. A signature is required.

The pre-populated redetermination form provides the following information:

- A statement that the AG(s) for the individual(s) listed is due for redetermination,
- The address to which the form is returned, if submitted by mail,
- The date by which the information must be submitted,
- Specific information necessary to complete the redetermination,
- The opportunity to report changes,
- A statement that the AG may receive a verification checklist for completion and return, if reported changes require follow-up,
- A statement that the AG(s) will be closed after proper notification, if the redetermination is not completed, and
- Instructions for submitting the pre-populated redetermination form online by using inROADS. A phone number to call if the individual has questions about submitting the pre-populated redetermination form online.

The client must be given 30 days from the date of the letter to return the information. The information may be submitted by mail, phone, electronically, Internet, or in person. Failure to respond and provide the necessary information will result in closure of the benefit.

If the client responds and provides the information within 90 days of the effective date of closure, the agency will determine eligibility in a timely manner without requiring a new application. If the client is found eligible, the coverage must be back dated up to three months.

1.11.5.B Rolling Redeterminations

A rolling redetermination will be completed for all MAGI Medicaid and WVCHIP AGs only during a 12-month SNAP or TANF review or another MAGI Medicaid or WVCHIP review. The agency must begin a new 12-month certification period for all MAGI Medicaid AGs in the case.

Rolling Redetermination Example: A redetermination for SNAP benefits is completed on May 14, 2014. The original Medicaid certification period is April 1, 2014, through March 31, 2015. After the SNAP redetermination is completed, the Worker finds the information provided is enough to begin a new twelve-month Medicaid certification period. The new Medicaid certification period is from June 1, 2014, through May 31, 2015.
When the determination is completed and the individual(s) remains eligible, the new eligibility period must begin the month immediately following the month of redetermination.

If the client’s coverage is interrupted due to agency delay or error, procedures for reimbursement of the client’s out-of-pocket expenses may apply.

1.11.6 THE BENEFIT

1.11.6.A Ongoing Benefits

Effective December 21, 2017 there was a change in the way Medical ID cards are issued. Instead of the separate blue paper card, the Medical ID card is now included in all Medicaid approval notices. The Medical ID card does not include any date parameters since eligibility may terminate.

Medicaid recipients will receive one Medical ID card per case each time there is an approval or renewal for Medicaid for any household member.

In situations where retroactive eligibility is established, the Medicaid coverage will be validated appropriately for each back-dated month.

1.11.6.B Ending Date of Eligibility

The ending date of eligibility is the last day of the month of the effective date of closure.
1.12 DEEMED PARENTS/CARETAKER RELATIVES

Eligibility is based on the income of the Parents/Caretaker Relatives coverage group. See Section 23.10.8 for the eligibility requirements that must be met. There are three groups in this section: Extended Medicaid, Children Covered as Recipients of Adoption Assistance, and Children Covered as Recipients of Foster Care Payments.

1.12.1 EXTENDED MEDICAID

1.12.1.A Application

There is no application procedure for this coverage group, instead the Worker is expected to evaluate all AGs which become ineligible for Parents/Caretaker Relatives Medicaid due to onset or increase of spousal support.

The client must be notified that his Medicaid continues and of the eligibility period. If the case is closed in error, the client cannot be required to reapply. The Worker must evaluate the client for all other coverage groups when Extended Medicaid ends.

1.12.1.B Redetermination

Extended Medicaid cases are not redetermined.

1.12.1.C The Benefit

1.12.1.C.1 Ongoing Benefits

Effective December 21, 2017 there was a change in the way Medical ID cards are issued. Instead of the separate blue paper card, the Medical ID card is now included in all Medicaid approval notices. The Medical ID card does not include any date parameters since eligibility may terminate.
In situations where retroactive eligibility is established, the Medicaid coverage will be validated appropriately for each back-dated month.

1.12.1.C.2  Ending Date of Eligibility

The ending date of eligibility is the last day of the month of the four-month Extended Medicaid period.

At the end date of eligibility, all AG members must be evaluated for all other Medicaid coverage groups.

1.12.2 CHILDREN COVERED AS RECIPIENTS OF ADOPTION ASSISTANCE

The Office of Children and Adult Services is responsible for these cases.

1.12.3 CHILDREN COVERED AS RECIPIENTS OF FOSTER CARE PAYMENTS

The Office of Children and Adult Services is responsible for these cases.
1.13 TRANSITIONAL MEDICAID (TM)

Eligibility is based on the income of the Parents/Caretaker Relatives Medicaid Coverage Group. See Section 23.10.9 for the eligibility requirements that must be met. This coverage group is for AGs which become ineligible for Parents/Caretaker Relatives Medicaid due to increase or onset of employment income.

1.13.1 APPLICATION PROCESS

There is no application procedure for this coverage group, instead the Worker is expected to evaluate all AGs which become ineligible for Parents/Caretaker Relatives Medicaid due to increase or onset of employment income.

1.13.2 REDETERMINATION

Although there is no formal redetermination process for TM cases, clients must comply with the requirements for Phase I recipients found in Chapter 23, to qualify for Phase II coverage.

1.13.3 THE BENEFIT

1.13.3.A Ongoing Benefits

Effective December 21, 2017 there was a change in the way Medical ID cards are issued. Instead of the separate blue paper card, the Medical ID card is now included in all Medicaid approval notices. The Medical ID card does not include any date parameters since eligibility may terminate.

Medicaid recipients will receive one Medical ID card per case each time there is an approval or renewal for Medicaid for any household member.

In situations where retroactive eligibility is established, the Medicaid coverage will be validated appropriately for each back-dated month.
1.13.3.B Ending Date of Eligibility

Phase I coverage ends on the last day of the sixth month of the Phase I period, or on the last day of the effective month of closure, whichever occurs first.

Phase II coverage ends on the last day of the sixth month of the Phase II period, or on the last day of the effective month of closure, whichever occurs first.
1.14 SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME (SSI) RECIPIENTS

1.14.1 APPLICATION PROCESSES

There is no application form for SSI Medicaid. The Worker receives an eligibility system alert when data exchange information indicates that a person is approved for SSI. See Section 6.3.4.A.

When the Worker fails to open an SSI Medicaid case for an individual listed on the data exchange, and the person is a recipient of SSI and Medicare, Part B, the Buy-In Unit requests that a case be opened. The Worker must open the SSI Medicaid AG at the request of the Buy-In Unit, unless he knows that the client is not living in the State.

The Worker may use information found in SOLQ to open SSI Medicaid. See below to determine the beginning date of eligibility.

When the client has been approved for SSI and needs medical coverage, but has not appeared on the data exchange, the Worker may use a written or verbal referral from Social Security Administration (SSA), which contains the necessary information to approve the AG. When the client requests this method, his request must be honored. When an SSI recipient moves to West Virginia from another state, the Worker must verify SSI eligibility with SSA and must notify the former state of residence that a case is open in West Virginia. See Chapter 2.

Some states make a supplemental payment to SSI recipients. Receipt of the state supplement qualifies them for Medicaid in these states. However, such payments from other states do not qualify a client for SSI Medicaid in West Virginia. Therefore, receipt of SSI Medicaid in another state does not always automatically result in eligibility in West Virginia.

1.14.2 DATE OF APPLICATION

The date of application is the first day of the month which shows on data exchange as the Medicaid effective date, or the date given on the SSA referral or by the Bureau for Medical Services (BMS) Buy-In Unit.
1.14.3 AGENCY TIME LIMITS

The Worker must enter the State Data Exchange (SDX) information for approval within 45 days of the date on which the client first appears on data exchange, or the referral from SSA or the BMS Buy-In Unit is received.

1.14.4 PAYEE

The SSI recipient is the payee, unless the use of a substitute payee is justified.

1.14.5 BEGINNING DATE OF ELIGIBILITY

When the data exchange is used to approve the Medicaid AG, the beginning date of Medicaid eligibility is established as follows:

- SSI Medicaid eligibility begins with the first month for which an SSI payment is made. This is either the month after the month of application for SSI or the month following the month in which SSI eligibility is established.

  The beginning date of eligibility is based on the age of the individual. The date is determined by the following:

  o Age 21 or over – The beginning date of eligibility is the Medicaid effective date on data exchange.

  o Under age 21 – The beginning date of eligibility is the month prior to the month of the Medicaid effective date on data exchange.

- If the individual has past medical bills, his eligibility begins up to three months prior to the month of the first SSI payment. Past medical bills are indicated on the SDX file and the Medicaid effective date on data exchange reflects this for backdated Medicaid coverage.

When documentation other than data exchange is used to approve the Medicaid AG, the beginning date of Medicaid eligibility is established as follows:

- If the document used for verification gives the beginning date of SSI payment, but does not indicate if any back medical bills exist, the client must be questioned about any unpaid medical bills incurred during the 3 months prior to that date. If he has unpaid bills, coverage is backdated to the earliest of the 3 months in which the bills were incurred. If he has no unpaid bills, the first day of the month the SSI payment began is his Medicaid eligibility date.

- If the document used for verification does not give the beginning payment date for SSI, the Medicaid eligibility date is no more than 3 months prior to the month in which his receipt of an SSI payment is verified. If he has unpaid bills, coverage is backdated to the earliest of the 3 months. If the client has unpaid medical bills incurred more than 3 months prior to the date of verification, the approval must be delayed until his name appears on data exchange.

1.14.6 REDETERMINATION

There is no redetermination of SSI Medicaid eligibility. The SSI Medicaid eligibility continues as long as the client is considered eligible according to SSA. The eligibility system will provide an alert when the client is no longer eligible.

1.14.7 THE BENEFIT

The Medical ID card for the SSI recipient will be included in the Medicaid approval notice.

1.14.7.A Ongoing Benefits

Effective December 21, 2017 there was a change in the way Medical ID cards are issued. Instead of the separate blue paper card, the Medical ID card is now included in all Medicaid approval notices. The Medical ID card does not include any date parameters since eligibility may terminate.

Medicaid recipients will receive one Medical ID card per case each time there is an approval or renewal for Medicaid for any household member.

In situations where retroactive eligibility is established, the Medicaid coverage will be validated appropriately for each back-dated month.
1.14.7.B Ending Date of Eligibility

The ending date of eligibility is the last day of the month of the effective date of closure.
1.15 DEEMED SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME (SSI) RECIPIENTS

Deemed SSI Recipients includes the following:

- Disabled Adult Children (DAC)
- Blind, Disabled - Substantial Gainful Activity (SGA)
- Essential Spouses of SSI Recipients
- Pass-Through
- Pickle Amendment Coverage (PAC)
- Disabled Widows and Widowers
- Drug Addicts and Alcoholics

1.15.1 APPLICATION PROCESS

No application is required for Deemed SSI Recipients. When SSI benefits are terminated, eligibility as a Deemed SSI Recipient must be evaluated. SDX alerts indicate potential eligibility.

- SGAs, Essential Spouses and Pass-Throughs do not require a Worker determination.
- PAC AG cases require a financial determination by the Worker and a PAC evaluation is completed for any Medicaid applicant or client who may meet the eligibility requirements.

When the Worker determines that the client is a Deemed SSI Recipient, he must enter the appropriate code in the eligibility system.

1.15.2 REDETERMINATION

The only Deemed SSI coverage group which requires a redetermination is Pickle Amendment Coverage (PAC).

- The PAC redetermination is completed annually.
- The redetermination form is generated by the eligibility system and mailed to the recipient in the 11th month of eligibility and is due by the first day of the 12th month.
- The redetermination may also be completed using form DFA-PAC-4 or online by using inROADS.
• Failure to complete and return the redetermination results in AG closure. The PAC AG may be reopened using the redetermination form when it is returned by the last day of the 13th month and the individual is otherwise eligible. After the end of the 13th month, a new application must be completed.

1.15.3 THE BENEFIT

The Medical ID card for the SSI recipient will be included in the Medicaid approval notice.

1.15.3.A Ongoing Benefits

Effective December 21, 2017 there was a change in the way Medical ID cards are issued. Instead of the separate blue paper card, the Medical ID card is now included in all Medicaid approval notices. The Medical ID card does not include any date parameters since eligibility may terminate.

Medicaid recipients will receive one Medical ID card per case each time there is an approval or renewal for Medicaid for any household member.

In situations where retroactive eligibility is established, the Medicaid coverage will be validated appropriately for each back-dated month.

1.15.3.B Ending Date of Eligibility

The ending date of eligibility is the last day of the month of the effective date of closure.
1.16 QUALIFIED MEDICARE BENEFICIARIES (QMB), SPECIFIED LOW-INCOME MEDICARE BENEFICIARIES (SLIMB), AND QUALIFIED INDIVIDUALS (QI-1)

QMB, SLIMB and QI-1 are Medicare Premium Assistance (MPA) programs.

1.16.1 APPLICATION FORMS

The DFA-QSQ-1 is used when application is made only for QMB, SLIMB or QI-1. The DFA-QSQ-1 may be mailed to the county office.

- The eligibility system automatically issues a DFA-QSQ-1 to potential MPA clients when the application was initiated by the LIS/MPA data exchange.

The Single-Streamlined Application (DFA-SLA-1) and supplement (DFA-SLA-S1), DFA-2 or inROADS is used when application is also made for another Medicaid coverage group.

1.16.1.A Applications Requested by Client

When the QMB, SLIMB or QI-1 client requests an application, the Worker must explain:

- The date of application for QMB, SLIMB or QI-1 coverage is the day the signed application form, which contains a name and address, is received in the DHHR office or submitted through inROADS.
- The processing time frame is 30 days, beginning with the date of application.
- In addition to QMB, SLIMB, or QI-1, the client may qualify for other coverage groups, but additional information or contact may be required.

1.16.1.B Applications Initiated from the Social Security Administration’s (SSA) Low Income Subsidy (LIS)/MPA Data Exchange

If the individual expresses an interest in MPA when he applies for (LIS) prescription drug assistance at the SSA, an application is mailed to him when the eligibility system receives the LIS/MPA data exchange containing his file.
LIS files are sent daily, Monday through Friday, with the exception of federal holidays, to the eligibility system through data exchange. The Worker receives an eligibility system alert when a client's file is received and can access the LIS application information on the data exchange screens.

When the eligibility system receives an LIS file, it determines if the applicant is an MPA client, a client of other DFA program benefits, or is unknown to the system, and responds accordingly.

- When the LIS/MPA applicant is a current MPA client, no action is taken by the eligibility system nor required by the Worker.
- When the LIS/MPA applicant is a client of other programs, or known to the eligibility system, the system issues a DFA-QSQ-1. No action is required by the Worker.
- When the LIS/MPA applicant is unknown to the eligibility system, the system issues a DFA-QSQ-1. No action is required by the Worker.

The eligibility system issues the DFA-QSQ-1 the next business day after it receives the LIS data from SSA. The DFA-QSQ-1 is issued to the address in the eligibility system if there has been an active AG in the last 30 days. Otherwise, the DFA-QSQ-1 is issued to the LIS file address. If there are differences in the addresses, data exchange displays a discrepancy indicator.

NOTE: If the MPA applicant has had no case in the eligibility system in the last 30 days, the eligibility system designates a sending county based on the applicant’s address in the LIS file. When the designated county is not the county of the client’s residence, but the DFA-QSQ-1 is returned to the sending/incorrect county, that county is responsible for processing the DFA-QSQ-1 and responding to all applicant inquiries related to the application until an eligibility decision is determined. When application processing is complete, the case is transferred to the correct county, the DFA-QSQ-1 is forwarded, and the receiving county is notified electronically of the transfer.

NOTE: The Worker must not contact the SSA regarding LIS files received through data exchange. Different eligibility criteria are used by the SSA and the Department. The Worker may issue an eligibility system verification checklist or a DFA-6 if information in the LIS file and the Department’s records differ and must be reconciled.
1.16.2 DATE OF APPLICATION

1.16.2.A Applications Requested by the Client

The date of application is the date the applicant submits a DFA-SLA with supplement, DFA-QSQ-1, or DFA-2 in person, by fax or other electronic transmission, inROADS, the Marketplace, or by mail, which contains, at a minimum, his name and address and signature. When the application is submitted by mail or fax, the date of application is the date that the form with the name, address and signature is received in the local office.

1.16.2.B Applications Initiated from SSA’s LIS/MPA Data Exchange

The date of application for a DFA-QSQ-1 initiated from the SSA’s LIS/MPA data exchange submitted in person or by mail, is the LIS application date.

When an individual applies for LIS prescription drug assistance at the SSA and expresses an interest in MPA, he is considered to have made an application for QMB/SLIMB/QI-1 on that date.

EXCEPTION: When the LIS application date is prior to the beginning date of coverage in the active MPA AG, backdated eligibility must be considered and provided if applicable.

1.16.3 WHO MUST SIGN

The applicant(s) for QMB, SLIMB or QI-1 or his authorized representative must sign the application.
1.16.4 CONTENT OF THE INTERVIEW

An interview is not routinely required, but when an interview is conducted, the interview requirements in Section 1.2 are applicable. The following must be discussed with the applicant(s) if an interview is conducted:

- The client may receive a refund of Medicare premiums from SSA after QMB, SLIMB, or QI-1 approval.
- Medicare Buy-In for QMB does not begin until the calendar month after approval of the application. The Department does not begin to pay his Medicare deductible, co-insurance and premiums until the following month.
- Medicare Buy-In for SLIMB and QI-1 may be backdated up to three months prior to the month of application, if eligibility is established.
- SLIMB and QI-1 recipients do not receive a Medical ID card.
- Individuals dually eligible for QMB and Medically Needy cases with a spenddown may receive more than one approval notice with their Medical ID card enclosed.
- QMB recipients are eligible for payment of co-insurance and deductibles for nursing facility costs without a contribution. See Chapter 24.

1.16.5 DUE DATE OF ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

When the client visits the office and an interview is conducted, the Worker and client decide on a reasonable time for the client to return the information.

When the client mails the application or completes the application in inROADS or the Marketplace, the Worker then uses the verification checklist or form DFA-6 to inform the client of additional information needed. The client must be given at least 10 days after the date the verification checklist or DFA-6 is mailed to return the information.

If the client does not return the DFA-QSQ-1 within 31 days from the date the eligibility system received the LIS file, the eligibility system sends a denial notice. No action is required by the Worker.

Additional Information Example 1: Ms. Maple’s LIS data file is received by the eligibility system on August 2, 2010. She has no history of benefits with the Department. The next business day, the eligibility system issues a DFA-QSQ-1.
Ms. Maple does not return the form. The eligibility system automatically denies the application and notifies Ms. Maple.

Additional Information Example 1.2: Same as above. Ms. Maple’s DFA-QSQ-1 is received in the local office on August 16, 2010 and her application is approved for QMB.

1.16.6 AGENCY TIME LIMITS

Eligibility system action to approve, deny or withdraw the application must be taken within 30 days of the date of application.

For applications initiated from the LIS/MPA data exchange, action must be taken within 30 days of the date the file is received by the eligibility system.

When LIS files indicate an individual is not currently eligible for Medicare but will receive it in a future month beyond the allowable processing time for MPA applications, the Worker must deny the application. However, if this individual reapplies within three months of the date he began receiving Medicare, and was previously denied MPA for the sole reason of being approved for, but not yet receiving Medicare, his reapplication must be considered as a request for backdated coverage. All other policy related to MPA and backdated coverage applies.

Time Limit Example 1.1: Mr. Birch’s LIS/MPA file is received April 3 and indicates he will not receive Medicare until August. In order to comply with MPA processing time limits, the Worker must deny the MPA. Mr. Birch reapplies for MPA at the local office in September. The Worker must consider this application as including a request for backdated benefits to the month he began receiving Medicare and approves SLIMB effective August.

Time Limit Example 1.2: Same as above, except Mr. Birch reapplies for SLIMB in December. If he requests backdated MPA, his SLIMB application is treated like any other and can be approved effective September.

1.16.7 AGENCY DELAYS

When the Department fails to request necessary verification, the Worker must immediately send the eligibility system verification checklist or form DFA-6 to request it. He must inform the client that the application is being held pending. When the verification is received and the client is eligible, medical coverage is retroactive to the date eligibility would have been established for QMB, SLIMB or QI-1.

When the QMB, SLIMB or QI-1 application is not processed within agency time limits, the application must be processed immediately upon discovery of the delay. QMB, SLIMB and QI-1 cases must have the eligibility period backdated.

Agency Delay Example: Ms. Willow applies for LIS at the SSA on October 26, 2016 and expresses an interest in MPA. This is her LIS/MPA application date. She returns her DFA-QSQ-1 with all verifications on October 29, 2010, but they are misplaced. The Worker takes corrective action in December 2016 and notes the LIS application date in October. Since the client was otherwise eligible in October, the Worker backdates the QMB with a beginning eligibility date of November 2016.

The QMB client is eligible to receive direct reimbursement for out-of-pocket medical expenses if the Department has not acted on the application within a reasonable period of time. See Chapter 10.

1.16.8 PAYEE

The QMB, SLIMB or QI-1 recipient is the payee. When there are eligible spouses, the spouses choose the payee.

1.16.9 BEGINNING DATE OF ELIGIBILITY

1.16.9.A QMB

The beginning date of eligibility for QMB is the first day of the month following the month in which the application for QMB coverage is approved. Eligibility for QMB cannot be backdated unless there is a corrective action.

QMB Beginning Date of Eligibility Example: Ms. Willow applies for LIS at the SSA on October 26, 2016 and expresses an interest in MPA. This is her LIS/MPA application date. She returns her DFA-QSQ-1 with all verifications on October 29, 2010, but they are misplaced. The Worker takes corrective action in December 2016 and notes the LIS application date in October. Since the client was otherwise eligible in October, the Worker backdates the QMB with a beginning eligibility date of November 2, 2016 and approves her for QMB effective December 2016. Even though Ms. Willow’s LIS application date is in October, QMB is effective the month following the month in which the application is approved. QMB cannot be backdated to November 2010.

NOTE: When the individual falls within the QMB income range and qualifies for that coverage, he is not approved for SLIMB to obtain backdated premium payment.

1.16.9.B SLIMB

The beginning date of eligibility for SLIMB is the first day of the month in which the application for SLIMB coverage is approved. Eligibility for SLIMB coverage may be backdated up to three months prior to the month of application, if all eligibility requirements were met.

SLIMB Beginning Date of Eligibility Example: Mr. Cedar applies for LIS at the SSA on October 29, 2015 and expresses an interest in MPA. This is his LIS/MPA application date. He visits his local office on November 1, 2015, completes a DFA-QSQ-1 and is approved for SLIMB with backdated coverage to August 2015. The LIS/MPA data exchange is transmitted November 2, 2015. The Worker checks her data exchange alerts and finds Mr. Cedar’s LIS application date is October 2015. She takes corrective action and backdates his beginning date of coverage to July 2015, if otherwise eligible.

1.16.9.C QI-1

The beginning date of eligibility for QI-1 is the first day of the month in which the application for QI-1 coverage is approved. QI-1 cannot be backdated prior to January of the calendar year of application. Eligibility for QI-1 coverage may be backdated up to three months prior to the month of application, if all eligibility requirements were met.

QI-1 Beginning Date of Eligibility Example: Ms. Elm applies for LIS at the SSA on September 17, 2015 and expresses an interest in MPA. This is her LIS/MPA application date. She visits her local office on October 1, 2015, completes a DFA-
1.16.10 REDETERMINATION

1.16.10.A Redetermination Process

The redetermination may be submitted by mail or online by use of inROADS. The redetermination may also be completed using the DFA-QSQ-1 or DFA-2.

1.16.10.B Redetermination Schedule

QMB, SLIMB and QI-1 cases are redetermined annually.

- QMB and SLIMB redeterminations are scheduled in the 12th month of eligibility.
- QI-1 redeterminations are due in December of each year, regardless of the beginning month of eligibility.

1.16.10.C Redetermination Date

The redetermination process for QMB, SLIMB and QI-1 is initiated by the eligibility system which generates a pre-populated form and letter of explanation to the client. The redetermination form is due by the first day of the 12th month of the certification period or December 1 for QI-1. If the redetermination form is not received by the adverse action date, the AG is issued a notice of closure.

The letter of explanation provides the following information:

- A statement that the AG(s) for the individual(s) listed is due for redetermination;
- The address to which the form is returned, if submitted by mail;
- The date by which the redetermination must be submitted;
- Any verification which must be submitted with the form;
- A statement that the AG(s) will be closed after advance notice, if the redetermination is not completed;
- Instructions for submitting the redetermination by online by using inROADS; and,
- A phone number to call if the individual has questions about submitting the redetermination online.

The redetermination may be submitted online by use of inROADS until the end of the month in which the redetermination is due.

1.16.10.D Completion of the Redetermination

1.16.10.D.1 QMB and SLIMB

When the redetermination is completed and the individual(s) remains eligible, the new period of eligibility (POE) begins the month immediately following the month the redetermination was due.

NOTE: When a QMB redetermination is completed in the 13th month, the new POE begins the first day of the month the redetermination was due.

1.16.10.D.2 QI-1

The new POE begins in January with the new program year.
1.16.11 THE BENEFIT

1.16.11.A QMB

Medicaid coverage is limited to payment of the Medicare, Parts A and B, premium and payment of all Medicare coinsurance deductibles, including those related to nursing facility services. This is accomplished by the BMS Buy-In Unit.

The Medical ID card will be issued each time there is an approval or renewal for any household member. The Medical ID card does not include any date parameters since eligibility may terminate.

1.16.11.B SLIMB and QI-1

SLIMB and QI-1 clients do not receive a Medical ID card.

Medicaid coverage is limited to payment of the Medicare, Part B, premium. This is accomplished by the BMS Buy-In Unit.

1.16.11.B.1 Retroactive Benefits

When coverage is backdated, the SLIMB client receives a refund of paid Medicare premiums from SSA, after buy-in is accomplished.

1.16.11.B.2 Ongoing Benefits

The Department pays the client’s Medicare, Part B, premium only.

1.16.11.C Ending Date of Eligibility
The ending date of eligibility is the last day of the month of the effective date of closure.

When QMB, SLIMB and QI-1 eligibility ends, it ends effective the month following the month in which ineligibility occurs, or whenever the advance notice period ends.
1.17 QUALIFIED DISABLED WORKING INDIVIDUALS (QDWI)

1.17.1 APPLICATION FORMS

The Single-Streamlined Application (DFA-SLA-1) and supplement (DFA-SLA-S1), DFA-2 or inROADS is used.

1.17.2 WHO MUST SIGN

The application must be signed by the applicant, the spouse or the authorized representative. When the applicant is a child under age 18, the parent(s) or legal guardian must sign.

1.17.3 CONTENT OF THE INTERVIEW

Although no interview is required, when an interview is conducted, the interview requirements found in Section 1.2 are applicable. In addition, the following must be discussed if an interview is conducted:

- The QDWI recipient has only his Medicare, Part A, premium paid.
- The QDWI recipient receives no Medical ID card.

1.17.4 AGENCY TIME LIMITS

The Worker must send a copy of the DFA-2 or DFA-MA-1 to the Buy-In Unit at BMS within 30 days of the date of application, when the client is eligible for QDWI.
1.17.5 PAYEE

The QDWI client is the payee.

1.17.6 REDETERMINATION

The BMS Buy-In Unit notifies the county office when the QDWI case is due for redetermination. The redetermination cycle is set by the eligibility system.

1.17.7 THE BENEFIT

Medicaid coverage is limited to payment of the Medicare Part A, premium. The Buy-In Unit at BMS is responsible for this process. No Medical ID card is sent to this coverage group.

Eligibility ends when the Buy-In Unit at BMS notifies SSA that buy-in has terminated.
1.18 SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME (SSI)-RELATED MEDICAID (AGED, BLIND, DISABLED)

The definitions of disability for Medicaid purposes are the same as the definitions used by the Social Security Administration (SSA) in determining eligibility for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) or Retirement, Survivors, and Disability Insurance (RSDI) based on disability, which are as follows.

AGED
- Individuals age 65 and older.

BLINDNESS
- To meet the definition of blindness, the individual must have:
  - Central visual acuity that cannot be corrected to better than 20/200 in the better eye; or
  - A limitation of the field of vision in the better eye so that the widest diameter of the visual field subtends an angle of 20 degrees or less.

DISABILITY, INDIVIDUALS AGE 18 OR OVER
- An individual who is age 18 or over is considered to be disabled if he is unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity due to any medically determined physical or mental impairment that has lasted, or is expected to last, for a continuous period of at least 12 months, or is expected to result in death.

DISABILITY, INDIVIDUALS UNDER AGE 18
- The child who is under age 18 is considered to be disabled if he has a medically determinable physical or mental impairment (or combination of impairments), the impairment(s) results in marked and severe functional limitations, and the impairment(s) has lasted (or is expected to last) for at least one year or to result in death.
- An individual under age 18 is not considered a child if he:
  - Is legally married;
  - Is divorced; or
  - Is over age 16 and has been emancipated by a court of law.
1.18.1 DATE OF APPLICATION

The date of application is the date the Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR) receives the application in person, by fax or other electronic transmission, through inROADS or the FFM, or by mail, which contains, at a minimum, the applicant’s name, address, and signature.

For clients who reapply within 60 days of the previous application which was denied due solely to failure to meet spenddown, the date of application is the date the client requests reconsideration. No DFA-2 is required when the requirements in Section 1.3 are met.

1.18.2 WHO MUST SIGN

The application must be signed by the applicant, the spouse, or the authorized representative.

When the applicant is a child under age 18, the parent(s) or legal guardian must sign.

1.18.3 CONTENT OF THE INTERVIEW

Although no interview is required, when an interview is conducted, the interview requirements in Section 1.2 are applicable. In addition, the following must be discussed with the applicant if an interview is conducted:

- That an aged individual may have his eligibility determined as a blind or disabled individual if he wishes.
- The spenddown process.
- The specific months which will constitute the Period of Consideration (POC) based on the six month POC that will most benefit the client. The beginning date of eligibility may be backdated up to three months prior to the month of application when all eligibility requirements are met and the client has medical expenses for which he seeks payment.
- The MRT process, if applicable.
- That when a spouses apply, one spouse may be approved, when eligible, while the application for the other spouse remains pending.
• Relationship with QMB/SLIMB. See Section 1.16.

1.18.4 DUE DATE OF ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Additional information related to medical bills is due 30 days from the date of application.

1.18.5 AGENCY TIME LIMITS

1.18.5.A Application Processing Limits

• SSI Age-Related Medicaid: Eligibility system action to approve, deny or withdraw the application must be taken within 30 days of the date of application.
• SSI Blind-Related Medicaid: Eligibility system action to approve, deny or withdraw the application must be taken within 60 days of the date of application.
• SSI Disability-Related Medicaid: Eligibility system action to approve, deny or withdraw the application must be taken within 90 days of the date of application.

NOTE: When an applicant, age 65 or over, wishes to have his eligibility evaluated as a blind or disabled person and the process of establishing disability or blindness will result in a delay, his application is approved based on age. If at a later date his blindness or disability is established, the deprivation factor is changed.

Information related to medical bills in cases that meet spenddown should be entered in the eligibility system in the 30 day application period.

1.18.5.B MRT Time Limits

To ensure that the 90-day processing limit is met for MRT cases, the time limits in the table below apply to the MRT process.

1.18.6 PAYEE

The client is the payee. Spouses may decide who the payee is.

1.18.7 BEGINNING DATE OF ELIGIBILITY

1.18.7.A Non-Spenddown

The beginning date of eligibility is the first day of the month of the period of consideration (POC).
1.18.7.B Spenddown

The date of eligibility is the day on which the client incurs medical expenses which bring the spenddown amount to $0.

NOTE: Although eligibility begins on the date that medical bills bring the spenddown amount to $0, expenses incurred on that date which are used to meet the spenddown, as indicated by the Worker in the eligibility system are not paid by Medicaid.

This date may be backdated up to three months prior to the month of application, when all eligibility requirements were met, and the client has medical expenses for which he seeks payment.

1.18.8 REDETERMINATION

1.18.8.A Non-Spenddown

1.18.8.A.1 The Redetermination List

Non-Spenddown AGs are redetermined in the sixth month of the POC. The six-month period begins with the month of application. The date of the next redetermination is automatically coded in the eligibility system.

The eligibility system alerts the Worker when a redetermination is due and sends a redetermination form to the client.

1.18.8.A.2 Completion of Redetermination

When the redetermination is completed and the AG remains eligible, the new POC begins the month immediately following the month of the redetermination.
1.18.8.B  Spenddown

Spenddown AGs are not redetermined and are closed at the end of the sixth month of the POC. The last month of the six-month POC is coded in the eligibility system.

The client must reapply for a new POC using one of the application methods described above.

Spenddown AGs are mailed a letter at adverse action notice deadline during the sixth month of the POC. This letter informs the client that his eligibility will end on the last day of the month and that he must reapply for Medicaid coverage.

1.18.9  THE BENEFIT

1.18.9.A.1  Ongoing Benefits

Effective December 21, 2017 there was a change in the way Medical ID cards are issued. Instead of the separate blue paper card, the Medical ID card is now included in all Medicaid approval notices. The Medical ID card does not include any date parameters since eligibility may terminate.

Medicaid recipients will receive one Medical ID card per case each time there is an approval or renewal for Medicaid for any household member.

In situations where retroactive eligibility is established, the Medicaid coverage will be validated appropriately for each back-dated month.

1.18.9.A.2  Ending Date of Eligibility

The ending date of eligibility is the last day of the month of the effective month of closure.
1.18.10 SPOUSES APPLY – ONE APPROVED, ONE PENDING

When an application for an SSI-Related coverage group is made for a couple and one spouse is eligible, but the application for the other remains pending because disability has not been established, the procedure is as follows:

- Approve the application for the eligible spouse. Deeming procedures in Chapter 4 apply.
- Send an approval notice to the eligible individual and include an explanation that eligibility for the spouse has not been established and the reason.

If the spouse is determined eligible at a later date, the procedures depend upon whether or not the previously ineligible spouse has income, whether or not such income was deemed to the client, and whether or not there is a spenddown.

1.18.10.A Income of Previously Ineligible Spouse Does Not Cause Spenddown

When the income of the previously ineligible spouse equals $0, or has been deemed to the client spouse, or does not cause the AG to have a spenddown, the following procedures apply.

- Take eligibility system action to add the spouse to the AG. The beginning period of consideration (POC) or period of eligibility (POE) for the spouse is the same as for the client;
- Send an approval notice to the recipient to inform him that eligibility for the spouse has been established and the date on which his medical coverage begins.
- If the individual is added after the deadline date in the sixth month of the POC, proper eligibility system procedures must be followed to insure issuance of a Medical ID card.

1.18.10.B Income of Previously Ineligible Spouse Causes Spenddown

When the previously ineligible spouse has income, but it was not deemed to the client spouse, and it causes the AG to have a spenddown, the following procedures apply.

If the eligible spouse did not previously have a spenddown, but the addition of the previously ineligible spouse and his income makes the AG subject to spenddown, the following actions are taken:
• The previously ineligible spouse is added to the AG; and
• The AG is closed after proper notice and is reopened with a new POC. The new POC must not cover any period of time in which the AG was in a POE; and
• The AG must be supplied with proper notice about the spenddown and the procedures which now apply.

If the eligible spouse had a spenddown which was met and is currently in an active AG, the following actions are taken:

• Add the previously ineligible spouse to the AG for the current POC. The AG is not closed prior to the end of the current POC due to increased countable income.
• When the AG reappears for a new POC, all income is counted and appropriate spenddown procedures apply.

If the spouse is determined ineligible, the Worker sends the recipient a denial notice.

The Worker must update the eligibility system and make a recording in case comments about the denial.
1.19 SSI-RELATED/NON-CASH ASSISTANCE

A coverage group for individuals who are eligible for but not receiving Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments.

1.19.1 DATE OF APPLICATION

The date of application is the date the Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR) receives the application in person, by fax or other electronic transmission, through inROADS or the FFM, or by mail, which contains, at a minimum, the applicant’s name and address and signature.

For clients who reapply within 60 days of the previous application which was denied due solely to failure to meet spenddown, the date of application is the date the client requests reconsideration. No DFA-2 is required when the requirements in Section 1.2.10 are met.

1.19.2 WHO MUST SIGN

The application must be signed by the applicant, the spouse, or the representative.

When the applicant is a child under age 18, the parent(s) or legal guardian must sign.

1.19.3 CONTENT OF THE INTERVIEW

Although no interview is required, when an interview is conducted, the interview requirements in Section 1.2 are applicable. In addition, the following must be discussed with the applicant if an interview is conducted.

- That an aged individual may have his eligibility determined as a blind or disabled individual if he wishes.
- The beginning date of eligibility may be backdated up to three months prior to the month of application when all eligibility requirements are met and the client has medical expenses for which he seeks payment.
- The MRT process, if applicable.
That when a couple applies, one spouse may be approved, when eligible, while the application for the other spouse remains pending.

Relationship with QMB/SLIMB. See Section 1.16.

1.19.4 AGENCY TIME LIMITS

1.19.4.A Agency Processing Limits

• SSI Age-Related Medicaid: Eligibility system action to approve, deny or withdraw the application must be taken within 30 days of the date of application.
• SSI Blind-Related Medicaid: Eligibility system action to approve, deny or withdraw the application must be taken within 60 days of the date of application.
• SSI Disability-Related Medicaid: Eligibility system action to approve, deny or withdraw the application must be taken within 90 days of the date of application.

NOTE: When an applicant, age 65 or over, wishes to have his eligibility evaluated as a blind or disabled person and the process of establishing disability or blindness will result in a delay, his application is approved based on age. If at a later date his blindness or disability is established, the deprivation factor is changed.

1.19.4.B MRT Time Limits

To ensure that the 90-day processing limit is met for MRT cases, the time limits in the table below apply to the MRT process.

1.19.5 PAYEE

The client is the payee. Couples may decide who the payee is.

1.19.6 REDETERMINATION

SSI-Related/Non-Cash Assistance Medicaid AGs are redetermined every six months in the last month of the current POC. The eligibility system alerts the Worker when a redetermination is due and sends a letter to the client.

The Worker, after receipt of the alert, is responsible for scheduling the redetermination so that it is completed prior to or during the month in which it is due.

An appointment letter is generated by the eligibility system to notify the client of the redetermination and the date the interview is scheduled.

When the redetermination is completed and the AG remains eligible, the new POC begins the month immediately following the month of the redetermination. The new beginning POC is automatically coded in the eligibility system.

1.19.7 THE BENEFIT

1.19.7.A Ongoing Benefits

Effective December 21, 2017 there was a change in the way Medical ID cards are issued. Instead of the separate blue paper card, the Medical ID card is now included in all Medicaid approval notices. The Medical ID card does not include any date parameters since eligibility may terminate.

Medicaid recipients will receive one Medical ID card per case each time there is an approval or renewal for Medicaid for any household member.

In situations where retroactive eligibility is established, the Medicaid coverage will be validated appropriately for each back-dated month.

1.19.7.B Ending Date of Eligibility

The ending date of eligibility is the last day of the month of the effective month of closure.
1.20 AFDC-RELATED MEDICAID

Caretaker Relatives and pregnant women are eligible for Medicaid under this coverage group when certain conditions are met as described in Chapter 23. This coverage group is not subject to the spenddown provision. Medically Needy AGs are subject to the spenddown provision.

NOTE: Supplemental Security Income (SSI) recipients, whether they are adults or children, are not included in the AG, IG, or NG.

1.20.1 DATE OF APPLICATION

The date of application is the date the Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR) receives the application in person, by fax or other electronic transmission, through inROADS or the FFM, or by mail, which contains, at a minimum, the applicant’s name and address and signature.

For clients who reapply within 60 days of the previous application which was denied due solely to failure to meet spenddown, the date of application is the date the client requests reconsideration. No DFA-2 is required when the requirements in Section 1.2.10 are met.

1.20.2 WHO MUST SIGN

The specified relative with whom the child lives. If the child is living with both parents, both must sign unless:

- One parent is hospitalized; or
- One parent is incarcerated.

When the specified relative with whom the child lives has a legal committee, the committee must sign.
1.20.3 AGENCY TIME LIMITS

Eligibility system action to approve, deny or withdraw the application must be taken within 30 days of the date of application.

Information related to medical bills in cases that meet spenddown should be entered in the eligibility system in the 30 day application period.

1.20.4 PAYEE

The parent or other specified relative who is the caretaker relative is the payee. When both parents are in the home, either parent may be the payee.

1.20.5 BEGINNING DATE OF ELIGIBILITY

This date may be backdated up to 3 months prior to the month of application, when all eligibility requirements were met, and the client has medical expenses for which he seeks payment.

1.20.5.A Non-Spenddown

The beginning date of eligibility is the first day of the month of the POC.

1.20.5.B Spenddown

The date of eligibility is the day on which the client incurs medical expenses which bring the spenddown amount to $0.

NOTE: Although eligibility begins on the date of service of the medical bills which bring the spenddown amount to $0, expenses incurred on that date which are used to meet the spenddown, as indicated by the Worker in the eligibility system, are not paid by Medicaid.
1.20.6 REDETERMINATION

1.20.6.A Non-Spenddown

Non-Spenddown AGs are redetermined every six months in the last month of the current POC. The eligibility system alerts the Worker when a redetermination is due and sends a letter to the client.

The Worker, after receipt of the alert, is responsible for scheduling the redetermination so that it is completed prior to or during the month in which it is due.

An appointment letter is generated by the eligibility system to notify the client of the redetermination and the date the interview is scheduled.

When the redetermination is completed and the AG remains eligible, the new POC must begin the month immediately following the month of the redetermination. The new beginning POC is automatically coded in the eligibility system.

1.20.6.B Spenddown

Spenddown AGs are not redetermined and are closed at the end of the sixth month of the POC. The client must reapply for a new POC.

Spenddown AGs may come into the office at any time to reapply for a new POC.

Spenddown AGs are mailed a computer-generated letter at the adverse action deadline of the 6th month of the POC. This letter informs the client that his eligibility will end on the last day of the month and that he must reapply for Medicaid coverage.
1.20.7 THE BENEFIT

1.20.7.A  Non-Spenddown

1.20.7.A.1  Ongoing Benefits

Effective December 21, 2017 there was a change in the way Medical ID cards are issued. Instead of the separate blue paper card, the Medical ID card is now included in all Medicaid approval notices. The Medical ID card does not include any date parameters since eligibility may terminate.

Medicaid recipients will receive one Medical ID card per case each time there is an approval or renewal for Medicaid for any household member.

In situations where retroactive eligibility is established, the Medicaid coverage will be validated appropriately for each back-dated month.

1.20.7.A.2  Ending Date of Eligibility

The ending date of eligibility is the last day of the month of the effective month of closure.

1.20.7.B  Spenddown

A Medical ID card is issued when the eligibility system entries bring the spenddown amount to $0. All eligible individuals who are included in the AG which meets spenddown appear on the Medical ID card.
1.20.7.B.1 Ending Date of Eligibility

The ending date of eligibility is the last day of the effective date of closure. The spenddown AG automatically closes at adverse action deadline of the 6th month of the POC, effective the last day of the POC.

- A member(s) of the Income Group experiences an increase in income;
- An individual(s) with income is added to the Income Group; or
- An individual(s) is removed from the Needs Group.
1.21 WV FORMER FOSTER CHILDREN

The Affordable Care Act (ACA) established a new categorically mandatory coverage group called the WV Former Foster Children group.

1.21.1 WHO CAN BE INCLUDED ON THE SAME APPLICATION

- Individuals who have a familial relationship with the applicant (spouse, child - biological, adopted or step child; parent - biological, adopted or stepparent; sibling - biological, adopted, half or step sibling.)
- Individuals who are a tax dependent of, or on the same income tax return with, the applicant.

EXCEPTION: A non-custodial parent cannot apply for Medicaid or WVCHIP for their child even when claiming their child as a tax dependent. In this situation, based on MAGI rules, the child’s MAGI household includes - himself, his parents (biological, adopted or step parents), and siblings (biological, adopted or step) under 19 with whom he resides. Information necessary to determine the child’s eligibility cannot be determined based on the non-custodial parent’s application; therefore, the case should fail for the child with the reason that the non-custodial parent cannot apply for the child.

- Individuals who are under age 19 and residing with the application filer may be included on an application submitted by an adult application filer, even if the child and application filer are not in a familial or tax relationship.

Adult individuals who do not fall into one of these categories will be notified that they must submit a separate application.

1.21.2 WHO MUST SIGN

The application must be signed by an adult in the household or their authorized representative.
1.21.3 AGENCY TIME LIMITS

Eligibility system action must be taken to approve, deny or withdraw the application within 30 days of the date of application.

1.21.4 PAYEE

The payee is the former foster child.

1.21.5 BEGINNING DATE OF ELIGIBILITY

Eligibility begins the first day of the month in which eligibility is established. Eligibility may be backdated up to 3 months prior to the month of the application, when the client met all eligibility requirements in the prior month(s).

1.21.6 REDETERMINATION

1.21.6.A Redetermination Process

Cases are normally redetermined annually. The redetermination schedule is set automatically by the eligibility system.

When possible, the redetermination process is completed automatically using electronic data matches without requiring information from the client. This redetermination process is initiated by the eligibility system, which matches current information with the hub. The Reasonable Compatibility Provision applies each time this occurs. See Section 7.2. If determined eligible after completing the redetermination process, the Department will notify the client. The notice will identify information used to determine eligibility. If the customer agrees with the information, no further action is required. If the client does not agree, he is to report the information that does not match the circumstances.
When the redetermination process cannot be completed automatically, the eligibility system sends a pre-populated form containing case information and require the client to provide additional information necessary to determine continuing eligibility. A signature is required.

The pre-populated redetermination form provides the following information:

- A statement that the AG(s) for the individual(s) listed is due for redetermination,
- The address to which the form is returned, if submitted by mail,
- The date by which the information must be submitted,
- Specific information necessary to complete the redetermination,
- The opportunity to report changes,
- A statement that the AG may receive a verification checklist for completion and return, if reported changes require follow-up,
- A statement that the AG(s) will be closed after proper notification, if the redetermination is not completed, and
- Instructions for submitting the pre-populated auto-renewal verification checklist form online by using inROADS. A phone number to call if the individual has questions about submitting the pre-populated auto-renewal verification checklist online.

The client must be given 30 days from the date of the letter to return the information. The information may be submitted by mail, phone, electronically, Internet, or in person. Failure to respond and provide the necessary information will result in closure of the benefit.

If the client responds and provides the information within 90 days of the effective date of closure, the agency will determine eligibility in a timely manner without requiring a new application. If the client is found eligible, the coverage must be back dated up to 3 months.

1.21.6.B Rolling Redeterminations

When a change is reported during the certification period which affects eligibility, the DHHR must only request the information on the change reported. When the information is received, the client is evaluated for rolling redetermination. If the agency has enough information available to renew eligibility with respect to all the eligibility criteria, the agency must begin a new 12-month certification period.

Redetermination Example 1: Rose is determined eligible from February 1, 2014 through January 31, 2015. On June 2, 2014, Rose calls and reports a change in income. The information is provided to the Department on June 6, 2014. The Worker evaluates and determines enough information is available to renew eligibility. The benefit is given a new certification period effective July 1, 2014 through June 30, 2015.

Redetermination Example 2: A redetermination for SNAP benefits is completed on May 14, 2014. The certification period is April 1, 2014 through March 31, 2015. After the SNAP redetermination is completed, the Worker finds the information provided is enough to recertify. The WVCHIP certification period is renewed from June 1, 2014 through May 31, 2015.

When the determination is completed and the individual(s) remains eligible, the new eligibility period must begin the month immediately following the month of redetermination.

If the client’s coverage is interrupted due to agency delay or error, procedures for reimbursement of the client’s out-of-pocket expenses may apply.

1.21.7 THE BENEFIT

1.21.7.A Ongoing Benefits

Effective December 21, 2017 there was a change in the way Medical ID cards are issued. Instead of the separate blue paper card, the Medical ID card is now included in all Medicaid approval notices. The Medical ID card does not include any date parameters since eligibility may terminate.

Medicaid recipients will receive one Medical ID card per case each time there is an approval or renewal for Medicaid for any household member.

In situations where retroactive eligibility is established, the Medicaid coverage will be validated appropriately for each back-dated month.

1.21.7.B Ending Date of Eligibility

The ending date of eligibility is the last day of the month of the effective date of closure.
1.22 ILLEGAL NONCITIZENS

This coverage group provides emergency support to certain individuals with severe medical conditions.

1.22.1 WHO MUST SIGN

The applicant or his authorized representative must sign the application.

1.22.2 PAYEE

The client who is the noncitizen or his authorized representative is the payee.

1.22.3 BEGINNING DATE OF ELIGIBILITY

Eligibility for emergency Medicaid coverage begins the date that the applicant’s emergency medical situation starts.

1.22.4 REDETERMINATION

The case is opened when treatment for the medical emergency begins and closed at the end of the medical emergency.

When the client has an ongoing emergency, the Worker must check periodically to determine if the emergency has ended. If a Medical Review Team (MRT) decision was part of the client’s eligibility determination, MRT redetermination requirements apply.
1.22.5 THE BENEFIT

1.22.5.A Ongoing Benefits

The client is issued a verification of medical coverage for the valid Period of Eligibility (POE).

1.22.5.B Ending Date of Eligibility

Eligibility for emergency Medicaid coverage ends on the date the medical emergency is resolved.
1.23 AIDS DRUG ASSISTANCE PROGRAM (ADAP)

The AIDS Drug Assistance Program (ADAP), or also referred to as the AIDS Special Pharmacy Program or the ADAP West Virginia Special Pharmacy Program, is a Bureau of Public Health (BPH) program contracted with BMS to administer the medical services provided. The eligibility decision is made by Bureau for Medical Services (BMS), rather than the Worker.

1.23.1 APPLICATION FORMS

- DFA-2, Single-Streamlined Application (SLA), or inROADS – The DFA-2 is completed to determine Medicaid eligibility.
- ADAP Application – Once determined ineligible for all full-coverage Medicaid groups except an SSI-Related Medicaid with an unmet spenddown, an ADAP application for West Virginia Special Pharmacy must be completed. This application is available on the Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR) Intranet Forms page.

1.23.2 COMPLETE APPLICATION

The ADAP application is complete when page 1 is signed by the applicant and page 2, the Physician’s Report, is signed by the physician.

NOTE: The resource development policies in Chapter 8 do not apply to ADAP. Potential eligibility for, or receipt of Medicare, Part D, does not affect the application or referral process for the ADAP eligibility determination.

1.23.3 DATE OF APPLICATION

The date of application is the date the Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR) receives the application in person, by fax or other electronic transmission, through inROADS or the Federally Facilitated Marketplace (FFM), or by mail, which contains, at a minimum, the applicant’s name and address and signature.
When the client previously applied for Medicaid and is pending spenddown, the date the client inquires about the AIDS Special Pharmacy program coverage is the date of application.

1.23.4 WHO MUST SIGN

The client or his representative must sign the DFA-2, or DFA-5 or SLA.

1.23.5 AGENCY TIME LIMITS

From the date of application, defined above, the applicant must return the completed ADAP application to the Worker within 30 days of the Medicaid application.

Upon receipt, the Worker must forward the most recent DFA-2, SLA or ADAP applications to:

BMS, Eligibility Supervisor
Office of Administration and Claims Processing
350 Capitol Street, Room 251
Charleston, West Virginia 25301

1.23.6 AGENCY DELAYS

When the DHHR fails to request necessary verification or information, the Worker must immediately send form DFA-6 or the eligibility system verification checklist to request it. The Worker must inform the client that the application is being held pending.

Applications for the ADAP are processed by BMS. When a Worker determines he has not forwarded the eligibility information to BMS, he must forward it immediately.

1.23.7 PAYEE

The ADAP individual is the payee for services. BMS handles payment for all services.
1.23.8 THE BEGINNING DATE OF ELIGIBILITY

BMS determines the date eligibility begins.

1.23.9 REDETERMINATION

Redetermination does not apply to ADAP.

1.23.10 THE BENEFIT

No Medical ID card is issued.

If the client becomes eligible under any other Medicaid coverage group or meets his spenddown, the Worker must notify BMS immediately and specify the beginning date of Medicaid eligibility.

Otherwise, BMS determines when eligibility ends.
1.24 BREAST AND CERVICAL CANCER SCREENING PROGRAM (BCCSP) MEDICAID COVERAGE GROUP

A woman is eligible for Breast and Cervical Cancer Screening Program (BCCSP) Medicaid if she is diagnosed with a breast or cervical cancer or certain pre-cancerous conditions, regardless of income. She must also be receiving active treatment for her diagnosis and currently enrolled in the BCCSP through a screening provider to be eligible for this type of Medicaid coverage.

1.24.1 APPLICATION PROCESS

The application process must be completed in the following order:

- A woman is screened at a BCCSP site. If diagnosed with breast or cervical cancer, she is given a CDC Certificate of Diagnosis and completes form DFA-BCC-1.
- The DFA-BCC-1 form is forwarded by the CDC facility to the DHHR office in the county in which the applicant resides. The Worker enters the information in the eligibility system to issue a Medical ID card, provided all eligibility criteria described in Eligibility Requirements above are met.
- If information provided on the DFA-BCC-1 indicates that the woman is not income or asset eligible for any other mandatory Medicaid coverage group, no action is taken, but the decision must be recorded in the eligibility system.
- If the information indicates the woman may be eligible under one of the mandatory coverage groups listed in Eligibility Requirements above, the Worker contacts the woman, arranges for an application to be completed, and requests any additional information required to determine eligibility.
- If the woman is determined Medicaid eligible for a mandatory coverage group, the Worker closes the BCC AG and approves the new coverage group.
- If ineligible for a mandatory Medicaid coverage group, the woman remains in the BCC group and the Worker records the results of the determination process in the eligibility system.
- If the woman or a representative fails to apply within 30 days, or she fails to cooperate in determining eligibility for a mandatory Medicaid coverage group, the BCC case is closed.
An annual redetermination for BCC and Medicaid eligibility is required. OMCFH is responsible for providing a BCC Medicaid Continuation Form to verify continuing treatment and for assuring that a new completed DFA-BCC-1 is mailed to the local DHHR office.

If there are changes in the woman’s circumstances that mean she may be eligible for one of the Medicaid groups listed in Eligibility Requirements above, the Worker must contact her to complete a Medicaid application. The BCC case remains open while the determination is being made. Failure to complete or cooperate in the Medicaid application process will result in closure of the BCC case.

If determined eligible for a mandatory Medicaid group, the Worker closes the BCC coverage and takes action to approve the woman for the appropriate Medicaid coverage group. See Eligibility Requirements above for mandatory coverage groups.

If it appears there have been no significant changes and the woman continues to meet all other BCC requirements, no action is taken in the eligibility system. The Worker files the forms in the case record and makes appropriate case comments.

To insure that needed services are not delayed after approval for BCC and that BCC has current information about individuals who are closed or denied, the Worker must follow the procedures outlined below:

- Follow the eligibility system instructions for coding BCC using PRD-38.
- Print the current address screen, which must include the BCC applicant’s name.
- Write the status of the case on the bottom of the printout. Examples include, but are not limited to, approved for BCC, needs CDC certificate or ineligible for BCC as eligible for another mandatory coverage group.
- Fax the printout, along with the CDC certificate of diagnosis and the BCC Medicaid application, to the attention of: BCCSP at (304) 558-7164 or mail to the Office of Maternal, Child and Family Health (OMCFH), ATTN: BCCSP, 350 Capitol Street, Room 427, Charleston, West Virginia 25301-3715.

APPENDIX D: WV WORKS LIST OF LOCAL SERVICES

INSTRUCTIONS

The template contains information in parentheses after each main heading. This information is what is required to be included on the form or discussed with the client. It should not appear on the final form used by Workers.

When the template states to “list” information, it is expected that the local office will type the information on the form. When the template states “discuss” or “tell” it is expected that the Worker will verbally provide information.

When a particular service is not available locally, the local office may list the nearest location where such services are available or may type on the form: “Not Available Locally.” In some locations in the State, there may be more service locations than it is practical to list on the form. When this is true, list all locations on a separate sheet(s) of paper and on the form, refer to the attachment.

Attachment A must be copied exactly as written and included with the WV WORKS List of Local Services provided to the client.

It is recommended that the Worker include the most recent Community Resource Guide or Quick Guide with the WV WORKS List of Local Services.

Discuss: this is offered to everyone even those who have no history of DV (especially important when both parents are present), confidentiality of information, safety is the first concern, etc.)

_____ Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC)

(Explain that those who file an income tax return may qualify for EITC and how to apply for it. Provide a pamphlet with the information when they are available.)

_____ Post-Employment Options

Discuss the two employment assistance options available to a former WV WORKS participant when the WV WORKS benefit is closed due to employment.

_____ Sexual Harassment

(Worker must provide the attached sexual harassment handout, Attachment A, and briefly discuss with applicant)

_____ Accommodations for Disabilities

If the client indicates or there is available documentation that he has a mental, physical or learning disability, the Worker must discuss with the client that special accommodations will be made in order for him to participate in the WV WORKS Program.
WHAT DOES “SEXUAL HARASSMENT” MEAN?

“Sexual harassment” means that someone is bothering you or doing unwanted or unwelcome things of a sexual or gender-related nature. For example, someone who makes unwelcome sexual or gender-related remarks and gestures by:

- Touching you inappropriately
- Making offensive jokes or remarks about women or men
- Making sexual requests or suggestions
- Staring at or making unwelcome comments about your body
- Displaying sexually offensive pictures
- Being verbally abusive to you because of your gender

WHAT CAN YOU DO IF YOU ARE “SEXUALLY HARASSED”?

- Contact your WV WORKS Worker or Supervisor if you are in a WV WORKS employment or training activity.
- Contact the nearest Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) representative or call the EEOC office at (800) 669-4000.
WV WORKS List of Local Services – Attachment A
APPENDIX E: WORKER RESPONSIBILITIES

1. Complete NVRA training prior to their first assignment to work with clients. They shall complete NVRA refresher training every six months.

2. Provide a voter registration application (R-28-05) and a declination form at any point a client engages in an application, recertification, or reports a change of address.

3. Provide the red “What happens next card” when a client indicates that they would like to complete a voter registration application. This card informs the client how to fill out the application and how long it will take for their voter registration to be completed. The card also tells the client what to do if they do not receive notification of their registration. The Worker must advise the client that this is an application for voter registration, not a voter registration card.

4. Ensure that no action stated or implied can be interpreted to mean that the client’s decision to complete the voter registration application or declination form could affect the availability of benefits or services.

5. Provide the same quality of assistance to complete the voter registration application as with any other agency form or service while ensuring that no political party preference is conveyed to the customer.

6. Accept completed voter registration applications, declination forms and any uncompleted forms that the client does not use. The Worker shall review all completed forms to ensure all required fields are completed prior to submitting them to the County NVRA Coordinator. The Worker shall assist the customer to complete any incomplete forms when requested by the customer.

7. Complete appropriate RAPIDS screen/s to indicate if a client accepted or declined voter registration services.

8. Provide a maximum of four mail-in voter registration application forms for use by other household adults, when requested by the customer. When the client requests more than four applications, the Worker shall make available the contact information to the Secretary of State’s Office. They may contact the elections division staff at (304) 558-6000 or 1-866-767-8683 or by e-mail at http://www.wvsos.com/ext
APPENDIX F: COUNTY COORDINATOR RESPONSIBILITIES

1. Coordinate voter registration services within the local office and the Agency State Coordinator.

2. Ensure that all Workers comply with the registration process.

3. Train designated alternates to assume coordinators duties in the absence of the coordinator.

4. Maintain an office log of registration procedures, supply locations, ordering procedures, contact people and phone numbers.

5. Maintain and secure an office voter registration “date” hand stamp.

6. Ensure that each application is “date” stamped the day it is received in their office.

7. Retain declination forms for 22 months.

8. Completed NVRA applications must be submitted to the Secretary of State’s Office every Friday. The applications must be submitted the next working day when the office is closed on Friday.

9. Maintain a log of all NVRA training completed by Workers. Coordinating with Supervisors and training staff as appropriate to ensure that Workers continue to receive NVRA refresher training every six months. Training may be completed by reviewing the Voter Registration Application Guide located on the Secretary of State’s website at: http://www.sos.wv.gov

10. Maintain confidentiality of applicants.
APPENDIX G: BCF STATE COORDINATOR RESPONSIBILITIES

1. Appoint a current employee as county coordinator of voter registration services for each office or program delivery center.

2. Administer voter registration services in all programs within his or her jurisdiction.

3. Coordinate voter registration services with the Secretary of State.

4. Monitor the county coordinators of his/her delivery programs and reporting assignments.

5. Ensure all coordinators and employees have reviewed all training material and receive periodic updates.

6. Review complaints concerning voter registration activities filed against employees.

7. Notify the Secretary of State within five days of any change of county coordinators.

8. Post all required notices as provided by the Secretary of State.

2.1 INTRODUCTION

The purpose of this chapter is to show eligibility requirements common to:

- Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)
- WV WORKS
- Medicaid Programs
- West Virginia (WV) Children’s Health Insurance Program (WVCHIP)
- Special Pharmacy
- Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) Drug Assistance Program (ADAP)

Details of other requirements vary from program to program, but all these programs share the requirements shown here.
2.2 RESIDENCE

To be eligible to receive benefits, the client must be a resident of West Virginia.

The client must live within the borders of West Virginia for purposes other than vacation. There is no minimum time requirement for how long the client must live or intends to live in West Virginia. The client is not required to maintain a permanent or fixed dwelling.

An individual remains a resident of the former state until he arrives in West Virginia with the intention of remaining indefinitely. Therefore, intent to establish or abandon residency must be known before the state of residence is determined.

The definitions of public and private institution below apply to all programs.

PUBLIC INSTITUTION

Institution that provides shelter, custody, and care, and for which a governmental unit has responsibility or exercises administrative control.

PRIVATE INSTITUTION

Non-governmental institution that provides shelter, custody, and care, and that is required by State law to have a license to operate.

2.2.1 SUPPLEMENTAL NUTRITION ASSISTANCE PROGRAM (SNAP)

2.2.1.A Determining State of Residence/Movement Between States

If the SNAP assistance group (AG) is Categorically Eligible, the residency requirement is considered met. See Section 1.4 for more information about Categorical Eligibility.

When an individual, who received SNAP benefits in another state, establishes residence in West Virginia and applies for benefits, the Worker must determine when SNAP benefits in the other state were stopped. The individual is eligible in West Virginia for the month following the month in which he last received benefits in the former state of residence, if otherwise eligible.
2.2.1.B Institutional Status

An individual must not be a resident of a public or private institution.

An individual is considered a resident of an institution when:

- The institution provides more than 50% of his three daily meals as part of the institution’s normal services.

Institution Example: A school dormitory is considered an institution. Therefore, any student who resides in a school dormitory and receives the majority of his meals from the institution’s meal plan is ineligible to participate in SNAP. This includes, but is not limited to, colleges and military and boarding schools, even when the student returns home for weekends.

- The institution has not been authorized to accept SNAP benefits.

The following groups are exempt from this policy:

- Narcotic addicts or alcoholics who reside at a facility or treatment center under the supervision of a drug or alcoholic treatment and rehabilitation program. See Chapter 16 for specific instructions for these groups.

- Individuals who reside in a Group Living Facility (GLF). See Chapter 3 and Chapter 16 for the definition of a GLF and for instructions regarding which residents of a GLF qualify.

- Residents of shelters for battered persons and their children. The facility must be a public or private non-profit facility that:
  - Exclusively serves battered persons and their children;
  - Sets aside a portion of the facility, on a long-term basis, to shelter battered persons and their children; and
  - Is a residence, not simply a place to eat meals. See Chapter 3 and Chapter 16.

- Institution residents who do not receive their meals from the institution, but who purchase and prepare their own food, or participate in a delivered meals program or a communal dining program, are eligible if they meet all other eligibility requirements. This includes those students who reside in school dormitories with optional meal plans and do not receive the majority of their meals from the institution.

- Residents of federally subsidized housing for the elderly, built under either Section 202 of the Housing Act of 1959 or Section 236 of the National Housing Act, qualify if otherwise eligible.
• Residents of public or private non-profit shelters for homeless persons qualify, if otherwise eligible. See Chapter 16.

2.2.1.C Prolonged Absence from the Home

Regardless of the reason for the absence, any person expected to be absent from the home for a full calendar month or more is not eligible to be included in the AG. Shorter absences do not affect eligibility. This policy applies to visiting, obtaining vocational training or education, and obtaining medical care. This policy applies to in-state and out-of-state travel.

Although an individual may meet the residency requirement, he may not be eligible to be included in the AG. Refer to Chapter 3 for specific requirements about who may be included in the AG.

<th>SNAP Prolonged Absence Example 1: A child is residing in West Virginia with his mother and is included in her SNAP AG. On June 22, he goes to Ohio to visit his father and will remain for an undetermined amount of time. As of July 31, he is still in Ohio. Notice is sent to remove him from his mother’s AG.</th>

<tr>
<td>SNAP Prolonged Absence Example 2: A divorced man and woman both live in West Virginia. On May 29, the woman reports her oldest child will be visiting his father during summer vacation from June 11 to September 1. After advance notice, the oldest child is removed from the woman’s AG for July and August, because he will be absent from the home for those two full calendar months. The father reports the presence of the child on June 10, and requests that he be added to his SNAP benefits. The child is added as of July 1.</td>

<tr>
<td>SNAP Prolonged Absence Example 3: A SNAP AG consists of a man and his wife who reside in West Virginia. His wife goes to Maryland on July 7 to receive medical treatment and is not sure how long she will stay. She returns home on August 29. Her eligibility to remain in the AG is unaffected.</td>

2.2.1.D Students Not Living with a Parent or Other Responsible Adult

The residence of a student is determined as follows:

• When the student under age 18 is under the control of a parent or a person acting as a parent, the state of residence is the residence of the student's parents.
• When the student under age 18 is not under the control of a parent or a person acting as a parent, the state of residence is the location where the student actually lives, including a dormitory or campus housing.

• When the student is age 18 or older, the state of residence is the location where the student actually lives, including a dormitory or campus housing.

2.2.2 WV WORKS

There is a restriction on the amount of time an AG member can be out of the home and still be included in the benefit. See Chapter 3.

2.2.2.A Determining State of Residence/Movement Between States

When an individual who received, or is receiving, cash assistance from another state moves to West Virginia and applies for benefits, the Worker must determine if the case in the other state is closed. Cash assistance received from another state makes that individual ineligible for WV WORKS cash assistance during the same month regardless of the amount received in the other state.

When a client who received cash benefits in another state moves to WV, each month in which benefits were received counts as only one month of benefits toward the client’s lifetime limit on the receipt of cash assistance. Some states count receipt of Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) in the number of days instead of the number of months. When this occurs, the Worker must request that state to provide the exact months during which it provided cash assistance to the client.

WV WORKS Determining State of Residence Example 1: Mother and children receive TANF benefits in Kentucky for May. On May 15, the family moves to West Virginia. The household is ineligible to receive WV WORKS benefits until June.

WV WORKS Determining State of Residence Example 2: Father comes in to apply for WV WORKS on May 4. His two children have just moved into his household and they received TANF benefits for May as part of their mother’s case in Kentucky. Only the father is eligible to receive WV WORKS benefits for the month of May. The children will be eligible in June.
2.2.2.B Institutional Status

An individual must not be a resident of a public or private institution as defined above.

A client is eligible while living in an institution under the following circumstances.

2.2.2.B.1 Educational or Training Institution

He is living in an institution for the purpose of securing education or training. Examples include Rehabilitation Services centers, West Virginia Schools for the Deaf and Blind, Mountaineer Challenge Academy, and any college or educational institution.

2.2.2.B.2 General Medical Institution

He is a patient in any section of an institution that has been certified as a medical facility under Medicare or Medicaid standards. Examples include general medical hospitals and licensed nursing facilities.

2.2.2.C Out-of-State Travel

2.2.2.C.1 Visiting

Temporary visits out of state with the intent to return do not affect the client's state of residence as long as the duration is less than 30 days.

2.2.2.C.2 Obtaining Vocational Training or Education

When the Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR) establishes a plan for a client to leave the State to obtain vocational training or education, he continues to be a West Virginia resident.
When the DHHR does not establish a plan, he continues to be a West Virginia resident if he does not meet the residency requirement of the state in which he lives.

2.2.2.C.3 Medical Care

If the client temporarily leaves the State to obtain medical care or treatment, he is considered a West Virginia resident.

Exception: Long term care

2.2.2.D Students Not Living with a Parent or Other Responsible Adult

The state of residence of a student is the specified relative’s state of residence.

2.2.3 MEDICAID

2.2.3.A Determining State of Residence/Movement Between States

When an individual receiving Medicaid or WVCHIP from another state moves to West Virginia and applies for Medicaid or WVCHIP, the Worker must determine when payments by the previous state of residence stopped. Medicaid or WVCHIP coverage in West Virginia will begin the month the client establishes residence in West Virginia.

See Chapter 24 for special criteria relating to long term care cases.

SSI-Related Medicaid Groups: For individuals age 21 and older, or emancipated individuals, the state of residence is the state in which the individual is living, with the intent to remain permanently or for an indefinite period. Such an individual has established residence if he is living in a state and entered that state with a job commitment or is seeking employment, even if not currently employed.
2.2.3.B Institutional Status

Medicaid funds may not be used for medical services provided in a public or private institution, as defined above.

Medicaid funds may be used for a resident of an institution under the following circumstances:

- Education or Training Institution

  He is living in an institution for the purpose of securing education or training. Examples include Rehabilitation Services centers, West Virginia Schools for the Deaf and Blind, Mountaineer ChalleNGe Academy, and any college or educational institution.

- General Medical Institution

  He is a patient in any section of an institution that has been certified as a medical facility under Medicare or Medicaid standards. Examples include general medical hospitals and licensed nursing facilities. An institution resident who is incapable to state intent of residence is considered a resident in the state in which he lives.

2.2.3.B.1 Incarcerated Individuals

An individual is an inmate of a public institution, or incarcerated, when serving time for a criminal offense or confined involuntarily in State or federal prisons, jails, detention facilities, or other penal facilities.

Incarcerated individuals who meet all other eligibility criteria may be eligible for limited Medicaid coverage. Payment is only for Medicaid-covered services when the individual is admitted as an inpatient in a medical institution for at least 24 hours. Eligible facilities include, but are not limited to, hospitals, nursing facilities, juvenile psychiatric facilities, and intermediate care facilities.

Incarcerated individuals must have their living arrangements coded correctly in the eligibility system. Information from the eligibility system will notify the claims payment system of the incarcerated status.

Certain “justice involved” individuals are not considered incarcerated and receive Medicaid without the incarceration restrictions on payments. An individual is not considered incarcerated, and would not be coded with the incarcerated living arrangement, when he is:
• On probation or parole, or subject to home confinement;
• Voluntarily residing in a public educational or vocational training institution for purpose of securing an education; or
• Voluntarily residing in a public institution while other living arrangements appropriate to the individual’s needs are being made.

• Participating in the Work Release program at one of the following facilities only:
  - Beckley Correctional Center
    111 S. Eisenhower Drive
    Beckley, WV 25801
    Phone: 304-256-6780
    Fax: 304-256-6782
  - Ohio County Correctional Center
    1501 Eoff Street
    Wheeling, WV 26003
    Phone: 304-238-1007
    Fax: 304-238-1009
  - Charleston Correctional Center
    1356 Hansford Street
    Charleston, WV 25301
    Phone: 304-240-6921
    Fax: 304-558-1537
  - Parkersburg Correctional Center
    225 Holiday Hills Drive
    Parkersburg, WV 26104
    Phone: 304-420-2443
    Fax: 304-420-2477

NOTE: For MEDICAID, Individuals residing in one of the Correctional Centers and participating in the Residential Substance Abuse Treatment (RSAT) Program are considered incarcerated.

2.2.3.B.2 State Psychiatric Hospitals

West Virginia has two State psychiatric hospitals: Mildred Mitchell Bateman Hospital and William R. Sharpe, Jr. Hospital. Individuals residing in these State psychiatric hospitals may receive Medicaid, if otherwise eligible.

An eligibility worker is out-stationed in each of these State psychiatric hospitals. If a family member or authorized representative makes an application at the local office, the application must be forwarded to the out-stationed Worker to verify the patient’s status. Normal application and eligibility procedures for these applicants apply.

➢ Forensic Patients
Individuals residing in a state facility who are identified as forensic patients may be eligible for Medicaid. However, payment is limited to Medicaid-covered services when admitted as an inpatient in a medical institution – such as a hospital, nursing facility, or intermediate care facility – for at least 24 hours.

Forensic patients must have their living arrangements coded as incarcerated in the data system. Information from the eligibility system will notify the Medicaid Management Information System (MMIS) data system of the Medicaid clients’ incarcerated status. All other residents of a state hospital must have their living arrangement coded as hospitalized. These individuals may receive Medicaid coverage when services are provided in the community, if otherwise eligible.

2.2.3.C Out-of-State Travel

2.2.3.C.1 Visiting

Temporary visits out of state with the intent to return do not affect the client’s state of residence for Medicaid and WVCHIP

2.2.3.C.2 Obtaining Vocational Training or Education (AFDC-Related)

When the Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR) establishes a plan for a child to leave the State to obtain vocational training or education, he continues to be a West Virginia resident.

When the DHHR does not establish a plan, the child continues to be a West Virginia resident if he does not meet the residence requirement of the state in which he lives.

2.2.3.C.3 Medical Care

If the client temporarily leaves his residence to obtain medical care or treatment, he continues to be considered a West Virginia resident.

See Chapter 24 for exceptions related to long term care.
2.2.3.D Students Not Living with a Parent or Other Responsible Adult

Modified Adjusted Gross Income (MAGI) Group and WVCHIP: The state of residence of a student is the state in which he lives.

EXCEPTION: A full-time student in West Virginia ages 18 to 22 is not considered a West Virginia resident if all the following criteria are met:
- Neither parent lives in West Virginia;
- The student is claimed as a tax dependent by someone in another state; and
- The student is applying on his own behalf.

AFDC-Related: The state of residence of a student is the specified relative’s state of residence.

SSI-Related: The state of residence of a student who is age 21 or older, or emancipated, is the state in which the individual is living with the intent to reside.

All Others: The state of residence of a student is the state in which he lives.
2.3 CITIZENSHIP STATUS

To be eligible to receive Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) benefits, WV WORKS, Medicaid, or WVCHIP the individual must be a resident of the United States, as a citizen or in a qualifying non-citizen status. See Chapter 15 for instructions regarding citizenship, non-citizenship status, and refugees.
2.4 COOPERATION WITH QUALITY CONTROL

A recipient of Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) benefits and/or Medicaid is required to cooperate with Quality Control (QC) if selected for a QC review.

2.4.1 Refusal to Cooperate

When a client refuses to participate or cooperate in the review, the benefit for which the QC review was attempted must be stopped after advance notice, except for Medicaid coverage for children, pregnant women, and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) clients. A sanction is applied to the pregnant woman after the postpartum period, even when she qualifies for another Medicaid coverage group.

The QC Reviewer advises the local office when a client refuses to cooperate. The memorandum includes the information needed to complete the QC review.

If the client reapplies before the QC review period ends, the Worker must not approve the benefit until the client agrees to cooperate and takes all steps necessary for the QC Reviewer to complete the review. When applicable, the Worker notifies the QC Reviewer that the individual has reapplied and wishes to cooperate in the QC review. Eligibility begins when the client completes the requirements to cooperate with QC.

If the client reapplies after the QC review period expires, the benefit may be approved only if the client supplies all information previously required by QC, as well as all information needed to establish current eligibility.

The QC review periods are as follows:

- SNAP benefits: October through the following September
- Medicaid: October through the following March; April through the following September

For SNAP, if the individual reapplies after 125 days from the end of the annual review period, the client is not required to cooperate with the QC Reviewer.

WV WORKS reviews are completed by the Division of Planning Quality Improvement (DPQI).
2.4.2 Failure to Cooperate

When a client fails to participate or cooperate in the review, benefits are not stopped, but case comments must be added in the case record.

The QC Reviewer notifies the local office when a client fails to cooperate. The memorandum includes the information needed.

The case comments must state that the household was randomly selected for a QC review, and that the client needs to contact the reviewer. All contact information provided in the memorandum from the QC Reviewer must be included in the case comments.

NOTE: The decision as to whether a client’s actions constitute a failure to cooperate or a refusal to cooperate is made by the QC Reviewer. The memorandum issued by the QC Reviewer will state the determination.
2.5 NON-DUPLICATION OF BENEFITS

A client may only receive benefits in one county and state except as specified below.

In some cases involving county transfers, different types of benefits may legitimately be received in different counties due to a delay in transferring the case. The Worker must try to avoid this, but the application must not be delayed an unreasonable amount of time.

2.5.1 SUPPLEMENTAL NUTRITION ASSISTANCE PROGRAM (SNAP)

No person may receive SNAP benefits in more than one assistance group (AG) for the same month.

EXCEPTION: Residents of shelters for battered persons. See Section 16.2.3.

2.5.2 WV WORKS

No person may be included in more than one WV WORKS AG for the same month.

2.5.3 MEDICAID AND WVCHIP

No person can receive Medicaid coverage in more than one AG concurrently, unless he receives coverage in one AG and is payee-representative or responsible party only for another AG.
2.6 PENALTY FOR DUPLICATION OF BENEFITS

The Worker must explore the possibility of intentional misrepresentation when the client is receiving benefits of any type in more than one county or state at the same time. See the Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR) Office of Inspector Generals (OIG) Common Chapters Manual for procedures involving misrepresentation.

Program benefits may be affected for those who intentionally receive duplicate benefits. These vary by program, as follows.

2.6.1 SUPPLEMENTAL NUTRITION ASSISTANCE PROGRAM (SNAP)

A client who has made a fraudulent statement or representation about his identity or place of residence in order to receive multiple SNAP benefits simultaneously is ineligible to receive SNAP benefits for a 10-year period. The 10-year period begins on the date the client is found guilty in a federal or state court or in an Administrative Disqualification Hearing (ADH). This applies to multiple benefits received in more than one state or in the same state. Conviction of, or ADH finding of, attempting to receive such multiple benefits carries the same disqualification penalty as actual receipt of the benefits.

2.6.2 WV WORKS

An individual who has made a fraudulent statement or representation about his place of residence in order to receive Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF), WV WORKS, SNAP benefits, Medicaid, or Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits simultaneously from two or more states, is ineligible to receive WV WORKS benefits for a 10-year period. The 10-year period begins on the date the individual is convicted in federal or state court. This does not apply when multiple benefits are received in the same state.

2.6.3 MEDICAID AND WVCHIP

There are no disqualification penalties for receipt of duplicate benefits.
2.7 ENUMERATION

2.7.1 THE ENUMERATION REQUIREMENT

2.7.1.A Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)

The Social Security Number (SSN) must be verified and entered into the eligibility system to satisfy the enumeration requirement.

The enumeration requirement is presumed to be met if the SNAP assistance group (AG) is Categorically Eligible and the AG member is currently receiving a benefit that required the SSN to be verified. If not, the SSN must be verified.

2.7.1.B WV WORKS and Medicaid

The SSN must be provided and entered into the eligibility system to satisfy the enumeration requirement. Verification is not routinely required.

Once the SSN is obtained and verified as required in Chapter 7, the client must not be required to provide or verify it again unless the identity of the individual or the validity of the number is questionable.

At the time of application, or when an individual requests to be added to an existing AG, the Worker must explain both the eligibility requirement of enumeration and the WV WORKS penalty for failure to comply with the requirement.

WV WORKS applicants must not be required to be enumerated as a condition of eligibility prior to approval. Enumeration requirements must be addressed on the Personal Responsibility Contract (PRC)/Self-Sufficiency Plan (SSP).

Medicaid applications may not be delayed or denied while the eligible individual verifies his SSN.
2.7.2 WHO MUST BE REFERRED TO APPLY FOR AN SSN

All individuals included in the SNAP, WV WORKS, Medicaid, or WVCHIP AG must be referred to the Social Security Administration (SSA) for an SSN if:

- A number has never been assigned to the individual; or
- A number was assigned, but the individual does not have the number.

A child eligible for Medicaid as a Continuously Eligible Newborn (CEN) is not required, as a condition of eligibility, to be enumerated. However, the mother should be encouraged to apply for an SSN for the child. The child must have an SSN by his first birthday.

An illegal/ineligible noncitizen who applies for Emergency Medicaid is not required, as a condition of eligibility, to be enumerated. However, a noncitizen who is enumerated must provide his SSN.

2.7.3 REFERRAL PROCEDURES

When necessary, the individual is referred to SSA using either SSA's Enumeration at Birth Project form or a DFA-HS-3, Referral to Social Security Administration.

2.7.3.A Enumeration at Birth Project

When the referral is made through the Enumeration at Birth Project, the application for an SSN is taken while the newborn is still in the hospital. Individuals in this Project receive form SSA-2853, Enumeration at Birth (EAB) Receipt, Message from the Social Security Administration, which states that the SSA is processing the newborn's application for an SSN.

2.7.3.B DFA-HS-3, Referral to SSA

When the referral is made using the DFA-HS-3, the Worker must:

- Complete the DFA-HS-3. A separate form must be completed for each individual who is being referred. The state identification number (510) and case number, eligibility system or Request for Assistance (RFA) number, if available, must be entered on the form. If there is no case number, the Worker enters seven 9s and the county number.

- Discuss the sources of verification of age, identity, and citizenship, listed on the back of the DFA-HS-3, which the individual must present to the SSA office. If necessary, the Worker assists the individual in obtaining these verifications.

- Ask the individual to hand-deliver the DFA-HS-3 to the SSA office, unless other arrangements have been agreed upon, through consultation between the Community Services Manager of the County Office, or his designee, and the SSA District Office Manager.

- Write a letter to the SSA when the individual being referred is physically unable to visit the SSA office. The letter must list the name and address of the individual being referred and the reason he cannot visit the office. A representative from the SSA office contacts the individual and processes an application for a SSN.

- Record that the DFA-HS-3 was completed.

- Ensure that the referral action is recorded on the local office enumeration log. Each local office must maintain a central log that lists:
  - The date of referral;
  - Case name;
  - Case number; and
  - Name of the individual referred.

This is necessary to assist in follow-up action.

2.7.4 TIME LIMITS

For SNAP benefits only, the application for the SSN must be made before eligibility is established. Those individuals who have an SSN must provide the number before eligibility is established.

EXCEPTION: Individuals who are eligible for SNAP Expedited Service must apply for or furnish the SSN, whichever is appropriate, before the second issuance.

For WV WORKS, the application for the SSN is part of the PRC/SSP and is not necessarily required before eligibility is established. Those individuals who have an SSN must provide the number as part of the PRC/SSP.
For Medicaid, an application may not be delayed or denied pending an individual's SSN verification. Individuals who are not eligible for an SSN, or do not have an SSN and are only eligible for a non-work SSN, do not need to provide proof of applying for one. The Worker must assign a Medicaid identification number in lieu of an SSN.

Medicaid No SSN Example 1: A mother and her child apply for Medicaid. Neither has an SSN. The application must be approved, if otherwise eligible.

Medicaid No SSN Example 2: A mother and her child apply for Medicaid. The child has an SSN, but the mother does not. The application is approved.

WV WORKS No SSN Example: A mother and her child apply for WV WORKS on January 3. Neither has an SSN. The Worker includes applying for SSNs on the PRC/SSP. The mother is scheduled for a kidney transplant on January 6. She is busy trying to work out childcare arrangements for her recovery period. She agrees that she will be able to apply for the SSN and return with verification of the application by February 15. The client is otherwise eligible and the application is approved.

2.7.5 FOLLOW-UP PROCEDURES

2.7.5.A SNAP

---

If the client does not report his SSN within 30 days of the first day of the first full month of participation, the Worker must contact him about the status of his SSN.

2.7.5.A.1 Client Has SSN

The Worker obtains the SSN from the client and enters it into the eligibility system. Verification of the SSN is required at the next redetermination if the number is not matched by the eligibility system with the SSA’s records.
2.7.5.A.2 Client Does Not Have SSN

➢ Application for SSN Was Not Made

If an individual who is to be included in the AG does not have an SSN, application for one must be made before eligibility is established. If the client can show good cause for not applying for an SSN in a timely manner, that client must be allowed to participate for one month, in addition to the month of application.

If the client is unable to obtain documents required by the SSA, the Worker must assist him in obtaining such documents. The client must show good cause monthly for failure to apply for an SSN to continue to participate.

➢ Individual Applied for SSN, but Has Not Yet Received Number

When the individual has applied for but not yet received the SSN, he may receive benefits.

2.7.5.A.3 Good Cause

The Worker determines monthly if the individual has good cause for not providing the SSN. If good cause exists, the individual remains eligible. Generally, the individual has good cause if, due to his religious beliefs or circumstances beyond his control, he is unable to comply with the requirement.

Good cause includes, but is not limited to:

- Lack of documentary or collateral evidence needed by SSA, as long as the client has made every effort to provide the information; or
- Delay in receipt of an SSN.

Because SSA has provisions for mail-in applications, good cause does not include delays due to:

- Illness
- Lack of transportation or temporary absences
2.7.5.B WV WORKS

When the client does not provide an SSN, or proof of application for an SSN, according to the plan established by the PRC/SSP, and does not have good cause, a sanction is applied after advance notice. The sanction is the same used for all instances of failure to comply with the terms of the PRC/SSP, as found in Chapter 14.

When the client provides proof of application for an SSN, according to the plan established by the PRC/SSP, or good cause, the PRC/SSP is then modified to show the date by which he must provide the SSN to the Worker.

2.7.5.C Medicaid

The Worker contacts the client at 30-day intervals until the SSN is received. Because application for an SSN is made before case or individual eligibility is established, any delay in the receipt of the SSN is assumed to be a delay at SSA. After receipt of the SSN, the client is issued a DFA-6 that specifies the length of time in which he is to provide the number. The time limit is 10 days.

The individual has good cause for not complying with the requirement due to his religious beliefs.

2.7.6 ENUMERATION CONTROLS

The eligibility system sends a daily alert to the Worker showing invalid SSNs.

2.7.7 PENALTY FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ENUMERATION REQUIREMENT

The penalty varies by program, as follows.
2.7.7.A SNAP

If an individual fails, without good cause, to comply with the enumeration requirements, he is excluded from the AG. If a specified relative fails to comply with the requirements for a child, that child only is excluded from the AG. If all AG members are involved, the application is denied, or the case is closed, whichever is appropriate.

The individual may negate the penalty only by providing the SSN to the Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR).

EXCEPTION: If a pregnant woman on Medicaid who is receiving SNAP benefits has a newborn added to the case under the Continuously Eligible Newborn (CEN) Medicaid coverage group, the newborn is not required to be enumerated as a condition of eligibility. However, the mother should be encouraged to apply for an SSN for the child.

---

The child must be enumerated by the time he reaches age one.

2.7.7.B WV WORKS

See Follow-up Procedures, above.

3.1 INTRODUCTION

This Chapter contains the policy for Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) benefits, WV WORKS, and all Medicaid coverage groups. It is used to determine:

- The Assistance Group (AG) - Who receives the benefit;
- The Income Group (IG) - Whose income and assets are counted; and
- The Needs Group (NG) - Whose needs are considered

The total income/assets of all persons in the IG is compared to the income/asset eligibility limits for the number of persons in the NG. This comparison determines if those in the AG are eligible to receive the benefit, and in some instances, the level of benefit for which they are eligible.
3.2 SNAPSHOT ELIGIBILITY DETERMINATION GROUPS

3.2.1 THE ASSISTANCE GROUP (AG)

3.2.1.A Who Must Be Included

The SNAP AG must include all eligible individuals who both live together and purchase food and prepare meals together, with the exception of residents of shelters for battered persons.

An individual cannot be a member of more than one SNAP AG in any month.

EXCEPTION: Residents of shelters for battered persons. See Chapter 16.

When an AG member is absent or is expected to be absent from the home for a full calendar month, he is no longer eligible to be included in the AG, and must be removed after advance notice.

The following sub-sections describe how different types of individuals are considered in the composition of a SNAP AG.

3.2.1.A.1 Individuals Living Alone

This is a one-person AG.

3.2.1.A.2 Spouses

Spouses are individuals who are legally married to each other under provisions of state law or those moving to West Virginia from states that recognize their relationship as a legal marriage.
3.2.1.A.3 Children under Age 18, Not Living with a Parent

Children under age 18 who live with and are under the parental control of an adult AG member who is not a parent, must be in the same AG as the member who exercises parental control. A child must be considered to be under parental control if he or she is financially or otherwise dependent on a member of the household.

3.2.1.A.4 Children under Age 22, Living with a Parent

Natural or adopted children and stepchildren who are under 22 years of age and who live with a parent must be in the same AG as that parent.

There is no required maximum/minimum amount of time the child must spend with a parent for the child to be included in the SNAP AG. If no one is receiving any SNAP benefits for the child, it is assumed that the living arrangements are not questionable and the child is added to the SNAP AG that wishes to add him. If the child is already listed in another SNAP AG or the other parent wishes to add the child to his SNAP AG, the parents must agree as to where the child “lives” and, ultimately, to which SNAP AG he is added. Where the child receives the majority of his meals, or the percentage of custody, must not be the determining factor for which parent receives SNAP for the child.

3.2.1.A.5 Individuals or Groups of Individuals Who Purchase and Prepare Together

A group of individuals who live together, and who customarily purchase food and prepare meals together, is an AG.

“Customarily” means purchasing food and preparing meals more than 50% of the time.

- Elderly and Disabled Individuals

A group of individuals who live together and purchase food and prepare meals together normally constitute a single AG. If the household contains an individual who meets all the elderly and disabled criteria listed below, that individual, his spouse, and their children under age 22 may form a separate AG, even if they purchase and prepare with others in the household.
The individual must fit the criteria for physical and/or mental disability as defined by Section 13.15.

- The gross countable income of others with whom the elderly and disabled individual resides (excluding the individual’s own income and the income of his or her spouse and their children) cannot exceed 165% FPL, which is shown in the E & D" column of Chapter 4, Appendix A. To determine countable income, the following rules apply:
  - Exclude the elderly and disabled individual, his or her spouse, and their children under 22 from the household size for the calculation
  - Gross income for the other members of the household is calculated using the same rules as a standard SNAP application
- At least one AG member is at least 60 years old; and
- Is unable to purchase food and prepare meals because he suffers from either a non-disease related, severe, permanent disability or a disability considered permanent under the Social Security Act (SSA) includes, but is not limited to:
  - Permanent loss of use of both hands, both feet, or one hand and one foot
  - Amputation of leg at hip
  - Amputation of leg or foot because of diabetes mellitus or peripheral vascular diseases
  - Total deafness, not correctable by surgery or hearing aid
  - Statutory blindness, except if due to cataracts or detached retina
  - IQ 59 or less, established after attaining age 16
  - Spinal cord or nerve root lesions resulting in paraplegia or quadriplegia
  - Multiple sclerosis in that there is damage of the nervous system because of scattered areas of inflammation which recurs and has progressed to varied interference with the function of the nervous system, including severe muscle weakness, paralysis, and vision and speech defects
  - Muscular dystrophy with irreversible wasting of the muscles with a significant effect on the ability to use the arms and/or legs
  - Impaired renal function due to chronic renal disease, documented by persistent adverse objective findings, resulting in severely reduced function that may require dialysis or kidney transplant
  - Amputation of a limb, current age 55 or older

NOTE: Refer to the Social Security Administration website for the updated list of conditions for disability
3.2.1.A.6  Individuals or Groups of Individuals Who Purchase and Prepare Separately

Individuals or groups of individuals living with others, but who customarily purchase food and prepare meals separately, are an AG.

“Customarily” means purchasing food and preparing meals more than 50% of the time. An occasional shared meal does not interfere with his separate AG status.

3.2.1.B  Who Cannot Be Included

The following individuals who reside with an AG are not considered AG members or are ineligible to be included in the AG. See The Income Group (IG) below for treatment of these individuals’ income.

3.2.1.B.1  Clients in Another State

Individuals may only receive SNAP from one state in any month. Therefore, individuals who have already received or will receive SNAP in another state are ineligible to be included in a SNAP AG in West Virginia for that same month. Exceptions for those in a shelter for battered persons can be found in Chapter 16.

3.2.1.B.2  Enumeration

Persons who fail to meet the enumeration requirements as found in Chapter 2 are ineligible until compliant.

3.2.1.B.3  Individuals Excluded by Law

Persons who are excluded by law and their periods of ineligibility are found below.
➢ Receipt of Simultaneous Multiple Benefits

When an individual is determined by an Administrative Disqualification Hearing (ADH) or Conviction in a State or Federal Court, Due to a Fraudulent Statement with Respect to Identity or Place of Residence.

Period of ineligibility: Excluded for 10 years.

➢ A Fleeing Felon

The individual is considered to be a fleeing felon only when a federal, state or local law enforcement officer acting in an official capacity:

- Presents an outstanding felony arrest warrant that conforms to one of the following codes from the National Crime Information Center Uniform Offense Classification Codes to obtain information on the client: Escape (4901), Flight to Avoid (prosecution, confinement, etc.) (4902), Flight Escape (4999); and

- States or documents that law enforcement is actively seeking to arrest the fleeing felon within 20 days.

Period of ineligibility: Ineligible while identified in this category.

➢ A Violator of Probation or Parole

The individual is considered to be a violator of probation or parole only if both of the following circumstances apply:

- Another agency or court determines that the individual violated a condition of his probation or parole imposed under federal or State law

- Federal, state, or local Law enforcement authorities are actively seeking the individual to enforce the conditions of the probation or parole. In order for the law enforcement authorities to be considered actively seeking the individual to enforce the conditions of the probation or parole, one of the following three criteria must be met:

  1. A federal, state, or local law enforcement agency submits a request for information from the Department of Health and Human (DHHR) and informs the DHHR that it intends to arrest an individual for a probation or parole violation within 20 days of the date that the law enforcement agency submitted its request.
2. A federal, state, or local law enforcement agency presents a felony arrest warrant that conforms to one of the following National Crime Information Center Uniform Offense Classification Codes to obtain information on the client: Escape (4901), Flight to Avoid (prosecution, confinement, etc.) (4902), and Flight-Escape (4999).

3. The DHHR requests information regarding whether or not an individual is a probation or parole violator from a federal, State, or local law enforcement agency, and that agency states that it intends to arrest the individual for a probation or parole violation within 30 days of the date that the DHHR requested the information.

   The Worker must give the law enforcement agency 20 days to respond to the request. If the law enforcement agency does not respond timely, the client is not considered to be a probation or parole violator until a response is received from the law enforcement agency. If the law enforcement agency states that it does not intend to arrest the individual within 30 days of the date of the DHHR’s request, then the client is not considered to be a probation or parole violator. If the law enforcement agency does intend to arrest the client within 30 days, then the Worker will follow up with the law enforcement agency after the 30-day period has expired. If, at that time, the law enforcement agency states that they did attempt to arrest the individual, then the Worker will take appropriate action to deny, decrease, or close the SNAP benefits at that time. If the law enforcement agency, after the 30-day period has expired, has not taken action to arrest the client, then the client is not considered to be a probation or parole violator. The Worker must enter case comments to document that the client had not been arrested.

   The Worker must act on the case timely while awaiting verification of whether a client is a probation or parole violator. If the verification is not received within the processing time frames, the client must not be considered a probation or parole violator. If verification is later received that the individual is a probation or parole violator, then appropriate action would be taken to update the case.

Period of ineligibility: Ineligible while identified in this category.

➢ Trafficking in SNAP Benefits Prior to 9/22/96, for an Amount Less Than $500

   That resulted in a conviction or agreement which results in a court finding, rather than a conviction or a signed disqualification agreement

   Period of ineligibility: Permanent exclusion.

➢ Convicted After 9/22/96 of Trafficking in SNAP Benefits Involving $500 or More

   Period of ineligibility: Permanent exclusion.
Convicted of a Felony Offense That Occurred After 8/22/96 Involving a Controlled Substance

The offense involved one of the following elements due to the possession, use or distribution of a controlled substance as defined by Section 802 (6) of the Controlled Substance Act:

- Misuse of SNAP benefits
- Loss of life
- The causing of physical injury

This does not include convictions which have since been expunged or reduced to lesser convictions as part of a criminal offense reduction program.

House Bill 2459 was passed by the West Virginia Legislature on February 20, 2019. This law requires that individuals with drug felonies, that do not include any of the three elements listed above be eligible for SNAP benefits. This law is effective 90 days from passage. In order for a convicted drug felon to be eligible for SNAP benefits in May 2019, the application must be received on or after May 21, 2019.

Period of ineligibility: Permanent exclusion

There is no period of ineligibility for a drug felony conviction, that does not result in misuse of SNAP benefits, loss of life or the causing of physical injury.

3.2.1.B.4 Ineligible Noncitizen

Individuals who do not meet the citizenship or eligible noncitizen status are ineligible to participate in SNAP and may not be a separate AG. When an individual indicates inability or unwillingness to provide documentation of noncitizen status, that client is classified as an ineligible noncitizen.

The income of the ineligible noncitizen is deemed and expenses are prorated according to Section 4.4. Eligibility is determined for the remaining eligible AG members. See Chapter 15.

Once the Worker determines the individual is an ineligible noncitizen and would normally be included in the AG, no additional status, such as student, is determined.

Ineligible Noncitizen Example: An ineligible noncitizen lives with her 15-year-old child who was born in the United States (U.S.) and is a citizen. The ineligible noncitizen is attending college and does not meet an exception to the student... policy. Her countable income and assets are deemed according to the policy for ineligible noncitizens.

3.2.1.B.5 Intentional Program Violation (IPV)

Persons who have been found guilty of an IPV are disqualified as follows:

- First offense: One year
- Second offense: Two years
- Third offense: Permanent

3.2.1.B.6 Trafficking SNAP Benefits for Controlled Substances

Persons found by a federal, state, or local court to have exchanged SNAP benefits for a controlled substance, when the trafficking offense does not meet the criteria outlined above as excluded by law, are disqualified as follows:

- First offense: Two years
- Second offense: Permanent

This penalty does not require a court conviction, but may also be imposed when there is an agreement that results in a court finding.

3.2.1.B.7 Unborn Children

The AG cannot receive SNAP benefits for an unborn child.

3.2.1.B.8 Work Requirement Penalized Individuals

This includes persons who have been penalized for failure to comply with SNAP work requirements as found in Chapter 14, even when living with others not affected by the penalty.
3.2.1.C.1  Those Who Do Not Purchase Food and Prepare Meals Together

Other individuals who share living quarters with the AG, but who do not customarily purchase food and prepare meals and are not required to be included in the AG. These individuals may apply as a separate AG.

3.2.1.C.2  Roomer

An individual or group of individuals to whom a household furnishes lodging for compensation, but not meals, is considered a roomer. This individual or group of individuals may be a separate AG.

3.2.1.C.3  Boarder

If the AG so requests, an individual or group of individuals to whom a household furnishes lodging and meals and who pays a reasonable monthly payment for board (lodging and meals), may receive SNAP benefits as part of the AG with which he lives. See below for determining boarder status.

An individual or group of individuals to whom a household furnishes lodging and meals, but who pays less than a reasonable amount is not considered a boarder, and is included with the same AG as the person who provides the room and board.

➢  Commercial Boarding Houses

Residents of commercial boarding houses that are licensed to offer meals and lodging for compensation with the intent of making a profit are not eligible to participate in SNAP.

➢  Household Boarding

An individual or group of individuals to whom a household furnishes lodging and meals and who pays a reasonable monthly payment for board, cannot participate in SNAP independently, but may receive SNAP benefits as part of the AG with which he lives, if the AG so requests. If the AG does not wish to include the boarders, they are considered non-AG members, and may not receive benefits as a separate AG.
To be considered a boarder, it is necessary to determine if an individual pays a reasonable monthly payment for board.

A reasonable monthly payment is defined as one of the following:

- More than two meals daily: An amount equal to or exceeding the maximum monthly benefit allotment for the appropriate size of the boarder AG; or
- Two meals or less daily: An amount equal to or exceeding two-thirds of the monthly benefit allotment for the appropriate size of the boarder AG.

➢ Those Who May Not Be Household Boarders

The following individuals cannot be considered household boarders and may not constitute a separate AG.

- An individual paying less than a reasonable amount for board must not be considered a boarder, but must be considered as a member of the household providing the board, along with a spouse or children living with him.

3.2.1.C.4 Foster Children

Foster child is the designation for a child who is formally placed by a court or state child welfare agency. Foster children and children for whom guardianship payments are made under any state’s demonstration project are considered household boarders, regardless of the amount of monthly payment.

These children cannot be a separate AG. The AG in which they reside can choose to include or exclude these children.

3.2.1.C.5 Live-In Attendants

Individuals who reside with an AG to provide medical, housekeeping, child care, or other similar personal services may be a separate AG. If the live-in attendant is a relative, other than a parent or child who moved in with the AG to provide these services, the individual is considered a live-in attendant. If the relative lived in the home prior to the need for these services, or would live with the AG whether or not the services were provided, the attendant is considered a member of the AG.
3.2.1.C.6 Residents of a Group Living Facility (GLF)

➢ Who Is an Eligible Resident

A resident of a GLF, as defined in Section 16.2, is eligible when he is:

- Blind; or
- Meets the SNAP definition of disabled found in Section 13.15.2.

Only the SNAP client must meet one of the above requirements, not all of the GLF residents.

If a client receives RSDI, SSI, or any other benefit based on criteria other than disability, and wishes to receive SNAP benefits, he is eligible only if:

- He also meets the definition of disabled found in Section 13.15; or
- It is a requirement that the resident be disabled or blind to reside in the GLF, and the GLF has determined that the aged client meets its definition of disability or blindness; and
- He is a resident of a non-profit Adult Family Care or Personal Care Home approved by the appropriate state licensing division.

➢ Determining the AG

The residents of a GLF may each be a separate AG or may be combined in one AG, depending on the wishes of the GLF. When the GLF is the authorized representative, the client must be approved as a one-person AG. See Section 16.2.

3.2.1.D Able-Bodied Adults Without Dependents (ABAWD)

3.2.1.D.1 Definitions for ABAWD Purposes Only

ABAWD

ABAWD is a population of individuals who are age 18 or older, but not yet age 50. An individual who turns 18 becomes an ABAWD in the month following their birthday. An individual is no longer an ABAWD in the month of their 50th birthday.
ADDITIONAL THREE-MONTH PERIOD
Three consecutive months of SNAP benefits after regaining eligibility by fulfilling the ABAWD work requirement.

COUNTABLE MONTHS
Months in which the client receives a full monthly benefit while not exempt or meeting the ABAWD work requirement.

DEPENDENTS
For ABAWD purposes only, any member of the SNAP AG under the age of 18.

FULFILLING THE ABAWD WORK REQUIREMENT
Working and/or participating in an allowable ABAWD work activity for 20 hours per week or 80 hours per month.

IN-KIND SERVICES
In-kind services are defined as any labor that results in an individual receiving an in-kind income/payment as defined in Section 4.2.

ISSUANCE LIMITED COUNTY (ILC)
An issuance limited county is a county with enforced specified time limits for the ABAWD population to be eligible for SNAP benefits. Current counties are Berkeley, Cabell, Doddridge, Greenbrier, Hampshire, Harrison, Jefferson, Kanawha, Marion, Monongalia, Monroe, Morgan, Ohio, Pendleton, Preston, Putnam, Taylor and Tucker.

NON-ISSUANCE LIMITED COUNTY (NILC)
A non-issuance limited county is a county without enforced specified time limits for the ABAWD population to be eligible for SNAP benefits.

36-MONTH PERIOD
A fixed period for all individuals regardless of client’s status or the county or state of residence.

THREE-MONTH LIMIT
First full three months of SNAP benefits received without meeting the ABAWD work requirements or being exempt.

REGAINING ELIGIBILITY
Clients regain eligibility by meeting the ABAWD work requirement for a 30-day period prior to application or meet an exemption.
SNAP EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING (SNAP E&T)
The SNAP E&T program is to provide SNAP participants with opportunities to gain skills, training, or experience that will improve their employment prospects and reduce reliance on SNAP benefits.

UNPAID WORK
Labor for an individual outside the AG or organization in which a person would traditionally be paid, but the client has chosen not to seek payment.

WORK
For ABAWD purposes only, work is defined as any activity performed for monetary compensation, for in-kind services, or unpaid work.

3.2.1.D.2 ABAWD Eligibility

For SNAP AGs, any individual who meets the definition of an ABAWD and who is normally required to be included in the AG can only receive benefits when he is otherwise eligible and:

- Resides in a Non-Issuance Limited County (NILC);
- Meets the work requirements outlined below or meets an exemption listed below;
- Is in his first three-month period while not meeting the ABAWD work requirement or being exempt within the 36-month period; or
- Regains eligibility after meeting the ABAWD work requirement and is in his additional three-month period, which must be consecutive months.

For detailed information for each of the bullets above, see below.

3.2.1.D.3 ABAWD Work Requirement

All SNAP work requirements in Chapter 14 also apply to ABAWDs.

An ABAWD must meet the following ABAWD work requirements, in addition to the SNAP work requirements in Chapter 14, to be eligible.
All work hours must be verified, including in-kind services and unpaid work. See Verification Requirements for Work Requirements found in Chapter 7.

As long as an ABAWD is exempt as found in the exemptions below or meets any of the requirements below, he may receive SNAP benefits, if otherwise eligible. Otherwise, he is ineligible once he has received SNAP benefits for three months without being exempt or meeting the ABAWD work requirement. The three months need not be consecutive and includes SNAP benefits received from another state.

The ABAWD work requirement is met by either:

- Working at least 20 hours per week or 80 hours a month;
- Participating in a work program such as, but not limited to: WorkForce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) or a refugee resettlement program, at least 20 hours per week or 80 hours per month; or
- Participating in a SNAP E&T program for the required number of hours. Individuals who do not meet an exemption listed below and who are not participating in another program or working 20 hours per week or 80 hours in a month must be referred to the SNAP E&T program.

While a client may choose not to cooperate with the SNAP E&T program, a client may not opt out of the ABAWD work requirement. A client may choose to cooperate with SNAP E&T at any time.

NOTE: Self-directed job search or job search training are not part of the SNAP E&T work program.

---

3.2.1.D.4 Exemptions From ABAWD Time Limits and ABAWD Work Requirements

SNAP benefits received while exempt do not count toward the three-month limit.

An individual is exempt if he:

- Receives SNAP benefits in a SNAP AG that contains an individual under the age of 18, even if the household member who is under 18 is not eligible for SNAP himself;
- Is responsible for the care of an incapacitated person, whether or not the person receiving the care resides with the client, and whether or not the incapacitated person is a member of the AG. The incapacity of the person must be verified through a written statement from a doctor, physician’s assistant, nurse, nurse practitioner, designated representative of the physician’s office, or a licensed or certified psychologist.
Caring for an incapacitated person must prevent the client from being able to complete a work activity. If questionable, written verification is required.

- Is receiving Unemployment Compensation Insurance (UCI). An individual who has applied for, but is not yet receiving unemployment compensation is also exempt if he is complying with the unemployment application process, including those applying out of state. This includes persons receiving benefits under the Trade Readjustment Allowance (TRA);

- Is certified as physically or mentally unfit for employment according to the provisions in Section 13.15;

- Is receiving VA disability income, of any percentage as part of being declared disabled by the VA;

- Is pregnant, regardless of the expected date of delivery. The pregnancy must be verified;

- Is a regular participant in a drug addiction or alcoholic treatment and rehabilitation program when the participation in this program would prevent the individual from meeting the work requirement or participating in an employment/training program the required number of hours. When exempting ABAWDs due to participating in a drug addiction or alcoholic treatment and rehabilitation program, the Worker must verify the number of hours the client must commit to the program to determine if the individual is exempt;

- Is a student enrolled at least half-time in any recognized school, training program, or institution of higher education. Students enrolled at least half-time in an institution of higher education must still meet the student eligibility requirements found above to be eligible for SNAP;

- Is hired for work at least 30 hours per week;

- Is hired for work paying the equivalent of at least 30 hours times the federal minimum wage per week; or

- Is the recipient of a 15% exemption through the Division of Family Assistance (DFA). For any month in which a 15% exemption has been granted, a case comment will be entered into the eligibility system.

These exemptions qualify the individual to participate immediately, if otherwise eligible. These exemptions are only applicable to the ABAWD time limit and ABAWD work requirement and do not automatically exempt the individual from the SNAP work requirements in Chapter 14.

While the individual is exempt, he is not required to regain eligibility by completing any work hours. See below for regaining eligibility.
Exemption Example 1: An ABAWD attends a methadone clinic once a month for a total of two hours to refill a methadone prescription. The client does not attend any additional counseling or treatment. Because this client is an ABAWD, the Worker verifies the number of hours and determines that this drug addiction treatment and rehabilitation program does not prevent the client from meeting the work requirements or participating in an employment or training program.

Exemption Example 2: An ABAWD enters a specialized hospital for treatment for addiction on April 1. As part of the program, the client is expected to live at the hospital and receive treatment until April 20. Since the client is enrolled in a program that does not allow the client to leave the hospital, this program prevents the ABAWD from meeting the work requirements or participating in an employment or training program.

3.2.1.D.5 Determining the 36-Month Period

For all individuals, regardless of client’s status or the county or state of residence, the first 36-month period began January 2016. The 36-month period remains fixed.

Receiving SNAP months without being exempt or meeting the work requirement in another state counts towards the client’s three-month limit in West Virginia. The worker must only count such months within the current 36-month period.

3.2.1.D.6 Determining the Three-Month Limit

Months in which the client received prorated benefits do not count toward the three-month limit. When circumstances change so that an ILC ABAWD, who has been exempt or meeting the Requirement, is no longer meeting an exemption or the work requirement, the first full countable month of the limit would be the month of benefits after the exemption ended.

NOTE: When an NILC becomes an ILC, the first month of the client’s three-month limit is the month in which the county becomes an ILC.

Mid-Month Job Loss Example: An ABAWD who works 25 hours per week loses his job the second week of February. February is not counted toward his three-month limit.
Prorated Allotment Example: An ABAWD applies on January 15 and is approved for a prorated allotment. January is not counted towards his three-month limit.

3.2.1.D.7 Regaining Eligibility

An individual whose benefits are denied or terminated under the ABAWD policy can become eligible again when:

- He no longer meets the definition of an ABAWD;
- He resides in an NILC;
- He is currently meeting the ABAWD work requirement; or
- He becomes exempt as specified above.

Individuals who regain eligibility by meeting one of the standards above must maintain eligibility monthly by continuing to meet those standards.

3.2.1.D.8 Qualifying For an Additional Three-Month Period

Once the client has received their first three months and benefits have closed for failure to meet eligibility requirements, eligibility for the additional three months of SNAP is only regained by:

- Having worked 80 hours in a 30-day period; or
- Participating for a month in an employment or training program; and
- Neither is continuing.

The three months must be consecutive, once the period begins, with no break in participation. This is the last time in the 36-month period that he may be eligible without meeting the work requirement or being exempt.

Prorated months do not count toward the three-consecutive-month limit.

The additional three-month period does not begin until the month after the individual is no longer meeting the ABAWD work requirement.

After this additional consecutive three-month limit expires, he may only become eligible again by complying with the requirements to regain eligibility.

Additional Three-Month Period Example 1: An ABAWD individual participated in a SNAP E&T activity for 80 hours in a 30-day period. The client reapplied.
March 17 and received a prorated benefit from that date. He continued to meet the ABAWD work requirement with SNAP E&T through June. In July, he did not meet the ABAWD work requirement or an exemption, so the case started the additional three-month period of July through September.

Additional Three-Month Period Example 2: Same situation as above. During the additional three-month period for July through September, the ABAWD failed to complete his August review and the case was closed in August. The ABAWD reapplied on September 10 and currently is not meeting an ABAWD work requirement or an exemption. The application will be denied since there was a break in participation during the additional three consecutive months from July through September.

3.2.1.E Students

A student is an individual who is enrolled at least half time in a recognized school, training program or institute of higher education. A student enrolled at an institute of higher education is ineligible to participate in SNAP unless the individual qualifies for one of the exemptions described below.

- An institution of higher education is defined as a business, technical, trade, or vocational school that normally requires a high school diploma or its equivalent for enrollment in the curriculum, or a college or university that offers degree programs whether or not a high school diploma is required for a particular curriculum.
- For this definition, a college includes a junior, community, two-year, or four-year college.

NOTE: An individual enrolled at least half time in a school or training program that does not meet the definition of an institution of higher education is eligible to participate in SNAP, providing the individual meets all other criteria. Vocational schools which are a substitute for high school are not considered institutions of higher education.

Students who live in a dormitory operated by the school and receive the majority of their meals from the school are ineligible to participate in SNAP regardless of whether they meet an exception to the policy. See Section 2.2.1.

3.2.1.E.1 Student Exemptions
A student meets an exemption if he is:

- Under age 18;
- Age 50 or over;
- He is physically or mentally unfit for employment. An individual who meets the definition of disability found in Section 13.15 is considered unfit for employment. Other individuals may be considered unfit for employment if it is verified through a written statement from a licensed medical professional or if it is obvious to the worker. An individual who meets the definition of unfit for employment, but not disability, should not be coded as disabled in the eligibility system;
- Participating in an on-the-job training program. This does not include the practical experience requirements that may be part of some courses of study, i.e., student teaching, internships, etc.;
  - A person is considered to be participating in on-the-job training, and thus not considered a student, during the period of time that he is being trained by the employer. He is considered a student, only during the period of time that he is attending classes.

  On the Job Training Example: Mr. Azalea is in a program that requires that he attend classes full-time at an institution of higher education for 10 weeks and then be trained by an employer for an additional 10 weeks. Mr. Azalea is considered to be participating in on-the-job training only during the 10-week training period. During the 10-week period Mr. Azalea is only attending classes, he is considered a student.

- Employed at least 20 hours per week or 80 hours a month, and is paid for the employment. This average must use a 30-day lookback period to determine if the student meets the 80-hour requirement. The 30-day period should be the same as the minimum lookback period for SNAP income;
  - Unlike normal work registration, a student cannot substitute wages equivalent to 20 times the minimum hourly wage, but must actually work at least 20 hours a week or 80 hours a month, regardless of the amount of wages.
  - However, self-employed persons must be employed at least 20 hours per week or 80 hours a month, and receive weekly earnings at least equal to the federal minimum wage multiplied by 20 hours or monthly earnings equal to the federal minimum wage multiplied by 80 hours.
- Participating in a state or federally financed College Work Study (CWS) program during the regular school year;
Participation means that the student has been approved for CWS during the school term and anticipates actually working during that time.

To qualify for this exemption, the student must be approved for CWS at the time of application.

The exemption begins with the month in which the school term begins or the month CWS is approved, whichever is later. Once begun, the exemption continues until the end of the month in which the school term ends, or it becomes known that the student refused an assignment. The exemption does not continue between school terms when there are breaks of a full month or longer, unless the student is participating in CWS during the break.

- Included in a WV WORKS benefit;
- Assigned to or placed in an institution of higher education through one of the following:
  - Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA)
  - Section 236 of the Trade Act of 1974
  - An employment and training program for low-income households that is operated by a state or local government when one or more of the program’s components is at least equivalent to SNAP E&T
  - The SNAP E&T

NOTE: A student enrolled in a program which is approved through the SNAP E&T program and prepares the individual for an occupation listed in the West Virginia State SNAP E&T Plan (see Chapter 17, Appendix B) is initially eligible for SNAP benefits, if otherwise eligible, even if the individual is not currently a participant in SNAP E&T. The student should be referred to SNAP E&T after SNAP approval. If the student meets no other exemption, then the student must be informed during the interview that his ongoing SNAP eligibility is contingent upon his continued participation with SNAP E&T. If the student fails to participate with SNAP E&T and meets no other exemption, then the student becomes ineligible for SNAP after proper advance notice.

If the student is enrolled in a program of study which meets the standards of the SNAP E&T program but does not prepare the individual for an occupation listed in the West Virginia State SNAP E&T Plan, exceptions may be made by the Division of Family Assistance Policy Unit. The worker should pend the case and cooperate with the Policy Unit in obtaining information necessary to approve or disapprove the program for SNAP E&T eligibility.
• Responsible for the care of a child under the age of six;

• Responsible for the care of an AG member who has reached the age of 6 but is under age 12 and adequate child care is not available to enable the student to attend class and satisfy the 20 hour work requirement or participate in a state or federally financed CWS program during the regular school year; or

• Is a single parent (natural, adoptive, or stepparent), regardless of marital status, and is responsible for an AG member under age 12, regardless of the availability of adequate child care, and is enrolled full-time, as defined by the institution.
  o This applies in situations where only one natural, adoptive, or stepparent, regardless of marital status, is in the same AG with the child.
  o If no natural, adoptive, or stepparent is in the AG with the child, another full-time student in the same AG as the child may qualify for this exemption, if he has parental control over the child.

The following table summarizes the student exemption policy based on the age of the child and the number of parents in the AG.

<table>

<tr>
<th>Age of Child for whom Student is Responsible</th>

*The Worker must determine on a case-by-case basis whether or not the parent who is not a student or the student’s spouse who is an AG member is available to provide adequate child care.

• Paternity does not have to be established to qualify as a father for these purposes. Only when the adults involved do not agree about the paternity of the child is any verification of paternity required.

See Student Exemption Examples below for examples of student AG composition.

3.2.1.E.2 Definition of Enrollment and Participation
A student is considered to be enrolled the day he is scheduled to begin classes at an institution of higher education. Enrollment is defined as continuing during normal periods of class attendance, vacation or recess, unless the student graduates, is suspended or expelled, drops out, or does not intend to register for the next normal term (excluding summer school).

3.2.1.E.3 Examples of Student Exemption AG Composition

Student Exemption Example 1: A WV WORKS mother is a student. She has two children age 13 and age 15. The only income they receive is her WV WORKS benefit. She qualifies for the student exemption because she is a WV WORKS participant.

Student Exemption Example 2: In a two-person AG, both the husband and wife are students. They do not have an exemption to student eligibility, so they are ineligible.

Student Exemption Example 3: Mr. and Mrs. Freesia receive WV WORKS and have four children. Cedar, one of Mr. and Mrs. Freesia's children, is a 21-year-old college student who lives at home. Cedar does not meet any of the exemptions to the student policy. Cedar cannot be included in the SNAP AG, but, if they are otherwise eligible, SNAP benefits can be approved for Mr. and Mrs. Freesia and the three other children.

Student Exemption Example 3.1: The situation is the same as the previous example, except Cedar is 17 years old. He is eligible to be included in the SNAP AG because he is under age 18, meeting a student exemption.

Student Exemption Example 4: Iris, who is a student, wants SNAP benefits for herself and her 10-year-old child Jasmine. While Iris is at school, her mother, who lives across town, takes care of Jasmine. Iris has the responsibility for the care of a dependent child between the ages of 6 and 12. Adequate child care is available, but because Iris is a single parent, she qualifies for an exemption.

Student Exemption Example 5: Mr. Willow, Ms. Holly, and their 10-year-old child Laurel apply for SNAP benefits. Ms. Holly is a student and is responsible for the care of Laurel. While Ms. Holly is in school her mother, who lives across town, takes care of Laurel. Her mother is only willing to keep Laurel while Ms. Holly attends school, but not if she works. Mr. Willow works and there is no other available child care. Ms. Holly meets the student exemption due to the lack of child care.
Student Exemption Example 5.1: Same situation as above, except Ms. Holly’s mother is willing to keep Laurel if Ms. Holly works. The student exemption is not met; therefore, Ms. Holly is ineligible for SNAP benefits.

Student Exemption Example 6: A SNAP AG consists of a 10-year-old child, his mother, and his stepfather. The stepfather is a full-time student and is responsible for the care of the child due to the mother’s disability. The mother is, however, able to look after the child. The stepfather does not qualify for an exemption to the student policy based on caring for a child, since adequate child care is available.

Student Exemption Example 6.1: Same situation as above except that the mother is not able to look after the child. There is no other child care available. The stepfather qualifies for an exemption based on having responsibility for the care of a child between 6 and 12 without adequate child care available.

Student Exemption Example 7: Olive, a married woman, separates from her husband, and she and 10-year-old daughter Myrtle move out of the home. Olive is in college full-time, and her mother cares for Myrtle while Olive goes to school. Because Olive is a single parent enrolled in school full-time, she qualifies for an exemption to the student policy.

3.2.1.F Strikers

When the AG includes an individual who is on strike, the AG is ineligible for the duration of the strike unless:

- The AG was eligible for or receiving SNAP benefits the day prior to the strike; or
- The individual who is participating in the strike is exempt from work requirements for any reason other than employment. Refer to Chapter 14.

To determine if an AG containing a striker is eligible, the Worker must determine pre-strike eligibility and current eligibility. See Section 4.4.4.

3.2.2 THE INCOME GROUP (IG)

The income group includes all AG members and all individuals who live with the AG and would otherwise be included in the AG if not ineligible, disqualified, or excluded by law. This includes ineligible non-citizens, those excluded by law, disqualified due to an IPV or for trafficking SNAP for a controlled substance, and those who fail to meet the enumeration requirement. See Section 4.4 to determine how to count the income and deductions.

Ineligible students and individuals who are ineligible due to receipt in another state are not included in the IG.

3.2.3 THE NEEDS GROUP (NG)

The income limit for the number of eligible individuals in the AG is used to determine eligibility and the amount of the benefit.

Normally, all AG members are included in one case number. However, some SNAP AG members may be eligible for other benefits that, due to eligibility limitations, must be issued in another case number.

3.2.4 EXAMPLES OF AG COMPOSITION

AG Composition Example 1: Miss Cedar, age 20, lives with her parents. She is unmarried, has no children, and is employed. She purchases food and prepares her meals separately. However, because she is under age 22, Miss Cedar must be in an AG with her parents.

AG Composition Example 2: Miss Birch, age 25, lives with her mother. She purchases food and prepares meals separately. Because she is age 22 or over, and purchases food and prepares meals separately, she is a separate AG.

AG Composition Example 2.1: Same situation as the previous example, except Miss Birch purchases food and prepares meals with her mother. Miss Birch and her mother must be in an AG together.

AG Composition Example 3: Miss Oak, age 17, is a high school student who is employed part-time. She lives with her aunt, age 36, who exercises parental control over her. Miss Oak and her aunt must be in the same AG.

AG Composition Example 4: Sage, age 17, and Thyme, age 18, are brothers. Their parents are deceased and the brothers live together. They purchase food and prepare meals separately. They each qualify as a separate AG as they do not live with a parent or any other adult who exercises parental control.
AG Composition Example 5: Ms. Carnation, age 27, has two children, ages 1 and 2. She moves back in with her parents after she is divorced. The grandmother cares for the children and feeds them their meals. Miss Carnation purchases food for only herself and her two children, but works at night and eats separately. Miss Carnation and her children are an AG, but the grandmother wants the children included with her because she feeds them their meals. Children under age 22 and their parents must be in the same AG. The two AGs in the household are as follows: grandmother and grandfather in one; Miss Carnation and her two children in another.

AG Composition Example 6: Mr. Forrest has been laid off. He and his family move in with friends. The friends are providing them all their meals since Mr. Forrest and his family have no income. Mr. Forrest indicates that the only reason they are not purchasing food and preparing their meals separately from their friends is that they have no money. Once Mr. Forrest and his family receive SNAP benefits, they will purchase food and prepare meals separately. Mr. Forrest and his family qualify as a separate AG. The Worker may set a control in the eligibility system to check with the clients after they begin receiving SNAP to confirm the situation.

AG Composition Example 6.1: Same situation as the previous example, except Mr. Forrest indicates his family will continue to purchase food and prepare meals with his friends, even after receipt of SNAP benefits. The Forrest family and their friends must be in the same AG.

AG Composition Example 7: Mr. and Mrs. Geranium, both age 35, live with Mr. Geranium's mother. They purchase food and prepare meals separately from the mother. Separate AG status is approved.

AG Composition Example 8: Mr. and Mrs. Arbor, ages 27 and 30, live with Mrs. Arbor's elderly and disabled mother. They purchase food and prepare meals together. The elderly and disabled requirements are met, so two AGs are established: one for Mr. and Mrs. Arbor, and one for the elderly and disabled mother.

AG Composition Example 8.1: Same situation as the previous example, except the assets of Mr. and Mrs. Arbor exceed the limit. The elderly and disabled mother is still eligible to participate as a separate AG.

AG Composition Example 8.2: Same situation as the previous example, except that the assets and the income of Mr. and Mrs. Arbor exceed the limits. Neither AG is eligible to participate.

AG Composition Example 9: Ms. Marigold reports that she has moved in with her grandson. He has a good job and does not receive SNAP benefits. She states that she purchases food and prepares her meals separately from her grandson. She prepares her meals in the kitchen but takes her meals in her living area. Ms. Marigold customarily purchases food and prepares her meals separate and apart from others. She is a separate AG.

AG Composition Example 9.1: Same scenario as above but Ms. Marigold becomes ill. She can no longer do her own shopping and cooking. She meets the definition of elderly and disabled according to policy. Ms. Marigold must depend on her grandson and his housekeeper to purchase food and prepare meals for her. They use her SNAP benefits and money to purchase her food and they prepare her meals. She continues to take her meals in her living area.

Although Ms. Marigold is now dependent on her grandson and his housekeeper to purchase food and prepare her meals, she can continue to be a separate AG for SNAP purposes, regardless of the grandson’s income, because she had previously established that she customarily purchases food and prepares her meals separate and apart from others and she continues to do so.

AG Composition Example 9.2: Same scenario as above, except Ms. Marigold decided that she liked someone else doing the shopping and cooking and she likes spending meal time with her grandson. Since she no longer purchases food and prepares her own meals and she takes most of her meals with her grandson, Ms. Marigold no longer meets the criteria of purchasing food and preparing her meals separate and apart from others.

Under this scenario, if Ms. Marigold decides that she wants to receive SNAP under the elderly and disabled policy as a separate household, then the Worker must determine if the grandson’s income exceeds 165% of the FPL. If it does, then Ms. Marigold cannot be considered a separate household for SNAP purposes.

AG Composition Example 10: Mr. Iris, age 25, lives with his parents and pays them a reasonable amount for room and board. Because of the parent/child relationship, Mr. Iris cannot be considered a boarder, even though he is over age 21, nor can he be a separate AG. He may be included in an AG with his parents if they so request.
3.3 DEPENDENT CHILD/SPECIFIED RELATIVE

In order to receive WV WORKS benefits, Parents/Caretaker Relatives Medicaid, or Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC)-Related Medicaid, the dependent child must meet the following requirements.

3.3.1 AGE

3.3.1.A WV WORKS

Children must be under the age of 18, whether or not they are attending school or training. A child who reaches age 18 on the first day of the month is not eligible for benefits for that month.

EXCEPTION: A child over 18 may be included in the benefit group up to age 19 while he:
- is a full-time student in a secondary school, or the equivalent level of vocational or technical training, including summer breaks; and
- meets all other eligibility requirements.

A child who reaches age 19 on the first day of the month is not eligible for that month.

3.3.1.B Parents/Caretaker Relatives, AFDC-Related Medicaid

Children must be under the age of 18, whether or not they are attending school or training. A child who reaches age 18 on the first day of the month is not eligible for benefits for that month.

EXCEPTION: A child over age 18 may be included in the AFDC-Related benefit group when he:
- is a full-time student in a secondary school, or the equivalent level of vocational or technical training, including summer breaks;
- can be reasonably expected to complete the program before reaching age 19; and
- meets all other eligibility requirements.
Graduation ceremonies need not take place prior to the child reaching age 19. As long as all courses or training programs are fully completed prior to the child reaching age 19, the child is eligible.

3.3.2 LIVING WITH A SPECIFIED RELATIVE (WV WORKS), OR (PARENTS/CARETAKER RELATIVES MEDICAID, AFDC-RELATED MEDICAID)

The child must be living with a specified relative, who assumes primary responsibility for the child’s care, in a place established as the relative’s home. In order for an individual to be a caretaker relative, he must be a specified relative. Legal custody or guardianship of a child does not, in itself, qualify a person as a specified relative. A specified relative is any relation by blood, marriage, or adoption who is within the fifth degree of kinship to the dependent child, as shown in the table below.

<table>

<tr>
<th>Degree of Relationship</th>
<th>Natural or Adoptive Parents</th>
<th>Blood Relative</th>
<th>Step Relative</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>First Degree</td>
<td>Mother; father</td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>Second Degree</td>
<td>Brother; sister; grandparent; Half-sister; Half-brother</td>
<td>Stepbrother; stepsister; step-grandparent</td>
<td></td>

<tr>
<td>Third Degree</td>
<td>Great grandparent; aunt; uncle; nephew; niece</td>
<td>Step-great-grandparent; step-aunt; step-uncle; step-nephew; step-niece</td>

<tr>

<td>Great-great-grandparent; great-aunt; great-uncle; first cousin</td>

<td>Step-great-great-great-grandparent; step-great-great-aunt; step-great-great-uncle; step-first cousin once removed</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Under certain circumstances, eligibility continues during periods of separation of the child and the specified relative. Refer to Chapter 2.2.1.

A specified relative is defined as follows:

- Natural or adoptive parents.
  - If a child is living with his natural father and paternity has been legally established, the father is considered a specified relative; a relative of the father of a child born out-of-wedlock can qualify as a specified relative only if the child’s paternity has been established.

- Adoption procedures must be finalized in order for an adoptive parent to qualify as a specified relative.

NOTE: When an adoption is finalized, the ties between the natural parent(s), the natural parent’s family, and the child are severed. The natural parent(s) and the natural parent’s family do not retain a specified relationship unless the adoptive parent is also related. The specified relationships are then based on the adoptive family.

Adoption by a Relative Example: A set of paternal grandparents legally adopts a grandchild. The father of the child no longer has a specified relationship of parent to the child, but now has a specified relationship as the child’s brother.

NOTE: When parental rights have been severed, but no adoption has been finalized, the parent is no longer a specified relative, but all other relationships of the child are unaffected.

Severed Parental Rights Example: A father has all parental rights severed by a court order. The child goes to live with the father’s sister. The sister is still an aunt to the child and therefore a specified relative.

- Blood relative: Those of half-blood, brothers or sisters, grandparents, great-grandparents, great-great grandparents, great-great-great grandparents, uncles or aunts, great-uncles or aunts, great-great uncles or aunts, nephews or nieces, first cousins, first cousins once removed.

- The specified relationship exists even when a marriage terminates in death or divorce. Spouses of stepparents are not specified relatives.

Stepparent Example: A man and his wife have a child from his previous marriage living with them. They get a divorce, and the child continues to live with the wife, and she remarries. She still qualifies as a specified relative, as she is a former stepparent, but her new husband does not.
Spouses of Step-relatives Example: If a step-grandmother has two step-grandchildren living with her and she divorces her husband, she is still the former legal spouse of the children's grandfather, who is a specified relative. She is, therefore, a specified relative. If she were to remarry, her new spouse would not be a specified relative.

NOTE: For WV WORKS, it may be impossible for a relative to establish a home for a child who is in a foster home, or other place, without financial assistance before the child enters his home. The payment can be initiated any time within 30 days prior to the date the child actually goes to live with the specified relative. If DHHR made a Foster Care payment, a WV WORKS payment cannot be initiated for the same period because this results in a duplication of payments.

3.3.3 DEPRIVED OF PARENTAL SUPPORT AND CARE (PARENTS/CARETAKER RELATIVES MEDICAID, AFDC-RELATED MEDICAID)

The definition of a dependent child no longer requires the child to be deprived of parental support and care.

3.3.4 EMANCIPATION

Under West Virginia State law, emancipation occurs when:

- A child has been declared emancipated by a court; or
- A child marries.

3.3.4.A WV WORKS

The definition of dependent child for WV WORKS includes the requirement that any child, included in the AG as a dependent child, be unemancipated.
3.3.4.B  Parents/Caretaker Relatives Medicaid, AFDC-Related Medicaid

The emancipation status of a child has no bearing on eligibility for Parents/Caretaker Relatives Medicaid or AFDC-Related Medicaid.
3.4 WV WORKS ELIGIBILITY DETERMINATION GROUPS

3.4.1 THE ASSISTANCE GROUP (AG)

3.4.1.A Who Must Be Included

Whether or not an individual has income sufficient to meet his own needs or the needs of his dependents is not relevant when determining if the individual must be included in the AG.

A Supplemental Security Income (SSI) recipient, age 18 or over, cannot be included in the AG. See “Who Cannot Be Included” below.

The following individuals must be included in the AG:

- All minor, dependent, blood-related, and adoptive siblings who live in the same household with a specified relative.

  Specified Relative Example: Two children, Rose and Daisy, who have the same mother but different fathers, live with Rose’s paternal grandparents. The children are blood-related and would normally be required to be included in the same AG. Rose’s grandparents are not specified relatives of Daisy; therefore, Daisy is not eligible for WV WORKS: however, Rose would be.

- The parent(s) of the child(ren) identified in the example above when the parent(s) lives with the child(ren), unless he falls under any of the categories of who must not be included listed below.

- In cases of joint custody, only the custodial parent is included. The custodial parent is the one with whom the child(ren) lives more than 50% of the time in a given month. The custodial parent of any child may change from month to month. If the child lives with each parent exactly 50% of the time, the parents must decide who the custodial parent is.

- Parents who attend school, work, or are looking for work away from home, including those who work out of state, must be included, unless there is a legal separation.

- The legal spouse of the parent described above, regardless of the legal spouse’s legal relationship to the

  NOTE: The stepparent may not choose to be excluded when the parent is in the home.
child(ren), unless he falls under any of the categories of who must not be included listed below.

- All minor, dependent, blood-related, and adoptive children of the legal spouse of the parent, regardless of the relationship of the children to the other children in the home, provided they are living with a specified relative.
- The non-parent caretaker who has chosen to be included by signing the WV WORKS Caretaker Relative Option form (OFS-WVV-10) within the past 12 months.
- The parent(s) of an unemancipated minor parent (mp), even when the mp requests benefits for the child only. This situation would also include the blood-related siblings of the mp. Refer above for the legal spouse of the parent.

NOTE: When an individual is required to be in two or more AGs, the AGs must be combined.

3.4.1.B Who Must Not Be Included

Individuals who fit in at least one of the following categories are ineligible. When all members of the AG meet any of the criteria listed below, the entire case is ineligible. In addition, when all otherwise eligible children meet any of the criteria listed below, except receipt of foster care, adoption assistance, or SSI benefits for a dependent child is age 18 or over, the AG is ineligible.

NOTE: The caretaker relative may receive WV WORKS when there are no children in the AG if all the children are ineligible for WV WORKS only because:
- The children are age 18 or over and receive SSI benefits; or
- The children receive adoption assistance payments; or
- The children receive foster care payments.

- Individuals who are noncitizens and are ineligible because they have been sponsored by a private or public agency or organization, or because of deeming income from sponsor to noncitizen.
- Individuals who do not meet the citizenship requirements of Chapter 15.
- Individuals, age 18 or over, who are eligible for SSI benefits as determined by the Social Security Administration (SSA).
This includes individuals who are approved, but who have not yet received a payment and individuals for whom benefits are temporarily suspended due to overpayment.

- Individuals who are recipients of federal, state, or local foster care maintenance or an adoption assistance payment.
- The child(ren) of a minor parent (mp) when the minor parent (mp) is a recipient of federal foster care payment.
- An unemancipated minor parent (mp).
  - A currently unemancipated parent (whose youngest child is at least 12 weeks old) who has not completed high school, unless the parent(s) participates in, or in the case of an applicant, agrees to participate in: educational activities directed toward attainment of a high school diploma or equivalent; or, an alternative educational or training program.
  - A currently unemancipated parent, under age 18, and the child(ren) of such parent, who do not live with at least one parent of the mp.
  - See Section 3.3 for the definition of emancipation.

NOTE: If the household consists of an adult parent, mp and their child(ren), the adult parent does not need to live in a setting supervised by an adult for the adult parent to receive WV WORKS benefits for himself and the child(ren).

EXCEPTIONS: For the unemancipated mp

- There is no parent whose whereabouts are known.
- No parent allows the unemancipated mp to live in his home.
- The unemancipated mp lived apart from the parent for at least one year before the birth of the child or before the WV WORKS application.
- The unemancipated mp or child’s physical or emotional health would be in jeopardy from residing with a parent.
- There is good cause for an unemancipated mp and child(ren) to receive WV WORKS while not living with a parent. Examples include, but are not limited to:
  - The unemancipated mp’s return to the home of the parent(s) would cause noncompliance with a fixed lease already negotiated by the parent.
  - Education or training opportunities may be available and appropriate for the unemancipated mp elsewhere.
When the unemancipated mp demonstrates good cause for not living with a parent, eligibility may be established by living with another adult relative, a legal guardian, or in an alternative living arrangement that is supervised by an unrelated adult.

- When the alternative living arrangement is a maternity or other group home, the home must be supervised and licensed by the State.
- When the alternative living arrangement involves living with or living in a setting supervised by an unrelated adult, the supervising adult must meet all of the following requirements:
  - Does not receive WV WORKS benefits;
  - Is the same sex as the mp, or the unemancipated mp lives or is supervised by a married couple;
  - Is employed;
  - Is at least 15 years older than the unemancipated mp;
  - Has no Child Protective Services (CPS) Record or has one that contains no substantiated charges; and
  - Has no criminal record, as determined by a Criminal Identification Bureau (CIB) report.

Non-Recipient Work-Eligible Individuals

- Non-Recipient Work-Eligible Individuals are parents or stepparents who must sign the application, complete orientation, a Personal Responsibility Contract (PRC)/Self-Sufficiency Plan (SSP) and be participating in a work activity.
- Neither Non-Recipient Work-Eligible Individuals nor caretaker relatives may be included in the AG if they are:
  - Individuals convicted in federal or state court of having made a fraudulent statement or representation about residence to receive TANF, WV WORKS, Medicaid, SNAP benefits, or SSI. They are ineligible for 10 years from the date of the conviction. The conviction must have occurred after 8/22/96.
  - Individuals who are fleeing to avoid prosecution, or custody/confinement after conviction, for a felony or an attempt to commit a felony.
  - Individuals convicted of a felony under federal or state law when the offense involves the possession, use, or distribution of a controlled substance, as defined in Section 102(6) of the Controlled Substance Act and when the offense occurred after 8/22/96. This does not include convictions which have been expunged or reduced to a lesser charge.
Exception: Individuals who have been convicted of a drug related offense within the last three years and have a negative drug test must be added to the WV WORKS AG.

- Individuals who are violating a condition of probation or parole that was imposed under federal or state law.
- Parents or other included caretakers who do not report that a child is, or will be, out of the home for at least 30 consecutive days. The parents or other caretakers must report the absence within five calendar days of the date that it becomes known to the parents or other caretakers that the child will be absent for at least 30 consecutive days. The individuals who fail to report are permanently removed from the WV WORKS benefit and become non-recipient Work-Eligible Individuals.
- Any individual who has a positive drug test and fails to complete or refuses to participate in the substance abuse treatment and counseling program and job skills program as required is ineligible for the WV WORKS benefit. Ineligibility will continue until the time the individual enrolls and is successfully attending a substance abuse treatment and counseling program and job skills program.
- Any individual who tests positive on a second drug test will be ineligible for the WV WORKS benefit for a period of 12 months or until they have completed both a substance abuse treatment and counseling program and job skills program, whichever is shorter.
- Any individual who tests positive for a third drug test is permanently ineligible for WV WORKS. They must choose a protective payee for the WV WORKS payment for the other members of the WV WORKS AG.

NOTE: Any individual who refuses a Drug Use Questionnaire or a drug test is ineligible for WV WORKS assistance. He becomes a non-recipient work-eligible individual and may still receive WV WORKS for the other members of the household who are otherwise eligible. During the period of ineligibility, he must choose a protective payee who has successfully completed the DFA-WVV-DAST-1 for the WV WORKS benefit for the other members of the WV WORKS AG. Any individual that has had their benefits suspended and has not designated a protective payee for the benefits must be referred to Children & Adult Services.
• Individuals who are recipients of an Independent Living Subsidy through the Division of Children and Adult Services.

• The child(ren) of a parent, when the parent is a recipient of an Independent Living Subsidy through the Division of Children and Adult Services.

• A child who is absent from his home for 30 consecutive days.
  o A child may be absent from his home for more than 30 consecutive days and remain a WV WORKS client only if the reason for the absence is one of the following:
    ▪ Medically substantiated mental or physical illness of a parent or other caretaker necessitates other temporary living arrangements for the child.
    ▪ Medically substantiated mental or physical illness of the child necessitates other temporary arrangements for the child.
    ▪ The child receives education or training at a special needs school and residence outside the home is required to begin or continue such education.
    ▪ A natural disaster forces the child to live apart from the parent(s) or other caretaker(s).
    ▪ The Personal Responsibility Contract/Self-Sufficiency Plan (PRC/SSP) has targeted a family problem that requires the child to be absent from the home for more than 30 consecutive days.

3.4.1.C Who May Choose to Be Included

The following individuals may choose to be included in the AG:

• Caretaker relatives, who are not natural or adoptive parents, and stepparents when the parent is not in the home. When the caretaker relative is also receiving WV WORKS for his own children, as well as serving as the caretaker relative for other children, he must be included.
  o When the caretaker relative chooses to be included, refer to who must be included above.

• When the parent is not in the home, the stepparent is treated as any other specified relative and may choose to be included or excluded.

• If there is another minor child(ren) in the household who is not required to be included and the caretaker relative requests WV WORKS benefits for him, the caretaker relative may choose to include him in the AG. A separate case is not established for the child(ren).
Chapter 3

Eligibility Determination Groups

Once the choice is made about whether to include the individual in the AG, the decision is binding until the next annual, full-scale redetermination, regardless of changes in the circumstances of the caretaker relative or the child(ren). This must be explained to the caretaker relative at each application and each redetermination.

When the case is closed and reopened before completion of a full-scale redetermination, the last decision is binding until one year from the date the last decision was made. Each decision must be made using the WV WORKS Caretaker Relative Option form (OFS-WVW-10). Refusal or other failure to choose by completing the form results in ineligibility only for the caretaker relative for at least 12 months. Eligibility continues to be denied beyond 12 months, for as long as the caretaker fails to choose.

Caretaker Relative Example: Aster applies for WV WORKS for her five-year-old niece. Aster works and is not applying for her own two children. The case is approved effective February for the niece only; Aster chooses not to be included in the payment. In May, Aster loses her job and applies for WV WORKS for her own children. She is required to be included in the WV WORKS payment for her own children. She and her two children are added to the case for the niece, effective June, and they all receive WV WORKS until September, when Aster finds another job. At that time, Aster and the children are removed from the AG and she continues to receive a payment for the niece only.

3.4.1.D Treatment of the Minor Parent (mp) in the AG

3.4.1.D.1 Unemancipated Minor Parent (mp)

When the mp is unemancipated, a referral to the Bureau for Child Support Enforcement (BCSE) is required to pursue child support from the Major Parent (MP)(s).

The WV WORKS benefit must be made payable to an MP or other adult with whom the mp lives or who supervises the living situation of the mp.

➢ Unemancipated mp Lives with MP(s)

When an unemancipated mp lives with MP(s), the mp must be included in the AG with:
- The MP(s);
- The mp’s child(ren);
- The mp’s minor, blood-related, and adoptive siblings, if living with a specified relative;
- The legal spouse of the MP; and
- The blood-related and adoptive siblings who are minor children of the spouse of the MP.

➢ Unemancipated mp Lives with Adult Other than a Parent

When an unemancipated mp lives with an adult relative other than a parent, the mp and the child(ren) are a separate AG, as long as the other adult relative does not wish to receive a WV WORKS payment. If the other adult relative wants to receive WV WORKS, he must be a specified relative.

➢ Unemancipated mp Does Not Live with MP(s)

When the mp does not live with the MP(s), the amount the MP(s) contribute to the mp is counted as unearned income.

3.4.1.D.2 Emancipated Minor Parent (mp)

When an emancipated mp lives with MP(s), the mp and the child(ren) are a separate AG. See Who Must Be Included above.

When an emancipated mp lives with an adult relative other than a parent, the mp and the child(ren) are a separate AG.

3.4.2 THE INCOME GROUP (IG)

The non-excluded income of all AG members is counted.

The non-excluded income of the ineligible and disqualified non-recipient Work-Eligible Individuals who would normally be required to be included in the AG must be counted when determining eligibility.

See Chapter 4 to determine how the income is counted.
3.4.3 THE NEEDS GROUP (NG)

Countable income is compared to the income limits for the number in the AG to determine eligibility and the amount of the benefit.

Disqualified and excluded SSI individuals are not counted in the NG.

3.4.4 EXAMPLES OF WV WORKS AG COMPOSITION

Example 1: Household consists of a mother and her two dependent children. All are included in the AG.

Example 2: Household consists of a mother who was convicted of a drug felony in 1999, a father, and their two dependent children. Only the father and children are included in the AG, but both the father and mother are required to complete orientation, a PRC/SSP, and be assigned to a work activity or the AG is ineligible for WV WORKS.

Example 3: Household consists of Ms. Birch and her two nephews who are blood-related siblings. Both children are included. Ms. Birch can choose to be either included or excluded. If she is included, her income and assets are counted.

Example 4: Household consists of a married couple and their three children. One of the three children receives SSI. All are included in the AG. The SSI payment is not counted as income for WV WORKS.

Example 5: Household consists of Mr. and Mrs. Pine, Mr. Pine’s two children from a previous marriage, and Mrs. Pine’s child from a previous marriage. All are included in the same AG.

Example 6: Household consists of Mr. and Mrs. Rosemary, their two children, and Mrs. Rosemary’s niece. Mr. and Mrs. Rosemary have applied for benefits for their family and their niece, so all are included in the AG.

Example 7: Household consists of Major mother, minor mother, and minor mother’s child. Major mother applies for WV WORKS for minor mother’s child. Major mother is considered the supervising adult for both her daughter and grandchild and all must be included in the AG.
Example 8: Household consists of Mother and her two sons who receive WV WORKS. Mother’s emancipated daughter returns to the household with her child. The daughter and her child are a separate AG because she is emancipated.

Example 9: Household consists of Mr. Aspen, his wife, and her two children from a previous marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Aspen and her two children must all be included in the AG.

Example 9.1: Mr. Aspen’s ex-wife and her two children move into Mr. Aspen’s home and apply for WV WORKS. Mr. Aspen is the father of his ex-wife’s children. All must be included in the same AG.

Example 10: Household consists of a mother, her daughter, and granddaughter. The mother legally adopts her granddaughter. The mother applies for WV WORKS and the AG consists of the mother and her two daughters.

Example 11: Household consists of Mr. and Mrs. Chestnut and their son. Their divorced minor daughter and her child move back into the home. Mr. and Mrs. Chestnut and their son are included in one AG. A separate AG is established for their divorced daughter and her child because she is legally emancipated.

Example 12: Mrs. Pine and her three children move in with her parents after her divorce. The household consists of Mrs. Pine, her three children, and her parents. The WV WORKS AG consists of Mrs. Pine’s and her three children. None of her parents’ income is counted.

Example 13: Ms. Birch applies for a WV WORKS benefit for her nephew. She has recently lost her job and chooses to be included in the payment. Two months later Ms. Birch finds another job. Her earnings are excessive and she tells the Worker she wants to be removed from the payment. The Worker explains that she must still be included, based on her decision at application and closes the case, after proper notice. Eight months later, Ms. Birch is laid off and reapplies. She and her nephew are both included in the payment because one year has not elapsed. The following month, Ms. Birch again finds employment and the case is closed. A year after the original application, she applies for her nephew only and is approved with none of her income counted.

Example 14: Household consists of a married couple and their four minor children. The father and two of the children are SSI recipients. The mother and all of the children are included in the AG. The father is not included in the AG. The SSI payments of the father and the two children are not counted in determining the amount of the WV WORKS benefit.

Example 15: Household consists of Mrs. Pine, her grandson, and his sister. Mrs. Pine’s son is the father of the grandson, but not of his sister. The children have the same mother. Mrs. Pine does not choose to be included in the AG. The AG includes only Mrs. Pine’s grandson. His sister does not live with a specified relative and is not otherwise eligible.

Example 16: Ms. Oak has two minor children and is employed full-time. In February, Ms. Oak’s sister abandons her five-year-old son and Ms. Oak takes him to live with her. Ms. Oak applies for WV WORKS and signs the OFS-WVW-10 indicating that she does not want to be included in the benefit. The case is approved only for her nephew beginning in February. In July, Ms. Oak loses her job because the business closed. She applies for WV WORKS for herself and her two children. Ms. Oak and her two children are added to the nephew’s AG. Even though Ms. Oak signed the OFS-WVW-10 stating that she did not want to be included, she is required to be included when her own children receive benefits.

In September, the father of Ms. Oak’s children takes the children out of state to live with him. The only child left in the home is Ms. Oak’s nephew. She requests to be included in the benefit because she has no other income. Because she signed the OFS-WVW-10 in February, Ms. Oak cannot be included. The child, however, remains eligible.

Example 17: Ms. Hickory and her minor child apply and are found eligible for WV WORKS in June. In September, Ms. Hickory’s minor nephew runs away from home and comes to live with her. Ms. Hickory requests he be added to the WV WORKS case and this is done effective October. In January, Ms. Hickory obtains employment and her salary makes her family ineligible for WV WORKS. However, she wants the benefit to continue for her nephew. At this point, Ms. Hickory must sign an OFS-WVW-10 to indicate whether or not she wants to be included in the payment as a non-parent caretaker relative. This choice is binding from January through December.

Example 18: Household consists of Mr. and Mrs. Maple, their two common children, and Mr. Maple’s child from a previous relationship. Both Mr. and Mrs. Maple were convicted of drug felonies in 2001. The AG includes only the children but both parents must complete a PRC/SSP, orientation, and a work activity.

Example 19: Household consists of two adults who would be included in the WV WORKS benefit and who have completed the Drug Use Questionnaire. One has been referred to testing and has come back with a positive drug test. This individual is enrolled and attending a substance abuse treatment and counseling program and job skills program and is included in the TANF benefit. If he refuses treatment or has another positive drug test, he is not included in the WV WORKS AG. Both individuals are required to complete orientation, a PRC/SSP, and be assigned to a work activity or are ineligible to be included in the WV WORKS benefit.
3.5 MEDICAID – GENERAL ELIGIBILITY

The Medicaid assistance group (AG) is composed of the individual(s) who meet(s) the eligibility requirements for coverage under a specific Medicaid coverage group. However, the income of the AG does not determine financial eligibility for all coverage groups. Some coverage groups require the determination of an income group (IG) to determine countable income and a needs group (NG) for comparison to the appropriate needs standard to determine financial eligibility. The case in which the AG member(s) receives coverage may be composed of eligible AG members of one or more coverage groups.

The AG, IG, and NG information for all of these groups is found in the following sections.

For more information regarding Medicaid eligibility groups, see Chapter 23.
3.6 CHILDREN UNDER AGE 19 MEDICAID

The Affordable Care Act (ACA) simplified eligibility categories by combining certain existing mandatory and optional eligibility groups. The Children Under Age 19 coverage group combines coverage for children in the former Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) Medicaid, Qualified Child, and Poverty-Level Children coverage groups.

3.6.1 ASSISTANCE GROUP

Only the child under age 19 is included.

3.6.2 THE MODIFIED ADJUSTED GROSS INCOME (MAGI) HOUSEHOLD INCOME GROUP (IG) AND NEEDS GROUP (NG)

The methodology for determining the MAGI household’s IG and NG is the same as found in Section 3.7.

NOTE: If the child is ineligible for this coverage group, he should be evaluated for West Virginia Children’s Health Insurance Program (WVCHIP) eligibility. WVCHIP uses the same eligibility groups as those used for Children under Age 19, except that a pregnant woman is counted as herself, plus the number of unborn children she is expected to deliver. See Chapter 22.
3.7 ADULT GROUP

The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, amended by the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010, enacted March 30, 2010, are together referred to as the Affordable Care Act (ACA). The ACA established the categorically mandatory coverage group known as the Adult Group. Effective January 1, 2014, Medicaid coverage is provided to individuals age 19 or older and under age 65 who are not otherwise eligible for and enrolled in another categorically mandatory Medicaid coverage group, and are not entitled to or enrolled in Medicare Part A or B. Eligibility for this group is determined using Modified Adjusted Gross Income (MAGI) methodologies established in Section 4.7.

3.7.1 THE ASSISTANCE GROUP (AG)

3.7.1.A Who Must Be Included

Adults age 19 or older and under age 65.

3.7.1.B Who Cannot Be Included

- Individuals eligible for these categorically mandatory coverage groups:
  - Supplemental Security Income (SSI)
  - Deemed SSI
  - Parents/Caretakers
  - Pregnant Women
  - Children Under Age 19
  - Former West Virginia Foster Children
- Individuals entitled to or enrolled in Medicare Part A or B
- Parents or other caretaker relatives living with a dependent child under the age of 19, unless the child is also receiving benefits under Medicaid, WVCHIP, or other minimum essential coverage (MEC). See definition in Section 4.2.

If a woman indicates at application or review that she is pregnant, she is not eligible to be included in the Adult Group; she must be evaluated for the Pregnant Women coverage group.
3.7.2 THE MAGI HOUSEHOLD INCOME GROUP (IG)

Income of each member of the individual’s MAGI household is counted. The income group is determined using the MAGI methodology established in Section 3.7.3.

EXCEPTION: Income of children, or other tax dependents, who are not expected to be required to file an income tax return is not counted, whether or not the individual actually files a tax return.

NOTE: A reasonable determination as to whether an individual will be required to file a tax return can be made based on the individual’s current income for the applicable budget period. Such a determination would be based on information available at the time of application or renewal. Information regarding “Who Must File” a tax return can be found in Appendix G of Chapter 4.

3.7.2.A Examples of Applying the Income Rules for Children and Tax Dependents

Child’s Income Excluded Example: A child is 17 years old with a part-time job in the summer and earns $2,100. He is expected to be claimed as a dependent on his parent’s tax return. It is determined at application that the child is not expected to be required to file taxes the following year because his income does not exceed the filing requirements established by the IRS. Therefore, the child’s income will not be included in the MAGI household or count toward eligibility whether he actually files taxes or not.

Child’s Income Included Example: A child is 18 years old and works part time through the summer and after school. He earns $7,200 for the year. It is determined at application that he is expected to be claimed as a dependent on his parent’s tax return, and will be required to file an income tax return for the year in which Medicaid is being sought. Therefore, this child’s income will be included to determine eligibility for any MAGI household for which he is a member.

Tax Dependent’s Income Example 1: Blossom is 60 years old and lives with her 40-year-old daughter. Blossom will be claimed as a tax dependent on her daughter’s taxes next year. Blossom receives $960 Social Security income per month; she has no other income. Because Blossom has no other income, her Social Security income is not taxable and she is not required to file taxes. As her daughter’s tax dependent, her income does not count toward her daughter’s MAGI household.

Tax Dependent’s Income Example 1.1: Same situation as above. Blossom is also applying for health coverage. Her MAGI household will include only herself using non-filer MAGI household size rules below. Because Blossom is neither a child nor a tax dependent in her own MAGI household, her income will count toward determining her MAGI eligibility.

3.7.3 THE MAGI HOUSEHOLD NEEDS GROUP (NG)

The needs group is the number of individuals included in the MAGI household size based upon the MAGI rules for counting household members.

To determine the MAGI household size, the following step-by-step methodology is used for each applicant.

For purposes of applying the MAGI methodology:

- Child means natural, adopted, or stepchild;
- Parent means natural, adopted, or stepparent;
- Sibling means natural, adopted, half, or stepsibling.

In the case of married couples who reside together, each spouse must be included in the MAGI household of the other spouse, regardless of whether they expect to file a joint tax return or whether one spouse expects to be claimed as a tax dependent by the other spouse.

The MAGI household of the pregnant woman also includes her unborn child(ren).

This methodology must be applied to each applicant in the MAGI household separately:

STEP 1: IS THE APPLICANT A TAX FILER (and will NOT be claimed as a tax dependent)?

IF NO: Move to STEP 2.

IF YES: The applicant’s MAGI household includes themselves, each individual he expects to claim as a tax dependent, and his spouse if residing with the tax filer. This is known as the tax filer rule.

STEP 2: IS THE APPLICANT CLAIMED AS A TAX DEPENDENT ON SOMEONE ELSE’S TAXES?
IF NO: Move to STEP 3.

IF YES: Test against the three exceptions below. If the answer to any of these exceptions is ‘yes’, then the applicant’s MAGI household size must be calculated using STEP 3.

1. The applicant is claimed as a dependent by someone other than a spouse or parent.
2. The applicant is a child under 19 who lives with both parents, but both parents do not expect to file taxes jointly.
3. The applicant is a child under 19 who is claimed as a tax dependent to a non-custodial parent(s).

If none of these exceptions are true, then the applicant’s Medicaid household consists of the applicant, the tax filer claiming him as a dependent, this could be two people filing jointly, any other dependents in the tax filer’s household, and the applicant’s spouse if they reside together. This is known as the tax dependent rule.

NOTE: For the purpose of this exception, the custodial parent is established based on physical custody specified in a court order or binding separation, divorce, or custody agreement. If there is no such order or agreement or it is unavailable, or in the event of a shared custody agreement, the custodial parent is the one with whom the applicant spends most nights.

---

STEP 3: IF THE APPLICANT IS NOT A TAX FILER, IS NOT CLAIMED AS A TAX DEPENDENT OR MEETS ONE OF THE EXCEPTIONS IN STEP 2:

The Medicaid household consists of the applicant and the following individuals as long as they reside with the applicant:

- The applicant’s spouse;
- The applicant’s child(ren) under age 19;
- For applicants under 19, their parents, and their siblings who are also under 19.

This is known as the non-filer rule.

STEP 4: CASES WHERE APPLICANT CANNOT REASONABLY ESTABLISH TAX DEPENDENT STATUS

If an applicant/tax filer cannot reasonably establish that reported household members will be tax dependents of the applicant for the tax year in which Medicaid is sought, the inclusion of such individual in the MAGI household of the tax filer is determined using rules in STEP 3.

Uncertain Tax Status Example: An applicant indicates she is currently separated and seeking a divorce. The living arrangements of the children are to be determined by family court. She is uncertain if the children will remain in her household for the tax year, or whether she will be able to claim them as tax dependents on next year’s tax return. Because the tax dependency status of the children cannot be reasonably established on the date of application, inclusion of the children in the applicant’s MAGI household is determined using STEP 3.

3.7.3.A MAGI HOUSEHOLD SIZE EXAMPLES

---

Example 1: Moss and Fern are married with two children, Cedar, age 7, and Violet, age 5. Moss and Fern file taxes jointly and claim both children as dependents.

Moss is a tax filer. Using STEP 1, his household includes himself, each of his tax dependents and his spouse – Moss, Fern, Cedar and Violet = Four.

Fern is a joint tax filer. Using STEP 1, her household includes herself, each of her tax dependents and her spouse – Moss, Fern, Cedar and Violet = Four.

Cedar is a tax dependent. Using STEP 2, he does not meet any of the exceptions. James’ household includes himself, the tax filers and other tax dependents – Moss, Fern, Cedar and Violet = Four.

Violet is a tax dependent. Using STEP 2, she does not meet any of the exceptions; therefore, her household includes herself, her tax filers, and other tax dependents in the household – Moss, Fern, Cedar and Violet = Four.

Example 2: Oak and Ivy are not married, but have one child together, Acorn, age 9 months. Oak is a tax filer and claims Acorn as his dependent. Ivy is also a tax filer.

Oak is a tax filer. Using STEP 1, his household includes himself and his tax dependent Acorn – Oak and Acorn = Two.

Ivy is a tax filer. Using STEP 1, her household includes herself only – Ivy = One.

Acorn is a tax dependent. Using STEP 2, Acorn meets exception number 2; therefore her household is determined using STEP 3. Acorn’s household includes herself and her parents – Acorn, Oak and Ivy = Three.
Example 3: Elm is a tax filer and claims his 10-year-old son, Birch, as a tax dependent. Elm is the non-custodial parent as Birch lives with his mother.

Elm is a tax filer. Using STEP 1, his household includes himself and his tax dependent Birch – Elm and Birch = Two.

Birch is a tax dependent. Using STEP 2, he meets exception 3; therefore his household is determined using STEP 3. Birch’s household includes himself, the parent, and any siblings with whom he resides. Birch’s Medicaid household cannot be determined based on an application submitted by Elm. The parent with whom Birch resides must submit an application on his behalf.

Example 3.1: Holly is a tax filer who lives with her 10-year-old son, Birch. Birch is claimed as a tax dependent by Elm from the example above, his non-custodial parent.

Holly is a tax filer. Using STEP 1, her household includes herself only – Holly = One.

Birch is a tax dependent. Using STEP 2, he meets exception 3; therefore, his household includes himself and his custodial parent Holly – Birch and Holly = Two.

Example 4: Heather is a tax filer and claims her daughter Rose, age 16, and her mother Lily, age 76, as tax dependents. Neither Rose nor Lily is a tax filer.

Heather is a tax filer. Using STEP 1, her household includes herself and her tax dependents Rose and Lily – Heather, Rose, and Lily = Three.

Rose is a tax dependent. Using STEP 2, she does not meet any exceptions; therefore her household includes herself, Heather, the tax filer claiming her, and Lily the other tax dependent – Rose, Heather, and Lily = Three.

Lily is a tax dependent. Using STEP 2, she meets exception 1; therefore her household is determined using STEP 3. Lily’s household includes herself = one.

Example 5: Daisy is a tax filer and claims her daughter Willow, age 20, and Willow’s daughter Poppy, age 1, as tax dependents. Neither Willow nor Poppy is a tax filer.

Daisy is a tax filer. Using STEP 1, her household includes herself and her tax dependents Willow and Poppy – Daisy, Willow, and Poppy = Three.

Willow is a tax dependent. Using STEP 2, she does not meet any exceptions; therefore her household includes herself; Daisy, the tax filer claiming her; and Poppy, the other tax dependent – Daisy, Willow, and Poppy = Three.
Poppy is a tax dependent. Using STEP 2, she meets exception 1; therefore her household is determined using STEP 3. Poppy’s household includes herself and her mother Willow – Willow and Poppy = Two.

Example 6: Cosmo is a tax filer and claims her 12-year-old grandson, Aspen, as a tax dependent.

Cosmo is a tax filer. Using STEP 1, her household includes herself and her tax dependent Michael – Cosmo and Aspen = Two.

Aspen is a tax dependent. Using STEP 2, he meets exception 1; therefore, his household is determined using STEP 3. Aspen’s household includes only himself = One.

Example 7: Jade and Juniper are married and file taxes jointly. Juniper is pregnant.

Jade is a tax filer. Using STEP 1, his household includes himself and his spouse – Jade and Juniper = Two.

Juniper is a tax filer. Using STEP 1, her household includes herself and her spouse Jade. Because Juniper is pregnant her Medicaid household also includes the unborn child – Jade, Juniper, and unborn child = Three.

Example 8: Iris and Crocus are married and have an adopted child named Dahlia. Iris and Crocus file taxes jointly and they both claim Dahlia as a tax dependent.

Iris is a tax filer. Using STEP 1, her household includes herself, each of her tax dependents and her spouse – Iris, Crocus, and Dahlia = Three.

Crocus is a joint tax filer. Using STEP 1, her household includes herself, each of her tax dependents and her spouse – Iris, Crocus, and Dahlia = Three.

Dahlia is a tax dependent. Using STEP 2, she does not meet any of the exceptions. Dahlia’s household includes herself and the tax filers claiming her – Iris, Crocus, and Dahlia = Three.

Dahlia lives in the home with both of her parents and is claimed by them. Her AG would be Dahlia, Iris, and Crocus = Three.

Example 9: Rosemary and Sage are married but are on Social Security and do not file taxes. Rosemary’s biological grandchildren, Parsley and Basil, live with them as Rosemary has custody of them. Parsley and Basil are first cousins; neither is claimed as a tax dependent by anyone.

Rosemary is a non-tax filer. Using STEP 3, her household includes herself and her spouse – Rosemary and Sage = Two.
Sage is a non-tax filer. Using STEP 3, her household includes herself and her spouse – Sage and Rosemary = Two.

Parsley is neither a tax filer nor a tax dependent. Using STEP 3, her household includes herself only – Parsley = One.

Basil is neither a tax filer nor a tax dependent. Using STEP 3, her household includes herself only – Basil = One.

Example 10: Pine and Fir are married and file taxes jointly. They have one adopted child, Ficus; Pine has a daughter named Orchid; Fir has a daughter name Lavender. All the children live with Pine and Fir and are claimed as their tax dependents.

Pine is a tax filer. Using STEP 1, his household includes himself, each of his tax dependents, and his spouse – Pine, Fir, Ficus, Orchid, and Lavender = Five.

Fir is a joint tax filer. Using STEP 1, his household includes himself, each of his tax dependents, and his spouse – Fir, Pine, Ficus, Orchid, and Lavender = Five.

Ficus is a tax dependent. Using STEP 2, he does not meet any exceptions; therefore, his household includes himself, his tax filers, and other tax dependents in the household – Ficus, Pine, Fir, Orchid, and Lavender = Five.

Orchid is a tax dependent. Using STEP 2, she does not meet any exceptions; therefore, her household includes herself, her tax filers, and other tax dependents in the household – Orchid, Pine, Fir, Ficus, and Lavender = Five.

Lavender is a tax dependent. Using STEP 2, she does not meet any exceptions; therefore, her household includes herself, her tax filers, and other tax dependents in the household – Lavender, Pine, Fir, Ficus, and Orchid = Five.
3.8 PREGNANT WOMEN

The Affordable Care Act (ACA) simplified eligibility categories by combining certain existing mandatory and optional eligibility groups. The Pregnant Women coverage group combines former Poverty-Level and Deemed Poverty-Level Pregnant Woman coverage groups.

3.8.1 THE ASSISTANCE GROUP (AG)

Only the pregnant woman is included. The unborn child(ren) is not included.

3.8.2 THE MAGI HOUSEHOLD INCOME GROUP (IG) AND NEEDS GROUP (NG)

The methodology for determining the MAGI household’s IG and NG is the same as found in Section 3.7.

The Medicaid IG and NG of the pregnant woman include her unborn child(ren).
3.9 CONTINUOUSLY ELIGIBLE NEWBORN CHILDREN (CEN)

3.9.1 THE ASSISTANCE GROUP (AG)

The CEN is the only person who is included.

3.9.2 THE INCOME GROUP (IG)

No income determination is required.

3.9.3 THE NEEDS GROUP (NG)

No need determination is required.
3.10 PARENTS/CARETAKER RELATIVES GROUP

The Affordable Care Act (ACA) simplified eligibility categories by combining certain existing mandatory and optional eligibility groups. The Parents/Caretaker Relatives coverage group replaces the former Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) Medicaid coverage group for parents and other caretaker relatives.

The ACA established a new methodology based on the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) 36B tax rules for determining how income is counted and how household composition and size are determined when establishing financial eligibility, called Modified Adjust Gross Income (MAGI).

To be eligible under this category, the parent or caretaker relative must be living in the household with a dependent child for whom they assume primary responsibility. See Section 3.3 for the definition of a dependent child and specified caretaker relative.

3.10.1 THE ASSISTANCE GROUP (AG)

Only the parent or caretaker relative, and if living with such parent or other caretaker relative, his or her spouse.

3.10.2 THE MAGI HOUSEHOLD INCOME GROUP (IG) AND NEEDS GROUP (NG)

The methodology for determining the Medicaid household’s IG and NG is the same as found in Section 3.7.
3.11 DEEMED PARENTS/CARETAKER RELATIVES

3.11.1 EXTENDED MEDICAID

Extended Medicaid clients become eligible based on losing financial eligibility for Parents/Caretaker Relatives Medicaid.

3.11.1.A The Assistance Group (AG)

All individuals, who are members of the Parents/Caretaker Relatives Medicaid AG when the case becomes ineligible, must be included in the AG. When an individual, who would normally be required to be in the AG, returns to the home, the returning individual is added to the Extended Medicaid AG.

3.11.1.B The Income Group (IG)

No other financial test is required.

3.11.1.C The Needs Group (NG)

No needs test is applied.

3.11.2 CHILDREN COVERED UNDER ADOPTION ASSISTANCE

These cases are managed by the Bureau for Children and Families (BCF) Office of Children and Adult Services. When the child also receives Supplemental Security Income (SSI), see Chapter 23.
3.11.3 CHILDREN COVERED UNDER FOSTER CARE

These cases are managed by the BCF Office of Children and Adult Services. When the foster child also receives SSI, see Chapter 23.
3.12 TRANSITIONAL MEDICAID (TM), PHASES I AND II

This coverage group consists of families who lose eligibility for Parents/Caretaker Relatives Medicaid because of earned income. Transitional Medicaid (TM) provides continuing medical coverage and has two phases.

3.12.1 THE ASSISTANCE GROUP (AG)

3.12.1.A Who Must Be Included

The following persons must be included in the AG:

- All individuals, regardless of WV WORKS receipt, who meet the requirement for TM Phase I or II. See Chapter 23.
- An individual who joins the household during either TM Phase I or II, who is otherwise Parents/Caretaker Relatives Medicaid eligible.

3.12.1.B Who Cannot Be Included

The following persons cannot be included:

- Supplemental Security Income (SSI) Recipients
- Individuals who are otherwise ineligible for Parents/Caretaker Relatives Medicaid. See Section 3.10.

3.12.2 THE INCOME GROUP (IG)

There is no income test for TM Phase I.

For TM Phase II, the non-excluded income of the AG and sanctioned individuals is used when determining ineligibility for Parents/Caretaker Relatives Medicaid and, therefore, eligibility for TM. The income of the same individuals is used to determine if income exceeds 185% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL).
3.12.3 THE NEEDS GROUP (NG)

There is no income test for TM Phase I.

For TM Phase II, countable income is compared to the income limit for the number in the AG to determine eligibility.
3.13 SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME (SSI) RECIPIENTS

3.13.1 THE ASSISTANCE GROUP (AG)

Only the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) recipient, or an individual who is otherwise entitled to SSI, is included in the AG. This includes an individual who is otherwise entitled to an SSI payment, but does not receive it due to a repayment.

When the SSI recipient has an essential spouse, see Section 23.11.2.C.

For SSI recipients who are children in foster care, or whose adoptive parents receive adoption assistance, see Section 23.10.8.B.

3.13.2 THE INCOME GROUP (IG)

The Social Security Administration (SSA) determines the income and assets that are counted for SSI. No additional income or asset test is made for Medicaid. For SSI recipients who apply for Long Term Care, see Section 24.4.1.B.3.

3.13.3 THE NEEDS GROUP (NG)

The SSA makes the determination of need for SSI. Receipt of or entitlement to SSI is the only eligibility factor.
3.14 DEEMED SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME (SSI) RECIPIENTS

3.14.1 PICKLE AMENDMENT COVERAGE (PAC)

3.14.1.A The Assistance Group (AG)

Only the PAC individual is included in the assistance group.

3.14.1.B.1 Individual with No Spouse

Count only the individual's income.

3.14.1.B.2 Eligible Spouses

Count the income of both individuals.

3.14.1.B.3 Eligible Individual with Ineligible Spouse

Consider the income of the ineligible spouse to determine if it must be deemed. See Chapter 4 for how to determine if the spouse's income is deemed.
3.14.1.B.4 Eligible Individual in a Nursing Facility or Intermediate Care Facility for Individuals with Intellectual Disabilities (ICF/IID) with Eligible/Ineligible Spouse

Count only the individual’s income. This applies when the spouse is in the community, in a nursing facility, or in an ICF/IID.

3.14.1.C.1 Individual With No Spouse

The income limit for a single individual is used.

3.14.1.C.2 Eligible Spouses

The income limit for two persons is used.

3.14.1.C.3 Eligible Individual With Ineligible Spouse, No Income Deemed

The income limit for a single individual is used.

The income limit for two persons is used.
3.14.1.C.5 Eligible Individual in a Nursing Facility or an ICF/IID with an Eligible/Ineligible Spouse

The income limit for a single individual is used. This applies when the spouse is in the community, in a nursing facility, or in an ICF/IID.

3.14.2 ALL OTHERS

3.14.2.A The AG

Only the Deemed SSI Recipient is included in the AG.

3.14.2.B The IG

The Social Security Administration (SSA) determines income eligibility for these groups.

3.14.2.C The NG

No income test is required.
3.15 QMB, SLIMB, AND QI-1

3.15.1 THE ASSISTANCE GROUP (AG)

When eligible spouses are both members of the AG, they must receive the same level of coverage, QMB, SLIMB, or QI-1.

3.15.1.A Who Must Be Included

Only the individual or spouses who are eligible for QMB, SLIMB, or QI-1 are included in the AG.

3.15.2 THE INCOME GROUP (IG)

3.15.2.A Eligible Individual with No Spouse

Count only the individual’s income.

3.15.2.B Eligible Spouses – No Medicaid Long Term Care (LTC) Services

Count the income of both individuals.

3.15.2.C Eligible Individual with Ineligible Spouse – No Medicaid LTC Services

Consider the income of the ineligible spouse to determine if it must be deemed. See Chapter 4 for how to determine if the spouse’s income is deemed.
3.15.2.D Eligible Individual – One or Both Spouses Receive Medicaid LTC Services in a Nursing Facility, ICF/IID, or Home and Community Based Waiver

Count only the individual’s income.

3.15.3 THE NEEDS GROUP (NG)

3.15.3.A Individual with No Spouse

The income limit for a single individual is used.

3.15.3.B Eligible Spouses – No Medicaid LTC Services

The income limit for two persons is used.

3.15.3.C Eligible Individual with Ineligible Spouse, No Income Deemed – No Medicaid LTC Services

The income limit for a single individual is used.

3.15.3.D Eligible Individual with Ineligible Spouse, Income Is Deemed – No Medicaid LTC Services

The income limit for two persons is used.
3.15.3.E Eligible Individual – One or Both Spouses Receive Medicaid LTC Services in a Nursing Facility, ICF/IID, or Non-Institutional Home and Community Based Waiver

The income limit for a single individual is used.

3.16 QUALIFIED DISABLED WORKING INDIVIDUALS (QDWI)

3.16.1 THE ASSISTANCE GROUP (AG)

Only the individual who is eligible for the QDWI coverage is included in the AG.

3.16.2 THE INCOME GROUP (IG)

3.16.2.A Eligible Individual with No Spouse

Count only the individual’s income.

3.16.2.B Eligible Spouses

Count the income of both individuals.

3.16.2.C Eligible Individual with Ineligible Spouse

Consider the income of the ineligible spouse to determine if it must be deemed. See Chapter 4 for how to determine if the spouse’s income is deemed.

3.16.3 THE NEEDS GROUP (NG)

3.16.3.A Individual with No Spouse

The income limit for a single individual is used.
3.16.3.B Eligible Spouses

The income limit for two persons is used.

3.16.3.C Eligible Individual with Ineligible Spouse, No Income Deemed

The income limit for a single individual is used.

3.16.3.D Eligible Individual with Ineligible Spouse, Income Deemed

The income limit for two persons is used.
3.17 SSI-RELATED MEDICAID AND SSI-RELATED/NON-CASH ASSISTANCE

NOTE: The income limits for SSI-Related Medicaid and SSI-Related/Non-Cash Assistance are different. See Chapter 4.

3.17.1 THE ASSISTANCE GROUP (AG)

3.17.1.A Who Must Be Included

Only the aged, blind, or disabled individual and his eligible aged, blind, or disabled spouse must be included, except when the spouse resides in a nursing facility or intermediate care facility for individuals with intellectual disabilities (ICF/IID).

3.17.1.B Who Cannot Be Included

- SSI Recipients
- The aged, blind, or disabled spouse of a nursing facility or ICF/IID resident cannot be included with the nursing facility or ICF/IID resident and vice versa. The spouse may be in a separate AG.
3.17.2 THE INCOME GROUP (IG)

3.17.2.A Adults

3.17.2.A.1 Individuals with No Spouse

Count only the individual’s income.

3.17.2.A.2 Eligible Spouses – No Medicaid Long Term Care (LTC) Services

Count the income of both individuals.

3.17.2.A.3 Eligible Individual with Ineligible Spouse – No Medicaid LTC Services

Consider the income of the ineligible spouse to determine if it must be deemed. See Chapter 4 for how to determine if the spouse’s income is deemed.

3.17.2.A.4 Eligible Individual – One or Both Spouses Receives Medicaid LTC Services in a Nursing Facility, ICF/IID, or a Home and Community Based Waiver

Count only the individual’s income.

3.17.2.B Child

Count the income of the child and any income deemed from a parent(s). See Chapter 4 for deeming information.
3.17.3 THE NEEDS GROUP (NG)

3.17.3.A Adult

3.17.3.A.1 Individual with No Spouse

The income limit for a single individual is used.

3.17.3.A.2 Eligible Spouses – No Medicaid LTC Services

The income limit for two persons is used.

3.17.3.A.3 Eligible Individual with Ineligible Spouse, No Income Deemed – No Medicaid LTC Services

The income limit for a single individual is used.

3.17.3.A.4 Eligible Individual with Ineligible Spouse, Income Deemed – No Medicaid LTC Services

The income limit for two persons is used.

3.17.3.A.5 Eligible Individual – One or Both Spouses Receives Medicaid LTC Services in a Nursing Facility, ICF/IID, or a Home and Community Based Waiver

The income limit for a single individual is used.
3.17.3.B Child

The income limit for a single individual is used.
3.18 AFDC-RELATED MEDICAID

Eligibility must be determined for each individual separately. Income and asset eligibility is determined based on the circumstances of the income group (IG) and needs group (NG).

When an individual, not related as a parent, a dependent minor child, or a minor sibling to a member of an AFDC-Related Medicaid assistance group (AG), lives in the household and applies for Medicaid, eligibility is determined separately.

NOTE: Supplemental Security Income (SSI) recipients, whether they are adults or children, are not included in the AG, IG, or NG.

3.18.1 THE ASSISTANCE GROUP (AG)

The process of determining who must be included in the AG begins with the dependent child for whom AFDC-Related Medicaid is sought.

The AFDC-Related Medicaid AG is composed of otherwise eligible dependent children and their parents or another specified relative. Otherwise eligible, for the purpose of this Section only, means the dependent child lives with a specified relative. See Section 3.3 for the definition of dependent child and for the definition of a specified relative.

If any member of the AG is a striker, no member of the AG is eligible for AFDC-Related Medicaid. Eligibility under other coverage groups must be explored.

Those individuals who are required to be included, or who choose to be included to receive AFDC-Related Medicaid, will be in an AG. However, they are not all in the same AG. The following rules apply.

3.18.1.A Parent(s)

Otherwise eligible married parents who live together are in the same AG. However, unmarried, otherwise eligible parents must be in separate AGs. This is necessary to prevent illegal deeming from one unmarried parent to another.
MAJOR PARENT (MP)
The parent of a parent under the age of 18 (minor parent [mp]). The major parent must live in the same household as the mp and his child.

MINOR PARENT (MP)
A parent under the age of 18, regardless of completion of school or training.

3.18.1.B Child, Including the Minor Parent (mp) Who Is a Dependent Child

Each otherwise eligible child is in a separate AG to prevent illegal deeming of one child’s income to another.

An mp is a parent under the age of 18, regardless of completion of school or training.

An mp is treated as a dependent child in the AG when:

- An application is made by a specified relative who has care and control of both the mp and her child.
- An application is made for the mp only by a specified relative who has care and control of the mp.

The mp is treated as the caretaker anytime he has care and control of his own child. Care and control is defined as providing or making provision for the day-to-day supervision of the child.

The mp and the mp’s spouse, who is also the parent of the mp’s child, are in the same AG.

The unmarried mp is in a separate AG, even when the child’s other parent is in the home. This is necessary to prevent illegal deeming from one unmarried parent to another.

NOTE: The mp who lives with a spouse cannot be considered a dependent child.

NOTE: When the mp is a dependent child, he must be included in the AG with his dependent blood-related siblings who are otherwise eligible.
3.18.1.C.1  Minor Parent (mp) Caretaker Examples

| Example 1: | When the mp and the legal father of the child live together, it is assumed that they are the caretakers of their child. |
| Example 2: | When the mp has more than one child and all of the children do not have the same father, the mp is assumed to be the caretaker of all the children, as long as the legal father of one child lives in the home. |
| Example 3: | When the mp lives with a spouse who is not the legal father of the child, or any of the children, it is not assumed that the mp is the caretaker of the child. |

3.18.1.D  Non-Parent Caretaker Who Chooses to Be Included

The non-parent caretaker is in a separate AG. Only one non-parent caretaker may be included.

NOTE: A caretaker relative who is not a natural or adoptive parent cannot be included in the AG when a parent lives in the home.

The caretaker relative, who is otherwise eligible, may choose to be included in the AG when the only dependent child(ren) in the home receives federal, state, or local foster care, adoption assistance payments or Supplemental Security Income (SSI). The needs and income of the child(ren) are not considered when determining the amount of the benefit. The relative is treated like a parent, except he may choose to be excluded at any time.

There are no restrictions on the number of times the individual may choose to be included or excluded.

When an individual in the home, other than the mp, has care and control of the mp’s child and applies for AFDC-Related Medicaid for the child, the mp who lives in the home must be included in the AG because he is the parent of the child, not because he is the specified relative. In this situation, the mp is considered to be the non-caretaker parent. The individual who has care and control of the mp’s child is the non-parent caretaker of the child.
3.18.1.E Who Cannot Be Included

The following situations result in ineligibility for the individual who meets at least one of the following criteria. However, when all members of the AG meet any of the criteria listed below the entire case is ineligible. In addition, when all otherwise-eligible children meet any of the criteria listed below, except receipt of SSI, foster care or adoption assistance, the entire case is ineligible.

- Parents and siblings who are SSI recipients. The specified relative may receive AFDC-Related Medicaid when there are no children in the AG, if the children are ineligible for AFDC-Related Medicaid only because they are SSI recipients.

- Parents and siblings who are aliens and are ineligible because they have been sponsored by a private or public agency or organization or because of deeming income from sponsor to alien.

- Parents and siblings who are aliens and are ineligible because they do not meet the citizenship and alienage requirements.

- A child who is a recipient of federal, state or local foster care maintenance payments.

- A child of a minor parent, when the minor parent is a recipient of federal foster care payments.

- A child who is a recipient of federal, state or local adoption assistance, unless the exclusion of the child reduces the amount of payment the AG would have received.

When the child is included in the AG, any portion of the adoption assistance which meets any of the following criteria is excluded:

- The adoption assistance is for a different purpose than the AFDC/U check would have been, i.e., vocational rehabilitation; or

- The adoption assistance is for goods or services not included in the State's Standard of Need, i.e., money for special training or for medical care not provided for recipients of AFDC-Related Medicaid; or

- The adoption assistance makes up the difference between the State's payment standard and the Standard of Need.
To determine whether to exclude the adopted child, complete the following steps:

Step 1: Determine the amount of the benefit, excluding the needs of the adopted child.

Step 2: Determine the amount of the benefit, including the needs and non-excluded income of the adopted child.

If the amount in Step 2 is less than the amount in Step 1, the adopted child must be excluded from the AG.

If the amount in Step 2 is greater than the amount in Step 1, the adopted child must be included in the benefit group.

Example 1: Mr. and Mrs. Tulip are eligible for $360 from the former AFDC Program for themselves and their three children. They adopt Sam and he receives $200 non-excluded adoption assistance.

Step 1: $360 AFDC AG of five, excluding Sam

Step 2: Sam's $200 non-excluded adoption assistance reduces the amount of AFDC a six-person AG would receive from $413 to $213.

Because $213 is less than $360, and the benefit is reduced, Sam must be excluded from the AG.

Example 1.1: Same as the preceding example, except Sam receives non-excluded adoption assistance of $50.

Step 1: $360 AFDC AG for five, excluding Sam

Step 2: Sam's $50 non-excluded adoption assistance reduces the AFDC six-person AG payment of $413 to $363.

Because $363 is greater than $360, and the benefit is not reduced, Sam is included in the AG.

- Individuals who are ineligible due to failure to fulfill an eligibility requirement. This includes the following individuals:
The specified relative who fails to cooperate with BCSE medical support requirements without good cause, or who, after assigning rights, fails to cooperate without good cause.

- The individual who fails to meet the enumeration requirement.

- The caretaker relative, who is not a parent of the dependent child and who fails, without good cause, to apply for and accept a potential resource for which he may be eligible.

- Parents and siblings who are ineligible due to receipt of a lump sum

3.18.2 THE INCOME GROUP (IG)

The income counted depends on the AG member. Each member listed shows the income which is counted to determine his eligibility. Only the income of individuals, including ineligible noncitizens, who live in the home with the AG member is counted.

3.18.2.A Parent(s)

Count the income of:

- The parent(s); and,
- The legal spouse of the parent.

See Chapter 4 for deeming instructions.

---

3.18.2.B Child, Including the Minor Parent (mp) Who Is a Dependent Child

Count the income of:

- The child; and,
- The parent(s) of the child.

NOTE: The income of a child is never counted for a parent or a sibling.
3.18.2.C Minor Parent (mp) Who Is a Caretaker

Count the income of:

- The mp; and,
- The MPs.

See Chapter 4 for deeming instructions.

3.18.2.D Non-Parent Caretaker Who Chooses to Be Included

Count the income of:

- The non-parent caretaker; and
- The spouse of the non-parent caretaker.

See Chapter 4 for deeming instructions.

3.18.3 THE NEEDS GROUP (NG)

Countable income and assets of the income group are compared to the limit for the number of persons in the NG to determine financial eligibility. The Needs Group is not used to determine whose income to count or whose medical expenses to use to meet the spenddown. See Section 3.18.2 and Chapter 4. The number of persons included in the Needs Group depends on the AG member. Only individuals who reside with the AG member(s) are counted.

NOTE: Recipients of SSI, whether they are adults or children, are not included in the Needs Group.

3.18.3.A Parent(s)

The NG of the parent includes:

- The parent(s);
• The spouse of the parent described above, even when the spouse is not a parent of the children;
• All dependent children of the parent(s), the parent’s spouse, and all of the blood-related siblings of the dependent children living in the home; and,
• When the parent is an mp living with his MP, the mp is also included in the NG.

3.18.3.B Child(ren)

The NG of the child includes:
• The dependent child;
• The natural or adoptive parent(s) of the dependent child;
• The blood-related siblings of the dependent child;
• The natural or adoptive parent(s) of the mp; and,
• The following individuals, when a non-parent caretaker of the eligible child is included in the AG:
  o The included non-parent caretaker;
  o The spouse of the included non-parent caretaker; and,
  o All dependent children of the included non-parent caretaker, the non-parent caretaker’s spouse, and all of the blood-related siblings of these children who live in the home.

3.18.3.C Non-Parent Caretaker Who Chooses to Be Included

The NG of the non-parent caretaker consists of:
• The non-parent caretaker;
• The spouse of the non-parent caretaker;
• All dependent children of the non-parent caretaker, the non-parent caretaker’s spouse, and all of their blood-related siblings who live in the home; and,
• The child(ren) upon whom the non-parent caretaker’s eligibility is based.
3.18.3.D  A Minor Parent (mp) Living with a Major Parent (MP)

Cases involving an mp require special consideration because there are two parental groups in the family. The first parental unit is the MP(s), and the second is the mp. Any of the following combinations of eligible people are possible:

- mp + mp’s child
- MP + mp (Dependent Child) + mp’s child
- MP + mp (Caretaker Parent) + mp’s child
- MP + mp (Dependent Child)

3.18.3.D.1  AG Includes the mp and the Child

➢ The mp’s NG

The mp's NG is composed of:

- The MP(s);
- The mp; and
- The mp’s child(ren) who live with him.

➢ The Child’s NG

The Child’s NG is composed of:

- The mp;
- The child; and
- The child's blood-related siblings who live with him.
3.18.3.D.2 AG Includes the MP(s), the mp (Dependent Child) and the mp's Child

➢ The MP’s NG

The MP’s NG composition is determined as found above in Section 3.18.3.A Parents. The mp is included in the MP’s NG.

➢ The mp's NG

The mp's NG is composed of:

• The MP(s);
• The mp;
• The mp's blood-related sibling(s) who live with him; and
• The mp's child(ren) who live with him.

➢ The Child's NG

The child's NG is composed of:

• The mp; and
• The child and the child's blood-related siblings who live with him.

3.18.3.D.3 AG Includes the MP(s), the mp (Caretaker) and the mp's Child

➢ The MP(s) NG

The MP(s) NG composition is determined as found above in Section 3.18.3.A Parents, except the mp is not included in the NG.

➢ The mp's NG

The mp's NG is composed of:

• The MP(s);
• The mp; and
• The mp's child.

➢ The Child's NG

The child's NG is composed of:

• The mp;
• The child; and
• The child's blood-related siblings who live with him.

3.18.3.D.4 AG Includes the MP(s) and the mp (Dependent Child)

➢ The MP's NG

The MP's NG composition is determined as found above in Section 3.18.3.A Parents. The mp is included in the NG.

➢ The mp's NG

The mp's NG is composed of:

• The MP(s);
• The mp;
• The blood-related sibling(s) of the mp who live in the home; and
• The mp's child.

NOTE: When the mp is included in the AG only because he must be included as the parent of his child, i.e., another specified relative in the home applies for and has care and control of the mp's child, the mp is treated as an adult in the NG.
3.19 FORMER WEST VIRGINIA FOSTER CHILDREN

The Affordable Care Act (ACA) established the categorically mandatory coverage group called “Former Foster Children” group.

3.19.1 THE ASSISTANCE GROUP (AG)

3.19.1.A Who Must Be Included

Only a former West Virginia foster child—who was the responsibility of the State and receiving Medicaid on the date he turned 18 years of age, or the date he “aged” out of foster care, up to age 21—is included.

3.19.1.B Who Cannot Be Included

- Individuals 26 years of age or older.
- Individuals eligible for the following coverage groups:
  - Supplemental Security Income (SSI)
  - Deemed SSI
  - Parents/Caretaker Relatives
  - Pregnant Women
  - Children Under Age 19

NOTE: Individuals eligible for both the Former West Virginia Foster Children group and the Adult group must be enrolled in the Former West Virginia Foster Children group.

3.19.2 THE INCOME GROUP (IG) AND THE NEEDS GROUP (NG)

No financial test is required.
3.20 ILLEGAL NONCITIZENS – EMERGENCY MEDICAID COVERAGE

3.20.1 THE ASSISTANCE GROUP (AG)

Only the illegal noncitizen is included in the AG.

3.20.2 THE INCOME GROUP (IG)

The income group is the same as the Medicaid coverage group for which the noncitizen would otherwise be eligible were it not for his immigration status. See the IG and needs group (NG) information in this chapter for the appropriate coverage group.

3.20.3 THE NEEDS GROUP (NG)

The income group is the same as the Medicaid coverage group for which the noncitizen is applying. See the IG/NG information in this chapter for the appropriate coverage group.
3.21 AIDS DRUG ASSISTANCE PROGRAM (ADAP)

The AIDS Drug Assistance Program (ADAP) is not a Medicaid program. ADAP is a different federal program that provides a limited pharmaceutical benefit for clients with HIV/AIDS. These cases are not entered in any data system. The Bureau for Medical Services (BMS) is responsible for providing covered services to these clients.

3.21.1 THE ASSISTANCE GROUP (AG)

Only the individual who meets the eligibility criteria is included in the AG.

3.21.2 THE INCOME GROUP (IG)

The total gross income of the following individuals is used to determine eligibility for the ADAP:

- The ADAP individual;
- The spouse of the ADAP individual; and,
- The natural or adoptive child(ren) of the ADAP individual.

3.21.3 THE NEEDS GROUP (NG)

The total gross income for the number of persons in the IG is compared to 325% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL) by the BMS to determine financial eligibility.

APPENDIX F: CURRENT FEDERAL TAX FILING REQUIREMENTS FOR DEPENDENTS

If your dependent is claimed on your tax return, they may still be required to file an income tax return of their own. The requirements vary depending on marital status and age. The minimum income requirements for dependents are listed in the table below.

In this table, unearned income includes taxable interest, ordinary dividends, and capital gain distributions. It also includes unemployment compensation, taxable Social Security benefits, pensions, annuities, and distributions of unearned income from a trust. Earned income includes salaries, wages, tips, professional fees, and taxable scholarship and fellowship grants. Gross income is the total of your unearned and earned income.

4.1 INTRODUCTION

This Chapter contains the income policies and procedures used to determine eligibility and the amount of the benefit for Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) benefits, WV WORKS, and most Medicaid coverage groups. The income eligibility information for some benefits and eligibility groups can be found in the chapters listed below.

The following Medicaid coverage groups require no income eligibility determination by the Worker:

- Adoption Assistance
- Continuously Eligible Newborn Children (CEN)
- Disabled Adult Children (DAC)
- Disabled Widows and Widowers
- Drug Addicts and Alcoholics (DA&A)
- Foster Care
• Former West Virginia Foster Child
• Pass-Throughs
• Supplemental Security Income (SSI) Recipients
• Essential Spouses of SSI Recipients

For more information about these coverage groups, refer to Chapter 23.

This chapter includes charts of sources of income, and shows whether or not they are counted for each program. In addition, if an income source is counted, the chart identifies it as earned, self-employment, or unearned income. For each program that requires an income determination by the Worker, there are sections explaining budgeting methods, deductions and disregards, incentives, how to determine countable income, and special situations. Income limits applicable to each benefit are found in Appendix A.

Income is defined as any and all monies received from any source.

The determination of countable income is necessary, because it is, generally, the countable income that is tested against maximum income limits.

The first step in determining countable income is to determine all the incoming monies to the assistance group (AG) and to those whose income is counted for, or deemed to, the AG.

Once all incoming monies have been identified, they are compared to the income exclusions listed in this Chapter, and, if applicable, the income from any excluded source is subtracted.

After all income exclusions have been applied, some of the remaining income may qualify for certain disregards and deductions as outlined in the sections for each specific program.

For Medicaid coverage groups calculated using Modified Adjusted Gross Income (MAGI) Methodology, different steps are required to calculate countable income. See Section 4.7 for a complete discussion of the MAGI income calculation methodology.
4.2 DEFINITIONS

ADJUSTED GROSS INCOME
The amount of taxable income of a household minus specific deductions allowed under federal law. See Section 4.7 for instructions on calculating adjusted gross income.

ADMINISTRATIVE REDETERMINATION
A redetermination process occurring without active participation by the client for Medicaid Groups and the West Virginia Children’s Health Insurance Program (WVCHIP). This process is designed to occur electronically or by a pre-populated form, rather than requiring the completion of a blank application.

ADVANCE PREMIUM TAX CREDIT (APTC)
A federal tax credit through Federally Facilitated Marketplace (FFM) that will help make a Qualified Health Plan (QHP) affordable by reducing a taxpayer’s out-of-pocket premium when enrolled through the Marketplace.

AFFORDABLE CARE ACT (ACA)
The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act enacted March 23, 2010, and the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act enacted March 30, 2010, are collectively referred to as the Affordable Care Act.

AGED
This is also referred to as ELDERLY.
Medicaid: An individual who is at least age 65.
Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) and WV WORKS: An individual who is at least age 60.

ALLOCATION STANDARD
The difference between the maximum Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payment for one and two persons.

ALLOTMENT
An appropriation of one individual’s income diverted to another, such as a military allotment.

SNAP BENEFIT ALLOTMENT
The approved monthly benefit that is deposited into an electronic benefits transfer (EBT) account for the client to purchase food for home preparation or seeds and plants that produce food for home consumption.
AMERICORPS
A national service program administered by the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS). Included in the AmeriCorps Network of programs are AmeriCorps USA, AmeriCorps Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA), and AmeriCorps National Civilian Community Corps (NCCC). Closely associated with the AmeriCorps Programs are: the Senior Corps, the Youth Corps, and Learn and Serve, which are also administered by CNCS.

ANNUITY
An investment contract or agreement, which gives the right to receive fixed, periodic payments, either for life or a specific term of years.

BASIC NEEDS
The primary needs of individuals or families, such as food, clothing, shelter, and incidentals.

BONA FIDE LOAN
Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC)-Related Medicaid Only: A loan that meets one of the following conditions:

The client has proof that the loan was obtained from an individual or establishment engaged in the business of making loans; or

The client and the lender have completed and signed form ES-AP-75 (Verification of Loan Conditions) to acknowledge the obligation to repay the loan, with or without interest.

EXCEPTION: SSI-Related Medicaid, Children with Disabilities Community Service Program (CDCSP), Pickle Amendment Coverage (PAC), Qualified Disabled Working Individuals (QDWI), Qualified Medicare Beneficiary (QMB), Specified Low-Income Medicare Beneficiary (SLIMB) and Qualified Individual – 1 (QI-1) Only: A loan agreement that is legally valid. This includes oral and written agreements that are binding under state law and which include the borrower’s acknowledgement of his obligation to repay, a schedule and plan for repayment and the borrower’s express intent to repay with real or personal property or anticipated income.

CHILD
SNAP Only: An individual who is not yet 18, nor the head of a household.

AFDC-Related Medicaid and WV WORKS Only: See Section 3.3 for definition of a dependent child for these programs.

SSI-Related Medicaid, CDCSP, PAC, QDWI, QMB, SLIMB and QI-1 Only: When an individual meets the SSI definition of a child, he may be entitled to additional income disregards or deductions, have income deemed to him or have his needs considered when income is deemed from an ineligible individual to an eligible one.
A Child is:
- A natural or adopted child who lives in a household with one or both parents; and
- Under age 18; or
- Under age 22 and a student; and
- Not married nor head of household

Deeming (defined below) to an eligible child no longer applies beginning the month following the month the child attains age 18 or is over 18 and is no longer a student.

Modified Adjusted Gross Income (MAGI) Coverage Groups: For MAGI Medicaid coverage groups where eligibility is determined based on MAGI methodology, a child is defined an individual under the age of 19.

COLA (COST OF LIVING ADJUSTMENTS)
Adjustments to entitlement benefits, pensions or other retirement income such as Retirement, Survivors, and Disability Insurance (RSDI), Black Lung and Railroad Retirement.

CONVERTING INCOME AND DEDUCTIONS
The method used to change income and deductions paid less often than monthly to a monthly amount.

CORPORATION FOR NATIONAL AND COMMUNITY SERVICE (CNCS)
The federal government administers a number of national and community service programs such as, but not limited to, AmeriCorps and the NCCC. In addition, it administers the former ACTION Agency programs created by the Domestic Volunteer Act of 1973. Former ACTION programs include, but are not limited to, AmeriCorps VISTA, University Year of Action, Urban Crime Prevention Program, Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) and Foster Grandparents.

COUNTABLE INCOME
The amount of income after all allowable exclusions, disregards and deductions have been applied. The eligibility and level of benefit are based on this amount.

MAGI Medicaid Coverage Groups Only: For these groups, eligibility is not based on countable income, it is based on the MAGI calculated as outlined in Section 4.7.

DEDUCTION
A specific amount subtracted from income. Allowable deductions are different, depending upon the program involved.

DEEMING
The process by which the treatment of income of individuals, not included in the assistance group (AG), but living in the home, is counted for the AG, whether or not the income is actually made available. There are two methods by which this may be accomplished: by treating the deemor's income as if he were included in the AG or by allowing for the needs of the deemor, as well as the needs of others for whom he is financially responsible to be subtracted from the income, and counting the remaining income for the AG. The appropriate method depends on the relationship between the individuals and the program or coverage group involved.

DISQUALIFIED INDIVIDUAL
A person who must normally be included in an AG, but who has been excluded due to his failure to comply with a specific program requirement. This person may also be referred to as a SANCTIONED INDIVIDUAL.

DISREGARD
A portion of income that is not counted when determining countable income. Allowable disregards are different, depending upon the program involved.

DIVIDEND
A share of profits received by a stockholder, stakeholder, or a policy holder.

EARNED INCOME
Income of an individual which is derived, at least in part, from compensation for physical or mental activity as part of a trade or business. Earnings include gross income from employment and gross profit from self-employment.

EARNED INCOME TAX CREDIT (EITC)
An amount by which an individual's federal income tax obligation is reduced or eliminated. When eligible for the EITC, an individual may receive a federal tax refund which exceeds the original amount withheld or he may receive monthly advance payments.

ELDERLY
This is also referred to as AGED.
Medicaid: An individual who is at least age 65.
SNAP and WV WORKS benefits: An individual who is at least age 60.

EMPLOYMENT
A situation in which a wage, salary or commission is paid to an individual for services rendered. The employer usually takes the responsibility for withholding income taxes and FICA taxes from the wages. However, if this is not done, the employee may pay these taxes himself without affecting his status as an employee. The employer controls such things as hours worked, what is done and where the work is located.
EXCLUDED BY LAW
An individual specifically excluded from the AG by Federal or State law.

EXCLUSION
Income or assets that are treated as if they do not exist.

FEDERAL DATA HUB
An electronic Federal data service through which the Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR) will obtain information from federal agencies or other data sources such as the Social Security Administration (SSA), the Department of Treasury and Homeland Security.

FEDERALLY-FACILITATED MARKETPLACE (FFM)
This term refers to a State or Federally-Facilitated Health Insurance Marketplace and is also referred to as The Marketplace. It is a governmental agency or non-profit entity that makes Qualified Health Plans (QHP) available to qualified individuals. The Marketplace will allow individuals to: compare private health plans; obtain answers to questions about health coverage options; determine if they are eligible for tax credits for private insurance or health programs like Medicaid and WVCHIP; and enroll in a health plan that meets their needs. The Marketplace must have a consumer assistance function, including the navigator program. The Marketplace must provide for operation of a toll-free call center and must maintain an up-to-date Internet website. States must coordinate with the State or Federal Exchange to share eligibility date and eligibility determinations for applicants for Medicaid, WVCHIP or the Marketplace.

GIFT CARD/CERTIFICATE
Representation in paper form as a certificate or other device such as an electronic card that has a dollar value, a merchandise credit, or verification of value where the issuer has received payment for the full face value with the agreement that the card will be redeemed in the future for food, goods, services, credit, or money of at least an equal value. A gift card/certificate must be evaluated to determine if it can be used to purchase food or shelter and if there are any restrictions related to its use.

GROSS INCOME
The amount of monthly income received before any deductions.

GROSS PROFIT
The total gross income from self-employment, less the cost of producing the income.

INCENTIVE PAYMENT
An allowance paid for participation in or successful completion of a training program, or an additional benefit paid.
INCURRED EXPENSES
Monetary liabilities of the client.

IN-KIND INCOME/PAYMENT
Goods or services received or provided by the AG in lieu of a cash payment.

INSURANCE AFFORDABILITY PROGRAM (IAP)
The IAP includes Medicaid, WVCHIP, and coverage in a QHP offered through the Marketplace using advanced payments of premium tax credit or cost-sharing reductions.

LUMP-SUM PAYMENTS
Non-recurring, recurring, or advance payments. This may include, but is not limited to, RSDI, stock dividends paid quarterly, or payments from an income disability insurance plan that cover a previous period, but are delayed for medical reports, etc.

MAGI DISREGARD
An income disregard that equals 5% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL) for the family size, applicable only to Medicaid Groups and WVCHIP that use MAGI income based methodologies. See Section 4.7 for further details.

MAGI SCREENING
All applicants will go through a “MAGI Screen” and will have MAGI Medicaid eligibility determined first. If eligible for a MAGI Medicaid coverage group, the applicant should promptly be enrolled into the MAGI coverage group. The applicant may also pursue eligibility for coverage in non-MAGI groups.

MANDATORY PAYROLL DEDUCTIONS
Income withholdings common to all employees of the same employer.

MEANSTESTED PROGRAM
A program for which the client’s financial circumstances are considered in determining eligibility and/or benefit level. Also known as NEEDS-BASED PROGRAM.

MINIMUM ESSENTIAL COVERAGE (MEC)
Coverage as defined in Section 5000 (f) of Subtitle D of the Internal Revenue Code. MEC includes, but is not limited to, Medicaid, the Children’s Health Insurance Program (CHIP), Medicare, TRICARE, Veterans Affairs (VA) benefits, Peace Corps, Employee Sponsored Plans and Plans in the individual market.
MODIFIED ADJUSTED GROSS INCOME (MAGI)
Income figure used to determine eligibility for specific Medicaid eligibility groups and WVCHIP. The MAGI is calculated by making adjustments to the adjusted gross income. See Section 4.7.

NON-AG MEMBER
An individual whose income, resources, needs and/or expenses are not included in the AG of the individual or group of individuals with whom he lives, but who has not been disqualified, sanctioned or excluded by law.

NON-MEANS TESTED PROGRAM
A program that does not take into account income, or an individual's means, without the assistance. However, the benefit has its own rules for eligibility.

ODD JOBS
Small jobs of various types such as, cutting lawns, babysitting or other small jobs for a cash fee. Is not normally listed as a business and has little or no expenses.

PARENTAL LIVING ALLOWANCE
The SSI payment amount for one or two persons, depending on the number of parents in the home.

PLAN TO ACHIEVE SELF-SUPPORT (PASS)
A plan developed by the SSA or the DHHR for a blind or disabled individual to achieve self-support.

PAY CARD/PAYROLL CARD/PAYROLL DEBIT CARD
A plastic debit card on which the employer or agency directly deposits the employee or client’s earned or unearned income for his use. This card is used in lieu of a paper check or other paper document that indicates payments. An example would be a Direct Express Card.

PRORATION
The process of distributing income received as a single payment, or an expense met by a single payment, equally over the time period it is intended to cover.

QUALIFIED HEALTH PLAN (QHP)
Under the ACA, an insurance plan that is certified by the Marketplace, provides essential health benefits, follows established limits on cost-sharing (like deductibles, copayments, and out-of-pocket maximum amounts) and meets other requirements. A QHP will have a certification by each Marketplace in which it is sold.
REASONABLE COMPATIBILITY
This term is applicable for MAGI Medicaid Groups and WVCHIP. There is considered to be reasonable compatibility when discrepancies between an individual’s self-attestation about his non-financial and financial information and the information reported by the federal data hub, or other electronic data sources available to the DHHR are within a designated threshold.

REASONABLE COMPATIBILITY STANDARD
When determining whether there is reasonable compatibility with respect to financial information, the standard is the allowable difference in income between the data match income reported in the hub and that reported by the client. The current standard is 10% of the client reported income. See Section 7.2.5.

REIMBURSEMENT
Compensation for past or future expenses.

RELOCATION PAYMENTS
Money received from federal, state or local agencies to cover moving costs, cost of purchasing a home in a new location, or as a rent supplement, when a person or family is displaced by such an agency. Examples of these payments include, but are not limited to, Highway Relocation, Urban Renewal and the Army Corps of Engineers.

ROYALTIES
A share of the profit from the product of an oil or mineral lease. Also a payment made to an author or composer for each copy of work sold or to an inventor for each article sold under a patent.

SANCTIONED INDIVIDUAL
A person who must normally be included in an AG, but who has been excluded due to his failure to comply with a specific program requirement. This person may also be referred to as a DISQUALIFIED INDIVIDUAL.

SELF-ATTESTATION
Information reported by an individual about financial and non-financial information.

SELF-EMPLOYMENT
A situation in which an individual has an investment in a business, has costs involved in producing income from this business, and could suffer a loss. He is usually responsible for his own income taxes and Federal Insurance Contribution Act (FICA) taxes. A self-employed individual usually has to provide his own equipment, supplies and materials needed to do a job.
or produce the income. He controls to some extent his hours of work and where the work is done.

SPECIAL NEEDS
Needs other than food, shelter, utilities, clothing and incidentals which are not uniformly shared by all members of the AG.

SPENDDOWN
The amount by which income exceeds the Medically Needy Income Level (MNIL) for the Period of Consideration (POC).

THIRD-PARTY LIABILITY (TPL)
TPL refers to the legal obligation of third parties, such as any individual, entity, or other program, to pay part or all of the expenditures for medical assistance; therefore, TPL is the means by which Medicaid payments are reduced or reimbursed by the amount paid by any individual, entity or other program.

THIRD-PARTY PAYMENTS
Payments made on behalf of the AG by an individual who is not a member of the AG. To qualify as a third-party payment, there must be an identifiable payment on behalf of the AG, rather than on behalf of the payer. Third-party payments are distinguished by the separation among the individual receiving the service (the first party), the individual or institution providing it (the second party), and the organization paying for it (third party).

TRAINING ALLOWANCE
An allowance paid for participation in a training program. See INCENTIVE PAYMENTS.

TRUST FUND
A legal vehicle which allows money to be held by one individual (the trustee) for the benefit of another (the beneficiary).

UNEARNED INCOME
Income which is not related, or only indirectly related, to the efforts or activities of the individual. Examples of unearned income are RSDI, SSI, VA benefits, pensions, compensation benefits, interest, royalties, allotments, contributions, and WV WORKS payments.

UNSTATED INCOME
SSI-Related Medicaid and WV WORKS Only: Money that has not been reported, and that is not otherwise known to the DHHR, but is determined to exist because the client's paid living expenses exceed income from known sources.
4.3 CHARTS OF INCOME SOURCES

The following two charts list sources of income and how they are treated for various benefits. Neither list is all inclusive, so all other payments from any source must be evaluated.

In Chart 1, the various programs are listed in the columns. The chart indicates if the source of income is counted and, if so, if the income is earned, self-employment or unearned. If special conditions apply, there is a narrative in the appropriate program column.

For income belonging to or for the benefit of a child, the source must be known and the chart of income sources consulted for how the income is treated.

Any source of income may be received in a lump-sum payment. For instructions on treatment of a lump-sum payment, refer to the appropriate program section.

Income from Military Personnel while deployed to a designated combat zone may be made available to the assistance group (AG) in various ways. Specific sources are listed in this section. See the appropriate program section for the treatment of this income source.

Chart 1 has columns containing information about four sets of benefits that share criteria:

- Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)
- Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC)-Related Medicaid (See Section 3.18 for further information)
- Pickle Amendment Coverage (PAC), Qualified Medicare Beneficiary (QMB), Specified Low-income Medicare Beneficiary (SLIMB), Qualified Individual – 1 (QI-1), Qualified Disabled Working Individuals (QDWI), Children with Disabilities Community Service Program (CDCSP), Supplemental Security Income (SSI), SSI-Related Medicaid, and the AIDS Drug Assistance Program (ADAP). See Chapter 23 for further details about these coverage groups.
- WV WORKS and Diversionary Cash Assistance (DCA)

Chart 2 shows income sources used for the calculating the Modified Adjusted Gross Income (MAGI). These income sources are unique to the specific Medicaid coverage groups that utilize MAGI methodology to make eligibility determinations.

Because the calculation of MAGI relies on a base adjusted gross income figure, it is necessary to list the income sources used by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) to calculate the adjusted gross income. These income sources are the basis of the calculation of the household's MAGI, and therefore apply to the following Medicaid coverage groups: Adult Group, Parents/Caretaker Relatives, Children Under 19, Pregnant Women; and to the West Virginia Children's Health Insurance Program (WVCHIP). Chart 2 should not be considered an exhaustive list of income sources that count towards adjusted gross income.

b. Current Child Support for WV WORKS Clients

- When redirected, only the amount forwarded to the client by Bureau for Child Support Enforcement (BCSE) is counted as income.
- The first $50 per month of child support is excluded in all steps of the eligibility process. See appropriate program sections.
- If the client is a disabled child, 1/3 of child support received is deducted.

Excluded Income Sources

This list is not all inclusive, payments from any source must be evaluated. Please contact the BMS Policy Unit.

- ABLE Account distributions that are used for qualified disability expenses
- Adoption Assistance
- American Indian/Alaska Native Specific Income Sources:
  - Distributions from Alaska Native Corporations and Settlement Trusts
  - Distributions from any property held in trust, subject to Federal restrictions, located within the most recent boundaries of a prior Federal reservation, or otherwise under the supervision of the Secretary of the Interior

- Distributions and payments from rents, leases, rights of way, royalties, usage rights, or natural resource extraction and harvest from:
  - Rights of ownership or possession in any lands described in paragraph (3)(b) of this section; or
  - Federally protected rights regarding off-reservation hunting, fishing, gathering, or usage of natural resources.

- Black Lung Benefits
- Cash Support

EXCEPTION: For individuals who expect to be claimed as a tax dependent by a grandparent, another relative, or another individual who is not a parent or stepparent, their household income includes cash support provided by the person claiming them as a tax dependent if over $50 per month.

- Child Support
- Educational Scholarships and Fellowship Grants including AmeriCorps Education Expenses (See Section 10.8.G)
- Federal Tax Credits
- Foster Care Payments
- Gifts and Loans
- Supplemental Security Income (SSI)
- TANF Assistance
- Title XIX Medicaid Waiver Payments
- Veteran Benefits (Disability, Pension, other):
  - Education, training and subsistence allowance.
  - Disability compensation and pensions payments for disabilities paid either to veterans or their families.
  - Grants for homes designed for wheelchair living.
  - Grants for motor vehicles for veterans who lost their sight or the use of their limbs.
  - Veterans’ insurance proceeds and dividend paid either to veterans or their beneficiaries, including the proceeds of a veteran’s endowment policy paid before death.
  - Interest on insurance dividends left on deposit with the VA.
  - Benefits under a dependent care assistance program.
- The death gratuity paid to a survivor of a member of the Armed Forces who died after September 10, 2001.
- Any bonus payment by a state or political subdivision because of service in a combat zone.
- Worker's Compensation
4.4 SUPPLEMENTAL NUTRITION ASSISTANCE PROGRAM (SNAP)

4.4.1 BUDGETING METHOD

Eligibility is determined and benefits are issued on a monthly basis; therefore, it is necessary to determine a monthly amount of income to count for the eligibility period. The following information applies to earned and unearned income.

For all cases, the Worker must determine the amount of income that can be reasonably anticipated for the assistance group (AG). Income is projected; past income is used only when it reflects the income the client reasonably expects to receive during the certification period. There is one exception, which requires use of actual income instead of conversion or proration. See Section 4.4.1.E below.

When the amount of an anticipated income source is determined by use of an income tax return, it is not necessary to change the method by which that income source is anticipated at each redetermination prior to the next tax return, unless the anticipated income from that source for the upcoming certification period is expected to change.

4.4.1.A Methods for Reasonably Anticipating Income

There are two methods for reasonably anticipating the income the client expects to receive. One method uses past income and the other method uses future income. Both methods may be used for the same AG for the same certification period. The method used depends on the circumstances of each source of income.

Use past income only when both of the following conditions exist for a source of income:

- Income from the source is expected to continue into the certification period; and
- The amount of income from the same source is expected to be more or less the same. For these purposes, the same source of earned income means income from the same employer, not just the continued receipt of earned income.

Use future income when either of the following conditions exist for a source of income:

- Income from a new source is expected to be received during the certification period. For these purposes, a new source of earned income means income from a different employer; or
The rate of pay or the number of hours worked for an old source is expected to change during the certification period. Income that normally fluctuates does not require use of future income. Future income is used for old sources only when the hourly, weekly, monthly, etc. rate of pay changes or the number of hours worked during a pay period increases or decreases permanently.

Fluctuating Work Hours Example: The Thorn family members have the following income: Mr. Thorn has earnings that fluctuate greatly from week to week. He expects no change in his earnings. Mrs. Thorn was earning a substantial monthly salary, but was laid off last week. She will begin work next week at a job that pays $9.00 per hour. She does not know how many hours she will work, but her employer has told her she will work a minimum of 20 hours per week. Mr. Thorn’s income is anticipated by using his past income as an indication of what he can expect to receive during the certification period. Mrs. Thorn’s income from an old source cannot be used because it will not be received during the upcoming certification period. Instead, the Worker must anticipate what her future earnings will be based on the best information available at the time. Mr. Thorn’s source of income meets the requirements for using past income to anticipate the future income, but Mrs. Thorn’s source is new and must be projected.

4.4.1.B Consideration of Past Income

The Worker must consider information about the client’s income sources before deciding which income to use.

The Worker must follow the steps below for each old income source.

Step 1: Determine the amount of income received by all persons in the Income Group (IG) in the 30 calendar days prior to the application/redetermination date, or interview date when the interview is completed on a different day than when the application is received.

The appropriate time period is determined by counting back 30 days beginning with the calendar day prior to the date of application/redetermination. However, if the interview is completed on a different day than when the application/redetermination is received, the 30-day look-back period could begin the day before the interview date. The income from this 30-day period is the minimum amount of income that must be considered. When, in the Worker’s judgment, future income may be more reasonably anticipated by considering the income from a longer period of time, the Worker considers income for the time period he determines to be reasonable. Whether the Worker considers income from the prior 30 days, or from a longer period of time, all of the income received from that source during that time period must be considered. All pay periods during the appropriate time period must be considered and must be consecutive.

If the client provided sufficient income verification on the date the application/redetermination is received, then additional verification is not required at interview.

The year-to-date amounts on check stubs may only be used when the client has verification of all payment amounts whether used or not, but is missing one.

Determination of Payments Example 1: Application/interview date is June 1.

Paid weekly on Fridays.

Pays in last 30 days are:

- May 28
- May 21
- May 14
- May 7

Determination of Payments Example 2: Application/interview date is December 6.

Paid weekly on Mondays.

Pays in last 30 days are:

- November 29
- November 22
- November 15
- November 8

Determination of Payments Example 3: Application date is October 8. Interview date is October 20.

Paid weekly on Fridays.

Pays in last 30 days (prior to application) are:

- October 1
- September 24
- September 17
- September 10
OR

Pays in last 30 days (prior to interview) are:

- October 15
- October 8
- October 1
- September 24

Step 2:  Determine if the income from the previous 30 days is reasonably expected to continue into the new certification period.

If it is not expected to continue, the income from this source is no longer considered for use in the new certification period.

If it is expected to continue, determine if the amount is reasonably expected to be more or less the same. If so, the income source is used for the new certification period and treated according to Section 4.4.1.D below. If it is not expected to continue at more or less the same amount, the income source is used for the new certification period and treated according to Section 4.4.1.C below.

Step 3:  Record the results of Step 2, including the amount of income, why the source is or is not being considered for the new certification period, the client's statement about continuation of the income from this source, the time period used, and, if more than the previous 30 days, the reason additional income was considered.

Once the Worker has determined all of the old sources of income to consider and the time period for which they are considered, he must then determine if any source should be considered for future income.

4.4.1.C Consideration of Future Income

This section applies only when the client reasonably expects to receive income from a new source during the new certification period, or when the amount of income from an old source is expected to change. In that case, the Worker must consider the income that can be reasonably expected to be received.

NOTE: When self-employment income is anticipated, proceeds from the sale of capital goods and equipment must be anticipated also. See Section 4.4.4 for capital goods and equipment.
NOTE: When the amount of income or the date of receipt cannot be reasonably anticipated, income from that source is not considered until the necessary information can be obtained. See Step 2 below.

Step 1: Determine if the IG expects to receive income from a new source, or expects a different amount from an old source, in the new certification period. If not, none of the following steps are necessary. However, the Worker must record the client’s statement that he does not expect income from a new source.

Step 2: Determine the amount of income the client reasonably expects to receive from the new source, or the new amount from the old source. If the amount of income is not reasonably anticipated, the income from that source is not counted. If it is possible to reasonably anticipate a range of income, the minimum amount that is anticipated is used. The Worker will record case comments for the client’s statement concerning this income, and will also record why it cannot be reasonably anticipated.

Step 3: Determine the date the client reasonably expects to receive the income from the new source, or the new amount from the old source. If the date the income will be received is not reasonably anticipated, the income from that source is not counted. The Worker will record case comments for the client’s statement concerning the date, and will also record why it cannot be reasonably anticipated.

Step 4: When the amount and date of receipt can be anticipated, the Worker treats the income according to Section 4.4.1.D below. The Worker must record how the amount and date of receipt were projected.

4.4.1.D How to Use Past and Future Income

After the Worker determines all of the income sources that are to be considered for use, the Worker determines the amount of monthly income, based on the frequency of receipt and whether the amount is stable or fluctuates. This is described in the following table.
Conversion of Income to a Monthly Amount

- Weekly amount x 4.3
- Biweekly amount (every two weeks) x 2.15
- Semi-monthly amount (twice/month) x 2

Proration of income to determine a monthly amount is accomplished by dividing the amount received by the number of time periods it is intended to cover as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>When the Frequency of Receipt is:</th>
<th>When the Amount is Stable</th>
<th>When the Amount Fluctuates (See Note Below)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Monthly</td>
<td>Use actual monthly amount.</td>
<td>Use average monthly amount. (See note below)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>More often than monthly (such as weekly, biweekly, semimonthly)</td>
<td>Convert amount per period to monthly amount.</td>
<td>Find average amount per period and convert to monthly amount. (See note below)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Less often than monthly (such as quarterly, semiannually, annually)</td>
<td>Prorate to find amount for intended period. If not monthly, convert or prorate amount.</td>
<td>Prorate to find amount for intended period. If monthly, convert or prorate amount.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

NOTE: The purpose of finding an average amount of fluctuating income is to even out the highs and lows in the amount of income. The client is not, then, required to report fluctuating income each pay period and the Worker is not required to change income monthly. See Section 10.4.2 for SNAP reporting requirements. Sometimes the client receives higher benefits than he would if actual income were used and sometimes he receives lower benefits. Therefore, when the Worker has averaged fluctuating income based on the best information available and the client’s income does not match the monthly amount used by the Worker, there is no repayment when the client receives higher benefits and no supplemental issuance when the client receives lower benefits. Should the client report fluctuations in the amount of income, the Worker is only required to recalculate the countable income when, in his judgment, the fluctuation will significantly impact the benefit amount. All changes reported by the client must be considered, but not necessarily used. Reported changes must be recorded and the Worker must record why the reported income was or was not used.
- Bimonthly amount (every two months) ÷ 2
- Quarterly amount (every three months) ÷ 3
- Semi-annual amount (twice/year) ÷ 6
- Annual amount ÷ 12
- Six-week amount ÷ 6 converted to monthly amount by using x 4.3
- Eight-week amount ÷ 8 converted to monthly amount by using x 4.3

Actual Income Example: Ms. Poppy begins working on the second Monday of a month. She earns $200 per week and is paid every Friday. Her average weekly pay is $200. For the first month Ms. Poppy has earnings, she expects to be paid three times. Her income for the month is $200 x 3 = $600. A change must be made for the anticipated income from the second month of her employment.

Proration, Conversion, Fluctuation, and Multiple Sources of Income Example: The Calla family is a family of four consisting of Mr. Calla, his wife, Lily, his mother, and his son. Mr. Calla works and earns a monthly salary of $300. His wife, Lily, works part-time and is paid weekly. Lily earns $9 per hour, but the number of hours she works fluctuates each week. His mother receives $150 every three months from the mineral rights to some property she owns out of state. His son just received a disability insurance check in the amount of $420 for the past six weeks. Income is determined as follows:

- For Mr. Calla, Monthly Pay, Amount Stable = $300 Salary = Monthly Amount
- For Lily, More Often, Amount Fluctuates = $9 per hour x Average Number of Hours per Week x 4.3 = Monthly Amount
- For his mother, Less Often = $150 ÷ 3 Months = Monthly Amount
- For his son, Less Often = $420 ÷ 6 Weeks x 4.3 Weeks = Monthly Amount

4.4.1.E Exception for Use of Actual Income

There is one exception to the rules in items A - D above. It applies to both applicants and clients and requires use of actual income instead of conversion or proration of income.
4.4.1.E.1 Applicants

When:

- The first month of eligibility meets the definition of an initial month, (i.e. the first month following any period of time in which the AG was not participating); and
- An income source terminates in the month of application or in the 30 days prior to the date of application. The Worker must calculate the income for the month of application for the terminated source by adding the actual amount already received in the month of application, plus the amount expected to be received later in the month of application. Income from this source for the past 30 days, or from the month of application, must not be used to convert the terminated income to a monthly amount.

Applicant Exception Example: Mr. Maple applies on September 10. His job ended on August 31. He was paid on that date, but still has another pay due to him on September 15. Because the income is from a terminated source, the income from this source cannot be converted. Instead, the amount already received in the month of application ($0), plus the amount expected to be received on September 15, are used to determine his eligibility and benefit level for the month of application.

4.4.1.E.2 Clients

When:

- He reports the beginning or ending of a source of income; and
- The client is not expected to receive a full month’s income. Income from this source must not be converted to a monthly amount.

Instead, the Worker must use the actual amount of income. If income from the source is ending, no income from the source is counted in future months.

If the income from the source is beginning, the income is added as actual amounts for each month until the client would receive a full month of income from the new source, at which time the income is converted to a monthly amount.
4.4.1.F Anticipated Income Examples

The following are examples of methods to anticipate income, based on several different situations. The Worker must always base anticipated income on the individual situation, not solely on the information contained in the examples below.

Example 1: An application is made on June 22. The client indicates he is paid biweekly and he does not expect any change in his income. The Worker requests that the client provide information about pay received in the 30 days prior to June 22, and uses this income to anticipate income for the certification period. The Worker records the client’s statement about expecting no changes, as well as how the income was verified and the method used to convert the income to a monthly amount.

Example 2: Same situation as previous example, except that the client indicates that his pay fluctuates each pay day and he expects this pattern to continue without any change in status, rate or source of income. After a discussion with the client, the Worker and client agree that two additional pay periods prior will provide enough information to reasonably anticipate income for the certification period. The Worker records the results of the discussion with the client, how the income was verified and the method used to convert the income to a monthly amount.

Example 3: A redetermination is received on July 7. The client indicates that he is paid weekly and his income fluctuates because his hours of work are unpredictable. The client also indicates that beginning the following month, he will receive an increase in his hourly rate. The Worker requests that the client provide income for the 60 days prior to the redetermination date in order to anticipate the average number of hours the client works. Income from the last 60 days is requested because it provides a good indication of the fluctuations in the client’s income. The Worker uses the average weekly number of hours or hours the client worked during the last 60 days, but uses the new hourly pay rate to anticipate income for the new certification period. The Worker records why income from the last 60 days was requested, how the average weekly hours were determined, how the new pay rate was verified, and how the anticipated income was calculated.

Example 4: An application is made July 8. The client indicates that he began a new job two weeks prior to making application. He is paid weekly and has received two pays. He indicates that his employer has told him that, although his hourly rate will not increase in the near future, he can expect an increase in his hours after his training period is finished in two weeks. However, the increase in hours is dependent upon how much work is available and the increased number of hours is unpredictable. The Worker requests all income that the client has received from the new job prior to the date of application. This actual amount of income from the new source is counted for July. Because the number of increased hours cannot be anticipated, the minimum number of hours, (i.e., the amount he has worked each week for the first two weeks), is used to anticipate income for the certification period or period of consideration (POC). The Worker records how the income was verified and determined for the month of application, as well as how the income was calculated for the months following the month of application.

Example 5: An application is made June 26 and the client indicates that he began a new job the week prior to application. He is going to be paid biweekly and has not received a pay yet. He states that he will work 35 hours per week and receive $12.75 per hour. The client does not expect any changes in hours or rate of pay. The Worker requests a statement from the client’s employer for the number of hours and hourly rate of pay and anticipates income for the certification period as follows:

\begin{align*}
\text{$12.75} & \quad \text{hourly rate} \\
\times 70 & \quad \text{hours for two weeks} \\
\text{$892.50} & \quad \text{Anticipated biweekly pay} \\
\text{$892.50} & \quad \text{Anticipated monthly pay} \\
\times 2.15 & \\
\text{$1,918.88} & \quad \text{Anticipated monthly pay}
\end{align*}

The Worker records the client’s statement about no expected changes in income and his lack of pay to date, as well as how the income was verified and calculated.

Example 6: An application is made September 13, and the client states that he is self-employed. He grows and sells Christmas trees. Most of his income for the year is earned during the months of November and December. In addition, he sells the leftover trees to the local city government to use for mulch. He receives some income each month from the leftover trees and the amount fluctuates during the year. He states that he anticipates that his earnings will be less from Christmas sales this year because many of his trees were damaged in a fire last spring. He estimates he lost at least half of the trees that he planned to sell this year. He is unable to determine at this time if his sale of trees to the city will be affected after Christmas, but currently his income from this source has not changed. The Worker requests that the client provide income received in the previous year from his sales to the city, and his Christmas tree sale earnings for the previous season.
Anticipated income is based on an average of monthly sales to the city and half of the previous year’s Christmas tree sales. The Worker records the client’s situation in detail, how past income was verified, and the method used to anticipate income for the new certification period.

Example 7: Ms. Daisy applies on March 2. She does not work and her only source of income is child support from three absent parents. Income from Absent Parent A is regularly received, but the amount varies.

Income from Absent Parent B is always the same amount, but she never knows when she will receive it.

Absent Parent C pays regularly and the amount is more or less the same.

The Worker requests verification as follows: A’s payments for the last six months; B’s payments for the last six months; C’s payments for the last three months.

She reports and verifies the following income from the three sources:

Parent A:
- March 1 $450
- February 1 $75
- January 1 $123
- December 1 $850
- November 1 $170
- October 1 $100

Parent B:
- February 14 $250
- January 10 $250
- November 20 $250

Parent C:
- February 20 $300
- January 20 $300
- December 20 $300

The Worker finds the average monthly payment made by Parent A and projects the income to continue. The Worker and the client cannot reasonably anticipate that any payments will be received in the new certification period or POC from Parent B, so no income is counted from this source. Parent C pays the same amount at the same time, so $300 per month is counted from Parent C.
The Worker records details about payments and payment dates from each of the absent parents, how the payments were verified, whether or not any income was counted from each source and, if so, how the amount was determined.

Example 8: Same situation as above, except the client indicates she also receives child support arrearages, as well as ongoing child support.

The client states that the arrearage payments from Parent A are received regularly, but the amount varies.

She states that she seldom receives arrearage payment from Parent B, and she cannot anticipate any payments.

Parent C makes arrearage payments regularly, and the amount is usually the same.

The Worker requests the following verifications: Parent A’s payments for the last six months; Parent B’s payments for the last six months; and Parent C’s payments for the last three months.

The client reports and verifies the following child support arrearage payments from the three parents:

Parent A:
- March 1 $200
- February 1 $100
- January 1 $50
- December 1 $75
- November 1 $300
- October 1 $25

Parent B:
- February 14 $80

Parent C:
- February 20 $50
- January 20 $50
- December 20 $50

The Worker determines the average monthly arrearage payment made by Parent A and anticipates that amount to continue. The Worker and client cannot reasonably anticipate that any arrearage payments will be received from Parent B during the certification period, so no arrearage amount from him is counted.
Because Parent C pays the same arrearage amount regularly, $50 a month is counted.

The Worker records the details about the payments and dates received from each parent. He also records how the payments were verified, whether or not any income was counted from each parent, and, if counted, how the amount was determined.

Example 9: A waitress, Mrs. Pine, applies on December 7. She is paid twice a month and provides pay stubs with the following information:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Number of Hours</th>
<th>Wages</th>
<th>Tips</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>September 15</td>
<td>35 hours</td>
<td>$180.25 wages</td>
<td>$88.00 tips</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>September 30</td>
<td>60 hours</td>
<td>$309.00 wages</td>
<td>$130.00 tips</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>October 15</td>
<td>32 hours</td>
<td>$164.80 wages</td>
<td>$83.00 tips</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>October 30</td>
<td>35 hours</td>
<td>$180.25 wages</td>
<td>$88.00 tips</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>November 15</td>
<td>12 hours</td>
<td>$61.80 wages</td>
<td>$32.00 tips</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>November 30</td>
<td>35 hours</td>
<td>$180.25 wages</td>
<td>$88.00 tips</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Mrs. Pine provides the following additional information: She earns $9 per hour. She does get some tips, but rarely the amount shown on her paystubs. She says the employer determines the amount shown as tips by some formula that she does not understand because he is required by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) to report them. She does not have to share her tips with any other employee and they do not share tips with her. She says that during a “good” week, she makes about $20 in tips. The employer never sees her tips, she does not report the amount to him, and is not required to do so. The Worker pends the case for verification of the way the employer determines the amount of tips shown on her paystubs and reported to the IRS.

The client provides the following note from the employer:

To Whom It May Concern:

Mrs. Pine works for me at the Dew Drop Inn as a waitress. I pay her $7.25 for every hour she works. She does make some in tips, but I don’t know how much. The IRS makes me figure her tips, so I do it according to how much food she sells. I don’t think she really gets that much. None of my waitresses do, but the IRS makes me do it.

Very truly yours,

Lilly Rose
There is no third-party, independent verification available for the amount of Mrs. Pine’s tips. However, she does state that she receives tips, so income from the tips cannot be disregarded. The only way to verify the amount of tips is to accept her statement as to the amount. There is no other source of verification available, so the Worker must accept her statement. The Worker must record that the employer confirmed the tips shown on the paystubs do not necessarily reflect the amount she actually receives, that this is the best information that can be provided to verify the situation, and that the client’s statement is accepted as verification.

4.4.2 INCOME DISREGARDS AND DEDUCTIONS

Certain items may be allowed as income deductions to arrive at an AG’s countable income, (even if the payment is made from assets). To receive a deduction, the expense must:

- Not be an educational expense;
- Be billed or be due during the certification period in which the deduction is claimed;
- Be obligated to be met by the AG’s own resources; and
- Be owed to an individual not included in the AG to receive a deduction.

To convert an expense to a monthly amount, multiply by an actual or average amount as follows:

- Weekly amount x 4.3
- Biweekly amount (every two weeks) x 2.15
- Semi-monthly (twice/month) x 2

4.4.2.A Effective Date of Deduction

Some expenses cannot be anticipated or occur too late in the month to use as deductions in the following month. They are used as deductions for the first month for which a change can be made effective.

At initial application, expenses paid during previous months are not used. Expenses paid or due during the month of application are used. In some situations, expenses from previous months are used to anticipate ongoing expenses.
When a client fails to report household expenses that would normally result in a deduction, the AG loses their entitlement to that deduction. They have a right to the expense, once it is reported and verified, if required by policy. See Section 10.4.

In addition, any SNAP AG may choose to have fluctuating expenses averaged, except for educational expenses. Expenses are averaged by dividing the expenses over the number of months they are intended to cover. When expenses are prorated, they are prorated over the certification period, or the remainder of the certification period, as appropriate.

Expenses regularly billed as a single monthly payment, and that are used as a deduction, are used in the month the expense is intended to cover. An expense does not have to be paid to be a deduction.

4.4.2.B  Allowable Disregards and Deductions

The following are the only allowable disregards and deductions for the SNAP. They apply to the income of the AG members and any individual sanctioned/penalized due to enumeration, Intentional Program Violation (IPV), failure to comply with a work requirement, or disqualified by law. See Deeming in Section 4.4.4.H.

4.4.2.B.1  Earned Income Disregard

Twenty percent (20%) of gross countable earned income, including gross profit from self-employment, is disregarded. This disregard is applied to the combined earnings of all members of the AG and to those persons whose income is counted or deemed. It is intended to cover those expenses incidental to employment or training, such as transportation, meals away from home, special clothing, and payroll deductions.

4.4.2.B.2  Standard Deduction

A Standard Deduction is applied to the total non-excluded income counted for the AG, after application of the Earned Income Disregard. The amount of the Standard Deduction is found in Appendix B.
4.4.2.B.3  Dependent Care Deduction

A deduction is allowed for payment for the care of a child or other dependent, when the expense is necessary for an IG member to accept, continue or seek employment or training, or pursue education that is preparatory to employment. Persons enrolled in an institution of post-secondary education, in a course of study designed to lead to any degree, are considered to be pursuing education that is preparatory to employment. Persons taking only elective classes or some specialized classes, or who do not have a declared major, do not qualify for this deduction.

Dependent care expenses are deducted from educational funds to the extent that they are earmarked and/or used for such expenses. See Educational Income in Section 4.4.4.G. Dependent care expenses deducted from educational funds are deducted from these funds last, after all other allowable educational expenses, so that the client may then use any excess dependent care expenses as a Dependent Care Deduction.

When third-party payments are made for dependent care, no deduction is given for the amount paid by the third party.

4.4.2.B.4  Child Support Deduction

A deduction is allowed for legally obligated child support actually paid by an AG member or disqualified individual to an individual not residing in the same household.

In the State of West Virginia, legally obligated means the child support is the result of a circuit or magistrate court order, an order issued by administrative process, or a legally enforceable separation agreement. For orders issued in other states, any order that would be upheld by a Judge in a court of law is considered legally obligated.

Legally obligated child support includes cash or in-kind payments, payments on arrearages, and payments for medical insurance premiums to cover the dependent child. If the dependent child is included in the parent’s medical coverage at no extra cost, no deduction is allowed. If the parent must also enroll in order to cover the child, the total premium amount is used as a deduction. Alimony, spousal support, and payments made in accordance with a property settlement are not deducted.

A deduction is allowed based only on payments actually made, not the legally obligated amount, and may not exceed the legal obligation.
Child support paid to a child support agency and retained by the agency is deducted, even when the individual who pays the support resides with the person to whom the payment would customarily be paid. When the AG member pays the support to the agency and it is forwarded to an individual who resides in the same household, a deduction is not given.

➢ Child Support Examples

Example 1: An AG member has a court order to pay $150 per month child support and he verifies only $50 per month in payments. His child support deduction is $50.

Example 2: An AG member has a court order to pay $100 per month child support and to provide medical coverage available through his employer. He did not make a payment for 10 months and owes $1,000 in arrearages. His employer deducts $100 per month child support, $50 per month for arrearages, and $25 per month for medical insurance for the child. His child support deduction is $175.

Example 3: Same situation as above, except the order requires $50 per month alimony and $100 per month rent to his ex-wife’s landlord, which the court order stipulates is part of his child support obligation. The child support deduction is $275. No deduction is given for the alimony.

When the child support amount paid each month varies, a minimum three-month total is averaged to project payments over the certification period.

When the payment record is less than three months, the deduction is based on anticipated payments, including arrearage.

For child support paid by disqualified individuals, see Deeming in Section 4.4.4.H.

4.4.2.B.5 Homeless Shelter Standard Deduction

This deduction may be applied when a homeless AG incurs any shelter/utility expenses for the month. Homeless AGs that receive free housing and utilities throughout the month are not eligible for the deduction. However, if they incur any shelter or utility expense, regardless of the amount, any time during the month, or if they can reasonably be expected to have such expenses, they qualify for the Homeless Shelter Standard Deduction. See Appendix B.

Homeless Shelter Deduction Example 1: A homeless family applies for SNAP. They have been living in their car until the Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR) paid for them to stay in a motel for a week. Now they reside at a homeless shelter. This family does not qualify for the deduction because none of its own money was used for shelter.

Homeless Shelter Deduction Example 2: A family becomes homeless while participating in the SNAP. They are living first with one relative and then another, paying a token amount for their keep. This family qualifies for the deduction because it has incurred expenses for shelter.

If the AG incurs, or reasonably expects to incur, shelter and/or utility costs in excess of the Homeless Shelter Standard Deduction amount, the AG may use the actual shelter and/or the appropriate utility standard, if eligible. An AG must not receive the homeless shelter standard deduction and either a deduction for actual shelter costs and/or the Standard Utility Allowance (SUA) in the same month. See Shelter/Utility Deduction below for allowable expenses.

4.4.2.B.6 Medical Expenses

Medical expenses in excess of $35 must be allowed as a medical deduction for AG members who are elderly, which is at least age 60, or disabled, as defined in Section 13.15. Once the medical expenses of all such AG members have been totaled, the amount of the total in excess of $35 is used as a medical deduction. Thirty-five dollars ($35) is deducted from the total amount of expenses for the AG, not $35 from each person's expenses. There is no maximum dollar limit for a medical deduction.

Allowable Expenses

Only medical costs that are not reimbursable through a third party (insurance, Medicaid, etc.) are deducted. The deduction cannot be granted until the reimbursable portion of the expense is known.

- The cost of any medical goods or services related to the use of an illegal substance under federal law, including medicinal marijuana, may not be deducted.
- Medical and dental care, including psychotherapy and rehabilitation services provided by a qualified health professional.
- Prescription and over-the-counter drugs, if prescribed by a qualified health professional. This includes postage and handling costs paid for mail-order prescription drugs.
- Medical supplies and equipment, if prescribed by a qualified health professional. Items may be either purchased or rented.
• Hospital or outpatient costs, nursing care, and nursing facility care. This is also allowable if paid on behalf of an individual who was a member of the AG immediately prior to admission to a facility. The facility must be recognized by the State.

• Health and hospitalization insurance premiums, including long-term care, vision, and dental insurance.

  When the individual(s) who qualifies for a medical deduction has medical insurance under a policy that benefits other individuals who do not qualify for a medical deduction, only the portion of the insurance premium assigned to the qualifying individual(s) is considered. If specific information is not available about the eligible individual’s premium amount, the premium is prorated among those covered by the insurance.

• Medicare premiums, except when the DHHR is paying the premium.

• Medical support service systems, if prescribed by a qualified health professional. Allowable costs are related to the purchase, rental, and maintenance of the system. Examples of medical support service systems include, but are not limited to, Lifeline Personal Response, Life Alert, etc.

• Dentures

• Hearing aids and batteries

• Purchase and maintenance of prosthetic devices

• Purchase and maintenance of a trained service animal which is required for a physical or mental disability and is prescribed by a doctor. This includes the cost of food and veterinarian bills for the service animal. Trained service animals may include seeing or hearing dogs, therapy animals to treat depression, animals used by persons with other disabilities such as epilepsy, paraplegia, etc. When the supervisor is unable to determine whether or not an animal meets the applicable criteria or an animal-related expense is an appropriate deduction, he must contact the Division of Family Assistance (DFA) Economic Services Policy Unit for clarification.

• Prescription eyeglasses

• Reasonable cost of transportation and lodging to obtain medical treatment or services. If a client can verify that a charge was made for transportation, but the transportation provider will not state the amount, the current state mileage rate is allowed as a medical deduction.
• Maintaining an attendant, homemaker, home health aide, housekeeper, or child care services necessary due to age, infirmity, or illness. If the AG provides the majority of the attendant's meals, an amount equal to the maximum monthly SNAP allotment for one person is also used as a medical deduction.

• Any cost-sharing or spenddown expense incurred by Medicaid clients.

NOTE: When attendant care costs qualify for both Dependent Care Deduction and medical deduction, it must be considered a medical expense.

NOTE: Special diets and dietary supplements are not allowable medical expenses.

Timing Considerations Related to Medical Bills

The client is only required to report medical expenses at the time of application and redetermination. He may choose to report changes in expenses during the certification period, and such changes must be acted on.

Medical bills that are overdue when reported cannot be considered. The date the expense is incurred is not the deciding factor, but rather, the date the expense is billed or otherwise due.

The AG may elect to have one-time only costs deducted in a lump sum or prorated over the certification period. If, at application or redetermination, a client anticipates and verifies that he will incur an expense during the certification period, it may be prorated over the entire certification period. If he reports an expense during the certification period, it may be prorated over the remainder of the certification period.

When the medical bill or expense is paid by a credit card, it must be treated as a one-time only cost. The medical bill or expense may be deducted in a lump sum or prorated over the certification period. The actual monthly payment to the credit card company is not an allowable medical expense.

An AG that is certified for 24 months may elect to have one-time only costs deducted as follows:

• Costs reported during the first 12 months of the certification period may be:
  o Deducted for one month;
  o Averaged over the remainder of the first 12 months; or o Averaged over the remainder of the 24-month certification period.

• Costs reported after the twelfth month may be:
Clients may choose to use a combination of estimated and actual expenses.

Estimated Expenses

The client may claim a medical deduction by providing a reasonable estimate of medical expenses for the certification period. Such expenses may include current verified medical expenses, anticipated changes in ongoing expenses, an anticipated new ongoing expenses, or an anticipated one-time only expense. The client must verify that his estimate is reasonable.

Information used to determine that an estimate is reasonable may include, but is not limited to:

- Current verified medical expenses
- Statement from a physician, dentist, or other healthcare professional to establish the need for and/or date of an anticipated procedure, course of treatment, etc. The Worker and/or Supervisor may establish need based upon knowledge of the client’s current or prior circumstances, or information in the client’s record.
- Cost estimate from the provider of an anticipated procedure, course of treatment, etc.
- Information about third-party coverage, including Medicaid, for current and/or anticipated expenses

Once the client provides a reasonable estimate of expenses for the certification period, he is not required to report further, even if the estimated expenses increase, decrease, or are not incurred. However, changes reported by the AG must be acted on.

Changes reported or information received from a source other than the AG, such as information received from a medical provider for a Medicaid client, must be acted on only when the information is verified by the outside source and contact with the AG is not necessary for additional information or verification. Otherwise, such information is acted on at the next redetermination or when the client reports and verifies it.

Actual Expenses

The client may claim a medical deduction by using actual expenses. Once he reports his actual expenses at application or redetermination, he is not required to report further, even if his... expenses increase or decrease during the certification period. However, reported changes must be acted on.

Monthly payments toward medical expenses are allowable as a deduction only when a monthly payment schedule is negotiated prior to the due date of the bill. If the client must renegotiate the payment schedule for any reason, only the amount that is not past due, and for which the client has not already received a deduction, is an allowable expense.

Renegotiated Payment Example: The AG agrees in January to make monthly payments of $100 for 10 months on a $1,000 bill. They make timely payments in January and February. In March and April they make no payment due to a change in circumstances, but they do receive the deduction. In May, they renegotiate the payments to pay the balance of $800 at $80 a month for 10 months. Because the AG has already received a total deduction of $400, and the amount of $200 for March and April is overdue, the client may only receive a deduction for $600. He may receive the $80 a month deduction only until the $600 is paid.

When a bill becomes overdue during the certification period, the deduction continues until the end of the certification period, unless the client reports the overdue bill.

Ongoing medical expenses that are regularly incurred on a weekly, biweekly or semi-monthly basis must be converted to a monthly amount using the following conversion figures:

- Weekly - Multiply by 4.3
- Biweekly - Multiply by 2.15
- Semi-monthly - Multiply by 2

Medical Deduction for Residents of Group Living Facilities (GLF)

Allowable medical expenses that can be identified apart from food and shelter payments are deducted. See Section 16.2.

Categorically Eligible, Retroactive SSI Approvals

When all of the following conditions are met, the AG must have benefits restored to compensate the client for a medical deduction he did not receive:

- The AG becomes Categorically Eligible due to retroactive approval of SSI benefits; and
- The individual approved for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) is entitled to a medical deduction; and
- The client started receiving SNAP benefits prior to being found eligible for SSI.
Benefits must be restored for the period starting the date the individual was authorized to receive SSI benefits or the date of the SNAP application, whichever is later.

4.4.2.B.7 Shelter/Utility Deduction

After all other exclusions, disregards, and deductions have been applied, 50% of the remaining income is compared to the total monthly shelter costs and the appropriate SUA. If the shelter costs/SUA exceed 50% of the remaining income, the amount in excess of 50% is deducted. The deduction cannot exceed the shelter/utility cap found in Appendix B.

EXCEPTION: The cap on the shelter/utility deduction does not apply when the SNAP AG includes an individual who is elderly or disabled, as defined in Section 13.15.

The Worker must allow the expense only if the AG is obligated to pay with the AG’s excluded or non-excluded resources. There is no time limit during the certification period for deciding when an AG is no longer allowed a deduction for the bill. The AG is no longer allowed the deduction when the expense is no longer billed or is no longer due. An expense does not have to be paid to be a deduction.

When the AG is providing an in-kind payment instead of a cash payment, a deduction is only allowed when the original obligation is a cash payment. The AG must be otherwise obligated to make a cash payment, if the in-kind payment is not provided.

In-Kind Payment Example 1: An AG is renting a house that needs repairs. The house normally rents for $450 a month. The landlord has agreed to allow the AG to make repairs to the home in lieu of making a rent payment for six months. The AG is entitled to a $450 rent deduction for six months.

In-Kind Payment Example 2: Same situation as above, except that the landlord has agreed to allow the AG to make repairs to the home in lieu of part of the rent for 12 months. The AG must make a cash payment of $225 a month and make repairs for the remaining $225 a month. The AG is entitled to a $450 rent deduction for 12 months.

In-Kind Payment Example 3: An AG is renting a room in an elderly woman’s home. In exchange for rent, the AG is expected to provide housekeeping, lawn care, and meal preparation for the woman. No cash value was assigned to this obligation. The AG is not required to make a cash payment in lieu of these responsibilities. The AG is not entitled to a shelter deduction because the only rental obligation is an in-kind payment.
Shelter Deduction Example 1: An eligible college student uses a portion of his educational grants and loans in August to pay his rent through the end of the semester. His rent is used as a shelter deduction as it would be due during the certification period.

Shelter Deduction Example 2: An eligible college student’s parents pay his rent during the school term. His rent is not used as a deduction because he is not obligated to pay it. His parents do not pay his rent during the summer. He may receive a deduction during the summer because he is obligated to pay the rent.

The AG may still be eligible for a deduction if the home is not occupied by the SNAP AG because of employment or training away from home, illness, or disaster/casualty loss of an AG or non-AG member. The deduction is allowed, if the AG remains responsible for the shelter and/or utility costs, and the home is not leased or rented during this time. The AG must intend to return to the home, and the current occupants of the house, if any, must not be claiming the shelter costs for SNAP purposes.

Homeless AGs who use the Homeless Shelter Standard Deduction are not eligible for the SUA and an additional shelter deduction.

AGs with shelter expenses, (i.e., rent and mortgage), for both occupied and unoccupied homes may use the obligations for both homes as a deduction.

When the client claims expenses for his home as a self-employment expense, the deduction can be either a shelter deduction or a cost of doing business, but the total deduction given must not exceed the actual expense. See Ineligibility For The Heating/Cooling Standard (HCS) below.

4.4.2.C Shelter Expenses

Items considered in arriving at shelter expenses are the continuing amounts of:

- Rent. Security or damage deposits are not shelter expenses.

- Mortgage payments. This includes second mortgages and home equity loans and any other loans for which the dwelling is used as collateral.

- Interest on mortgage payments.

- Condominium and association fees, regardless of purpose for the fees.

NOTE: A shelter cost paid in advance, but billed and/or due during the certification period, is used as a deduction.
• Payments to an escrow account established to pay property taxes and homeowner’s insurance.

• Property taxes and special tax assessments on the structure and lot required by State or local law. This does not include assessments such as police and fire fees, unless the fee is based on property valuation.

• Insurance on the structure and lot. This does not include insurance on furniture or personal belongings. If the insurance cost on the structure and the cost on the personal belongings/furniture cannot be identified separately, the entire insurance payment is allowed.

• Cost of repairing the home that was damaged or destroyed due to a natural disaster or misfortune including, but not limited to, fire, flood, or freezing temperatures. This does not include charges that will be or have been reimbursed from any source such as insurance, private agency, etc.

• A car payment when a homeless AG lives in their vehicle.

• Insurance on the vehicle itself when a homeless AG lives in their vehicle.

➢ Rent Subsidies

A rent subsidy paid directly to the client’s landlord is not counted as income and the amount of the subsidy is not used as a shelter deduction.

A rent subsidy paid directly to the client or any other entity other than the client’s landlord is counted as income and the amount of rent payment actually made from the client’s income is used as a shelter deduction.

A rent subsidy paid directly to the client or to the utility provider is counted as income, and the amount of the rent payment actually made from the AG’s income, including income counted due to direct receipt of a rent subsidy, is used as a shelter deduction.

When the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is recovering an overpayment by withholding money for current and future subsidies, the client's contribution increases. Such an increase is not counted as an increase in shelter costs.

➢ Residents of Group Living Facilities (GLF)

The portion of the payment made to the GLF, which can be identified as being for shelter or utilities, is used as a shelter deduction.
If it is not possible to identify the portion of the payment that is for shelter, the Worker subtracts the maximum monthly benefit for the number of persons in the AG from the total monthly payment actually made from the AG’s income. The remainder is used as the shelter expense.

4.4.2.C.1 Standard Utility Allowance (SUA)

SUAs are fixed deductions that are adjusted yearly to allow for fluctuations in utility expenses. AGs with utility expenses for both occupied and unoccupied homes may only use the SUA for one home of his choice.

These deductions are the Heating/Cooling Standard (HCS), the Non-Heating/Cooling Standard (NHCS), and the One Utility Standard (OUS). The current SUA amounts are found in Appendix B.

AGs that are obligated to pay from their resources a utility expense that is billed separately from their shelter expenses are eligible for an SUA deduction. AGs that are not obligated to pay any utility expense are ineligible for the SUA, even if other residents pay utility expenses. Eligibility for the SUA must be evaluated at certification, redetermination, and when the AG reports a change in utilities that may affect its eligibility for a deduction.

Items that are considered utilities include, but are not limited to:

- Water, including well installation and maintenance
- Liquefied Petroleum Gas (LP or LPG) or natural gas
- Wood, wood pellets, coal, and heating oil
- Electricity
- Sewage, including septic tank system installation and maintenance
- Garbage collection
- The basic rate for one telephone, either land-line or cellular service, but not both. Basic rates include, but are not limited to, taxes, wire maintenance fees, subscriber line charges, relay center surcharges, and 911 fees. It does not include extra services such as, call-waiting, caller ID, etc.

Items not considered utilities include, but are not limited to:

- Cable/digital/satellite television service
- Internet service
- Utility deposits
• Pre-paid cell phones

SHARE RESIDENCE EXCEPTION: When an AG shares a residence with another AG or non-AG and shares any utility expense, the AG is eligible to receive the appropriate SUA based on all the utilities of the residence.

---

Shared Residence Example: A SNAP client shares a home with another individual. The utilities for the home are electric, gas, water, and telephone. The SNAP client pays the water, and the other individual pays the electric, gas, and telephone. The SNAP client is eligible for an SUA deduction based on the utilities of the residence, which are the electric, gas, water, and telephone.

➢ Heating/Cooling Standard (HCS)

To be eligible for the HCS, the AG must meet the following criteria.

Heating or Cooling Costs

AGs that are obligated to pay a heating or cooling expense that is billed on a regular basis are eligible for the HCS. There does not have to be a monthly bill for heating or cooling throughout the year, just a regular bill for heating or cooling during the appropriate season.

To qualify for the HCS, the heating or cooling expenses must be for the primary source of heating or cooling.

Heating expenses include, but are not limited to, the cost of electricity, gas, oil, coal, wood, wood pellets, and kerosene. Heating costs include only the fuel, and not related costs. Related expenses are those necessary to obtain the fuel or to operate the unit, such as electricity to run a gas furnace.

Cooling expenses for the operation of air conditioning systems or room air conditioners are allowable expenses. Fans are not considered air conditioners and are not an allowable expense.

Primary Heating Source Example: The use of electric space heaters by an AG whose primary source of heat is free gas, does not qualify the AG for the HCS.

Related Expense Example: A client uses free firewood for heat, but must pay for delivery. The delivery expense alone does not qualify the AG for the HCS.
Separate Billing

The expense for heating or cooling costs must be billed separately from the rent or mortgage, even if the AG combines those payments. This includes the following:

- Residents of a private rental housing who are billed by the landlord for a heating or cooling cost based on actual use or charged a flat rate separately from the rent.
- AGs that live in separate residences, but share a single meter.
- AGs that rent different residences in the same building and share utility meters, and one is billed for heating and one is billed for another utility.
- Residents of public housing with shared utility meters who are billed for excess heating or cooling costs.
- AGs that have utilities included in their rent and/or shelter payments, but are billed separately for a heating or cooling cost are eligible for the HCS.

Low-Income Energy Assistance Program (LIEAP)

AGs that receive LIEAP or share a residence and utility costs with a LIEAP client are eligible to receive the HCS. LIEAP payments must be received in the current month or preceding 12 months of determining eligibility, regardless of any changes in the AG’s address.

Ineligibility for the HCS

The AG, unless a LIEAP client, is not eligible for the HCS when any of the following situations exist:

- The heating or cooling costs are included in the shelter obligation and are not billed separately; or
- The AG receives an excluded utility supplement and does not have utility costs in excess of the amount of the excluded supplement.

A homeless AG may choose to use the Homeless Shelter Standard Deduction or the HCS, if otherwise eligible.
Non-Heating/Cooling Standard (NHCS)

AGs that do not qualify for the HCS, but incur two or more utility expenses or at least one utility expense when sharing a residence that has two or more utilities, are eligible for the NHCS if the AG meets the following criteria:

- Separate Billing

The utility costs must be billed separately from the rent or mortgage payment for the residence. This includes the following:

- Residents of private rental housing who are billed by the landlord based on actual use or charged a flat rate separately from the rent.
- AGs that live in separate residences, but share a single meter.
- AGs that rent different residences in the same building, and one is billed for one utility and the other is billed for the other utility.
- Residents of public housing with shared utility meters who are billed excess costs for two or more utilities.
- AGs that have utilities included in their rent and/or shelter payment, but are billed separately for two or more utility expenses are eligible for the NHCS.

- Ineligibility for the NHCS

The AG is not eligible for the NHCS when any of the following situations exist:

- All the utility costs are included in the shelter payment and none are billed separately
- The AG receives an excluded utility supplement and does not have utility costs greater than the excluded supplement

A homeless AG may choose to use the Homeless Shelter Standard Deduction or the NHCS, if otherwise eligible.

One Utility Standard (OUS)

AGs that do not qualify for the HCS or the NHCS, but incur one utility expense, are eligible for the OUS if the AG meets the following criteria:
Separate Billing

The utility cost must be billed separately from the rent or mortgage payment of the residence. This includes the following:

- Residents of a private rental housing who are billed by the landlord based on actual use or are charged a flat rate separately from the rent.
- AGs that live in separate residences, but share a single meter.
- AGs that rent different residences in the same building, and only one is billed for the one utility.
- Residents of public housing with a shared utility meter who are billed excess cost of a single utility.
- AGs that have a utility or multiple utilities included in their rent and/or shelter payment, but are billed separately for one utility expense are eligible for the OUS.

Ineligibility for the OUS

An AG is not eligible for the OUS when any of the following situations exist:

- All the utility costs are included in the shelter payment and none are billed separately.
- The AG receives an excluded utility supplement and does not have utility costs in excess of the amount of the excluded supplement.

A homeless AG may choose to use the Homeless Shelter Standard Deduction or the OUS if otherwise eligible.

4.4.3 Determining Eligibility and Benefit Level

The following information describes situations encountered in determining eligibility for most AGs; however, there are situations that require special treatment. See Special Situations in Section 4.4.4.

The process of determining eligibility and the amount of the benefit differs when an AG member is elderly or disabled.
4.4.3.A Determining Eligibility

- When no AG member is elderly or disabled, the gross income must be equal to, or less than, the gross income limit in Appendix A. If so, the AG qualifies for the disregards and deductions.

  If the gross income exceeds the amount in Appendix A, the AG is ineligible.

- When at least one AG member is elderly, which is at least age 60, or disabled as specified in Section 13.15, eligibility is determined by comparing the countable income to the maximum net monthly income found in Appendix A. There is no gross income test.

- When the AG is Categorically Eligible as defined in Chapter 1, the gross income test is presumed to be met.

4.4.3.B Determining Countable Income

SNAP certification for residents of shelters for battered persons and their children are based on the income, assets, and expenses of the client and their children. See Sections 5.6 and 16.2.

The following steps are used to determine countable income for cases meeting the eligibility tests above.

Step 1: Combine monthly gross countable earnings and monthly gross profit from self-employment.

Step 2: Deduct 20% of Step 1.

Step 3: Add the gross countable unearned income, including the WV WORKS benefit and any amount reduced or being repaid to WV WORKS due to failure to comply with a program requirement. See Section 4.4.4.

Step 4: Subtract the Standard Deduction found in Appendix B.

Step 5: Subtract allowable Dependent Care Expenses.

Step 6: Subtract the amount of legally obligated child support actually paid.

Step 7: Subtract the Homeless Shelter Standard Deduction found in Appendix B.

Step 8: Subtract allowable medical expenses in excess of $35.

Step 9: Calculate 50% of the remaining income and compare it to the actual monthly shelter/SUA amount.
Step 10:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Shelter/SUA Equal To Or Less Than Step 9</th>
<th>No One Elderly or Disabled</th>
<th>At Least One Person Elderly or Disabled</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>No further computation is needed. The amount from Step 8 is the countable income.</td>
<td>No further computation is needed. The amount from Step 8 is the countable income.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| Shelter/SUA Greater Than Step 9 | The amount in excess of 50%, not to exceed the shelter/utility cap, in Appendix B is deducted to arrive at countable income. | The amount in excess of 50% is deducted, without regard to the shelter/utility cap, in Appendix B to arrive at countable income. |

Step 11: Compare the countable income to the maximum net income in Appendix A for the AG size. This net income test does not apply to Categorically Eligible AGs. See Chapter 1.
4.4.3.C Determining the Amount of the Benefit

To determine the SNAP allotment, find the countable income and the number in the AG in Appendix C, Basis of Issuance. One- and two-person AGs who meet the gross and net income test or who are categorically eligible, as defined in Section 1.4.17.C automatically receive the minimum benefit, unless it is a prorated benefit. See Appendix D, SNAP and WV WORKS Proration Table. No benefits are issued to any AG eligible for an initial, prorated amount less than the minimum benefit. See Chapter 1 for proration requirements.

Although Appendix C, Basis of Issuance, provides benefit amounts based upon countable income, the Worker may determine the benefit amount by using the following method. The eligibility system also uses this method.

<table>
<thead>

<tr>
<td>$473 SNAP benefit for a full month</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

4.4.4 SPECIAL SITUATIONS

4.4.4.A Categorical Eligibility

Although there is no gross or net income test, countable SNAP income for the purposes of determining level of benefit is calculated the same way it is for all other SNAP AGs. See Chapter 1 for Categorical Eligibility information.
4.4.4.B Expedited Service

After eligibility for Expedited Service is determined, the income calculations are the same as for any other AG.

Destitute AGs receive special income calculations, whether they are expedited or not. See item C below.

4.4.4.C Destitute AGs

NOTE: This provision applies only to migrant or seasonal farm worker AGs.

4.4.4.C.1 Definition of Destitute

The AG’s only income for the month was prior to the date of application and is from a terminated source or the AG will receive no more than $25 in income from a new source within 10 days after the date of application.

Households may receive both income from a terminated source and income from a new source and still be considered destitute.

Travel advances from a new employer are not considered the first pay from the new source and do not prevent the AG from being destitute.

➢ Income from a Terminated Source

Income is considered to be from a terminated source when:

- If it is received on a monthly or more frequent basis and will not be received again from that source for the remainder of the month of application or the month following the month of application; or
• If it is received less often than monthly and will not be received for the month in which the next payment would normally be received.

Income from a New Source

Income is considered to be from a new source when:

• If it is received on a monthly or more frequent basis and no more than $25 was received within 30 days prior to the application date; or

• If it is received less often than monthly and no more than $25 was received within the last normal interval between payments.

4.4.4.C.2 Determination of Destitute

Migrant and seasonal farm workers that are determined destitute are entitled to:

• Expedited Service procedures

• Special income calculations used for the first month of the certification period.

4.4.4.C.3 Special Income Calculations

Those AGs determined destitute have only the income received between the first of the month of application (or redetermination) and the date of application (or redetermination) used in the income calculations for the first month of certification (or recertification). All other SNAP income policy and procedures apply.

4.4.4.D Income from Self-Employment

When an AG member or a disqualified individual(s) receives income from self-employment, the instructions below must be used to arrive at the gross profit which is used to calculate countable income.

Contract income that is not intended to cover a 12-month period and is not paid on an hourly or piecework basis is prorated over the period it is intended to cover.
4.4.4.D.1 Determining Gross Income

Gross income includes the net proceeds from the sale of capital goods or equipment.

The method used to determine monthly gross income from self-employment varies with the nature of the enterprise. It is necessary to determine which of the following types of self-employment applies to the client's situation. Once the pattern of self-employment has been determined, the instructions below are used to determine how the income is counted.

➢ Person Receiving Regular Income

Persons who receive income as profit on a more or less regular schedule (weekly, monthly, etc.), or receive a specific amount from the business each week or month and/or receive the balance of profit from the enterprise at the end of the business year.

This income is converted to a monthly amount, according to the Budgeting Method in Section 4.4.1.

Business expenses may be computed on a monthly basis or prorated over a 12-month period, at the client's option.

➢ Persons Receiving Irregular Income

Many persons derive income from short-term seasonal self-employment. This seasonal enterprise may be the major source of income for the year, or only for the period of time the person is actually engaged in this enterprise, with other sources of income being available during the remainder of the year. Persons who are seasonally self-employed include vendors of seasonal commodities (produce, Christmas trees, etc.), or other seasonal farmers.

Cash-crop and some seasonal farmers and other persons with similar irregular self-employment income receive their annual income from self-employment in a short period of time and budget their money to meet their living expenses for the next 12 months.

Because the income is seasonal, it must be averaged over the period of time it is intended to cover, even if it is the major source of income for the year. However, if the averaged amount of past income does not accurately reflect the anticipated monthly circumstances because of a substantial increase or decrease in business, the income is calculated based on anticipated earnings.
Business expenses may be computed on a monthly basis or prorated over a 12-month period, at the client’s option.

➢ New Business

AGs with a new business that has been in existence less than a year have their income and incurred business expenses averaged over the amount of time the business has been in operation. From this, the monthly amount is projected for the coming year. However, if the averaged amount of past income and/or expenses does not accurately reflect the anticipated monthly circumstances because of a substantial increase or decrease in business, the income and/or expenses is calculated based on anticipated earnings.

4.4.4.D.2 Determining Gross Profit

Gross profit from self-employment is the income remaining after deducting any identifiable costs of doing business from the gross income.

➢ Deductions

Examples of allowable deductions include, but are not limited to:

- Employee labor costs, including wages paid to an AG member and any salary the client pays himself. When paid to an AG member, the income must be considered according to the provisions in Section 4.3.
- Stock and supplies
- Raw material
- Seed
- Fertilizers
- Repair and maintenance of machinery and/or property
- Cost of rental space used for conducting the business
- Payments on the principal and interest of the purchase price of income-producing real estate and capital assets, equipment, machinery, and other durable goods
- Insurance premiums and taxes paid on the business and income-producing property
- The utilities, principal, interest, and taxes for the client’s residence which is used in part to produce income. This is applicable only if the expenses on the portion of the home used in the self-employment enterprise can be identified separately. See Shelter/Utility Deduction above. The total deduction given for shelter and/or expense of doing business must not exceed the actual expense.

- Advertising costs
- Utilities
- Office expenses, (i.e., stamps, stationery, etc.)
- Legal costs
- Net Loss from self-employment farming. See item D below.

Do not deduct the following:

- Federal, State, or local income taxes
- Money set aside for retirement
- Travel from home to a fixed place of business and return
- Depreciation
- Amounts claimed as a net loss, except loss from farming self-employment. See item D below.

➢ Rental Income Deductions

In addition to the deductions listed in item A above, the following expenses are deducted from rental income:

- Utility bills paid for tenants
- Property tax and insurance on the rental property
- Repair and upkeep of the property
- Interest and principal on necessary purchases made in installments, such as the purchase of a new furnace

NOTE: The following deductions apply to both business and non-business rental income even when the non-business rental income is counted as unearned income.

➢ Deductions from Boarder Income

When the household is not a commercial boarding house, the deduction for the cost of doing business is:

- The documented cost of providing rooms and meals, if the cost exceeds the maximum SNAP allotment equal to the number of boarders. However, this amount cannot exceed the actual payment the AG receives from the boarder; or
- The maximum SNAP allotment for the number of boarders.
Offsetting Farming Losses

Offsetting losses from farm self-employment activities is accomplished as follows:

NOTE: Losses from farming self-employment are only offset for the AG containing the person directly involved in the agricultural activity and, then, only when the farmer receives or expects to receive annual gross income of $1,000 or more from the farming enterprise.

Step 1: Determine gross monthly farm self-employment income.
Step 2: Determine monthly farm business costs, prorated over the same period used to prorate income.
Step 3: Subtract the business costs from the gross farm income to determine the negative number that is the net monthly loss.
Step 4: Determine gross non-farm, self-employment income.
Step 5: Subtract monthly business costs for the non-farm, self-employment enterprise from the result of Step 4.
Step 6: Subtract the result of Step 3 (losses due to farm self-employment) from the result of Step 5.
Step 7: If the result of Step 6 is $0 or greater, offsetting the farm loss is complete. The result is used as the total self-employment income for the AG. If the result of Step 6 is negative, the difference between the amount of farm loss and the amount of non-farm self-employment income is used as the net farm loss amount. Proceed to Step 8.
Step 8: Add together the total gross earned income (excluding the result from Step 5) and total unearned income of the AG.
Step 9: Subtract the net farm loss (Step 7) from the total arrived at in Step 8. This is the final gross monthly income for use in the gross income test. If the final gross monthly income is negative, 0 (zero) is used as the income.

Farm and Other Self-Employment Income Example: The Jade family has $2,400 per year gross income from farming. In addition, Mrs. Jade is self-employed and earns $600 per year. One child receives $25 per month child support and Mr. Jade has gross earnings of $400 per month.

4.4.4.E Migrant Farm Laborers with Seasonal Employment

See Section 4.4.4.C above.

4.4.4.F Annual Contract Employment

This section applies to any person employed under a yearly contract, such as school employees, including bus drivers, cooks, janitors, aides, and professional staff. This item does not apply to migrant workers or substitute employees.

These individuals have their annual income prorated over a 12-month period. Additional earnings, such as for summer work, are added to the prorated amount during the time additional earnings are received.
Although a person may not have signed a new annual contract, he is still considered employed under an annual contract when the contract is automatically renewable, or when he has implied renewal rights. Implied renewal rights are most commonly associated with school contracts.

This item does not apply during strike and disaster situations when the other party to the contract cannot fulfill it; or when labor disputes interrupt the flow of earnings specified in the contract.

4.4.4.G Educational Income

All student financial assistance, including grants, scholarships, fellowships, work study, educational loans on which payment is deferred, and veterans’ educational benefits are entirely excluded.

Unless used for living expenses, income from stipends is excluded.

4.4.4.H Deeming

Income is deemed from individuals who are ineligible, disqualified, and excluded by law and from certain income sources as found below.

NOTE: This does not apply to students who are ineligible due to the SNAP general eligibility provisions in Section 3.2, individuals who are ineligible due to receipt of SNAP in another state and individuals who are ineligible due to the institution residence provision in Section 2.2.

See Sections 15.6 for deeming from ineligible noncitizens and from sponsors of ineligible noncitizens.

4.4.4.H.1 Deeming From Disqualified and Ineligible Individuals

Income treatment differs, based on the reason for the disqualification or ineligibility as follows.
➢ Ineligible AG Members

The following individuals are ineligible to be included in the AG and are not counted as AG or Needs Group members when determining eligibility and the benefit level. See Section 3.2.

- Individuals subject to an enumeration penalty
- Ineligible noncitizens
- Individuals who are found to be ineligible Able-Bodied Adults Without Dependents (ABAWD)

The income is deemed as follows:

Step 1: The total countable income of the ineligible individual is divided by the number of persons in the AG, plus the ineligible individual(s). This is each individual's pro rata share.

Step 2: Subtract the disqualified individual(s') share from his total countable income. The remaining amount is counted as income to the AG.

The Earned Income Disregard is applied only to the portion deemed to the AG.

The portion of the AG’s allowable child support payments, shelter, and dependent care expenses, which is billed to and/or paid by the ineligible individual is prorated as described above.

NOTE: No portion of an AG’s SUA is prorated due to the ineligibility of an AG member.

Ineligible Individual Example: The household consists of father, mother, and three children. The father has earnings of $500 per month and is an ineligible individual. There is no other income in the home and the father pays the $250 rent.

Income for the AG is calculated as follows:

Step 1: $500 ÷ 5 = $100 Pro rata income share for each person

Step 2: $500 Father's income
- $100 Father's pro rata share
$400 Deemed to AG as earned income

The shelter expense is calculated as follows:

Step 1: $250 ÷ 5 = $50 Pro rata rent share for each person

Step 2: $250 Rent paid by father
- $50 Father's pro rata share
$200 Used as shelter expense for AG
Disqualified Individuals

The income of the following disqualified and excluded individual(s) is counted as if he were a member of the AG.

- An individual who is in a SNAP penalty for failure to comply with SNAP work requirements. See Section 14.5.
- An individual who is excluded by law. See Section 3.2.
- An individual who has been found guilty of an Intentional Program Violation (IPV). See Section 3.2.

All applicable exclusions, disregards, and deductions apply to the individual(s) income; however, the individual is not included in the AG when determining eligibility or benefit level.

NOTE: The benefit level cannot increase when an individual is disqualified and all other case circumstances remain the same. Should this happen, please notify the DFA Policy Unit.

4.4.4.H.2 Failure to Comply with WV WORKS Requirements

SNAP benefits will not increase due to a repayment or the loss of WV WORKS when the repayment or loss is due to the client’s failure to comply with a requirement of WV WORKS. The client must be receiving a SNAP benefit at the time of the failure to comply.

Nature of the Deeming Process

The amount of the WV WORKS benefit prior to the repayment or loss continues to be counted as income, even though the client no longer receives it.

AG Separation Example: Mr. and Mrs. Crocus have four children and are notified that a third sanction will be imposed and the benefit amount will be reduced from $460 to $0. The WV WORKS amount counted for SNAP benefits is $460. The AG separates; Mr. and Mrs. Crocus each will then have $230 of the WV WORKS benefit counted for the SNAP benefits in their separate AGs. If they reconcile before the end of the sanction period, $460 WV WORKS benefit will be counted for their SNAP benefit.
➢ Deeming Period

The duration of the WV WORKS sanction is not affected by a break in SNAP certification. For WV WORKS sanctions, the income is deemed during the entirety of the sanction period.

➢ Client Notification

The fact that benefits do not increase based on a decrease in income, does not constitute an adverse action. Client notification is required.

➢ SNAP Fair Hearing

The AG is not entitled to a separate SNAP Fair Hearing on the issue of failure to comply. A SNAP Fair Hearing may be held on the issue of not increasing SNAP benefits when WV WORKS income has decreased.

4.4.4.I Strikers

4.4.4.I.1 Definition of a Striker

A striker is an individual involved in a strike or concerted work stoppage by employees, or any slowdown or concerted interruption of operation by employees.

An individual who is a part of the striking union or concerted work stoppage is considered a striker, even if he voted against the strike or concerted work stoppage, and even if he does not actively engage in strike-related activity, such as walking in a picket line. Sympathy strikers are considered strikers.

4.4.4.I.2 Determining Striker Eligibility

To determine if an AG containing a striker is eligible, it is necessary to determine pre-strike eligibility and current eligibility. When the SNAP AG includes an individual who is on strike, the AG is ineligible for the duration of the strike unless:
• If the AG was eligible and receiving SNAP benefits the day prior to the strike, pre-strike eligibility is assumed. If not, it is necessary to determine if the AG would have been eligible the day prior to the strike, had they applied. If the AG would not have been eligible prior to the strike, they are ineligible for current SNAP benefits.

• The individual who is participating in the strike is exempt from work requirements for any reason other than employment. Refer to Chapter 14.

4.4.4.3 Who Is Not a Striker

The following persons are not considered strikers:

• An individual who is not a part of the striking union or concerted work stoppage;
• An employee who is not working because of a lock-out by the employer;
• Employees who are laid off or for whom there is no work because of a strike;
• An employee who is not a member of a striking union, but who cannot cross a picket line because of fear of personal injury or death. Any person, who is prohibited by his union's by-laws from crossing a union picket line may feel he faces the possibility of personal injury if he does cross the picket line of the union that is striking or conducting a concerted work stoppage. The DFA Policy Unit must be contacted before a decision is made on these cases. The DFA Policy Unit will determine if each member of the non-striking union does face the possibility of personal injury by crossing the picket line of the striking group. The DFA Policy Unit will determine if the entire non-striking union may be considered non-strikers, or if the decision about the possibility of harm must be made on a case-by-case basis, after consultation with the Food and Nutrition Service of the United States Department of Agriculture (FNS).

4.4.4.4 Striker Criteria

The following points are considered in determining whether or not to consider an individual a striker:

• If both the union and the company consider the work stoppage to be a strike, the individual is a striker.
• If both the union and the company consider the work stoppage to be a lockout, the individual is not a striker.
- The fact that a person receives unemployment compensation insurance (UCI) benefits does not necessarily mean that the individual is not a striker.
- Employees who participate in sympathy or support strikes are considered to be strikers.
- All non-working members of the bargaining unit which is on strike are strikers, even if they are not members of the union, regardless of their fear of crossing a picket line. Members of the bargaining unit who are working are not considered strikers.
- If the company fires the employee while he is on strike, the employee is no longer considered a striker.
- If the employee officially resigns from his job while on strike, the employee is no longer considered a striker.
- If an individual obtains other employment while on strike, but he does not resign, the individual is still a striker.
- If the company hires permanent replacements for the individuals who are striking, the individuals are no longer considered strikers.
- If the company does not allow the individuals who are striking to return to their old jobs, but offers them different ones, the individuals are no longer considered strikers.
  Employees must be able to return to the same jobs they left when the strike began to be considered strikers.
- If an employee was locked out by the company the day before the strike, the employee is not considered a striker.
- If the union calls off the strike and tells the individuals who are striking to go back to work, and they do not, the individuals are considered strikers until the individuals go back to work, are fired, or quit.
- If the company lays off, furloughs, or otherwise notifies employees who are not part of the bargaining unit that no jobs are available because of the strike, these employees are not considered strikers.
- If an individual was laid off when the strike began, the individual is not considered a striker.
- Self-employed persons, such as independent long-distance truckers, are not considered strikers.
- The fact that the company has applied for Chapter 11 bankruptcy does not mean that the individuals are not considered strikers.
4.4.4.1.5 Determining Current Eligibility

Current eligibility is determined as for any other AG, except for calculating the striker's countable income, which is determined as follows:

- Determine what the striker’s monthly countable income would have been, if he had applied the day prior to the strike, and, if the strike had not occurred.
- Determine the striker's current monthly countable income.
- The higher of these two amounts is counted as the striker's income.
- Add the determined amount to the current non-excluded income of the non-striking AG members. Eligibility and benefit level are determined as for any other AG and all appropriate deductions apply.
- Eligible strikers are subject to the work registration requirements detailed in Chapter 14, unless exempt for some reason other than employment.

4.4.4.J Irregular Income

Any income in the certification period that is received too infrequently, or irregularly, to be reasonably anticipated, but not in excess of $30 per quarter, is excluded.

However, should an AG’s receipt of irregular income continue over time, it must be anticipated and a determination of a countable amount be made according to the budgeting method outlined in Section 4.4.1.

4.4.4.K Lump-Sum Payments

Recurring lump-sum payments, received by an applicant in the month of application or by a client, are treated as unearned income and prorated over the period of time they are intended to cover.

Non-recurring lump-sum payments are excluded as income, but are counted as assets. Refer to Chapter 5.
4.4.4.L Withheld Income

4.4.4.L.1 From Earned Income

Earnings withheld to repay an advance payment are excluded, if they were counted in the month received. If not counted in the month received, the withheld earnings are considered income.

No other earned income is excluded from consideration just because it is withheld by the employer. This includes income garnishments, such as child support. See Section 4.4.2, Income Disregards and Deductions, above for allowable deductions.

4.4.4.L.2 From Unearned Income

Treatment of unearned income depends on the reason it is being withheld and the government program, if any, involved.

➢ Repayment

NOTE: Although Retirement, Survivors, and Disability Insurance (RSDI) and SSI are both paid by the Social Security Administration (SSA), they are separate programs and not treated as from the same source for this policy. This applies to both means-tested and non-means tested programs.

Means-tested Programs

Means-tested programs include, but are not limited to, WV WORKS, SSI, HUD, and Pell educational grants.

When a client's benefits under a federal or State means-tested program are reduced due to the client's intentional misrepresentation, the amount being recouped from current benefits is counted as income.

When intentional misrepresentation cannot be documented by the means-tested program, the income is not counted. The Worker must accept the determination of the program issuing the benefit that was reduced, suspended, or terminated as the final authority for the determination of intentional misrepresentation. If the determination is not specifically identified and documented by the other program, the policy in this section is not applied. The Worker must not make a judgment about whether or not the client’s actions constitute intentional misrepresentation.

If the Worker is unable to obtain information from another program outside DHHR, the policy in this section must not be applied. The Worker must document efforts to obtain such information, including information received from the client or copies of appropriate correspondence, if any, filed in the case record. This is necessary to avoid Quality Control (QC) errors for non-compliance with the policy.

When means-tested income is SSI, the agency must not contact the SSA to obtain information about SSI recipients who had withholding from their payments due to an overpayment of SSI benefits.

Any other recoupment is not counted as income when voluntarily or involuntarily withheld to repay a prior overpayment received from that same source, if the income was counted or would have been counted in the month received.

Non-means Tested Programs

Unearned income sources that are not-means tested include, but are not limited to, RSDI and Workers’ Compensation.

Any recoupment is not counted as income when voluntarily or involuntarily withheld to repay a prior overpayment received from that same source, if the income was counted or would have been counted in the month received.

Example: The client is eligible for $450 from RSDI; however, $50 a month is withheld by the SSA to repay a previous RSDI overpayment. The countable RSDI is $400.

Garnishment

Income that is withheld for any reason not listed above including, but not limited to, child support or legal fees is counted. See Income Disregards and Deductions above for allowable deductions.
Garnishment Example: The client is eligible for $450 from RSDI; however, $50 a month is withheld by the SSA and sent to the Bureau for Child Support Enforcement (BCSE) to pay child support arrears. The countable income is $450 and $50 is given as a child support deduction.

4.4.4.M Funds Diverted to a Plan to Achieve Self-Support (PASS)

Funds diverted to a PASS account are excluded only when the PASS is established by the SSA for an SSI recipient.

4.4.4.N Unstated Income

There is no provision for counting unstated income.

4.4.4.O Unavailable Income

Income intended for the client, but received by another person with whom he does not live, when the individual receiving this income refuses to make it available, is excluded.

4.4.4.P Income Received for a Non-Income Group Member

Income received by a member of the IG, that is intended and used for the care and maintenance of an individual whose income is not used in determining the eligibility or benefit level of the payee’s AG, is excluded as income.

This includes SSI payees and other protective payees. This does not include child support payments and/or arrearages received by an AG member for a child who is not in the AG. In this situation, the child support is counted for the AG that receives the income, even when it is forwarded to, and/or used, for the child.
4.4.4.Q Income Received from Military Service Personnel Deployed to a Designated Combat Zone

Use the following steps for both applicants and clients to determine the amount of income to count for the AG when funds are provided by military service personnel while serving in a designated combat zone. A list of designated combat zones is available online at the FNS website.

Step 1: Determine the amount of the military person’s pay that was actually available to the household prior to deployment to a combat zone as follows:
- If the military person was a member of the SNAP AG or IG prior to deployment, the amount is his net military pay.
- If the military person was not a member of the SNAP AG or IG prior to deployment, the amount is the amount the person actually made available to the SNAP AG prior to deployment.

Step 2: Determine the amount of military pay the person makes available to the SNAP group while deployed to a combat zone.

Step 3: Use the lesser of the Step 1 and Step 2 results.

4.4.4.Q.1 Military Income Examples

Example 1: A member of the Air National Guard (ANG) receives notice that her unit has been activated and will be deployed. This is her only source of income and increases by $1,600 per month from her traditional ANG pay of $400 per month to her new federalized pay of $2,000 per month. She reports this change and her SNAP benefits are adjusted accordingly. She is then deployed to a designated combat zone and is expected to be away for at least six months. Her husband reports this change and she is removed from the AG due to her anticipated absence from the home. He also reports that she is making her entire income available to the AG and now grosses an additional $1,000 per month.

Step 1: The soldier’s net income before deployment was $2,000 per month.

Step 2: The amount made available to the household after deployment, including the additional income is now $3,000 per month.
Step 3: Because the amount made available to the AG after deployment is more, the additional amount is excluded. The $2,000 determined in Step 1 is counted as unearned income for the AG.

Example 2: A member of the ANG receives notice that her unit has been activated and will be deployed. She is sent to Oklahoma for training. She is expected to be deployed to a combat zone but has not been told when. Her husband applies for SNAP when she leaves for training in March. She is expected to be gone for at least a year. The application is approved without her in the AG. She sends the AG a $1,200 military allotment monthly and this is counted as unearned income. The husband is also employed, and the AG is certified for 12 months.

At the next redetermination, the husband reports that the wife was deployed to a designated combat zone sometime in the last four months and is now sending a $1,700 military allotment to the AG. The AG was not required to report this change during the certification period as the total income made available to the AG does not exceed the 130% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL). The $1,700 is compared to the $1,200 and the additional $500 is excluded. The pre-deployment military allotment amount of $1,200 is still counted as unearned income.

Example 3: An AG receives a military allotment of $700 from her son who is stationed in Delaware. Once he is deployed to a designated combat zone, he decreases the military allotment to $600. Because the amount after deployment is less, the $600 is counted as unearned income for the AG.
4.5 WV WORKS

This section contains specific instructions for determining countable income and the benefit level for WV WORKS.

4.5.1 BUDGETING METHOD

Eligibility is determined, and benefits are issued on a monthly basis; therefore, it is necessary to determine a monthly amount of income to count for the eligibility period. The following information applies to earned and unearned income.

For all cases, the Worker must determine the amount of income that can be reasonably anticipated for the assistance group (AG). For all cases, income is projected; past income is used only when it reflects the income the client reasonably expects to receive during the certification period. There is one exception that requires use of actual income instead of conversion or proration; see Section 4.5.1.E below.

When the amount of an anticipated income source is determined by use of an income tax return, it is not necessary to change the method by which that income source is anticipated at each redetermination prior to the next tax return, unless the anticipated income from that source for the upcoming certification period is expected to change.

4.5.1.A Methods for Reasonably Anticipating Income

There are two methods for reasonably anticipating the income the client expects to receive. One method uses past income and the other method uses future income. Both methods may be used for the same AG for the same certification period. The method used depends on the circumstances of each source of income.

Use past income only when both of the following conditions exist for a source of income:

- Income from the source is expected to continue into the certification period; and
- The amount of income from the same source is expected to be more or less the same. For these purposes, the same source of earned income means income from the same employer, not just the continued receipt of earned income.
Use future income when either of the following conditions exist for a source of income:

- Income from a new source is expected to be received during the certification period. For these purposes, a new source of earned income means income from a different employer; or

- The rate of pay or the number of hours worked for an old source is expected to change during the certification period. Income that normally fluctuates does not require use of future income. Future income is used for old sources only when the hourly, weekly, monthly, etc. rate of pay changes or the number of hours worked during a pay period increases or decreases permanently.

Fluctuating Work Hours Example: The Thorn family members have the following income: Mr. Thorn has earnings that fluctuate greatly from week to week. He expects no change in his earnings. Mrs. Thorn was earning a substantial monthly salary, but was laid off last week. She will begin work next week at a job that pays $9 per hour. She does not know how many hours she will work, but her employer has told her she will work a minimum of 20 hours per week. Mr. Thorn’s income is anticipated by using his past income as an indication of what he can expect to receive during the certification period. Mrs. Thorn’s income from an old source cannot be used because it will not be received in the upcoming certification period. Instead, the Worker must anticipate what her future earnings will be based on the best information available at the time. Mr. Thorn’s source of income meets the requirements for using past income to anticipate the future income, but Mrs. Thorn’s source is new and must be projected.

4.5.1.B Consideration of Past Income

The Worker must consider information about the client’s income sources before deciding which income to use.

The Worker must follow the steps below for each old income source.

Step 1: Determine the amount of income received by all persons in the Income Group (IG) in the 30 calendar days prior to the application/redetermination date, or interview date when the interview is completed on a different day than the application is received.

The appropriate time period is determined by counting back 30 days beginning with the calendar day prior to the date of application/redetermination. However, if the interview is completed on a different day than the date the application/redetermination is received, the 30-day look-back period could begin the day before the interview date. The income from this 30-day period is the minimum amount of income that must be considered. When, in the Worker’s judgment, future income may be more reasonably anticipated by considering the income from a longer period of time, the Worker considers income for the time period he determines to be reasonable. Whether the Worker considers income from the prior 30 days, or from a longer period of time, all of the income received from that source during that time period must be considered. All pay periods during the appropriate time period must be considered and must be consecutive.

If the client provided sufficient income verification on the date the application/redetermination is received, then additional verification is not required at time of interview.

The year-to-date amounts on check stubs may only be used when the client has verification of all payment amounts whether used or not, but is missing one.

Determination of Payments Example 1: Application/interview date is June 1.

Paid weekly on Fridays.

Last pay date is May 28.

Pay dates in last 30 days are:

• May 28
• May 21
• May 14
• May 7

Determination of Payments Example 2: Application/interview date is December 6.

Paid weekly on Mondays.

Last pay date is December 6. Because he provided sufficient documentation, the December 6 pay is not required.

Pay dates in last 30 days are:

• November 29
• November 22
• November 15
• November 8
Determination of Payments Example 3: Application date is October 8.
Interview date is October 20.
Paid weekly on Fridays.
Last pay date at application is October 8.
Last pay date at interview is October 15.
Pay dates in last 30 days (prior to application) are:
- October 1
- September 24
- September 17
- September 10

OR

Pay dates in last 30 days (prior to interview) are:
- October 15
- October 8
- October 1
- September 24

Step 2: Determine if the income from the previous 30 days is reasonably expected to continue into the new certification period.
If it is not expected to continue, the income from this source is no longer considered for use in the new certification period.
If it is expected to continue, determine if the amount is reasonably expected to be more or less the same. If so, the income source is used for the new certification period and treated according to Section 4.5.1.D below. If it is not expected to continue at more or less the same amount, the income source is used for the new certification period and treated according to Section 4.5.1.C below.

Step 3: Record the results of Step 2, including the amount of income, why the source is or is not being considered for the new certification period, the client’s statement about continuation of the income from this source, the time period used, and, if more than the previous 30 days, the reason additional income was considered.

Once the Worker has determined all of the old sources of income to consider and the time period for which they are considered, he must then determine if any source should be considered for future income.
4.5.1.C Consideration of Future Income

This section applies only when the client reasonably expects to receive income from a new source during the new certification period, or when the amount of income from an old source is expected to change. In that case, the Worker must consider the income that can be reasonably expected to be received.

NOTE: When self-employment income is anticipated, proceeds from the sale of capital goods and equipment must be anticipated also.

NOTE: When the amount of income or the date of receipt cannot be reasonably anticipated, income from that source is not considered until the necessary information can be obtained. See Step 2 below.

Step 1: Determine if the IG expects to receive income from a new source, or expects a different amount from an old source, in the new certification period.

If not, none of the following steps are necessary. However, the Worker must record the client’s statement that he does not expect income from a new source.

Step 2: Determine the amount of income the client reasonably expects to receive from the new source, or the new amount from the old source.

If the amount of income is not reasonably anticipated, the income from that source is not counted. If it is possible to reasonably anticipate a range of income, the minimum amount that is anticipated is used.

Example: A client is scheduled to start work in February, the month following the month of application. He knows he will earn $9 per hour, but is not sure how many hours he will work. The Worker verifies through the employer that he will work 30-40 hours per week. The Worker anticipates the income by using 30 hours, the minimum number of hours he is expected to work.

The Worker will record case comments for the client’s statement concerning this income, and will also record why it cannot be reasonably anticipated.

Step 3: Determine the date the client reasonably expects to receive the income from the new source, or the new amount from the old source.
If the date the income will be received is not reasonably anticipated, the income from that source is not counted.

The Worker will record case comments for the client’s statement concerning the date and will also record why it cannot be reasonably anticipated.

Step 4: When the amount and date of receipt can be anticipated, the Worker treats the income according to Section 4.5.1.D below.

The Worker must record how the amount and date of receipt were projected.

4.5.1.D How to Use Past and Future Income

After the Worker determines all of the income sources that are to be considered for use, the Worker determines the amount of monthly income, based on the frequency of receipt and whether the amount is stable or fluctuates. This is described below.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>When the Frequency of Receipt is:</th>
<th>When the Amount is Stable</th>
<th>When the Amount Fluctuates (See Below)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Monthly</td>
<td>Use actual monthly amount.</td>
<td>Use average monthly amount. (See below)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>More often than monthly</td>
<td>Convert amount per period to monthly amount.</td>
<td>Find average amount per period and convert to monthly amount. (See below)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Less often than monthly</td>
<td>Prorate to find amount for intended period. If not monthly, convert or prorate amount.</td>
<td>Prorate to find amount for intended period. If monthly, convert or prorate amount.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Conversion of income to a monthly amount is accomplished by multiplying an actual or average amount as follows:

- Weekly amount x 4.3
- Biweekly amount (every two weeks) x 2.15
- Semi-monthly (twice/month) x 2

Proration of income to determine a monthly amount is accomplished by dividing the amount received by the number of time periods it is intended to cover as follows:

- Bimonthly amount (two months) ÷ 2
- Quarterly amount (three months) ÷ 3
- Semi-annual amount (twice/year) ÷ 6
- Annual amount ÷ 12
- Six-week amount ÷ 6 converted to monthly amount by using x 4.3
- Eight-week amount ÷ 8 converted to monthly amount by using x 4.3

Actual Income Example: Ms. Poppy begins working on the second Monday of a month. She earns $200 per week and is paid every Friday. Her average weekly pay is $200. For the first month Ms. Poppy has earnings, she expects to be paid three times. Her income for the month is $200 x 3 = $600. A change must be made for the anticipated income from the second month of her employment.

Proration, Conversion, Fluctuation, and Multiple Sources of Income Example: The Calla family is a family of four consisting of Mr. Calla, his wife, Lily, his mother, and his son. Mr. Calla works and earns a monthly salary of $300. His wife Lily works part-time and is paid weekly. Lily earns $9 per hour, but... the number of hours she works fluctuates each week. His mother receives $150 every three months from the mineral rights to some property she owns out of state. His son just received a disability insurance check in the amount of $420 for the past six weeks. Income is determined as follows:

For Mr. Calla, Monthly Pay, Amount Stable = $300 Salary = Monthly Amount

For Lily, More Often, Amount Fluctuates = $9 per hour x Average Number of Hours per Week x 4.3 = Monthly Amount

For his mother, Less Often = $150 ÷ 3 Months = Monthly Amount

For his son, Less Often = $420 ÷ 6 Weeks x 4.3 Weeks = Monthly Amount

---

4.5.1.E Exception for Use of Actual Income

There is one exception to the rules in items A – D above. It applies to both applicants and clients and requires use of actual income instead of conversion or proration of income.

4.5.1.E.1 Applicants

When:

- The first month of eligibility meets the definition of an initial month (i.e. the first month following any period of time in which the AG was not participating); and

- An income source terminates in the month of application or in the 30 days prior to the date of application. The Worker must calculate the income for the month of application for the terminated source by adding the actual amount already received in the month of application plus the amount expected to be received later in the month of application. Income from this source for the past 30 days or from the month of application must not be used to convert the terminated income to a monthly amount.

Applicant Exception Example: A client applies on September 10. His job ended on August 31. He was paid on that date, but still has another pay due to him on September 15. Because the income is from a terminated source, the income from this source cannot be converted. Instead, the amount already received in the month of application ($0) plus the amount expected to be received on September 15, are used to determine his eligibility and benefit level for the month of application.
4.5.1.E.2 Clients

When:

- He reports the beginning or ending of a source of income; and
- The client is not expected to receive a full month’s income. Income from this source must not be converted to a monthly amount.

Instead, the Worker must use the actual amount of income. If income from the source is ending, no income from the source is counted in future months.

If the income from the source is beginning, the Worker must use income already received from the source plus the amount expected to be received from this source later in the month. This is the amount used as income for the month following the change. Income from this first month must not be used to convert the income to a monthly amount until the second month following the change.

4.5.1.F Anticipated Income Examples

The following are examples of methods to anticipate income, based on several different situations. The Worker must always base anticipated income on the individual situation, not solely on the information contained in the examples below.

Example 1: An application is made on June 22. The client indicates he is paid biweekly and he does not expect any change in his income. The Worker requests that the client provide information about pay received in the 30 days prior to June 22 and uses this income to anticipate income for the certification period. The Worker records the client’s statement about expecting no changes, as well as how the income was verified and the method used to convert the income to a monthly amount.

Example 2: Same situation as previous example, except that the client indicates that his pay fluctuates each pay day and he expects this pattern to continue without any change in status, rate or source of income. After a discussion with the client, the Worker and client agree that two additional pay periods prior will provide enough information to reasonably anticipate income for the certification period. The Worker records the results of the discussion with the client, how the income was verified, and the method used to convert the income to a monthly amount.
Example 3: A redetermination is received on July 7. The client indicates that he is paid weekly and his income fluctuates because his hours of work are unpredictable. The client also indicates that beginning the following month, he will receive an increase in his hourly rate. The Worker requests that the client provide income for the 60 days prior to the redetermination date in order to anticipate the average number of hours the client works. Income from the last 60 days is requested because it provides a good indication of the fluctuations in the client’s income. The Worker uses the average weekly number or hours the client worked during the last 60 days, but uses the new hourly pay rate to anticipate income for the new certification period. The Worker records why income from the last 60 days was requested, how the average weekly hours were determined, how the new pay rate was verified, and how the anticipated income was calculated.

Example 4: An application is made July 8. The client indicates that he began a new job two weeks prior to making application. He is paid weekly and has received two pays. He indicates that his employer has told him that, although his hourly rate will not increase in the near future, he can expect an increase in his hours after his training period is finished in two weeks. However, the increase in hours is dependent upon how much work is available and the increased number of hours is unpredictable. The Worker requests all income that the client has received from the new job prior to the date of application. This actual amount of income from the new source is counted for July. Because the number of increased hours cannot be anticipated, the minimum number of hours, i.e., the amount he has worked each week for the first two weeks, is used to anticipate income for the certification period or POC. The Worker records how the income was verified and determined for the month of application, how the income was calculated for the months following the month of application.

Example 5: An application is made June 26 and the client indicates that he began a new job the week prior to application. He is going to be paid biweekly and has not received a pay yet. He states that he will work 35 hours per week and receive $12.75 per hour. The client does not expect any changes in hours or rate of pay. The Worker requests a statement from the client’s employer for the number of hours and hourly rate of pay and anticipates income for the certification period as follows:

\begin{align*}
$12.75 & \text{ hourly rate} \\
\times 70 & \text{ hours for two weeks} \\
$892.50 & \text{ Anticipated biweekly pay} \\
$892.50 & \times 2.15 \\
$1,918.88 & \text{ Anticipated monthly pay}
\end{align*}
The Worker records the client’s statement about no expected changes in income and his lack of pay to date, as well as how the income was verified and calculated.

Example 6: An application is made September 13 and the client states that he is self-employed. He grows and sells Christmas trees. Most of his income for the year is earned during the months of November and December. In addition, he sells the leftover trees to the local city government to use for mulch. He receives some income each month from the leftover trees and the amount fluctuates during the year. He states that he anticipates that his earnings will be less from Christmas sales this year because many of his trees were damaged in a fire last spring. He estimates he lost at least half of the trees that he planned to sell this year. He is unable to determine at this time if his sale of trees to the city will be affected after Christmas, but currently his income from this source has not changed. The Worker requests that the client provide income received in the previous year from his sales to the city and his Christmas tree sale earnings for the previous season.

Anticipated income is based on an average of monthly sales to the city and half of the previous year’s Christmas tree sales. The Worker records the client’s situation in detail, how past income was verified, and the method used to anticipate income for the new certification period.

Example 7: A woman applies on March 2. She does not work and her only source of income is child support from three absent parents. Income from Absent Parent A is regularly received, but the amount varies.

Income from Absent Parent B is always the same amount, but she never knows when she will receive it.

Absent Parent C pays regularly and the amount is more or less the same.

The Worker requests verification as follows: A’s payments for the last six months; B’s payments for the last six months; C’s payments for the last three months. She reports and verifies the following income from the three sources:

Parent A:
- March 1 $450
- February 1 $75
- January 1 $123
- December 1 $850
- November 1 $170
- October 1 $100
Parent B:
- February 14  $250
- January 10  $250
- November 20  $250

Parent C:
- February 20  $300
- January 20  $300
- December 20  $300

The Worker finds the average monthly payment made by Parent A and projects the income to continue. The Worker and the client cannot reasonably anticipate that any payments will be received in the new certification period or period of consideration (POC) from Parent B, so no income is counted from this source. Parent C pays the same amount at the same time, so $300 per month is counted from Parent C.

The Worker records details about payments and payment dates from each of the absent parents, how the payments were verified, whether or not any income was counted from each source and, if so, how the amount was determined.

Example 8: A waitress, Mrs. Pine, applies on December 7. She is paid twice a month and provides pay stubs with the following information:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Number of Hours</th>
<th>Wages</th>
<th>Tips</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>September 15</td>
<td>35 hours</td>
<td>$180.25 wages</td>
<td>$88.00 tips</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>September 30</td>
<td>60 hours</td>
<td>$309.00 wages</td>
<td>$130.00 tips</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>October 15</td>
<td>32 hours</td>
<td>$164.80 wages</td>
<td>$83.00 tips</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>October 30</td>
<td>35 hours</td>
<td>$180.25 wages</td>
<td>$88.00 tips</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>November 15</td>
<td>12 hours</td>
<td>$61.80 wages</td>
<td>$32.00 tips</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>November 30</td>
<td>35 hours</td>
<td>$180.25 wages</td>
<td>$88.00 tips</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

She earns $9.00 per hour. She does get some tips, but rarely the amount shown on her paystubs. She says the employer determines the amount shown as tips by some formula that she does not understand because he is required by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) to report them. She does not have to share her tips with any other employee and they do not share tips with her. She says that during a “good” week she makes about $20 in tips. The employer never sees her tips, she does not report the amount to him, and is not required to do so. The Worker pends the case for verification of the way the employer determines the amount of tips shown on her pay stubs and reported to the IRS.

The client provides the following note from the employer:

To Whom It May Concern:

Mrs. Pine works for me at the Dew Drop Inn as a waitress. I pay her $7.25 for every hour she works. She does make some in tips, but I don’t know how much. The IRS makes me figure her tips so I do it according to how much food she sells. I don’t think she really gets that much. None of my waitresses do, but the IRS makes me do it.

Very truly yours,
Lily Rose

There is no third-party, independent verification available for the amount of Mrs. Pine’s tips; however, she does state that she receives tips, so income from the tips cannot be disregarded. The only way to verify the amount of tips is to accept her statement as to the amount. There is no other source of verification available, so the Worker must accept her statement. The Worker must record that the employer confirmed the tips shown on the paystubs do not necessarily reflect the amount she actually receives, that this is the best information that can be provided to verify the situation and that the client’s statement is accepted as verification.

4.5.2 INCOME DISREGARDS AND DEDUCTIONS

The following disregards and deductions are applied to income.

4.5.2.A Earned Income

The client must report new employment within 10 days of the date an AG member or disqualified person begins the employment unless there is good cause for not reporting. The earned income disregards and deductions are not applied to any month’s income for which earnings were not reported. These same disregards and deductions are not applied to any earnings received during the time the employment is unreported. In addition, when new employment is not reported, as required by the Personal Responsibility Contract (PRC), the appropriate sanction is applied. See Section 14.8.

The earned income of a child or parent, under age 18, who is enrolled in secondary school or equivalent, is disregarded at all steps of the eligibility determination process.

4.5.2.A.1 Earned Income Disregard

The gross earned income of all IG members is reduced by 40%. The remaining amount is the countable earned income.

4.5.2.A.2 Dependent Care Deduction

When the employed AG member or disqualified person must pay for dependent child or incapacitated adult care to accept or continue employment or training, a deduction from income must be allowed. There is not a maximum allowable amount for this deduction. The dependent need not be receiving WV WORKS for the deduction to apply.

Only payments made from the person’s own funds are deductible. Clients with these expenses must be offered a referral to the Division of Children and Adult Services for help in meeting these expenses. However, there is no penalty for failure to accept these services.

4.5.2.B Unearned Income

The only unearned income disregard or deduction is child support that is redirected to the Bureau for Child Support Enforcement (BCSE) of up to $100 per month for families with one child and up to $200 for families with more than one child eligible for Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF). This deduction does not apply until after the 100% Standard of Need (SON) test has been met.

Special consideration must be given to applicants as follows:

- If the client is receiving child support payments at the time of application, and the application is approved, it may not be possible or practical for him to redirect the support payment received during the effective month of approval. The child support system will send all child support to the caretaker during the month of approval.
- Child support that has already been redirected to BCSE will be released to the client during the initial benefit month. In these situations, up to $100 per month for families with one child and up to $200 for families with more than one child eligible for TANF is disregarded and the remainder is counted as income.

_The above situations may also occur when a review is completed during the last week of the month._

<th>Child Support Example 1: Ms. Birch applies for WV WORKS on July 10 and has been receiving regular child support payments from the absent parent. The Worker explains that once she begins receiving WV WORKS, her child support will now be retained by the State and she will receive the pass-through and Child Support Incentive (CSI) payments instead. She will continue to receive any child support payments that are received for the month of July. The child support will be retained for the month of August, then the pass-through and CSI payments will be issued for September.</th>

<tr>
<td>Child Support Example 2: Ms. Elm applies for WV WORKS on May 20 and has been receiving regular child support payments from the absent parent. The Worker explains that once she begins receiving WV WORKS, her child support will now be retained by the State and she will receive the pass-through and CSI payments instead. Due to the need for additional information before her case could be approved, her case is not confirmed until May 27. The eligibility system may not have enough time to notify the child support system that WV WORKS has been opened in this case before June 1. Because of this, the Worker will anticipate that the child support will be forwarded to Ms. Elm for the month of June at the time of confirmation. The Worker must set an alert in the eligibility system to check the child support system on June 1 to see if the case type has changed. If the case type has changed, then the child support will be retained and the Worker will need to issue an auxiliary for WV WORKS. Once the child support has been retained for a full month, then the pass-through and CSI payments will be issued the following month. Subsequently, the worker should anticipate the pass-through and CSI payment to continue for one month after WV WORKS closure. See the child support system desk guide for anticipating CSI and pass-through payments.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The client is not considered out of compliance with the redirection requirement if he fails to redirect when:

- The child support payment is received during the effective month of approval of the application. The Worker must consider the non-redirected child support payment in excess of the maximum pass-through listed below as income only in the month of application.

- Any overpayment is recovered through the TANF repayment process. All child support must be redirected, unless only a Diversionary Cash Assistance (DCA) payment is received.

4.5.3 DETERMINING ELIGIBILITY AND BENEFIT LEVEL

The following information describes situations encountered in determining eligibility and benefit level for the AG. However, there are situations that require special treatment.

To determine eligibility for DCA, see Section 1.5. Countable income is used to determine eligibility only. It is not used to determine the amount of DCA.

For child support payments, the income is coded to the children in the eligibility system. If there is more than one child, the amount should be evenly divided among the children in the AG.

4.5.3.A Determining Eligibility – 100% of the SON Test

The AG is ineligible in any month that the countable monthly gross income exceeds 100% of the SON. The income of the disqualified person(s) is included in determining the amount of income available to the AG. However, the needs of the disqualified person(s) are not considered in any step of the eligibility determination process.

The test is applied as follows:

Step 1: Add together the total countable gross earned income, the gross profit from self-employment, and the countable gross unearned income of the AG and any disqualified person(s).

Step 2: Determine the 100% of the SON amount in Appendix A for the appropriate AG size, excluding the disqualified person(s).
Step 3: If the amount in Step 1 is greater than the amount in Step 2, the AG is ineligible.

Step 4: If the amount in Step 1 is equal to or less than the amount in Step 2, the AG is eligible for further determinations.

4.5.3.B Determining Countable Income and the Benefit Amount

Once the 100% of the SON test is met, the following steps are taken.

Step 1: Add together the countable gross earned income of the AG and/or any disqualified person(s).

Step 2: Subtract 40% of Step 1 (Earned Income Disregard).

Step 3: Subtract the allowable Dependent Care Deduction.

This resulting amount is the Total Countable Earned Income.

Step 4: Total all child support received by the AG and/or disqualified person(s).

Step 5: Subtract the child support pass-through amount of up to $100 or $200 for children eligible for TANF. See below for determining the child support pass-through amount.

Step 6: Add all other countable unearned income of the AG and/or any disqualified person(s).

The resulting amount is the countable unearned income.

Step 7: Add together the total countable earned and unearned income.

The resulting amount is the total monthly countable income.

Step 8: Determine the maximum WV WORKS benefit amount for the AG size, using Appendix A.

Step 9: If the total countable income exceeds the maximum WV WORKS benefit amount, the AG is ineligible.

If the total countable income is less than the maximum WV WORKS benefit amount, the AG is income eligible.

Step 10: Subtract the total countable income from the maximum WV WORKS benefit amount.

The resulting amount is the WV WORKS benefit amount.
4.5.3.C Child Support Pass-Through

A child support payment of up to $100 for families with one child or $200 for families with more than one child of child support collected on behalf of a family receiving WV WORKS will be passed through to the family. This payment is referred to as the child support pass-through. Pass-through payment amounts will depend on the amount of child support collected by the BCSE, but must not exceed the $100 or $200 limits. This payment will not be issued until the month following the month that the BCSE retains the child support collected. This is a monthly payment as long as the child support is collected.

The child for whom the support was paid must be a WV WORKS client for the collection month to receive the pass-through payment.

The pass-through is excluded as unearned income for WV WORKS, DCA, and Employment Assistance Program (EAP). This payment is in addition to the CSI and will be issued in conjunction with the CSI.

4.5.3.D Child Support Incentive (CSI)

A $25 benefit increase is provided to any WV WORKS AG when child support, in any amount, is collected for a child in the AG. This payment is in addition to the child support pass-through. The CSI is applicable, even when the family is eligible for the maximum WV WORKS payment.

The CSI is available on approximately the 20th calendar day of the month. The client receives a notice of the deposit and the month for which the CSI is being paid.

4.5.3.D.1 Conditions to Receive the CSI

To receive the CSI, the following conditions must be met:

- Child support is redirected to the BCSE.
- The redirected amount is current child support.
- The child support payment codes for the CSI and pass-through are arrearages with court order, grace period, and assigned and retained.
- The child for whom the support was paid is a WV WORKS client for the collection month.

Current support is child support for a month that the CSI is automatically issued.
When an applicant receives child support in the month of WV WORKS approval, either directly from the absent parent, or from the BSCE, no CSI is issued for the month of approval. For all clients, the CSI is effective the month following the month child support is redirected. If child support is not paid to the BCSE for a given month, no CSI is issued for that month in the following month.

CSI Example 1: Ms. Cedar has one child and she receives WV WORKS cash assistance of $301. Child support collected for this month is $175. Because of the pass-through, Ms. Cedar will receive $125 next month in addition to her normal WV WORKS benefits. The $125, which is the sum of the pass-through and the CSI, will not be counted as income for her WV WORKS eligibility.

CSI Example 2: Ms. Mulberry has two children and she receives WV WORKS cash assistance in the amount of $340. Child support collected for this month is $195. Because of the pass-through, Ms. Mulberry will receive the $220 next month in addition to her normal WV WORKS benefits. The maximum amount of pass-through is $200 for two or more children eligible for TANF. The $220 will not be counted as income for her WV WORKS eligibility and is her $195 pass-through and $25 CSI payment.

4.5.3.D.2 CSI Issuance

CSI payments are automatically issued for the current month (the month of receipt by the BCSE). When there is a child support payment received that is intended to cover the three prior months, the CSI payments are issued for the three months immediately preceding the current month.

CSI Issuance Example: A redirected child support payment is received by the BCSE in April, for the April child support obligation. The current month for the eligibility system’s CSI purposes is April. A CSI is automatically issued for April child support during the month of May. If the payment received in April included payment for January, February, and/or March, CSI payments are automatically issued for those months also.

4.5.3.D.3 Supplemental CSI

If the client did not receive a CSI payment for the month they were eligible for such payment, a supplemental CSI payment is required. All supplemental CSI payments require written approval from the Division of Family Assistance (DFA) Family Support Policy Unit.
The following information must be provided to the DFA Family Support Policy Unit:

- Case number
- Case name
- The month in question
- A brief explanation of why the client should have received a CSI payment

After approval is received from the DFA Family Support Policy Unit, eligibility system staff will evaluate the reported problem and advise the local office of any required action. No approval will be granted unless this process is used. In addition, eligibility system staff consult with the BCSE State Office staff to correct sequence number mismatches.

EXCEPTION: The Worker may issue a supplemental CSI payment without prior approval only when the case number is written to the CSI Payments Not Issued Report.

Adverse action notice requirements do not apply when a CSI will not be paid. However, they do apply when receipt of the CSI affects another benefit.

4.5.3.D.4 CSI Payments After WV WORKS Closure

When a WV WORKS case is closed, and child support is received by the BCSE in the effective month of closure, a CSI is issued in the month after closure for the child support received in the effective month of closure.

CSI Payment After Closure Example: A WV WORKS AG is closed effective August for excessive earned income. The last month of receipt of a WV WORKS benefit is August, and child support is received by the BCSE in August. A $25 CSI is issued in September for August.

4.5.3.D.5 CSI Repayment

When received in error, the CSI is subject to repayment. See Section 11.3. Received in error includes, but is not limited to, BCSE credited a payment to the wrong case, or the client failed to report income and received a WV WORKS benefit in error.
4.5.3.E  Child Support Excess Payment

When the absent parent has no remaining state debt from previous TANF receipt and makes a payment to the BCSE that is in excess of the current WV WORKS payment, any amount that exceeds the benefit is distributed to the custodial parent by the BCSE. This payment is coded as a monthly excess refund in the eligibility system.

When the Worker receives an alert that a payment has been sent to client, he must code the excess payment as unearned income, then determine if the new countable income exceeds the WV WORKS benefit amount as described above.

When the countable income exceeds the WV WORKS benefit amount, then the Worker must close the WV WORKS benefit. No disregards or deductions are applied to this payment.

NOTE: The child support excess payment does not have to be reasonably anticipated to continue in order to be considered as unearned income.

Excess Refund Payment Example 1: Ms. Oak’s TANF AG consists of herself and her two children. The Worker receives an alert that a child support excess refund payment has been sent. The Worker checks the eligibility system and the child support excess payment amount is listed as $20 for the month. She has no other income. The $20 does not exceed the WV WORKS benefit amount of $340, so the Worker adds the $20 as unearned income. Following adverse action deadlines, the WV WORKS and SNAP benefits will reduce.

Excess Refund Payment Example 2: Ms. Pine’s TANF AG consists of herself and her son. The Worker receives an alert that a child support excess refund payment has been sent. The Worker checks the eligibility system and the child support excess payment amount is listed as $305 for the month. She has no other income. The $305 exceeds the WV WORKS benefit amount of $301, so the Worker closes the WV WORKS AG and reduces the SNAP benefits following adverse action guidelines. The following month, her entire child support payment would be redirected to her.
4.5.4 SPECIAL SITUATIONS

4.5.4.A Income from Self-Employment

When an AG member or a disqualified individual(s) receives income from self-employment, the instructions below must be used to arrive at the gross profit that is used to calculate countable income. This is determined by subtracting allowable business expenses from the gross income.

4.5.4.A.1 Determining Gross Income

The method used to determine monthly gross income from self-employment varies with the nature of the enterprise. It is necessary to determine which of the following types of self-employment applies to the client's situation. Once the pattern of self-employment has been determined, the instructions below are used to determine how the income is counted.

➢ Person Receiving Regular Income

Persons receiving regular income are persons who receive income as profit on a more or less regular schedule (weekly, monthly, etc.), or receive a specific amount from the business each week or month and/or receive the balance of profit from the enterprise at the end of the business year.

This income is converted to a monthly amount, according to Section 4.5.1.

Business expenses may be computed on a monthly basis or prorated over a 12-month period, at the client's option.

➢ Persons Receiving Irregular Income

Many persons derive income from short-term seasonal self-employment. This seasonal enterprise may be the major source of income for the year, or only for the period of time the person is actually engaged in this enterprise, with other sources of income being available during the remainder of the year. Persons who are seasonally self-employed include vendors of seasonal commodities (produce, Christmas trees, etc.), or other seasonal farmers.
Cash crop and some seasonal farmers and other persons with similar irregular self-employment income receive their annual income from self-employment in a short period of time and budget their money to meet their living expenses for the next 12 months.

Because the income is seasonal, it must be averaged over the period of time it is intended to cover, even if it is the major source of income for the year. However, if the averaged amount of past income does not accurately reflect the anticipated monthly circumstances because of a substantial increase or decrease in business, the income is calculated based on anticipated earnings.

Business expenses may be computed on a monthly basis or prorated over a 12-month period, at the client's option.

➢ New Business

AGs with a new business that has been in existence less than a year have their income and incurred business expenses averaged over the amount of time the business has been in operation. From this, the monthly amount is projected for the coming year. However, if the averaged amount of past income and/or expenses does not accurately reflect the anticipated monthly circumstances because of a substantial increase or decrease in business, the income and/or expenses is calculated based on anticipated earnings.

Incurred business expenses are also averaged over the amount of time the business has been in operation. However, if the averaged amount of past expenses does not accurately reflect the anticipated monthly circumstances because of a substantial increase or decrease in business, the expenses are calculated based on anticipated costs.

4.5.4.A.2 Determining Gross Profit

Gross profit from self-employment is the income remaining after deducting any identifiable costs of doing business from the gross income.

➢ Deductions

Examples of allowable deductions are:

- Employee labor costs, including wages paid to an AG member and any salary the client pays himself. When paid to an AG member, the income must be considered according to the provisions in Section 4.3.
• Stock and supplies.
• Raw material.
• Seed.
• Fertilizers.
• Repair and maintenance of machinery and/or property.
• Cost of rental space used for conducting the business.
• Insurance premiums and taxes paid on the business and income-producing property.
• Interest and taxes, but not the principal, paid on installment payments to purchase capital assets, such as real estate, machinery, equipment, etc.
• The utilities, principal, interest, and taxes on the client’s residence that is used in part to produce income. This is applicable only if the expenses on the portion of the home used in the self-employment enterprise can be identified separately.
• Advertising costs.
• Utilities.
• Office expenses (stamps, stationery, etc.).
• Legal costs.

Do not deduct the following:

• Money paid to purchase capital assets, such as real estate, machinery, equipment, etc. Interest is deducted, if paid in installments.

Deductions Example: The cost of purchasing a new furnace is a capital expenditure and only the interest on installment payments is deducted. A repair of a furnace is a routine repair and is deducted in its entirety.

• Federal, state, or local income taxes.
• Money set aside for retirement.
• Travel from home to a fixed place of business and return.
• Depreciation.
• Principal of real estate mortgages on income-producing property.
• Amounts claimed as a net loss.
Rental Income Deductions

In addition to the deductions in Deductions above, the following expenses are deducted from rental income:

- Utility bills paid for tenants
- Property tax and insurance on the rental property
- Repair and upkeep of the property
- Interest, but not the principal, on necessary purchases made in installments, such as the purchase of a new furnace

4.5.4.B Migrant Farm Laborers with Seasonal Employment

Income of migrant farm laborers is treated the same as the income of any other applicant or client.

4.5.4.C Annual Contract Employment

This section applies to any person employed under a yearly contract, such as school employees, including bus drivers, cooks, janitors, aids, and professional staff. This item does not apply to substitute employees.

These individuals have their annual income prorated over a 12-month period. Additional earnings, such as for summer work, are added to the prorated amount during the time additional earnings are received.

Although a person may not have signed a new annual contract, he is still considered employed under an annual contract when the contract is automatically renewable, or when he has implied renewal rights. Implied renewal rights are most commonly associated with school contracts.

NOTE: This section does not apply during strike and disaster situations when the other party to the contract cannot fulfill it; or, when labor disputes interrupt the flow of earnings specified in the contract.
4.5.4.D Educational Income

All educational income, including loans for education, is excluded, regardless of the source. Educational expenses may include, but are not limited to, tuition, books, lab fees, living expenses, and other expenses necessary to attend an educational program.

4.5.4.E Deeming

4.5.4.E.1 Income

The income of a disqualified individual(s), who would otherwise be required to be included in the AG, is counted in its entirety. The same exclusions, disregards, and deductions are applied. However, the disqualified individual is not included in the AG and is not considered in determining eligibility or benefit level. He is subject to the same reporting requirements applicable to the AG.

4.5.4.E.2 Lump-Sum Payment

When a disqualified individual(s), who would otherwise be required to be included in the AG, receives a lump-sum payment, it is counted as if he were in the AG. However, he is not included in the number of eligibles when determining the appropriate Federal Poverty Level (FPL) to use for prorating the lump-sum payment. See Lump-Sum Payments and Related Periods of Ineligibility below.

4.5.4.F Strikers

When an individual, who must be included, or who would otherwise be required to be included in the WV WORKS AG, is a striker, the entire AG is ineligible for WV WORKS. See Section 4.4.4.I for the definition of a striker.
4.5.4.G Irregular Income

Regardless of the source, irregular income is excluded because it cannot be anticipated.

4.5.4.H Lump-Sum Payments and Related Periods of Ineligibility

The lump-sum payment policy applies to applicants, when the lump sum is received in the month of application. This policy also applies to clients when a lump sum is received during any month a case is active. Both include lump-sum payments received by a disqualified person(s) who would otherwise be required to be included in the AG. See Section 4.5.4.E.2 above.

The DFA-RR-1 (Rights and Responsibilities) notifies all applicants, clients, and disqualified persons, who would otherwise be required to be included in the AG, of the lump-sum payment policy. The Worker must also advise the client of the lump-sum payment policy when the client notifies the Worker of receipt, or the possibility of receipt, of a lump-sum payment.

Assets converted from one form to another are not counted as lump-sum payments. See Chapter 5.

4.5.4.H.1 Determining Countable Amount

The total amount of the lump-sum payment is counted, except for the following:

- Lump-sum payments that are earmarked and used for the purpose for which they are intended (e.g., monies for back medical bills resulting from injury, or funeral and burial costs) are deducted. In addition, lump-sum payments that are intended and used for replacement or repair of an asset (e.g., monies to replace a defective automobile) are deducted.

- Any of the lump-sum funds, obligated and used for legal fees as a result of the efforts of the attorney to obtain the lump-sum payment, are deducted.

Replacement of an Asset Example: A client’s home is destroyed by fire. He receives an insurance settlement of $16,500. With $10,000 of this settlement, he purchases a mobile home. Only $6,500 is counted as a lump-sum payment.
4.5.4.H.2 Computing the Period of Ineligibility

Given that the client is expected to use the lump sum for general living expenses, a period of ineligibility must be calculated as directed below.

After applying appropriate exclusions, disregards and deductions to other income received for the month, add the lump-sum payment to all other monthly income. When the total amount is less than the payment amount for the number of people in the WV WORKS AG, the lump-sum payment is counted as income in its entirety for one month.

When the total amount is less than the FPL for the number in the AG, but more than the benefit amount for the AG found in Appendix A, the case is ineligible for one month. The amount in excess of the benefit amount is not counted as income for the following month.

When the total amount is greater than the appropriate 100% of the FPL, divide the lump-sum payment by the appropriate 100% of the FPL for the AG size. The AG is ineligible for the full number of months equal to the result of the division. Ineligibility begins the month of receipt.

For any partial month remaining after the division, the amount of the lump-sum payment that remains is counted as income. The number of months the case is ineligible, because of the receipt of the lump-sum payment, and the amount of income counted for any remaining partial month, is determined as follows:

- Multiply the 100% of the FPL by the number of full months the case has been determined ineligible.
- Subtract this figure from the total lump sum.
- The remaining amount is counted as income in the month after the last month of ineligibility.

The persons in the AG when the lump-sum payment is received remain ineligible for the period regardless of any changes that may occur, unless the period of ineligibility is shortened as found below in Section 4.5.4.H.3.

When an individual is born or returns to a family whose members are ineligible due to receipt of a lump-sum payment, the individual is treated as a separate AG. If all other eligibility factors are met, the individual is eligible. None of the lump-sum amount is counted for the new family member. All other policy and procedures for counting income apply. Only the new family member(s) is included in the AG that is used when determining the appropriate eligibility limits.

Newborn Example: A child is born to a family whose members are ineligible due to the prior receipt of a lump-sum payment. A separate case is established for the child. The child is eligible for a WV WORKS benefit.
4.5.4.H.3  Shortening the Period of Ineligibility

The lump-sum payment is treated as described above, even if it is spent in a shorter time period, unless the period of ineligibility can be shortened as found below.

➢ Reasons

When all or part of the lump-sum payment becomes unavailable to the AG, due to circumstances beyond its control, as specified below, the period of ineligibility is shortened. This may be done at any point between the time the lump-sum payment is received and the period of ineligibility expires. Once the period of ineligibility expires, no consideration is given to shortening the time period retroactively.

The lump-sum amount is considered unavailable only in the following situations:

- The lump-sum payment was, totally or in part, destroyed by fire, flood, or other natural disaster.
  This refers to destruction of the money itself, not the goods purchased with it or destruction of replaceable checks or bonds.

- The lump-sum payment was, totally or in part, stolen from the AG. This refers to the money itself, not the theft of goods purchased with it or the theft of replaceable checks or bonds.

- A member of the AG, or an individual who would otherwise be required to be included, gained access to all or part of the lump-sum payment, abandoned the remaining AG members and left them without access to the funds. The loss of all or part of the lump sum in this way refers to the loss of the money itself or checks, bonds, etc., when payment cannot be stopped, not the taking of goods purchased with it. Moving to another place of residence, with the family relationship still intact, is not sufficient to justify shortening the period of ineligibility.
  When the AG member or other individual who left with all or part of the lump sum returns to the home, the period of ineligibility resumes the month he returns and continues until the month the original period of ineligibility was due to expire.

- The lump-sum payment has been or will be expended, totally or in part, to address a life-threatening situation. To meet this criterion for shortening the period of ineligibility, it must be shown that the funds in question were used or will be used to avert a life-and-death situation for an AG member or a situation that is seriously detrimental to the health of an AG member.
  For cases involving life-threatening situations, the DFA Policy Unit must be contacted in writing. The memorandum must fully explain the situation and include: how the money was or will be spent, the date spent or to be spent, and the nature of the life-threatening situation. The final decision is made by the DFA Policy Unit. If the Worker has any doubt about referring a case to the DFA Policy Unit, he must make the referral.

➢ Procedures

The period of ineligibility is shortened as follows:

Step 1: Determine the original amount of the lump-sum payment.

Step 2: Subtract the amount unavailable due to circumstances beyond the control of the AG.

The result is the new lump-sum payment amount.

Step 3: Calculate the length of the new period from the original first month of the ineligibility using the new lump-sum payment amount.

If the family becomes eligible as a result of the recomputations, it is treated like any other applicant. Benefits are prorated from the date of application. Retroactive or corrective payment is not made for any period between the time the lump sum became unavailable and the date eligibility is reestablished.

It is the unavailability of the lump-sum payment amount itself that is explored, not the loss of goods purchased with the lump sum.

Control of Use of Funds Example: A WV WORKS family of four receives a lump-sum payment in April. It is determined that they are ineligible for six months. In June, they report to the local office that they used most of the lump-sum amount to pay back money owed to the wife's parents who made trailer payments for them for several months so they would not lose the trailer. Because the use of the money was under the control of the AG, the period of ineligibility is not shortened.

Birth Example: Same situation as above except that the family used most of the lump sum to pay for the birth of a new baby. The use of the money was under the control of the AG, so the period of ineligibility cannot be shortened for this reason. However, the case must be submitted to the DFA Policy Unit for consideration as a life-threatening situation.

Trust Fund Example: A WV WORKS family receives a lump-sum payment of $12,000. The client sets up a trust fund for each of his children in the amount of $4,000 each. The trust funds stipulate that the children may not receive any of the money until they turn 21 years of age. Use and control of the lump-sum amount belonged to the AG when the trust funds were set up, so the period of ineligibility is not shortened.

Fire Destruction Example: A WV WORKS family of three received a lump-sum payment of $2,600 in July. They were determined ineligible for two months, with $60 counted as income in the third month. In July, they purchased a new television and a new refrigerator. The remainder of the money, $150, was kept in the house. In August, the client reports that the house and all the contents were destroyed by fire. The period of ineligibility is redetermined as follows:

\begin{align*}
\text{Original lump-sum amount} & = $2,600 \\
\text{Amount destroyed} & = $150 \\
\text{New lump-sum amount} & = $2,450
\end{align*}

The family remains ineligible for July and August.

Stolen Funds Example 1: A WV WORKS family of four receives a lump-sum payment of $4,500 in December. They are determined ineligible for December, January, and February with $87 counted as income in March. In February, the client reports that $2,700 was stolen early in February. He reapplies on February 10 and is found eligible on that date.

The recomputation is as follows:

\begin{align*}
\text{Original lump-sum amount} & = $4,500 \\
\text{Amount stolen} & = $2,700 \\
\text{New lump-sum amount} & = $1,800
\end{align*}

The recalculated period of ineligibility is December and $329 is counted as income in January. The family is eligible for a prorated benefit for February.

Stolen Funds Example 2: Same situation as above except that the money was stolen on January 10. The result is the same as above because the client did not reapply until February 10.

4.5.4.1 Withheld Income

4.5.4.1.1 From Earned Income

Earnings withheld to repay an advance payment are disregarded, if they were counted in the month received. If not counted in the month received, the withheld earnings are considered income. No other earned income is excluded from consideration just because it is withheld by the employer.

4.5.4.1.2 From Unearned Income

All withheld unearned income is counted, unless an amount is being withheld to repay income that was previously used to determine WV WORKS eligibility.

4.5.4.J Funds Diverted to a Plan for Achieving Self-Support (PASS)

Funds diverted to a PASS account are counted as earned or unearned income, depending on the source.

4.5.4.K Unstated Income

Unstated income is income that has not been reported by the household, and is not otherwise known to the agency, but is determined to exist because the client’s paid living expenses exceed income from known sources.

The amount of unstated income is the difference between the known monthly income and the monthly paid living expenses.

When the information in the client’s record, including statements of the client or third parties, indicates that paid expenses exceed the stated income, the existence of unstated income must be explored.

If insufficient or conflicting evidence exists, the Worker must question the client about the possibility of unstated income and allow him the opportunity to explain how his expenses are met. If the client provides a satisfactory explanation, the Worker records the explanation.

If the client’s explanation of how the expenses are met is inadequate, the Worker makes a recording of the explanation and then determines the amount of unstated income to count.

To determine the amount of unstated income to count, the Worker compares the usual amount of monthly living expenses with the client’s reported income. The difference is unstated income and is counted as unearned income.
4.5.4.L Unavailable Income

Income intended for the client, but received by another person with whom he does not live, when the individual receiving this income refuses to make it available, is excluded.

4.5.4.M Income Received for a Non-Income Group Member

Income received by a member of the IG, that is intended and used for the care and maintenance of an individual whose income is not used in determining eligibility or the benefit level of the payee's AG, is excluded.

4.5.4.N Income Received From Military Service Personnel Deployed to a Designated Combat Zone

There is no provision for excluding income received as a result of service in a designated combat zone.

4.5.4.O Income Received From the Census Bureau

Wages paid directly by the Census Bureau for 2020 census related activities, income and travel reimbursement, is excluded for WV WORKS.

Wages paid by private employers who contract with the Census Bureau are included.
4.6 GENERAL INCOME INFORMATION FOR MEDICAID COVERAGE GROUPS

The following sections contain income information about most Medicaid coverage groups.

Adult and Disabled Waiver (ADW), Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI), and Intellectually and Developmentally Disabled (I/DD) Waiver cases are included in Chapter 24, along with information about individuals receiving nursing home and Intermediate Care Facilities/Individuals with Intellectual Disabilities (ICF/IID) services.

Also not found in the following sections is income information about children who receive Adoption Assistance or Foster Care payments. These cases are the responsibility of the Bureau for Children and Families (BCF) Office of Children and Adult Services.

4.6.1 BUDGETING METHOD

The following method is used to determine income for the certification period or period of consideration (POC), unless information to the contrary is shown in the remaining sections of this chapter.

Eligibility is determined on a monthly basis. Therefore, it is necessary to determine a monthly amount of income to count for the eligibility period. The following information applies to earned and unearned income.

For all cases, the Worker must determine the amount of income that can be reasonably anticipated for the assistance group (AG). For all cases, income is projected*; past income is used only when it reflects the income the client reasonably expects to receive during the certification period.

*NOTE: There are two exceptions to this. They are found below in Section 4.6.1.E, Exceptions for Use of Actual Income.

When the amount of an anticipated income source is determined by use of an income tax return, it is not necessary to change the method by which that income source is anticipated at each redetermination prior to the next tax return, unless the anticipated income from that source for the upcoming certification period or POC is expected to change.
4.6.1.A Methods for Reasonably Anticipating Income

There are two methods for reasonably anticipating the income the client expects to receive. One method uses past income and the other method uses future income. Both methods may be used for the same AG for the same certification period. The method used depends on the circumstances of each source of income.

Use past income only when both of the following conditions exist for a source of income:

- Income from the source is expected to continue into the certification period or POC.
- The amount of income from the same source is expected to be more or less the same. For these purposes, the same source of earned income means income from the same employer, not just the continued receipt of earned income.

Use future income when either of the following conditions exist for a source of income:

- Income from a new source is expected to be received in the certification period or POC. For these purposes, a new source of earned income means income from a different employer.
- The rate of pay or the number of hours worked for an old source is expected to change during the certification period or POC. Income that normally fluctuates does not require use of future income.

Fluctuating Work Hours Example: The Thorn family members have the following income: Mr. Thorn has earnings that fluctuate greatly from week to week. He expects no change in his earnings. Mrs. Thorn was earning a substantial monthly salary, but was laid off last week. She will begin work next week at a job that pays $9.00 per hour. She does not know how many hours she will work, but her employer has told her she will work a minimum of 20 hours per week. Mr. Thorn’s income is anticipated by using his past income as an indication of what he can expect to receive in the certification period. Mrs. Thorn’s income from an old source cannot be used because it will not be received in the upcoming certification period. Instead, the Worker must anticipate what her future earnings will be based on the best information available at the time. Mr. Thorn’s source of income meets the requirements for using past income to anticipate the future income, but Mrs. Thorn’s source is new and must be projected.
4.6.1.B Consideration of Past Income

The Worker must consider information about the client’s income sources before deciding which income to use.

The Worker must follow the steps below for each old income source.

NOTE: The year-to-date amounts on check stubs may only be used when the client has verification of all payment amounts whether used or not, but is missing one.

---

Step 1: Determine the amount of income received by all persons in the Income Group (IG) in the 30 calendar days prior to the application/redetermination date.

The appropriate time period is determined by counting back 30 days beginning with the calendar day prior to the date of application/redetermination. The income from this 30-day period is the minimum amount of income that must be considered. When, in the Worker’s judgment, future income may be more reasonably anticipated by considering the income from a longer period of time, the Worker considers income for the time period he determines to be reasonable. Whether the Worker considers income from the prior 30 days, or from a longer period of time, all of the income received from that source during that time period must be considered. All pay periods during the appropriate time period must be considered and must be consecutive.

Step 2: Determine if the income from the previous 30 days is reasonably expected to continue into the new certification period or POC.

If it is not expected to continue, the income from this source is no longer considered for use in the new certification period or POC.

If it is expected to continue, determine if the amount is reasonably expected to be more or less the same. If the income is expected to continue, the income source is used for the new certification period or POC and treated according to How to Use Past and Future Income below. If it is not expected to continue at more or less the same amount, the income source is used for the new certification period or POC and treated according to Consideration of Future Income below.

Step 3: Record the results of Step 2, including the amount of income, why the source is or is not being considered for the new certification period or POC, the client’s statement about continuation of the income from this source, the time period used, and, if more than the previous 30 days, the reason additional income was considered.
Once the Worker has determined all the old sources of income to consider and the time period for which they are considered, he must then determine if any source should be considered for future income.

4.6.1.C Consideration of Future Income

This section applies only when the client reasonably expects to receive income from a new source during the new certification period or POC, or when the amount of income from an old source is expected to change. In that case, the Worker must consider the income that can be reasonably expected to be received.

NOTE: When the amount of income or the date of receipt cannot be reasonably anticipated, income from that source is not considered until the necessary information can be obtained. See Step 2 below.

Step 1: Determine if the IG expects to receive income from a new source, or expects a different amount from an old source, in the new certification period or POC.

If not, none of the following steps are necessary. However, the Worker must record the client’s statement that he does not expect income from a new source.

Step 2: Determine the amount of income the client reasonably expects to receive from the new source, or the new amount from the old source.

If the amount of income is not reasonably anticipated, the income from that source is not counted. If it is possible to reasonably anticipate a range of income, the minimum amount that is anticipated is used.

The Worker will record case comments for the client’s statement concerning this income, and will also record why it cannot be reasonably anticipated.

Example: A client is scheduled to start work in February, the month following the month of application. He knows he will earn $9 per hour, but is not sure how many hours he will work. The Worker verifies through the employer that he will work 30 – 40 hours per week. The Worker anticipates the income by using 30 hours, the minimum number of hours he is expected to work.

Step 3: Determine when the client can be reasonably expected to receive income from the new source or the changed amount from the old source.
If the date of receipt cannot be reasonably anticipated, income from this source is not considered. The Worker must record the client’s statement that he expects income from a new source or a change in the amount from an old source. In addition, the Worker must record why the date of receipt cannot be anticipated and information about attempts made to determine the date of receipt.

Step 4: When the amount and date of receipt can be anticipated, the Worker treats the income according to How to Use Past and Future Income below.

The Worker must record how the amount and date of receipt were projected.

4.6.1.D How to Use Past and Future Income
---

After the Worker determines all of the income sources that are to be considered for use, the Worker determines the amount of monthly income, based on the frequency of receipt and whether the amount is stable or fluctuates. This is described below.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>When the Frequency of Receipt is:</th>
<th>When the Amount is Stable</th>
<th>When the Amount Fluctuates (See Note)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Monthly</td>
<td>Use actual monthly amount.</td>
<td>Use average monthly amount. (See Note)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>More often than monthly</td>
<td>Convert amount per period to monthly amount.</td>
<td>Find average amount per period and convert to monthly amount. (See Note)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Less often than monthly</td>
<td>Prorate to find amount for intended period. If not monthly, convert or prorate amount.</td>
<td>Prorate to find amount for intended period. If monthly, convert or prorate amount.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

NOTE: The purpose of finding an average amount of fluctuating income is to even out the highs and lows in the amount of income. The client is not, then, required to report fluctuating income each pay period and the Worker is not required to change income monthly. Should the client report fluctuations in the amount of income, the Worker is only required to recalculate the countable income when, in his judgment, the fluctuation will affect eligibility. All changes reported by the client must be considered, but not necessarily used. Reported changes must be recorded and the Worker must record why the reported income was or was not used.
Conversion of income to a monthly amount is accomplished by multiplying an actual or average amount as follows:

- Weekly amount × 4.3
- Biweekly amount (every two weeks) × 2.15
- Semimonthly (twice/month) × 2

Proration of income to determine a monthly amount is accomplished by dividing the amount received by the number of time periods it is intended to cover as follows:

- Bimonthly amount (two months) ÷ 2
- Quarterly amount (three months) ÷ 3
- Semi-annual amount (twice/year) ÷ 6
- Annual amount ÷ 12
- Six-week amount ÷ 6 and converted to monthly amount by using × 4.3
- Eight-week amount ÷ 8 and converted to monthly amount by using × 4.3

Actual Income Example: Ms. Poppy begins working on the second Monday of a month. She earns $200 per week and is paid every Friday. Her average weekly pay is $200. For the first month Ms. Poppy has earnings, she expects to be paid three times. Her income for the month is $200 × 3 = $600. A change must be made for the anticipated income from the second month of her employment.

Proration, Conversion, Fluctuation, and Multiple Sources of Income Example: The Calla family is a family of four, consisting of Mr. Calla, his wife Lily, his mother, and his son. Mr. Calla works and earns a monthly salary of $300. His wife Lily works part-time and is paid weekly. Lily earns $9 per hour, but the number of hours she works fluctuates each week. His mother receives $150 every three months from the mineral rights to some property she owns out of state. His son just received a disability insurance check in the amount of $420 for the past six weeks. Income is determined as follows:

For Mr. Calla, Monthly Pay, Amount Stable = $300 Salary = Monthly Amount

For Lily, More Often, Amount Fluctuates = $9 Per Hour x Average Number of Hours Per Week x 4.3 = Monthly Amount

For his mother, Less Often = $150 ÷ 3 Months = Monthly Amount

For his son, Less Often = $420 ÷ 6 Weeks x 4.3 Weeks = Monthly Amount
4.6.1.E Exceptions for Use of Actual Income

There are two exceptions to the rules in items A – D above for applicants.

4.6.1.E.1 Terminated Income

When an income source terminates in the month of application or in the 30 days prior to the date of application, the Worker must calculate the income for the month of application for the terminated source by adding the actual amount already received in the month of application plus the amount expected to be received later in the month of application. Income from this source for the past 30 days or from the month of application must not be used to convert the terminated income to a monthly amount.

Terminated Income Example: A client applies on September 10. His job ended and he was paid on August 31. He has another payment due to him on September 15. Because the income is from a terminated source, the income from this source cannot be converted. Instead, the amount already received in the month of application ($0) plus the amount expected to be received on September 15 are used to determine his eligibility for the month of application.

4.6.1.E.2 Backdated Eligibility Requested

When backdated Medicaid eligibility is requested, the actual income received in the month(s) prior to the month of application is used to determine eligibility. Income for the month of application and any months thereafter is determined according to the policy in items A – D above.

4.6.1.F Anticipated Income Examples

The following are examples of methods to anticipate income, based on several different situations. The Worker must always base anticipated income on the individual situation, not solely on the information contained in the examples below.
Example 1: An application is made on June 22. The client indicates he is paid biweekly and he does not expect any change in his income. The Worker requests that the client provide information about pay received in the 30 days prior to June 22 and uses this income to anticipate income for the certification period. The Worker records the client's statement about expecting no changes, as well as how the income was verified and the method used to convert the income to a monthly amount.

Example 2: Same situation as previous example, except that the client indicates that his pay fluctuates each pay day and he expects this pattern to continue without any change in status, rate, or source of income. After a discussion with the client, the Worker and client agree that two additional pay periods prior will provide enough information to reasonably anticipate income for the certification period. The Worker records the results of the discussion with the client, how the income was verified, and the method used to convert the income to a monthly amount.

Example 3: A redetermination is received on July 7. The client indicates that he is paid weekly and his income fluctuates because his hours of work are unpredictable. The client also indicates that beginning the following month, he will receive an increase in his hourly rate. The Worker requests that the client provide income for the 60 days prior to the redetermination date in order to anticipate the average number of hours the client works. Income from the last 60 days is requested because it provides a good indication of the fluctuations in the client’s income. The Worker uses the average weekly number or hours the client worked during the last 60 days, but uses the new hourly pay rate to anticipate income for the new certification period. The Worker records why income from the last 60 days was requested, how the average weekly hours were determined, how the new pay rate was verified, and how the anticipated income was calculated.

Example 4: An application is made July 8. The client indicates that he began a new job two weeks prior to making application. He is paid weekly and has received two pays. He indicates that his employer has told him that, although his hourly rate will not increase in the near future, he can expect an increase in his hours after his training period is finished in two weeks. However, the increase in hours is dependent upon how much work is available and the increased number of hours is unpredictable. The Worker requests all income that the client has received from the new job prior to the date of application. This actual amount of income from the new source is counted for July. Because the number of increased hours cannot be anticipated, the minimum number of hours (i.e., the amount he has worked each week for the first two weeks) is used to anticipate income for the certification period or POC. The Worker records how the income was verified and determined for the month of application, and how the income was calculated for the months following the month of application.

Example 5: An application is made June 26 and the client indicates that he began a new job the week prior to application. He is going to be paid biweekly and has not received a pay yet. He states that he will work 15 hours per week and receive $12.75 per hour. The client does not expect any changes in hours or rate of pay. The Worker requests a statement from the client’s employer for the number of hours and hourly rate of pay and anticipates income for the certification period as follows:

- $12.75 hourly rate
- x 30 hours for two weeks
- $382.50 Anticipated biweekly pay
- $382.50 x 2.15
- $822.375 Anticipated monthly pay

The Worker records the client’s statement about no expected changes in income and his lack of pay to date, as well as how the income was verified and calculated.

Example 6: An application is made September 13 and the client states that he is self-employed. He grows and sells Christmas trees. Most of his income for the year is earned during the months of November and December. In addition, he sells the leftover trees to the local city government to use for mulch. He receives some income each month from the leftover trees and the amount fluctuates during the year. He states that he anticipates that his earnings will be less from Christmas sales this year because many of his trees were damaged in a fire last spring. He estimates he lost at least half of the trees that he planned to sell this year. He is unable to determine at this time if his sale of trees to the city will be affected after Christmas, but currently his income from this source has not changed. The Worker requests that the client provide income received in the previous year from his sales to the city and his Christmas tree sale earnings for the previous season.

Anticipated income is based on an average of monthly sales to the city and half of the previous year’s Christmas tree sales. The Worker records the client’s situation in detail, how past income was verified, and the method used to anticipate income for the new certification period.
Example 7: A woman applies on March 2. She does not work and her only source of income is child support from three absent parents. Income from Absent Parent A is regularly received, but the amount varies. Income from Absent Parent B is always the same amount, but she never knows when she will receive it. Absent Parent C pays regularly and the amount is more or less the same. The Worker requests verification as follows: A’s payments for the last six months; B’s payments for the last six months; C’s payments for the last three months. She reports and verifies the following income from the three sources:

Parent A:
- March 1 $100
- February 1 $75
- January 1 $123
- December 1 $100
- November 1 $100
- October 1 $100

Parent B:
- December 14 $45
- January 10 $35
- November 20 $50

Parent C:
- February 20 $75
- January 20 $75
- December 20 $75

The Worker finds the average monthly payment made by Parent A and projects the income to continue. The Worker and the client cannot reasonably anticipate that any payments will be received in the new certification period or POC from Parent B, so no income is counted from this source. Parent C pays the same amount at the same time, so $75 per month is counted from Parent C.

The Worker records details about payments and payment dates from each of the absent parents, how the payments were verified, whether or not any income was counted from each source and, if so, how the amount was determined.
Example 8: A waitress, Mrs. Beech, applies on December 7. She is paid twice a month and provides pay stubs with the following information:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Number of Hours</th>
<th>Wages</th>
<th>Tips</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>September 15</td>
<td>20 hours</td>
<td>$145.00 wages</td>
<td>$40.00 tips</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>September 30</td>
<td>25 hours</td>
<td>$181.65 wages</td>
<td>$52.00 tips</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>October 15</td>
<td>17 hours</td>
<td>$123.25 wages</td>
<td>$35.00 tips</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>October 30</td>
<td>20 hours</td>
<td>$145.00 wages</td>
<td>$42.00 tips</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>November 15</td>
<td>7 hours</td>
<td>$50.75 wages</td>
<td>$7.00 tips</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>November 30</td>
<td>25 hours</td>
<td>$181.25 wages</td>
<td>$60.00 tips</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Mrs. Beech provides the following additional information: She earns $7.25 per hour. She does get some tips, but rarely the amount shown on her pay stubs. She says the employer determines the amount shown as tips by some formula that she does not understand because he is required by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) to report them. She does not have to share her tips with any other employee and they do not share tips with her. She says that during a “good” week she makes about $20 in tips. The employer never sees her tips; she does not report the amount to him and is not required to do so. The Worker pendes the case for verification of the way the employer determines the amount of tips shown on her pay stubs and reported to the IRS.

The client provides the following note from the employer:

To Whom It May Concern:

Mrs. Beech works for me at the Dew Drop Inn as a waitress. I pay her $7.25 for every hour she works. She does make some in tips, but I don’t know how much. The IRS makes me figure her tips so I do it according to how much food she sells. I don’t think she really gets that much. None of my waitresses do, but the IRS makes me do it.

Very truly yours,
Lily Rose

There is no third-party independent verification available for the amount of Mrs. Beech’s tips. However, she does state that she receives tips, so income from the tips cannot be disregarded. The only way to verify the amount of tips is to accept her statement as to the amount. There is no other source of verification available, so the Worker must accept her statement. The Worker must record that the employer confirmed the tips shown on the pay stubs do not necessarily reflect... the amount she actually receives, that this is the best information that can be provided to verify the situation, and that the client’s statement is accepted as verification.

4.6.2 UNCOMPENSATED TRANSFERS OF INCOME

When any Medicaid client is receiving nursing home or ICF/IID services or is a member of an ADW, TBI, or I/DD Waiver AG (See Chapter 24), a penalty may be applied for an uncompensated transfer of resources, including income or a stream of income. The policy and procedures related to this process are explained in Chapter 24.
4.7 MAGI METHODOLOGY – PARENTS/CARETAKER RELATIVES; PREGNANT WOMEN; CHILDREN UNDER AGE 19, AND ADULT GROUP (Categorically Needy, Mandatory)

The Modified Adjusted Gross Income (MAGI) methodology is used to determine financial eligibility for the following Medicaid eligibility groups:

- Parents and Other Caretaker Relatives
- Pregnant Women
- Children Under 19
- Adult Group

NOTE: MAGI methodologies are also used to calculate eligibility for the West Virginia Children’s Health Insurance Program (WVCHIP). Additional eligibility requirements for WVCHIP can be found in Chapter 22.

4.7.1 DETERMINING INCOME COUNTED FOR THE MAGI HOUSEHOLD

Income of each member of the individual’s MAGI household is counted. The MAGI household is determined using the MAGI methodology established in Chapter 3.

EXCEPTION: Income of children, or other tax dependents, who are not expected to be required to file an income tax return is excluded from the MAGI household income.

NOTE: A reasonable determination as to whether an individual will be required to file a tax return can be made based on the individual’s current income for the applicable budget period. Such a determination would be based on information available at the time of application or renewal. Information regarding “Who Must File” a tax return can be found in Appendix F.
4.7.1.A Examples of Applying the Income Rules for Children and Tax Dependents

Child’s Income Excluded: A child is 17 years old with a part-time job in the summer and earns $2,100 annually. He is expected to be claimed as a dependent on his parent’s tax return. It is determined at application that the child is not expected to be required to file taxes the following year because his income does not exceed the filing requirements established by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). Therefore, the child’s income will NOT be included in the MAGI household nor count toward eligibility, whether he actually files taxes or not.

Child’s Income Included: A child is 18 years old and works part-time through the summer and after school. He earns $12,500 for the year. It is determined at application that he is expected to be claimed as a dependent on his parent’s tax return, and will be required to file an income tax return for the year in which Medicaid is being sought. Therefore, this child’s income WILL be included for determining eligibility for any MAGI household for which he is a member.

Tax Dependent’s Income Excluded: Mrs. Basswood is 60 years old and lives with her 40-year-old daughter. Mrs. Basswood will be claimed as a tax dependent on her daughter’s taxes next year. Mrs. Basswood receives $960 Social Security income per month; she has no other income. Because Mrs. Basswood has no other income, her Social Security income is not taxable and she is not required to file taxes. As her daughter’s tax dependent, her income does not count toward her daughter’s MAGI household.

Applicant’s Income Included: Same situations as above. Mrs. Basswood is also applying for health coverage. Her MAGI household will include only herself, using non-filer MAGI household size rules in Chapter 3. Because Mrs. Basswood is neither a child nor a tax dependent in her own MAGI household, her income will count toward determining her MAGI eligibility.

4.7.2 CALCULATING MAGI (WHAT INCOME IS COUNTED)

MAGI-based income includes:

- Adjusted gross income (taxable income less deductions/adjustments), excluding:
  - Certain taxable American Indian/Alaska Native income
  - Taxable scholarships/awards used for educational purposes
• Non-taxable Social Security benefits
• Tax-exempt interest
• Foreign earned income

NOTE: Supplemental Security Income (SSI) is never counted in MAGI.

To calculate the MAGI, determine the adjusted gross income amount for each member of the MAGI household whose income will count, for the current month. The MAGI differs from the adjusted gross income, because MAGI accounts for additions and adjustments. The Worker uses the budgeting method established in Section 4.6.1, Budgeting Method, to anticipate future income amounts, consider past income sources, and build monthly income amounts based upon the applicant’s reported income.

4.7.2.A Step 1 – Determine the Income

The Worker must first add all of the individual’s income from any of the income sources listed in “Countable Sources of Income” of Section 4.3, Chart 2 and exclude income listed in “Excluded Sources of Income” of Section 4.3, Chart 2.

4.7.2.B Step 2 – Make the Adjustments/Deductions

After the income has been determined in Step 1, determine if any adjustments/deductions are applicable and subtract them from the income determined in Step 1. The Worker must incorporate allowable deductions (also known as adjustments) in the calculation of MAGI-based income. These adjustments/deductions can be found on page one of IRS form 1040.

Different methodologies, as shown in the table below, may be used to incorporate different types of adjustments/deductions into the income determined in Step 1.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Deduction Type</th>
<th>Examples</th>
<th>Deduction Methodology</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Consistent, monthly deduction</td>
<td>• Alimony paid</td>
<td>• Deduct the monthly expense from current monthly income.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• Student loan interest</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lump-sum deduction</td>
<td>• Certain educator expenses</td>
<td>• Deduct the full amount of the expense from current monthly income in the month in which the expense was incurred.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• Certain moving expenses</td>
<td>• Divide the total expense by 12 and deduct that amount from current monthly income.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Deduction Type

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Deduction Type</th>
<th>Examples</th>
<th>Deduction Methodology</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Annualized deduction</td>
<td>• Net operating loss carryover</td>
<td>• Divide the total projected expense by 12 and deduct that amount from current monthly income.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• Deductible part of self-employment tax</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The following items are subtracted from the individual's income:

- Educator expenses
- Certain business expenses of reservists, performing artists, and fee-basis government officials
- Health savings account deductions
- Moving expenses (Only for members of the Armed Forces after 12/31/2017)
- Deductible part of self-employment tax
- Self-employed Simplified Employee Pension (SEP), Savings Incentive Match Plan for Employees (SIMPLE), and qualified plans
- Self-employed health insurance deductions
- Penalty on early withdrawal of savings
- Alimony paid ONLY if court ordered prior to January 2019
- IRA deductions
- Student loan interest deductions

NOTE: The adjustments/deductions are capped at the same amount set by the IRS.

Example 1: Mr. Oak, an elementary school teacher, has one tax dependent child, Hazel. He spends $240 on supplies for his classroom in August. That same month, Mr. Oak applies for Medicaid for Hazel. Hazel’s MAGI-based household will include herself and her father, Mr. Oak. Because it is an educator expense, Mr. Oak can choose to annualize the expense or use it as a lump-sum deduction. To annualize the deduction, first divide the expense by 12 (240 divided by 12 = $20). Then, subtract the $20 from Hazel's household income for the month of August.
Example 2: Same situation as above, except Mr. Oak chooses to use a lump-sum deduction for his $240 educator expense. To calculate the lump-sum deduction, subtract the total amount of the expense ($240) from Hazel’s MAGI-based income for the month of August. Hazel’s household income for succeeding months will be higher when the lump-sum approach is used.

4.7.2.C Step 3 – Required Additions

Add the following income sources to the income determined in Step 2:

- Foreign earned income and housing costs as defined in 26 USC §911.
- Any interest received that would normally be excluded from taxes.
- The portion of the individual’s Title II Social Security benefits typically excluded from taxation, as described in 26 USC §86(d).
- Self-employment/farming income, after accounting for depreciation and operating losses. In cases where the business or farm operated at a loss, the Worker must subtract the amount of the loss from the income calculation. See the methodology established in Section 4.7 for calculating self-employment income.
- For individuals who expect to be claimed as a tax dependent by a grandparent, another relative, or another individual who is not a parent or stepparent, their household income includes cash support provided by the person claiming them as a tax dependent, if over $50 per month.
- Lump-sum income must be included, but it must only be counted in the month that it is received.

4.7.3 MAGI-BASED INCOME DISREGARD

The only allowable income disregard is an amount equivalent to five percentage points of 100% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL) for the applicable MAGI household size.

The 5% FPL disregard is not applied to every MAGI eligibility determination and should not be used to determine the MAGI coverage group for which an individual may be eligible. The 5% FPL disregard will be applied to the highest MAGI income limit for which an individual may be determined eligible.
4.7.3.A MAGI-Based Income Disregard Examples

Pregnant Woman Example 1: A pregnant woman has MAGI household income at 135% of the FPL. The 5% FPL disregard will not be applied because the highest income limit of the MAGI Medicaid coverage group for which she may be eligible is 158% of the FPL for the Pregnant Women coverage group.

Pregnant Woman Example 2: A pregnant woman has MAGI household income at 160% of the FPL. The 5% FPL disregard would be applied to bring her income to below 158% of the FPL.

Adult Group Example 1: A client has MAGI household income at 137% of the FPL. The 5% FPL disregard would be applied to bring his income below 133% of the FPL for the Adult Group.

4.7.4 DETERMINING ELIGIBILITY

The applicant’s household income must be at or below the applicable MAGI standard for the MAGI coverage groups.

Step 1: Determine the MAGI-based gross monthly income for each MAGI household income group (IG).

Step 2: Convert the MAGI household’s gross monthly income to a percentage of the FPL by dividing the current monthly income by 100% of the FPL for the household size. Convert the result to a percentage.

If the result from Step 2 is equal to or less than the appropriate income limit, no disregard is necessary and no further steps are required.

Step 3: If the result from Step 2 is greater than the appropriate limit, apply the 5% FPL disregard by subtracting five percentage points from the converted monthly gross income to determine the household income.

Step 4: After the 5% FPL income disregard has been applied, the remaining percent of FPL is the final figure that will be compared against the applicable modified adjusted gross income standard for the MAGI coverage groups.
4.7.4.A MAGI Screening

Applicants with income below the MAGI standard and determined eligible for coverage in a MAGI coverage group, i.e., the Adult group, Parents/Caretaker Relatives, Pregnant Women, Children Under Age 19 group or WVCHIP, should be promptly enrolled into the MAGI coverage group. The client may also pursue eligibility for non-MAGI Medicaid coverage groups while enrolled in the MAGI group. See Section 23.8.2

NOTE: If the household income of an applicant using MAGI methodologies results in financial ineligibility for Medicaid, and the tax household income of the applicant used to determine eligibility for advance premium tax credits (APTC) through the Marketplace is below 100% FPL resulting in ineligibility for APTC, eligibility for Medicaid will be determined using the tax household methodologies.

4.7.4.B Eligibility Determination Examples

Example 1: Cedar and Holly are married and live together with their son Ash, age 6. Cedar and Holly file a joint tax return, with Ash claimed as a tax dependent. The family applies for health coverage for all three family members. Cedar works and earns $1,500 per month and Holly receives SSA benefits in the amount of $450 per month. Ash has no income.

1. Determine the MAGI Household Size for Each Applicant:
   - Cedar is a tax filer. Using STEP 1 in Section 4.7.2.A, his MAGI household consists of his spouse Holly, and his tax dependent, Ash, resulting in a MAGI household size of three – Cedar + Holly + Ash.
   - Holly is also a tax filer; therefore, both her spouse, Cedar, and her tax dependent, Ash, count in her MAGI household, resulting in a MAGI household size of three – Cedar + Holly + Ash.
   - Ash is a tax dependent and does not meet any of the exceptions in STEP 2 in Section 4.7.2.B; therefore, his MAGI household is the same as Cedar, the tax filer claiming him as a dependent, resulting in a MAGI household size of three – Cedar + Holly + Ash.
2. Determine the MAGI for each Household:

Income of each member of the applicant’s MAGI household is counted unless identified as not being counted in Section 4.7.2 above.

- Neither Cedar nor Holly are the child or expected tax dependent of another member of the MAGI household; therefore, their income will count.

- Ash is the child and expected tax dependent of another member of the MAGI household. However, he is not expected to be required to file a tax return. Any income of Ash’s would not be counted.

In this example, because each applicant’s MAGI household is the same – Cedar + Holly + Ash, each applicant has the same MAGI household income. Cedar, Holly, and Ash’s total MAGI household income = Cedar and Holly’s income = $1,500 + $450 = $1,950.

3. Determining Eligibility:

Cedar, Holly, and Ash: Convert the gross monthly income for each applicant’s MAGI household to a percentage of the FPL. Because each applicant in this example has the same MAGI household, the same income conversion calculation will apply to all three applicants. Each applicant’s MAGI household’s total gross monthly income equals $1,950.

To convert household income to a percentage of FPL and determine eligibility, follow these steps:

- Determine gross monthly income: $1,950.
- Determine MAGI household size: three.
- Determine 100% of the FPL for the household size of three: $1,702.
- Divide gross monthly income by 100% of the FPL for the household size: $1,950/$1,702 = 1.1457.
- Move decimal point two places to the right: 1.1457 = 114.57% of the FPL.
- Compare 114.57% of the FPL to the income threshold for each coverage group.
- The 5% FPL disregard is not required because the applicants are eligible for a MAGI Medicaid coverage group.

In this case Cedar, Holly, and Ash all fall under an income threshold for Medicaid eligibility. Cedar and Holly qualify under the Adult Group and Ash qualifies under the Children Under Age 19 Group.
Example 2: Birch and Lily live together but they are not married. They have one child together named Ginger, who is two years old. Birch is the custodial parent of his son Aspen, from a prior marriage, who lives with him full time. Birch and Lily are both tax filers and file taxes separately. Birch claims Aspen and Ginger as tax dependents. Birch earns $1,400 per month in wages. Lily earns $1,300 per month in wages. Neither child has income.

1. Determine the MAGI Household Size for each applicant:
   - Birch is a tax filer. Using STEP 1 in Section 4.7.2.A above Birch’s MAGI household size equals three – Birch + his tax dependents Aspen and Ginger.
   - Lily is a tax filer. She has no tax dependents. Lily’s MAGI household size equals one - Lily.
   - Ginger is a tax dependent. She meets an exception in STEP 2 in Section 4.7.2.B because she is living with both parents, but they will not file a joint tax return; therefore, her MAGI household is determined by STEP 3. Ginger’s MAGI household size equals four – Ginger + her parents Birch and Lily + sibling Aspen.
   - Aspen is a tax dependent, but he does not meet an exception in STEP 2. Therefore, his MAGI household is the same as Birch, the tax filer claiming him. Aspen’s MAGI household size is also three – Aspen + Birch + Ginger.

2. Determine MAGI for each Household:
   Income of each member of the applicant’s MAGI household is counted unless identified as not being counted in Section 4.7.1 above.
   - Birch is not the child or expected tax dependent of another member of this MAGI household; therefore, his income will count. Ginger and Aspen are the child and/or expected tax dependent of another member of the MAGI household. However, neither is expected to be required to file a tax return. Any of their income would not be counted.
     Birch and Aspen’s MAGI household income = Birch’s income = $1,400.
   - Lily is neither the child nor expected tax dependent of another member of her MAGI household; therefore, her income will count.
     Lily’s MAGI household income = $1,300.
   - Ginger’s MAGI household includes both of her parents, Birch and Lily.
     Ginger’s MAGI household income = Birch and Lily’s income = $2,700.
3. Determining Eligibility:

Convert the gross monthly income for each applicant’s MAGI household to a percentage of the FPL.

To convert MAGI household income to a percentage of the FPL and determine eligibility, follow these steps:

Birch and Aspen: Birch and Aspen’s MAGI household income would be converted using the following steps:

- Determine gross monthly income: $1,400.
- Determine MAGI household size: Three.
- Determine 100% FPL for the household size of three: $1,702.
- Divide gross monthly income by 100% of the FPL for the household size: $1,400/$1,702 = .82256.
- Move decimal point two places to the right: .82256 = 82.26% FPL.
- Compare 82.26% FPL to the income threshold for each coverage group.
- The 5% FPL disregard is not required because the applicants are eligible for a MAGI Medicaid coverage group.

Birch and Aspen’s MAGI household income is below the Medicaid income limit; therefore, both will be eligible for Medicaid.

Lily: Lily’s MAGI household income would be converted using the following steps:

- Determine gross monthly income: $1,300.
- Determine MAGI household size: One.
- Determine 100% FPL for the household size of one: $1,005.
- Divide gross monthly income by 100% of the FPL for the household size: $1,300/$1,005 = 1.2935.
- Move decimal point two places to the right: 1.2935 = 129.35% FPL.
- The 5% FPL disregard is not required because the applicant is eligible for a MAGI coverage group.

Lily’s MAGI household income exceeds the income standard for the Adult Group. Her electronic account will be referred to the Marketplace to be evaluated for financial assistance with purchasing health insurance using APTC.

Ginger: Ginger’s MAGI household income would be converted using the following steps:
• Determine gross monthly income: $2,700.
• Determine MAGI household size: Four.
• Determine 100% FPL for the household size of four: $2,050.
• Divide gross monthly income by 100% of the FPL for the household size: $2,700/$2,050 = 1.3170.
• Move decimal point two places to the right: 1.3170 = 131.70% FPL.
• Compare 140.55% FPL to the income threshold for each coverage group.
• The 5% FPL disregard is not required because the applicant is eligible for a MAGI Medicaid coverage group.

Ginger’s MAGI household income is below the Medicaid income standard for children age one to five. Therefore, Ginger will be eligible for Medicaid.

4.7.5 SPECIAL SITUATIONS

4.7.5.A Income from Self-Employment

When a member of the MAGI household IG receives self-employment income, the instructions below must be used to arrive at the gross profit, which is used to calculate countable income. Countable income is determined by subtracting allowable business expenses from the gross income.

4.7.5.A.1 Determining Gross Income

The method used to determine monthly gross income from self-employment varies with the nature of the enterprise. It is necessary to determine which of the following types of self-employment applies to the client’s situation. Once the pattern of self-employment is determined, the instructions below are used to determine how the income is counted.
➢ Persons Receiving Regular Income

Persons receiving regular income are persons who receive income on a more or less regular schedule (weekly, monthly, etc.), or receive a specific amount from the business each week or month and/or receive the balance of profit from the enterprise at the end of the business year.

This income is converted to a monthly amount according to the Budgeting Method in Section 4.6.1.

Business expenses may be computed on a monthly basis or prorated over a 12-month period, at the client's option.

➢ Persons Receiving Irregular Income

Many persons derive income from short-term seasonal self-employment. This seasonal enterprise may be the major source of income for the year, or only for the period of time the person is actually engaged in this enterprise, with other sources of income being available during the remainder of the year. Persons who are seasonally self-employed include vendors of seasonal commodities (e.g., produce, Christmas trees, etc.), or other seasonal farmers.

Cash crop and some seasonal farmers and other persons with similar irregular self-employment income receive their annual income from self-employment in a short period of time and budget their money to meet their living expenses for the next 12 months.

Because the income is seasonal, it must be averaged over the period of time it is intended to cover, even if it is the major source of income for the year. However, if the averaged amount of past income does not accurately reflect the anticipated monthly circumstances because of a substantial increase or decrease in business, the income is calculated based on anticipated earnings.

Business expenses may be computed on a monthly basis or prorated over a 12-month period, at the client's option.

➢ New Business

AGs with a new business that has been in existence less than a year have their income and incurred business expenses averaged over the amount of time the business has been in operation. From this, the monthly amount is projected for the coming year. However, if the averaged amount of past income and/or expenses does not accurately reflect the anticipated monthly circumstances because of a substantial increase or decrease in business, the income and/or expenses is calculated based on anticipated earnings.
4.7.5.A.2  Determining Gross Profit

Gross profit from self-employment is the income remaining after deducting any identifiable costs of doing business from the gross income. The instructions below must be used to arrive at the gross profit, which is used to calculate countable income.

These instructions are based upon the IRS Forms used by self-employed individuals to file federal taxes on their self-employment income.

Income from self-employment is calculated by totaling the following items, as described on the IRS Forms:

- Add payment cards and third-party network transactions.
- Add gross receipts or sales (separate from items reported above).
- Add income that results from “Statutory Employee” status. If an individual’s income results from such a status, they would receive a W-2 for the year that has the “Statutory Employee” box checked.
- Add any other form of income received by the business.
- Subtract returns, allowances, and other adjustments.
- Subtract the cost of goods sold, calculated using the following methodology:
  - Add value of inventory at the beginning of the period under consideration.
  - Add purchases (disregarding cost of items withdrawn for personal use).
  - Add labor costs (disregarding amounts paid to oneself).
  - Add materials and supplies.
  - Add other costs.
  - Subtract value of inventory at the end of the period under consideration.
- Subtract the expenses related to the business’ operations. The following expenses can be deducted:
  - Advertising
  - Car and truck expenses
  - Commissions and fees
  - Contract labor
  - Depletion
  - Depreciation and section 179 expense deduction
  - Employee benefit programs
• Subtract the business’ expenses from its income to arrive at the self-employment income profit or loss for the individual.

4.7.5.B  Annual Contract Employment

This section applies to any person employed under a yearly contract, such as school employees, including bus drivers, cooks, janitors, aides, and professional staff.

These individuals have their annual income prorated over a 12-month period. Additional earnings, such as for summer work, are added to the prorated amount during the time additional earnings are received.

Although a person may not have signed a new annual contract, he is still considered employed under an annual contract when the contract is automatically renewable, or when he has implied renewal rights. Implied renewal rights are most commonly associated with school contracts.

This item does not apply during strike and disaster situations when the other party to the contract cannot fulfill it, or when labor disputes interrupt the flow of earnings specified in the contract.
4.7.5.C Educational Income

All student financial assistance, funded in whole or in part under Title IV of the Higher Education Act or the Bureau of Indian Affairs, is excluded in its entirety.

Treatment of educational income and expenses depends upon the source of income and the intended use.

4.7.5.C.1 Sources That Are Totally Excluded

Funds from the following sources are totally excluded:

- Federal Pell Grants.
- Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (FSEOG).
- Guaranteed Student Loans, including William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan Program and Federal Direct PLUS Loans, Supplemental Loans for Students, and Federal Family Education Loan (FFEL) Program Loans.
- Leveraging Educational Assistance Partnership (LEAP) and Special Leveraging Educational Assistance Partnership (SLEAP) Programs, formerly known as State Student Incentive Grants.
- Federal Perkins Loans.
- Federal Stafford Loans.
- Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarship.
- Loans for educational expenses that meet the definition of a bona fide loan, as found in Section 4.2, Definitions.

4.7.5.C.2 College Work Study (CWS) Program

Income received from CWS Programs, funded in whole or in part under Title IV of the Higher Education Act, is excluded.

Income received from CWS Programs not funded under Title IV that is needed for the educational program or course of study is excluded. Any portion specifically earmarked for shelter, utilities, clothing, or incidentals not needed for the educational program or the course of study is considered income.

Because income is usually paid to the student on the basis of work performed, not in one lump sum, its treatment is different than that of other educational benefits. Treatment of this income depends upon whether or not the amount to be earned in one semester is known at the beginning of the semester.

➢ Earnings Known at Beginning of Semester

When the amount of the earnings, or maximum amount that can be earned, is known at the beginning of the semester, the Worker prorates any portion, specifically earmarked for shelter, utilities, food, clothing, or incidentals, not needed for the program or course of study, over the period of time it is intended to cover.

➢ Earnings Unknown at Beginning of Semester

When the amount of the earnings is not known at the beginning of the semester, any portion of the CWS income specifically earmarked for shelter, utilities, food, clothing, or incidentals, not needed for the program or course of study, is treated as earned income and converted to a monthly amount according to Section 4.6. All earned income disregards and deductions apply.

4.7.5.C.3 Other Sources

Educational funds from any source, other than those listed in Section 4.7.5.A.1 and Section 4.7.5.A.2 above, are totally excluded as being earmarked for educational purposes, unless any portion of the funds is specifically earmarked for shelter, utilities, food, clothing, or incidentals not needed for the program or course of study.

Any of the funds specifically earmarked for shelter, utilities, food, clothing, or incidentals, not needed for the program or course of study, are counted as unearned income and prorated over the period of time they are intended to cover.

4.7.5.D Deeming

The MAGI methodology described in this section is used to determine the MAGI household and whose income will be counted.
4.7.5.E Irregular Income

Regardless of the source, irregular income is not counted because it cannot be anticipated.

4.7.5.F Lump-Sum Payments

Lump-sum payments are counted as unearned income only in the month received.

4.7.5.G Withheld Income

All withheld income is counted, unless an amount is being withheld to repay income that was previously used to determine Medicaid eligibility. No other earned income is excluded just because it is withheld by the employer.

4.7.5.H Funds Diverted to a Plan to Achieve Self-Support (PASS)

Funds diverted to a PASS account are treated as earned or unearned income, depending on the source.

4.7.5.I Unstated Income

There is no provision that allows for counting unstated income.

4.7.5.J Unavailable Income

Income intended for the client, but received by another person with whom he does not live, when the individual receiving this income refuses to make it available, is excluded.
4.7.5.K Income Received for a Non-Income Group Member

Income received by a member of the IG, which is intended and used for the care and maintenance of an individual whose income is not used in determining the eligibility of the payee’s Medicaid household, is excluded as income.

4.7.5.L Income Belonging to or for the Benefit of a Child

The source of the income must be known and Section 4.3 consulted for how the income is treated.
There is no income test for the CEN. See Section 23.10.6.

NOTE: The spenddown provision does not apply to CEN.
4.9 TRANSITIONAL MEDICAID (TM) (Categorically Needy, Mandatory)

This coverage group consists of families that lose eligibility for Parents/Caretaker Relatives Medicaid because of earned income. TM provides continuing medical coverage after Parents/Caretaker Relatives Medicaid eligibility ends, and occurs in two phases.

NOTE: The spenddown provision does not apply to TM.

4.9.1 FINANCIAL REQUIREMENTS FOR PHASE I TM

There is no maximum income test for Phase I TM. The onset or increase of earned income must cause Parents/Caretaker Relatives Medicaid ineligibility. See Section 23.10.1.

4.9.2 DETERMINING ELIGIBILITY FOR PHASE II TM

In order to be eligible for Phase II TM, the income must not exceed 185% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL) based on the steps below.

To determine eligibility for Phase II coverage, the following procedure is used:

Step 1: Determine the total countable income of all assistance group (AG) members.

Step 2: Deduct the Dependent Care Deduction. See Section 4.16.

Step 3: Compare the remaining amount to the 185% of the FPL amount for the Needs Group found in Appendix A.

NOTE: Self-employment income and Annual Contract Employment income is determined using the same methodology outlined in Section 4.7.5.
4.10  MEDICAID FOR INDIVIDUALS APPROVED FOR OR RECEIVING SSI (Categorically Needy, Mandatory)

Income eligibility calculations are performed by the Social Security Administration (SSA). The Worker has no responsibility in this process. See Section 23.11.1.

NOTE: The spenddown provision does not apply to Medicaid clients approved for or receiving SSI.
4.11 MEDICAID FOR DEEMED SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME (SSI) RECIPIENTS (Categorically Needy, Mandatory)

Income eligibility is determined by the Social Security Administration (SSA) for the following coverage groups: Disabled Adult Children (DAC), Blind, Disabled – Substantial Gainful Activity (SGA), Essential Spouses, Pass-Throughs, Disabled Widows/Widowers and Drug Addicts/Alcoholics. See Section 23.11.2.

Only one Deemed SSI Recipient coverage group requires income calculations. Those eligible for Pickle Amendment Coverage (PAC) are addressed in this section.

NOTE: The spenddown provision does not apply to Deemed SSI recipients.

4.11.1 DISABLED ADULT CHILDREN

Income eligibility calculations are performed by the SSA. The Worker has no responsibility in this process. See Section 23.11.2.

4.11.2 BLIND, DISABLED – SGA

Income eligibility calculations are performed by the SSA. The Worker has no responsibility in this process. See Section 23.11.2.

4.11.3 ESSENTIAL SPOUSES

Income eligibility calculations are performed by the SSA. The Worker has no responsibility in this process. See Section 23.11.2.
4.11.4 PASS-THROUGHS

Income eligibility calculations are performed by the SSA. The Worker has no responsibility in this process. See Section 23.11.2.

4.11.5 DISBALED WIDOWS/WIDOWERS

Income eligibility calculations are performed by the SSA. The Worker has no responsibility in this process. See Section 23.11.2.

4.11.6 DRUG ADDICTS/ALCOHOLICS

Income eligibility calculations are performed by the SSA. The Worker has no responsibility in this process. See Section 23.11.2.

4.11.7 PAC

4.11.7.A Determining Eligibility

There are two methods by which income eligibility as a PAC may be determined. Method 1 is used first. If Method 1 results in ineligibility by $20 or less, the Worker must use Method 2. When calculations using Method 2 result in an individual’s ineligibility by less than two dollars, the Worker contacts the SSA to confirm the PAC eligibility decision.
4.11.7.A.1  Method 1

Step 1: Determine the last month and year in which the client received Supplemental Security Income (SSI) and Retirement, Survivors, and Disability Insurance (RSDI) in the same month.

NOTE: An individual who received SSI and was found retroactively eligible for RSDI is considered to have received SSI and RSDI in the same month. RSDI payments are received the month following the month of entitlement. For example, the RSDI entitlement for December is received in January.

Step 2: Using Appendix E, find the percentage that applies to that year and multiply the current RSDI amount for the client and/or his financially-responsible parent or spouse by that percentage. Round down to the nearest dollar.

Step 3: Add any other current countable income using the budgeting methods in Section 4.6.1.

Step 4: Apply the disregards and deductions from Section 4.14.2 for SSI-Related Medicaid.

If the remaining amount is less than the current SSI maximum payment, the client is income-eligible.

➢ PAC Method 1 Examples

Example 1: Mr. Daffodil received RSDI and SSI at the same time for several years until his SSI stopped in December 2012. His current RSDI amount is $780, and he has no other income. Using the 2012 multiplier found in Appendix E, $780 X .950 = $741. After applying the $20 disregard, the countable income is $721, which is less than the current SSI payment rate of $735. He is income eligible as a PAC.

Example 2: Ms. Aster, age 55 and single, has assets of less than $2,000. Her current RSDI amount is $840 and she has no other income. She first applied for RSDI and SSI in October 2008. She was approved and paid for SSI beginning October 2008 through December 2008. In December 2008, she received her first RSDI check that resulted in the loss of SSI payments. Using the multiplier for 2008 found in Appendix E, $840 X .866 = $727. Ms. Aster qualifies for PAC.
Example 3: In 2017, Mrs. Rose lives with her husband, Sam Rose. He is 75 years old and receives $900 RSDI. He did not previously receive SSI. Mrs. Rose is 70 years old and receives $700 RSDI. The couple’s total combined monthly income is $1,600, which exceeds the current SSI amount of $1,103 for a couple. Mrs. Rose received both RSDI and SSI until she married Sam in 2000. Her SSI was terminated after the marriage due to excessive income for a couple. To determine PAC eligibility, the combined RSDI income of $1,600 is multiplied by .698, the amount for 2000 found in Appendix E for Method 1. The result is $1,116, which is their countable RSDI income. After applying the $20 disregard, the total countable income is $1,096, which is less than the current SSI amount for a couple of $1,103. Mrs. Rose qualifies for PAC coverage. Her husband is not PAC eligible because he did not receive SSI.

NOTE: If the client is ineligible by $20 or less, Method 2 must be used as the final eligibility determination.

4.11.7.A.2 Method 2

To determine an individual’s financial eligibility under Method 2, the Worker must determine the cumulative RSDI Cost of Living Adjustments (COLA) of the applicant and/or his financially responsible parent or spouse, which were received because SSI eligibility was lost.

Step 1: Divide the current RSDI benefit amount by the percentage amount of the previous year’s COLA. This percentage is found in Appendix E. This procedure determines the individual’s RSDI benefit level prior to the most recent COLA.

Step 2: Repeat the process in Step 1 for each COLA received because the individual lost SSI eligibility. This produces the RSDI amount the client and/or his financially responsible parent or spouse received when he lost SSI eligibility.

COLA Example: For the 2015 RSDI amount, use the 2014 COLA information from Appendix E, Method 2 Chart. $856 ÷ 1.017 = $842, the RSDI amount before 1/15 COLA.

Resulting RSDI amount before 1/15 COLA, $842 ÷ 1.015 = $830, the RSDI amount before 1/14 COLA.

Resulting RSDI amount before 1/14 COLA, $830 ÷ 1.017 = $816, the RSDI amount before 1/13 COLA.

Step 3: Add the client’s current countable income using the budgeting methods in Section 4.6.1
Step 4: Apply appropriate disregards and deductions from Section 4.14.2 for SSI-Related Medicaid.

If countable income is less than the current maximum SSI payment amount, the client is income-eligible.

4.11.7.B Special Situations

4.11.7.B.1 Income from Self-Employment

Gross profit is determined the same way it is for Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC)-Related Medicaid. See Section 4.16. After gross profit is determined, it is treated as SSI-Related earned income.

4.11.7.B.2 Annual Contract Employment

Annual contract employment is treated the same way it is for AFDC-Related Medicaid. See Section 4.16.

4.11.7.B.3 Educational Income

Educational income is treated the same way it is for AFDC-Related Medicaid. See Section 4.16.

4.11.7.B.4 Deeming

Income is deemed from an ineligible financially-responsible spouse or parent the same way it is deemed for SSI-Related Medicaid cases. See Section 4.14. The COLA disregard is applied to any RSDI received by an ineligible spouse or financially-responsible parent, and which is subject to deeming.
4.11.7.B.5 Irregular Income

Regardless of the source, irregular income is not counted because it cannot be anticipated.

4.11.7.B.6 Lump-Sum Payments

Lump-sum payments are counted as unearned income in the month received.

4.11.7.B.7 Withheld Income

Withheld income is treated the same way it is for SSI-Related Medicaid. See Section 4.14.

4.11.7.B.8 Funds Diverted to a Plan to Achieve Self-Support (PASS)

Funds diverted to a PASS account are excluded.

4.11.7.B.9 Unstated Income

There is no provision that allows for counting unstated income.

4.11.7.B.10 Unavailable Income

Income intended for the client, but received by another person with whom he does not live, when the individual receiving this income refuses to make it available, is excluded.
4.11.7.B.11 Income Received for a Non-Income Group Member

Income received by a member of the income group (IG), which is intended and used for the care and maintenance of an individual whose income is not used in determining the eligibility of the payee’s assistance group (AG), is excluded as income.

4.11.7.B.12 Income Belonging to or for the Benefit of a Child

The source of the income must be known, and Section 4.3 consulted, for how the income is treated.
4.12 MEDICAID FOR QMB, SLIMB, QI-1 (Categorically Needy, Mandatory)

The spenddown provision does not apply for Qualified Medicare Beneficiary (QMB), Specified Low-Income Medicare Beneficiary (SLIMB), or Qualifying Individuals (QI-1).

4.12.1 DETERMINING ELIGIBILITY

Countable income is determined by subtracting any allowable disregards and deductions from the total countable gross income. Deemed income is addressed in Section 4.12.2 below.

NOTE: Recipients of federal benefits such as Retirement, Survivors, and Disability Insurance (RSDI) may receive periodic cost of living adjustments (COLA). For QMB, SLIMB, and QI-1, the RSDI COLAs are disregarded in determining income eligibility for January and any subsequent months prior to the effective month of the state’s Federal Poverty Level (FPL) updates for the year. RSDI and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) increases are handled in accordance with instructions in Chapter 10, Appendices A and B.

Countable income is determined as follows:

- Step 1: Determine the total countable gross unearned income and subtract the appropriate disregards and deductions. See Section 4.14.2.
- Step 2: Determine the total countable gross earned income and subtract the appropriate disregards and deductions. See Section 4.14.2.
- Step 3: Add the results from Step 1 and Step 2 to achieve the total monthly countable income.
- Step 4: Compare the amount in Step 3 to the QMB, SLIMB, or QI-1 income levels for the appropriate number of persons. See Section 4.14 for SSI-Related deeming procedures.

If the amount is less than or equal to the QMB, SLIMB, or QI-1 income levels, the client(s) is eligible.

Eligibility for these coverage groups is determined as follows:

- QMB – Income is less than or equal to 100% FPL.
- SLIMB – Income is greater than 100% FPL, but less than or equal to 120% FPL.
• QI-1 – Income is greater than 120% FPL, but less than or equal to 135% FPL.
See Appendix A.

4.12.2 SPECIAL SITUATIONS

4.12.2.A Self-Employment

Gross profit is determined the same way it is for Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC)-Related Medicaid. See Section 4.16.

4.12.2.B Annual Contract Employment

Annual contract employment is treated the same way it is for AFDC-Related Medicaid. See Section 4.16.

4.12.2.C Educational Income

Educational income is treated the same way it is for AFDC-Related Medicaid. See Section 4.16.

4.12.2.D Deeming

See Section 4.14.4 for SSI deeming procedures.

4.12.2.E Irregular Income

Regardless of the source, irregular income is excluded because it cannot be anticipated.
4.12.2.F lump-sum Payments

Lump-sum payments are counted as unearned income in the month received.

4.12.2.G Withheld Income

Withheld income is treated the same way it is for SSI-Related Medicaid. See Section 4.14.

4.12.2.H Unstated Income

There is no provision that allows for counting unstated income.

4.12.2.I Unavailable Income

Income intended for the client, but received by another person with whom he does not live, when the individual receiving this income refuses to make it available, is excluded.

4.12.2.J Income Received for a Non-Income Group (IG) Member

Income received by a member of the IG, which is intended and used for the care and maintenance of an individual whose income is not used in determining the eligibility of the payee's AG, is excluded as income.
4.13 MEDICAID FOR QUALIFIED DISABLED WORKING INDIVIDUALS (QDWI) (CATEGORICALLY NEEDY, MANDATORY)

NOTE: The spenddown provision does not apply to QDWI.

4.13.1 DETERMINING ELIGIBILITY

Countable income is determined the same way it is for Supplemental Security Income (SSI)-Related Medicaid. See Section 4.14.3. The same disregards and deductions used for SSI-Related Medicaid are applied. See Section 4.14.2.

Once countable income is determined, it is compared to 200% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL), rather than the Medically Needy Income Level (MNIL), to determine financial eligibility. If the countable income exceeds 200% of the FPL, the client is ineligible as a QDWI.

4.13.2 SPECIAL SITUATIONS

The special situations and procedures for SSI-Related Medicaid are found in Section 4.14.4 and apply to QDWI cases.
4.14 SSI-RELATED MEDICAID (Medically Needy, Categorically Need, Optional)

NOTE: Spenddown provisions apply to Supplemental Security Income (SSI)-Related.

4.14.1 BUDGETING METHOD

In addition to the information in Section 4.6, some Medically Needy cases may have other considerations, because Medically Needy cases have a fixed Period of Consideration (POC) and the total income for the six-month POC is used to determine the spenddown amount.

Therefore, the Worker must take the following steps when the income is expected to change during the POC.

Step 1: Determine the specific months that will constitute the POC.

Step 2: Determine the anticipated earned income for each of the six months, according to Section 4.6.

Step 3: Determine the anticipated unearned income for each of the six months, according to Section 4.6.

Step 4: Take the result from Step 2 and divide by six to determine the average anticipated earned income for the POC.

NOTE: When there is no earned income in a month, use $0 as income for that month, but always divide by six.

Step 5: Take the result from Step 3 and divide by six to determine the average anticipated unearned income for the POC.

NOTE: When there is no unearned income in a month, use $0 as income for that month, but always divide by six.
4.14.2 INCOME DISREGARDS AND DEDUCTIONS

The following disregards and deductions are applied, if applicable.

Disregards and deductions apply only to earned income. Any unused portion of the disregards or deductions is not applied to unearned income.

4.14.2.A.1 SSI $20 Disregard

The remainder of the $20 income disregard.

See Unearned Income below.

4.14.2.A.2 SSI Earned Income Disregard

$65 and half of the remainder are subtracted from earned income and from gross profit from self-employment earnings. See Section 4.14.3 below.

4.14.2.A.3 SSI Impairment-Related Work Expenses

Expenses for items or services that are directly related to enabling a person with a disability to work and that are necessarily incurred by the individual due to a physical or mental impairment. The individual must be:

- Disabled, but not blind; and
- Under age 65; or
- Received SSI or SSI-Related Medicaid as a disabled individual for the month before becoming age 65.
In addition, the severity of the impairment must require the individual to purchase or rent items and services in order to work and the expense must be reasonable and not reimbursable from another source, such as, but not limited to, Medicare or private insurance. The payment must be made with income received for a month in which the person both worked and received the services or used the item, or the payment may be made before the earned income is received when the person is working.

Examples of SSI impairment-related work expenses include, but are not limited to:

- Attendant care services, both at home and at work
- Drugs, medical supplies, and devices
- Federal, state, and local income taxes and Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) taxes
- Fees, such as union dues
- Guide dogs
- Mandatory contributions, such as pensions
- Meals consumed during work hours
- Physical therapy
- Prosthesis
- Structural modifications to the person’s home
- Transportation to and from work, and vehicle modification
- Work-related equipment or services

4.14.2.A.4 SSI Work-Related Expenses (Blind Persons Only)

A deduction for impairment-related expenses necessary for employment is allowed, such as a guide dog, cane training, purchase of special equipment needed to perform or advance on the job, etc.

4.14.2.A.5 Earnings Diverted to a Plan to Achieve Self-Support (PASS)

Any earnings diverted to a PASS account are deducted from income.
4.14.2.A.6  SSI Student Child Earned Income Disregard

$1,870 per month, but no more than $7,550 in a calendar year, is disregarded when the child meets the following criteria:

- Is under age 22, unmarried, and not head of a household; and
- Takes one or more courses of study and attends classes as follows:
  - In a college or university at least eight hours a week; or
  - In grades 7-12 at least 12 hours a week; or
  - In a course of training to prepare for a paying job for at least 15 hours a week, if shop practice is involved, or 12 hours a week, if shop practice is not involved; or
  - For less than the amount of time indicated above for reasons beyond the student's control, such as illness, if circumstances justify a reduced load or attendance.

This applies to homebound students when a disability requires home school and a home visitor or tutor from school directs the study.

4.14.2.B  Unearned Income

4.14.2.B.1  SSI $20 Disregard

A $20 disregard is applied to the total gross unearned income. If unearned income is less than $20, the remainder is subtracted from earned income, prior to the application of any other earned income disregards and deductions.

NOTE: The SSI $20 disregard is not applied to any unearned income received that is based on need. This includes, but is not limited to, Veterans Affairs (VA) benefits based on need. See VA Benefits in Section 4.3.
4.14.2.B.2 Unearned Income Diverted to a PASS

Any unearned income diverted to a PASS account is deducted from income.

4.1.1.A.1 For SSI-Related Children Only

One-third of the child support intended for the SSI-Related child is disregarded.

4.14.2.B.3 Death Benefits

The portion of a lump-sum payment received as a result of the death of an individual, which is used to pay the expenses of the last illness and burial of that individual, is deducted.

4.14.3 DETERMINING ELIGIBILITY

Countable income is determined by subtracting any allowable disregards and deductions in the Budgeting Method section above from the total countable gross income. Deemed income is addressed in Public Assistance Maintenance Income below.

NOTE: When income is deemed from an ineligible spouse, the income is added to the client's income in Steps 1 and 2. When income is deemed from a parent(s), the predetermined deemed amount is added to the child's unearned income in Step 1.

Countable income is determined as follows:

Step 1: Determine the total countable gross unearned income and subtract the $20 disregard, if applicable.

Step 2: Determine the total countable earned income. Subtract the following in order:

- Remainder of SSI $20 disregard
- SSI $65 earned income disregard
- SSI impairment-related expenses
• One-half of remaining earned income
• SSI work-related expense deductions (blind persons only)
• Earnings diverted to a PASS
• SSI student child earned income disregard

Step 3: Add the result from Step 1 to the result from Step 2.
Step 4: Subtract unearned income diverted to a PASS account, the Death Benefits deduction and, for children, the child support disregard.

The result is the total monthly countable income.

Step 5: Compare the amount in Step 4 to the SSI Maximum Payment Level, indicated in Appendix A for the appropriate number of persons.

If the net countable monthly income is equal to or less than the appropriate SSI Maximum Payment Level, the assistance group (AG) is eligible and no further steps are necessary.

If the net countable monthly income is above the appropriate SSI Maximum Payment Level, continue with Step 6.

Step 6: Compare the amount in Step 4 to the Medically Needy Income Level (MNIL) for the appropriate number of persons. See Public Assistance Maintenance Income in Section 4.14.4.D.1 below.

If the net countable monthly income is equal to or less than the appropriate MNIL, the AG is eligible without a spenddown. If it is in excess of the appropriate MNIL, the AG must meet a spenddown. See Section 4.14.4.J.

4.14.4 SPECIAL SITUATIONS

4.14.4.A Income from Self-Employment

Gross profit is determined the same way it is for Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC)-Related Medicaid. See Section 4.16. The gross profit may be earned or unearned income. See Section 4.3.

Annual contract employment is treated the same way it is for AFDC-Related Medicaid. See Section 4.16.

4.14.4.C Educational Income

4.14.4.C.1 Title IV Educational Assistance

All student financial assistance, funded in whole or in part, under Title IV of the Higher Education Act or the Bureau of Indian Affairs, is excluded in its entirety.

Examples of Title IV educational assistance are:

- Federal Pell Grants
- Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (FSEOG)
- Guaranteed Student Loans, including William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan Program and Federal Direct PLUS Loans, Supplemental Loans for Students, and Federal Family Education Loan (FFEL) Program Loans
- Leveraging Educational Assistance Partnership (LEAP) and Special Leveraging Educational Assistance Partnership (SLEAP) Programs, formerly known as State Student Incentive Grants
- Federal Perkins Loans
- Federal Stafford Loans
- Federal Work-Study
- Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarship

Examples of educational assistance that are NOT funded under Title IV are:

- West Virginia Promise Scholarships
- West Virginia Higher Education Grant, also known as West Virginia Grant
- Non-Title IV College Work Study
4.14.4.C.2 Other Educational Assistance

Any grant, scholarship, fellowship, gift, or portion of a gift that is used to pay tuition and other educational expenses at any educational institution, including technical or vocational schools, is excluded. Any portion used or set aside for food or shelter is counted as income in the month received. See Section 5.5 for the asset policy for those educational assistance sources when retained into the month following the month of receipt. Any portion set aside for educational expenses that is used to pay non-educational expenses is income in the month it is used for another expense.

4.14.4.D Deeming

When determining income to be deemed to an eligible individual, certain income sources are not deemed. These sources are outlined in Section 4.14.4.D.1 and Section 4.14.D.2 below.

NOTE: For the definition of eligible child or ineligible child, see Section 4.2.

4.14.4.D.1 Public Assistance Maintenance Income

As defined by the Social Security Administration (SSA), public assistance maintenance income of the spouse or parent from whom income is deemed is excluded from the deeming process; therefore, it is not deemed. In addition, any income, which was considered (counted or excluded) in computing the amount of such income maintenance payments, is also excluded.

These public assistance income maintenance payments are:

- Needs-based payments resulting from the Refugee Act of 1980
- Payments from the Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act
- Payments from general assistance programs of the Bureau of Indian Affairs
- Payments from the VA programs when such payments are based on need. See Section 4.3.
- SSI
- State or local government assistance programs based on need. (Earned income tax credits (EITC) payments and tax refunds are not considered to be based on need.)
- WV WORKS
4.14.4.D.2 Other Excluded Income Sources

Other excluded sources are:

- Any portion of a grant, scholarship, fellowship, or gift used to pay tuition and fees
- Money received for providing foster care to an ineligible child
- The value of Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) benefits or Department of Agriculture donated foods
- Home produce for personal consumption
- Tax refunds on income, real property, or food purchased by the family
- Income used to fulfill an approved PASS
- Income used to comply with the terms of court-ordered support or support payments enforced under Title IV-D
- Periodic payments made by a state under a program established before July 1, 1973, and based solely on duration of residence and attaining age 65. Only that State of Alaska makes such payments.
- Infrequent or irregular income
- Work expenses of a blind individual
- Income of the ineligible individual or parent that is paid under a federal, state, or local program to provide chore, attendant, or homemaker services to the eligible individual
- Home energy assistance
- The earned income of a student child, up to $1,870 a month, but not more than $7,550 per year, is excluded from the income of an ineligible child for purpose of determining the ineligible child allocation

When the ineligible spouse's non-excluded income, as shown above and in Section 4.3, minus only the needs of ineligible children in the home, is greater than the Allocation Standard, the ineligible spouse's income is added to the eligible spouse's income. These are the SSI deeming provisions, which also require use of the couple income limit to determine eligibility for the individual when income is deemed. If the SSI-Related individual is a child, the income of the parent(s) is also deemed, and the above exclusions are applied to their income.

NOTE: The income of separated spouses is not counted or deemed beginning in the month following the month in which the couple separates.
4.14.4.D.3  Deeming from Ineligible Spouse to SSI-Related Spouse

The deeming calculations are as follows:

Step 1: Determine the ineligible spouse's total countable unearned income.

Step 2: Subtract the needs of all ineligible dependent children. See Section 4.2 for the definition of ineligible child.

The need of each ineligible child is determined separately by subtracting the child's income from the Allocation Standard. The difference, if any, represents the child's needs.

Need of Each Ineligible Child Example: SSI payment level for one person is $771 and the level for two persons is $1,157.

The Allocation Standard is $386. Child #1's income is $400. Because the child's income exceeds $386, there is no deduction for Child #1's needs.

Child #2's income is $125. The allocation for this child's needs is $261.

After a separate determination is made for each ineligible child, the allocations are added together and then subtracted from income.

Step 3: Determine the ineligible spouse's total gross countable earned income.

Step 4: Subtract the remainder of the needs of all ineligible children who could not be subtracted in Step 2.

Step 5: Add together the ineligible spouse's remaining earned and unearned income.

Step 6: Compare the amount from Step 5 to the Allocation Standard.

When the remaining amount is less than the Allocation Standard, no income is deemed from the ineligible spouse and the individual income limit is used.

When the remaining amount is in excess of the Allocation Standard, the ineligible spouse's remaining earned income from Step 4 is added to the SSI-Related spouse's earned income, and the ineligible spouse's remaining unearned income from Step 2 is added to the SSI-Related spouse's unearned income. The income limit for two persons is used, even though only one spouse is in the AG.

4.14.4.D.4  Deeming from Parent(s) to SSI-Related Child(ren)

See Section 4.2 for the definition of child.
The deeming calculations are as follows:

Step 1: Determine the total countable gross unearned income of the eligible and ineligible parents.

Step 2: Subtract the needs of all ineligible children. The need of each ineligible child is determined separately by subtracting the child's own income from the Allocation Standard.

After a separate determination is made for each ineligible child, the allocations are added together and then subtracted from income.

Step 3: Determine the total countable gross earned income of the eligible and ineligible parents.

Step 4: Subtract the needs of the ineligible children, which were not subtracted in Step 2.

Step 5: Subtract the SSI $20 disregard from the amount in Step 2.

Step 6: Subtract any remainder of the SSI $20 disregard from the amount in Step 4.

Step 7: Apply the SSI $65, plus half of the earned income disregard, to the amount remaining from Step 6.

NOTE: When the person from whom income is deemed receives Retirement, Survivors, and Disability Insurance (RSDI) based on disability or received that benefit prior to becoming age 65, SSI Impairment-Related Work Expenses, if appropriate, are deducted after the $65, but prior to deducting the remaining half. See Earned Income in Section 4.14.2.A.

Step 8: Add together the amounts from Steps 5 and 7.

Step 9: Subtract the Parental Living Allowance. See Section 4.2, Definitions.

The remaining amount is deemed to the SSI-Related child as unearned income. If there is more than one SSI-Related child, divide the remaining amount equally among the SSI-Related children.

4.14.4.D.5 Deeming from Ineligible Spouse and Eligible/Ineligible Parent to SSI-Related Spouse and SSI-Related Child

The deeming calculations are as follows:

Step 1: Determine the ineligible spouse's total gross countable unearned income.
Step 2: Subtract the needs of all ineligible children. The needs are determined separately by subtracting the child's own income from the Allocation Standard. After a separate determination is made for each child, the allocations are added together and then subtracted from income.

Step 3: Determine the ineligible spouse's total countable gross earned income.

Step 4: Subtract the needs of the ineligible children, which were not subtracted in Step 2.

Step 5: Add the remaining amount from Step 2 to the remaining amount from Step 4.

NOTE: If the amount in Step 5 is equal to or less than the Allocation Standard, no income is deemed to the spouse or child. If it is greater, continue.

Step 6: Add the SSI-Related spouse's unearned income to the amount in Step 2.

Step 7: Subtract the SSI $20 disregard from the Step 6 amount.

Step 8: Add the SSI-Related spouse's earned income to the amount in Step 4.

Step 9: Subtract the amount of the SSI $20 disregard that was not subtracted in Step 7.

Step 10: Apply the SSI $65, plus half of the earned income disregard, to the amount in Step 9.

NOTE: When the person from whom income is deemed receives RSDI based on disability or received that benefit prior to becoming age 65, SSI Impairment-Related Work Expenses, if appropriate, are deducted after the $65, but prior to deducting the remaining half. See Earned Income in Section 4.14.2.A.

Step 11: Add the amounts from Steps 7 and 10.

NOTE: If the amount from Step 11 is equal to or less than the maximum SSI payment for a couple, no income is deemed to the SSI-Related Child. If it is greater, continue.

Step 12: Subtract the maximum SSI payment for a couple from the Step 11 amount.

The amount remaining after Step 12 is deemed to the SSI-Related child as unearned income. If there is more than one SSI-Related child, divide the amount equally among the SSI-Related children.
4.14.4.E Irregular Income

Regardless of the source, irregular income is excluded because it cannot be anticipated.

4.14.4.F Lump-Sum Payments

Lump-sum payments are treated as unearned income in the month received.

4.14.4.G Withheld Income

4.14.4.G.1 From Earned Income

Earnings withheld to repay an advance payment are disregarded if they were counted in the month received. If not counted in the month received, the withheld earnings are income.

No other earned income is excluded just because it is withheld by the employer.

4.14.4.G.2 From Unearned Income

All withheld unearned income is counted, unless an amount is being withheld to repay income that was previously used to determine Medicaid eligibility.

4.14.4.H Funds Diverted to a PASS

Funds diverted to a PASS account are disregarded.
4.14.4.I Unstated Income

Unstated income is income that has not been reported by the household, and is not otherwise known to the agency, but is determined to exist because the client's paid living expenses exceed income from known sources.

The amount of unstated income is the difference between the known monthly income and the monthly paid living expenses.

When the information in the client's record, including statements of the client or third parties, indicates that paid expenses exceed the stated income, the existence of unstated income must be explored. The client must complete form ES-IN-1, Statement of Monthly Living Expenses.

If insufficient or conflicting evidence exists, the Worker must question the client about the possibility of unstated income and allow him the opportunity to explain how his expenses are met. If the client provides a satisfactory explanation, the Worker records the explanation.

If the client's explanation of how the expenses are met is inadequate, the Worker makes a recording of the explanation and then determines the amount of unstated income to count. To determine the amount of unstated income to count, the Worker compares the usual amount of monthly living expenses with the client's reported income, taking into consideration any other reasonable explanations the client provides. The difference is unstated income and is counted as unearned income.

To be eligible for Medicaid, the Income Group’s (IG) monthly countable income must not exceed the amount of the MNIL. If the income exceeds the MNIL, the AG has an opportunity to spend the income down to the MNIL by incurring medical expenses. These expenses are subtracted from the income for the six-month POC, until the income is at, or below, the MNIL for the Needs Group (NG) size. The spenddown process applies only to AFDC-Related and SSI-Related Medicaid.

4.14.4.J.1 Procedures

The Worker must determine the amount of the client’s spenddown at the time of application based on information provided by the client. The spenddown amount may have to be revised if the verified income amount differs from the client’s statement. The Worker must also explain the spenddown process to the client.

A DFA-6A is attached to the verification checklist (DFA-6) that notifies the client that an eligibility decision cannot be made until he meets his spenddown by providing proof of medical expenses. The DFA-6 must also contain any other information the client must supply in order to determine eligibility.

The following procedures are required for the spenddown process.

- The Worker prepares the DFA-6, attaches a DFA-6A and gives them to the client or mails them. The DFA-6A notifies the client that an eligibility decision cannot be made until he meets his spenddown by providing proof of medical expenses.

  The DFA-6 must also contain any other information the client must supply in order to determine eligibility.

  If the client indicates he needs help to understand the procedure for meeting his spenddown, the Worker provides all help needed. In no instance is the client to be denied Medicaid because he is physically, mentally, or emotionally unable to verify his medical expenses.

- The client is requested to provide proof of his medical expenses, date incurred, type of expense and amount, and to submit them to the Worker by the application processing deadline.

- Medical bills are entered and tracked in the eligibility system as they are received. When the bills or verification are received, the Worker reviews the information to determine:

  - The expenses were incurred, they are not payable by a third party, and the client will not be reimbursed by a third party.
  - The individual(s) who received the medical service is one of the persons described in Section 4.14.4.J.2 below.
  - The expenses are for medical services and are appropriate to use to meet a spenddown. See Section 4.14.4.J.3 below.

- The Worker must enter the pertinent information about expenses received from the client in the eligibility system. This information includes:

  - The date of service
  - The provider of the service
  - The total amount of the bill
  - The third-party liability amount
• Medical Processing in the Bureau for Medical Services (BMS) accesses the eligibility system to determine the date on which the spenddown is met. Additional electronic notification to BMS is required only when a change is necessary to add additional medical expenses after the spenddown is met and will result in an earlier period of eligibility (POE). The client's eligibility begins the day the amount of incurred medical expenses at least equals his spenddown amount.

NOTE: Although eligibility begins on the date of service of the medical bills that bring the spenddown amount to $0, expenses incurred on that date that are used to meet the spenddown, as indicated in the eligibility system, are not paid by Medicaid.

• If the client does not submit sufficient medical bills by the application processing deadline, the application is denied.

The application is denied when the applicant indicates there are no medical bills or anticipated medical expenses in the 30-day application period that may be used to meet the spenddown for the Medicaid AG member(s).

4.14.4.J.2 Whose Medical Expenses Are Used

The medical bills of the following persons who live with the AG member(s) are used to meet the spenddown. There is no limit on the amount of one individual’s bills that can be used to meet another individual’s spenddown.

• The aged, blind, or disabled individual
• The spouse of the eligible individual who lives with him
• The children under age 18 of the eligible individual and spouse, when the children live in the home with them

NOTE: The past medical bills of any of the individuals listed that were incurred while the individual lived with an AG member(s) may be used for spenddown, even if the individual no longer lives with the AG member, is deceased, or is divorced from the AG member.

The AG member must be responsible for the bill at the time it was incurred and remain responsible for payment.

Because the individuals whose medical expenses are used to meet a spenddown may be in separate AGs, the same medical bill is used to meet the spenddown in each AG containing one of the persons identified above.
4.14.4.J.3 Allowable Spenddown Expenses

The following medical expenses, which are not subject to payment by a third party, and for which the client will not be reimbursed, are used to reduce or eliminate the spenddown.

- A current payment on, or the unpaid balance of an old bill, incurred outside the current POC, is used as long as that portion of the bill was not used in a previous POC during which the client became eligible. No payment or part of a bill that is used to make a client eligible may be used again. Old unpaid bills, which are being collected by an agency other than the medical provider, may be used when the expense is still owed to the provider. If the expense has been written off by the provider, it is no longer considered the client's obligation, and is, therefore, not an allowable spenddown expense.

Medical bills that were previously submitted, but were not sufficient to meet the spenddown, are used again in a new POC. When only a portion of the old bill, incurred outside the current POC, is used to meet spenddown, any remaining portion of the bill for which the client is still liable may be used to meet spenddown in a new POC.

In addition, when the client submits an old bill and then withdraws his application, the old bill may be used again if he reapply.

- Health insurance premiums, including Medicare or the enrollment fee for a Medicare-approved drug discount card

- Medicaid co-pays

- Medicare co-insurance, deductibles, and enrollment fees

- Necessary medical or remedial care expenses. This includes, but is not limited to:
  - Office visits to a physician
  - Hospital services, inpatient and outpatient
  - Emergency room services
  - Prescriptions
  - Over-the-counter drugs prescribed by a physician
  - Eye examinations
  - Eye glasses
  - Dental services
  - Therapy prescribed by a physician
  - Chiropractic services
  - Prosthetic devices
• Durable medical equipment prescribed by a physician
• Rental of sickroom supplies
• Cost of in-home care
• Services of other licensed practitioners of the healing arts

Do not deduct any expenses that are included in a package of services, prior to the date services are rendered, such as, charges for prenatal care and delivery services or orthodontia.

• Expenses for personal care services are defined as: services provided in a client’s home that are prescribed by a physician, delivered in accordance with a plan of treatment and provided by a qualified person who is not a member of the client's family, under the supervision of a registered nurse. For these purposes, home is defined as the client’s full time residence, but does not include a hospital, nursing facility, intermediate care facility, or any other setting in which nursing services are, or could be, made available.

o Family member for these purposes is defined as:
  ▪ A spouse
  ▪ A parent or stepparent of a minor child
  ▪ A parent of an adult child
  ▪ An adopted child or adoptive parent of a client

  ▪ An adult sibling or step-sibling of a minor child
  ▪ An adult sibling residing with an adult sibling client
  ▪ An adult child of an adult client

The services must fall into any of the following general groups. Each general group shown below is further defined by examples, but is not limited to only the examples shown.

o Personal Hygiene/Grooming: care of hair; nails; teeth; mouth; shaving; bathing; toilet assistance; dressing; laundry, when related to incontinence.

o Non-Technical Physical Assistance: routine bodily functions; routine skin care, including application of non-prescription skin care products; change of simple dressings; repositioning or transferring into and out of bed, on and off seats; walking, with or without equipment; assist in administration of medication; following directions of a professional for use of medical supplies.

o Nutritional Support: meal preparation; feeding; assisting with special nutritional needs, including preparation of special formulas, prescribed feedings or special diets.

o Environmental: housecleaning, dusting and vacuuming; laundry; ironing and mending; making and changing beds; dishwashing; food shopping; payment of bills; essential errands; activities and transportation necessary to move the client from place to place; other similar activities of daily living.

Expenses billed to the client for the personal care services shown above must, at a minimum, specify the amount billed for each general group of services.

Ongoing or one-time-only medical expenses are not projected. They must be used no earlier than actually incurred. Those persons who are billed for their care at intervals longer than monthly are to have the expenses used to meet spenddown on the date services are performed, not on the date billed. Such expenses are not incurred prior to receipt of services.

Income intended for the client, but received by another person with whom he does not live, when the individual receiving this income refuses to make it available, is excluded.

4.14.4.L Income Received for a Non-Income Group Member

Income received by a member of the Income Group, which is intended and used for the care and maintenance of an individual, whose income is not used in determining the eligibility or benefit level of the payee’s AG, is excluded as income.

4.14.4.M Income Received from Military Service Personnel Deployed to a Designated Combat Zone

Military pay received while serving in a combat zone is excluded. Only pay which is specified for combat, hostile fire, or imminent danger is excluded. All other military pay is counted.

Pay for a member of the uniformed services is determined by using the individual’s Leave and Earnings Statement (LES), which is received at the beginning of the month. The LES shows the earnings for services performed in the prior month. See Section 7.3.
4.14.4.N Income Belonging to or for the Benefit of a Child

The source of the income must be known and Section 4.3 consulted for how the income is treated.
4.15 SSI-RELATED NON-CASH ASSISTANCE MEDICAID (Categorically Needy, Optional)

Spenddown provisions do not apply to Supplemental Security Income (SSI)-Related Non-cash assistance Medicaid.

4.15.1 BUDGETING METHOD

The budgeting method in Section 4.6.1 is used for this coverage group.

4.15.2 INCOME DISREGARDS AND DEDUCTIONS

The following disregards and deductions are applied, if applicable.

4.15.2.A Earned Income

These disregards and deductions apply only to earned income. Any unused portion of the disregards or deductions is not applied to unearned income.

4.15.2.A.1 SSI $20 Disregard

The remainder of the $20 income disregard.

See Section 4.15.2.B, Unearned Income, below.

4.15.2.A.2 SSI Earned Income Disregard

$65 and half of the remainder are subtracted from earned income and from gross profit from self-employment earnings. See Section 4.15.3 below.
4.15.2.A.3 Impairment-Related Work Expenses

Impairment-related work expenses are expenses for items or services that are directly related to enabling a person with a disability to work and that are necessarily incurred by the individual due to a physical or mental impairment. The individual must:

- Be disabled, but not blind; and
- Be under age 65; or
- Have received SSI or SSI-Related Medicaid as a disabled individual for the month before becoming age 65.

In addition, the severity of the impairment must require the individual to purchase or rent items and services in order to work, and the expense must be reasonable and not reimbursable from another source, such as, but not limited to, Medicare or private insurance. The payment must be made with income received for a month in which the person both worked and received the services or used the item, or the payment may be made before the earned income is received when the person is working.

Examples of SSI impairment-related work expenses include, but are not limited to:

- Attendant care services, both at home and at work
- Drugs and medical supplies and devices
- Federal, state, and local income taxes and Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) taxes
- Fees such as union dues
- Guide dogs
- Mandatory contributions such as pensions
- Meals consumed during work hours
- Physical therapy
- Prosthesis
- Structural modifications to the person’s home
- Transportation to and from work and vehicle modification
- Work-related equipment or services
4.15.2.A.4  SSI Work-Related Expenses (Blind Persons Only)

A deduction for impairment-related expenses necessary for employment is allowed, such as a guide dog, cane training, purchase of special equipment needed to perform or advance on the job, etc.

4.15.2.A.5  Earnings Diverted to a Plan to Achieve Self-Support (PASS)

Any earnings diverted to a PASS account are deducted from income.

4.15.2.A.6  SSI Student Child Earned Income Disregard

$1,790 per month, but no more than $7,200 in a calendar year, is disregarded when the child meets the following criteria:

- Is under age 22, unmarried, and not head of a household; and
- Takes one or more courses of study and attends classes as follows:
  - In a college or university at least eight hours a week; or
  - In grades 7 – 12 at least 12 hours a week; or
  - In a course of training to prepare for a paying job for at least 15 hours a week, if shop practice is involved, or 12 hours a week, if shop practice is not involved; or
  - For less than the amount of time indicated above for reasons beyond the student’s control, such as illness, if circumstances justify a reduced load or attendance.

This applies to homebound students when a disability requires home school and a home visitor or tutor from school directs the study.
4.15.2.B Unearned Income

4.15.2.B.1 SSI $20 Disregard

A $20 disregard is applied to the total gross unearned income. If unearned income is less than $20, the remainder is subtracted from earned income, prior to the application of any other earned income disregards and deductions.

NOTE: The SSI $20 disregard is not applied to any unearned income received that is based on need. This includes, but is not limited to, Veterans Affairs (VA) benefits based on need. See VA Benefits in Section 4.3.

4.15.2.B.2 Unearned Income Diverted to a PASS

Any unearned income diverted to a PASS account is deducted from income.

4.15.2.B.3 For SSI-Related Children Only

One-third of the child support intended for the SSI-Related child is disregarded.

4.15.2.B.4 Death Benefits

The portion of a lump-sum payment received as a result of the death of an individual, which is used to pay the expenses of the last illness and burial of that individual, is deducted.
4.15.3 DETERMINING ELIGIBILITY

Countable income is determined by subtracting any allowable disregards and deductions in the Budgeting Method in Section 4.6.1 from the total countable gross income. Deemed income is addressed in Public Assistance Maintenance Income below.

NOTE: When income is deemed from an ineligible spouse, the income is added to client's income in Steps 1 and 2. When income is deemed from a parent(s), the predetermined deemed amount is added to the child's unearned income in Step 1.

Countable income is determined as follows:

Step 1: Determine the total countable gross unearned income and subtract the $20 disregard, if applicable.

Step 2: Determine the total countable earned income. Subtract the following in order:

- Remainder of SSI $20 disregard
- SSI $65 earned income disregard
- SSI impairment-related expenses
- One-half of remaining earned income
- SSI work-related expense deductions (blind persons only)
- Earnings diverted to a PASS

Step 3: Add unearned income from Step 1 above.

Step 4: Subtract unearned income diverted to a PASS account, the Death Benefits deduction and, for children, the child support disregard.

The result is the total monthly countable income.

Step 5: Compare the amount in Step 4 to the SSI Maximum Payment Level, indicated in Appendix A, for the appropriate number of persons.

If the net countable monthly income is equal to or less than the appropriate SSI Maximum Payment Level, the assistance group (AG) is eligible.
4.15.4 SPECIAL SITUATIONS

4.15.4.A Income from Self-Employment

Gross profit is determined the same way it is for Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC)-Related Medicaid. See Section 4.16. The gross profit may be earned or unearned income. See Section 4.3.

4.15.4.B Annual Contract Employment

Annual contract employment is treated the same way it is for AFDC-Related Medicaid. See Section 4.16.

4.15.4.C Educational Income

4.15.4.C.1 Title IV Educational Assistance

All student financial assistance, funded in whole or in part, under Title IV of the Higher Education Act or the Bureau of Indian Affairs, is excluded in its entirety.

Examples of Title IV educational assistance are:

- Federal Pell Grants
- Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (FSEOG)
- Guaranteed Student Loans, including William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan Program and Federal Direct PLUS Loans, Supplemental Loans for Students, and Federal Family Education Loan (FFEL) Program Loans
- Leveraging Educational Assistance Partnership (LEAP) and Special Leveraging Educational Assistance Partnership (SLEAP) Programs, formerly known as State Student Incentive Grants
- Federal Perkins Loans
4.15.4.C.2 Other Educational Assistance

Any grant, scholarship, fellowship, gift, or portion of a gift that is used to pay tuition and other educational expenses at any educational institution, including technical or vocational schools, is excluded. Any portion used or set aside for food or shelter is counted as income in the month received. See Section 5.5 for the asset policy for those educational assistance sources when retained into the month following the month of receipt. Any portion set aside for educational expenses that is used to pay non-educational expenses is income in the month it is used for another expense.

4.15.4.D Deeming

When determining income to be deemed to an eligible individual, certain income sources are not deemed. These sources are outlined in Section 4.15.4.D.1 and Section 4.15.D.2 below.

NOTE: For the definition of eligible child or ineligible child, see Section 4.2.

4.15.4.D.1 Public Assistance Maintenance Income

As defined by the Social Security Administration (SSA), public assistance maintenance income of the spouse or parent from whom income is deemed is excluded from the deeming process; therefore, it is not deemed. In addition, any income that was considered (counted or excluded) in computing the amount of such income maintenance payments is also excluded.

These public assistance income maintenance payments are:
• Payments from the Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act.
• Payments from general assistance programs of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.
• Payments from the VA programs when such payments are based on need. See Section 4.3.
• SSI.
• State or local government assistance programs based on need. Earned income tax credits (EITC) payments and tax refunds are not considered to be based on need.
• WV WORKS.

4.15.4.D.2 Other Excluded Income Sources

Other excluded sources are:

• Any portion of a grant, scholarship, fellowship, or gift used to pay tuition and fees.
• Money received for providing foster care to an ineligible child.
• The value of Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) benefits or Department of Agriculture-donated foods.
• Home produce for personal consumption.
• Tax refunds on income, real property or food purchased by the family.
• Income used to fulfill an approved PASS.
• Income used to comply with the terms of court-ordered support or support payments enforced under Title IV-D.
• Periodic payments made by a state under a program established before 7/1/73 and based solely on duration of residence and attaining age 65. Only Alaska makes such payments.
• Infrequent or irregular income.
• Work expenses of a blind individual.
• Income of the ineligible individual or parent that is paid under a federal, state, or local program to provide chore, attendant, or homemaker services to the eligible individual.
• Home energy assistance.
• The earned income of a student child, up to $1,790 a month, but not more than $7,200 per year, is excluded from the income of an ineligible child for purposes of determining the ineligible child allocation.

When the ineligible spouse’s non-excluded income, as shown above and in Section 4.3, minus only the needs of ineligible children in the home, is greater than the Allocation Standard, then the ineligible spouse’s income is added to the eligible spouse’s income. These are the SSI deeming provisions, which also require use of the couple income limit to determine eligibility for the individual when income is deemed. If the SSI-Related individual is a child, the income of the parent(s) is also deemed, and the above exclusions are applied to their income.

NOTE: The income of separated spouses is not counted or deemed beginning in the month following the month in which the couple separates.

4.15.4.D.3 Deeming from Ineligible Spouse to SSI-Related Spouse

The deeming calculations are as follows:

Step 1: Determine the ineligible spouse's total countable unearned income.

Step 2: Subtract the needs of all ineligible dependent children. See Section 4.2 for the definition of ineligible child.

The need of each ineligible child is determined separately by subtracting the child's income from the Allocation Standard. The difference, if any, represents the child's needs.

Need of Each Ineligible Child Example: SSI payment level for one person is $735 and the level for two persons is $1,103.

The Allocation Standard is $367. Child #1's income is $400. Because the child's income exceeds $367, there is no deduction for Child #1’s needs. Child #2's income is $125. The allocation for this child's needs is $242.

After a separate determination is made for each ineligible child, the allocations are added together and then subtracted from income.

Step 3: Determine the ineligible spouse's total gross countable earned income.

Step 4: Subtract the remainder of the needs of all ineligible children who could not be subtracted in Step 2.

Step 5: Add together the ineligible spouse's remaining earned and unearned income.

Step 6: Compare the amount from Step 5 to the Allocation Standard.
When the remaining amount is less than the Allocation Standard, no income is deemed from the ineligible spouse and the individual income limit is used.

When the remaining amount is in excess of the Allocation Standard, the ineligible spouse’s remaining earned income from Step 4 is added to the SSI-Related spouse’s earned income, and the ineligible spouse’s remaining unearned income from Step 2 is added to the SSI-Related spouse’s unearned income. The income limit for two persons is used, even though only one spouse is in the AG.

4.15.4.D.4 Deeming from Parent(s) to SSI-Related Child(ren)

See Section 4.2 for the definition of child.

The deeming calculations are as follows:

Step 1: Determine the total countable gross unearned income of the eligible and ineligible parents.

Step 2: Subtract the needs of all ineligible children. The need of each ineligible child is determined separately by subtracting the child’s own income from the Allocation Standard.

After a separate determination is made for each ineligible child, the allocations are added together and then subtracted from income.

Step 3: Determine the total countable gross earned income of the eligible and ineligible parents.

Step 4: Subtract the needs of the ineligible children that were not subtracted in Step 2.

Step 5: Subtract the SSI $20 disregard from the amount in Step 2.

Step 6: Subtract any remainder of the SSI $20 disregard from the amount in Step 4.

Step 7: Apply the SSI $65 plus half of the earned income disregard to the amount remaining from Step 6.

NOTE: When the person from whom income is deemed receives Retirement, Survivors, and Disability Insurance (RSDI) based on disability or received that benefit prior to becoming age 65, SSI Impairment-Related Work Expenses, if appropriate, are deducted after the $65, but prior to deducting the remaining half. See Earned Income in Section 4.15.2.A.

Step 8: Add together the amounts from Steps 5 and 7.
Step 9: Subtract the Parental Living Allowance. See Section 4.2, Definitions.

The remaining amount is deemed to the SSI-Related child as unearned income. If there is more than one SSI-Related child, divide the remaining amount equally among the SSI-Related children.

4.15.4.D.5 Deeming from Ineligible Spouse and Eligible/Ineligible Parent to SSI-Related Spouse and SSI-Related Child

The deeming calculations are as follows:

Step 1: Determine the ineligible spouse's total gross countable unearned income.

Step 2: Subtract the needs of all ineligible children. The needs are determined separately by subtracting the child's own income from the Allocation Standard.

After a separate determination is made for each child, the allocations are added together and then subtracted from income.

Step 3: Determine the ineligible spouse's total countable gross earned income.

Step 4: Subtract the needs of the ineligible children that were not subtracted in Step 2.

Step 5: Add the remaining amount from Step 2 to the remaining amount from Step 4.

NOTE: If the amount in Step 5 is equal to or less than the Allocation Standard, no income is deemed to the spouse or child. If it is greater, continue.

Step 6: Add the SSI-Related spouse’s unearned income to the amount in Step 2.

Step 7: Subtract the SSI $20 disregard from the Step 6 amount.

Step 8: Add the SSI-Related spouse’s earned income to the amount in Step 4.

Step 9: Subtract the amount of the SSI $20 disregard that was not subtracted in Step 7.

Step 10: Apply the SSI $65 plus half of the earned income disregard to the amount in Step 9.

NOTE: When the person from whom income is deemed receives RSDI based on disability or received that benefit prior to becoming age 65, SSI Impairment-Related Work Expenses, if appropriate, are deducted after the $65, but prior to deducting the remaining half. See Earned Income in Section 4.15.2.A.
Step 11: Add the amounts from Steps 7 and 10.

NOTE: If the amount from Step 11 is equal to or less than the maximum SSI payment for a couple, no income is deemed to the SSI-Related Child. If it is greater, continue.

Step 12: Subtract the maximum SSI payment for a couple from the Step 11 amount.

The amount remaining after Step 12 is deemed to the SSI-Related child as unearned income. If there is more than one SSI-Related child, divide the amount equally among the SSI-Related children.

4.15.4.E Irregular Income

Regardless of the source, irregular income is excluded because it cannot be anticipated.

4.15.4.F Lump-Sum Payments

Lump-sum payments are treated as unearned income in the month received.

4.15.4.G Withheld Income

4.15.4.G.1 From Earned Income

Earnings withheld to repay an advance payment are disregarded if they were counted in the month received. If not counted in the month received, the withheld earnings are income.

No other earned income is excluded just because it is withheld by the employer.
4.15.4.G.2  From Unearned Income

All withheld unearned income is counted, unless an amount is being withheld to repay income that was previously used to determine Medicaid eligibility.

4.15.4.H  Funds Diverted to a PASS

Funds diverted to a PASS account are disregarded.

4.15.4.I  Unstated Income

Unstated income is income that has not been reported by the household, and is not otherwise known to the agency, but is determined to exist because the client's paid living expenses exceed income from known sources.

The amount of unstated income is the difference between the known monthly income and the monthly paid living expenses.

When the information in the client's record, including statements of the client or third parties, indicates that paid expenses exceed the stated income, the existence of unstated income must be explored. The client must complete form ES-IN-1, Statement of Monthly Living Expenses.

If insufficient or conflicting evidence exists, the Worker must question the client about the possibility of unstated income and allow him the opportunity to explain how his expenses are met. If the client provides a satisfactory explanation, the Worker records the explanation.

If the client's explanation of how the expenses are met is inadequate, the Worker makes a recording of the explanation and then determines the amount of unstated income to count. To determine the amount of unstated income to count, the Worker compares the usual amount of monthly living expenses with the client's reported income, taking into consideration any other reasonable explanations the client provides. The difference is unstated income and is counted as unearned income.
4.15.4.J Unavailable Income

Income intended for the client, but received by another person with whom he does not live, when the individual receiving this income refuses to make it available, is excluded.

4.15.4.K Income Received for a Non-Income Group Member

Income received by a member of the Income Group, which is intended and used for the care and maintenance of an individual, whose income is not used in determining the eligibility or benefit level of the payee's AG, is excluded as income.

4.15.4.L Income Received from Military Service Personnel Deployed to a Designated Combat Zone

Military pay received while serving in a combat zone is excluded. Only pay that is specified for combat, hostile fire, or imminent danger is excluded. All other military pay is counted.

Pay for a member of the uniformed services is determined by using the individual's Leave and Earnings Statement (LES), which is received at the beginning of the month. The LES shows the earnings for services performed in the prior month. See Section 7.3.

4.15.4.M Income Belonging to or for the Benefit of a Child

The source of the income must be known and Section 4.3 consulted for how the income is treated.
4.16 AID TO FAMILIES WITH DEPENDENT CHILDREN (AFDC)-RELATED MEDICAID (MEDICALLY NEEDY, MANDATORY FOR CHILDREN AND OPTIONAL FOR PARENTS)

NOTE: Spenddown provisions apply to AFDC-Related Medicaid.

4.16.1 BUDGETING METHOD

In addition to the information in Section 4.6, some Medically Needy cases may have other considerations, because Medically Needy cases have a fixed Period of Consideration (POC). The total income for the six-month POC is used to determine if the spenddown provisions apply.

Therefore, the Worker must take the following steps when the income is expected to change during the POC.

Step 1: Determine the specific months that will constitute the POC.

Step 2: Determine the anticipated earned income for each of the six months, according to Section 4.6. If there is no earned income in a month, use $0 for that month.

Add all of the earned income and divide by 6 to determine the average anticipated earned income for the POC.

Step 3: Determine the anticipated unearned income for each of the six months, according to Section 4.6. If there is no unearned income in a month, use $0 for that month.

Add all of the unearned income and divide by 6 to determine the average anticipated unearned income for the POC.

4.16.2 INCOME DISREGARDS AND DEDUCTIONS

The following disregards and deductions are applied, if applicable.
4.16.2.A Earned Income

- AFDC-Related Medicaid Standard Work Deduction: A standard deduction of $90 is applied to the earnings of each working person. The amount deducted must not exceed the amount of each person’s earned income.

- AFDC-Related Medicaid Dependent Care Deduction: When the employed member(s) of the Income Group (IG) must pay for care for a dependent child or incapacitated adult to accept or continue employment or training, a deduction is allowed. The amount is allowed as paid, up to the maximum amounts shown below for each dependent. The dependent is not required to be in the Assistance Group (AG), IG, or Needs Group (NG) to allow the deduction.

</tbody>
</table>

Only payments made from the client’s own funds are deductible. Clients with these expenses must be offered a referral to the Child Care Services for help in meeting these expenses. However, there is no penalty for failure to accept these services.

4.16.2.B Unearned Income

Child Support Disregard: The first $50 of child support is disregarded. This is the only disregard of unearned income.

When more than one child in the NG receives child support, the disregard amount is divided by the number of children in the NG who receive support. The resulting amount is deducted from each child's support amount to determine each child's countable child support.
4.16.2.B.1 Child Support Disregard Examples

Example 1: Four blood-related siblings live in the same home and receive the following amounts of child support: Child A receives $200 per month; Child B receives $150; Child C receives $50; Child D receives $100. The $50 disregard is divided by 4 and each child receives a disregard of $12.50.

<td>-$12.50</td>
<td>$87.50</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Example 2: Mrs. Evergreen applies for Medicaid for her four grandchildren who live with her. Paul and John are blood-related siblings and are the children of Mrs. Evergreen's daughter, Samantha. They receive $200 child support. George and Ringo are blood-related siblings and are the children of Mrs. Evergreen's other daughter, Virginia. George receives $150 child support and Ringo receives none. Because all of Mrs. Evergreen's grandchildren are not blood-related siblings, two NGs are established: one for Paul and John; and one for George and Ringo. Each NG then receives the $50 disregard.

The countable child support for each child is as follows:
Paul and John

The child support amount of $200 is divided between the children and each child's amount is $100. The $50 disregard is divided between the two children as they are both in the NG and each receives a $25 disregard.

Because Ringo receives no child support and George is the only child in the NG who receives child support, he receives the entire $50 disregard.

4.16.3 DETERMINING ELIGIBILITY

Countable income is determined by applying the income disregards and deductions in Section 4.16.2 above to the countable gross income of the IG. To determine who is included in the IG, see Chapter 3. The remaining income is then compared to the Medically Needy Income Level (MNIL) for the appropriate NG size. An AFDC-Related Medicaid application is not denied solely on the basis of excess income. Instead, the spenddown provision is applied.

The following steps are used to determine the countable income of the IG.

Step 1: Determine the IG’s countable gross earned income. Do not count the income of a child's sibling or count any child's income for his parent(s).

Step 2: Subtract the AFDC-Related Medicaid Standard Work Deduction for each working person.

Step 3: Subtract the AFDC-Related Medicaid Dependent Care Deduction up to the maximum allowable amounts.

Step 4: Add the countable gross unearned income of the IG to the amount remaining from Step 3. This includes the child's countable child support. Do not count the income of a child's sibling or count any child's income for his parent(s).

Step 5: Determine the appropriate MNIL for the NG. See Appendix A.
Step 6: Compare the result of Step 4 to the amount in Step 5. If the net countable monthly income is less than or equal to the appropriate MNIL, the AG is eligible without a spenddown. If it is in excess of the appropriate MNIL, the AG must meet a spenddown. See Spenddown in Section 4.16.4.J below.

4.16.4 SPECIAL SITUATIONS

4.16.4.A Income from Self-Employment

When the AG member receives self-employment income, the instructions below must be used to arrive at the gross profit, which is used to calculate countable income. This is determined by subtracting allowable business expenses from the gross income.

4.16.4.A.1 Determining Gross Income

The method used to determine monthly gross income from self-employment varies with the nature of the enterprise. It is necessary to determine which of the following types of self-employment applies to the client's situation. Once the pattern of self-employment is determined, the instructions below are used to determine how the income is counted.

➢ Persons Receiving Regular Income

For persons who receive income on a more or less regular schedule (weekly, monthly, etc.)—or who receive a specific amount from the business each week or month and/or receive the balance of profit from the enterprise at the end of the business year—the income is converted to a monthly amount according to item A above.

Business expenses may be computed on a monthly basis or prorated over a 12-month period, at the client's option.

➢ Persons Receiving Irregular Income

Many persons receive income from short-term seasonal self-employment. This seasonal enterprise may be the major source of income for the year, or only for the period of time the person is actually engaged in this enterprise, with other sources of income being available during the remainder of the year. Persons who are seasonally self-employed include vendors of seasonal commodities (produce, Christmas trees, etc.), or other seasonal farmers.

Cash crop and some seasonal farmers and other persons with similar irregular self-employment income receive their annual income from self-employment in a short period of time and budget their money to meet their living expenses for the next 12 months.

Because the income is seasonal, it must be averaged over the period of time it is intended to cover, even if it is the major source of income for the year. However, if the averaged amount of past income does not accurately reflect the anticipated monthly circumstances because of a substantial increase or decrease in business, the income is calculated based on anticipated earnings.

Business expenses may be computed on a monthly basis or prorated over a 12-month period, at the client's option.

➢ New Business

AGs with a new business that has been in existence less than a year will have their income and incurred business expenses averaged over the amount of time the business has been in operation. From this, the monthly amount is projected for the coming year. However, if the averaged amount of past income and/or expenses does not accurately reflect the anticipated monthly circumstances because of a substantial increase or decrease in business, the income and/or expenses is calculated based on anticipated earnings.

4.16.4.A.2 Determining Gross Profit

Gross profit from self-employment is the income remaining after deducting any identifiable costs of doing business from the gross income.

➢ Deductions

Examples of allowable deductions include, but are not limited to:

- Advertising costs.
- Cost of rental space used for conducting the business.
- Employee labor costs.
• Fertilizers.
• Insurance premiums and taxes paid on the business and business property.
• Interest and taxes, but not the principal, paid on installment payments to purchase capital assets, such as real estate, machinery, equipment, etc.
• Interest and taxes on the client's residence that is used in part to produce income. This is applicable only if the costs on the portion of the home used in the self-employment enterprise can be identified separately.
• Legal costs.
• Office expenses (stamps, stationery, etc.).
• Raw material.
• Repair and maintenance of machinery and/or property.
• Seed.
• Stock and supplies.
• Utilities.

Do not deduct the following:

• Amounts claimed as a net loss.
• Depreciation.
• Federal, state, or local income taxes.
• Money paid to purchase capital assets, such as real estate, machinery, equipment, etc. Interest is deducted, if paid in installments.

Example: The cost of purchasing a new furnace is a capital expenditure and only the interest on installment payments is deducted. A repair of a furnace is a routine repair and is deducted in its entirety.

• Money set aside for retirement.
• Principal of real estate mortgages on income-producing property.
• Travel from home to a fixed place of business and return.

➢ Rental Income Deductions

In addition to the deductions above, the following expenses are deducted from rental income:

• Interest, but not the principal, on necessary purchases made in installments, such as the purchase of a new furnace
• Property tax and insurance on the rental property
• Repair and upkeep of the property
• Utility bills paid for tenants

4.16.4.B Annual Contract Employment

This section applies to any person employed under a yearly contract, such as school employees—including bus drivers, cooks, janitors, aids, and professional staff.

These individuals have their annual income prorated over a 12-month period. Additional earnings, such as for summer work, are added to the prorated amount during the time additional earnings are received.

Although a person may not have signed a new annual contract, he is still considered employed under an annual contract when the contract is automatically renewable, or when he has implied renewal rights. Implied renewal rights are most commonly associated with school contracts.

NOTE: This section does not apply during strike and disaster situations when the other party to the contract cannot fulfill it, or when labor disputes interrupt the flow of earnings specified in the contract.

4.16.4.C Educational Income

All student financial assistance, funded in whole or in part under Title IV of the Higher Education Act or the Bureau of Indian Affairs, is excluded in its entirety.

Treatment of educational income and expenses depends upon the source of income and the intended use.

4.16.4.C.1 Sources That Are Totally Excluded

Funds from the following sources are totally excluded:

• Federal Pell Grants.
• Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (FSEOG).
• Guaranteed Student Loans, including William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan Program and Federal Direct PLUS Loans, Supplemental Loans for Students, and Federal Family Education Loan (FFEL) Program Loans.

• Leveraging Educational Assistance Partnership (LEAP) and Special Leveraging Educational Assistance Partnership (SLEAP) Programs, formerly known as State Student Incentive Grants.

• Federal Perkins Loans.

• Federal Stafford Loans.

• Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarship.

• Loans for educational expenses that meet the definition of a bona fide loan, as found in Section 4.2, Definitions.

4.16.4.C.2 College Work Study (CWS) Program

Income received from CWS Programs, funded in whole or in part under Title IV of the Higher Education Act, is excluded.

Income received from CWS Programs not funded under Title IV that is needed for the educational program or course of study is excluded. Any portion specifically earmarked for shelter, utilities, clothing, or incidentals not needed for the educational program or the course of study is income.

Because income is usually paid to the student on the basis of work performed, and not in one lump sum, its treatment is different than that of other educational benefits. Treatment of this income depends upon whether or not the amount to be earned in one semester is known at the beginning of the semester.

➢ Earnings Known at Beginning of Semester

When the amount of the earnings, or maximum amount that can be earned, is known at the beginning of the semester, the Worker prorates any portion, specifically earmarked for shelter, utilities, food, clothing, or incidentals not needed for the program or course of study, over the period of time it is intended to cover.
➢ Earnings Unknown at Beginning of Semester

When the amount of the earnings is not known at the beginning of the semester, any portion of the CWS income specifically earmarked for shelter, utilities, food, clothing, or incidentals not needed for the program or course of study is treated as earned income and converted to a monthly amount according to Section 4.16.1. All earned income disregards and deductions apply.

4.16.4.C.3 Other Sources

Educational funds from any source, other than those listed in Section 4.16.4.C.1 and Section 4.16.4.C.2 above, are totally excluded as being earmarked for educational purposes, unless any portion of the funds is specifically earmarked for shelter, utilities, food, clothing, or incidentals not needed for the program or course of study.

Any of the funds specifically earmarked for shelter, utilities, food, clothing, or incidentals not needed for the program or course of study, are counted as unearned income and prorated over the period of time they are intended to cover.

4.16.4.D Deeming

The following types of income are excluded from the deeming process:

- Payments from the Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act.
- Payments from general assistance programs of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.
- Payments from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) programs, when such payments are based on need. VA pensions are based on need, but not payments made for service-connected disabilities.
- State or local government assistance programs based on need. Earned income tax credits (EITC) payments and tax refunds are not considered to be based on need.
- Supplemental Security Income (SSI).
- WV WORKS.
In order to deem income correctly, it is necessary to determine who in the home is financially responsible for each household member.

The Social Security Act limits financial responsibility for Medicaid purposes to legal spouses and legal parents. Persons related to or associated with a dependent child as a stepparent, grandparent, noncitizen sponsor, legal guardian, or in any way other than as a parent, are not financially responsible for the child. When income is deemed to a parent from a stepparent, no portion of the amount deemed to the parent is deemed to the children. Only if there is financial responsibility from one person to another or others can that person's income be deemed.

Legal spouses are defined in Section 5.1. Legal parents are natural or adoptive parents.

Deeming is most often accomplished by including the income of financially responsible persons in the total income of the Income Group (IG) and applying the AFDC-Related Medicaid disregards and deductions to that income. However, some case situations require a different method of deeming, as described below.

4.16.4.D.3 Deeming When There Is No Stepparent, Caretaker Relative Other Than a Parent or Major Parent (MP)

NOTE: A Major Parent (MP) is the parent of a parent under the age of 18 (minor parent (mp)). The MP must live in the same household as the mp and his child.

When No Dependent Child Has Income

The non-excluded income of the parent(s) is the only income counted. This income is then subject to the AFDC-Related Medicaid disregards and deductions, unless the parent, or one of the parents, is an SSI-Related Medicaid client. In this case, the SSI-Related Medicaid disregards and deductions are applied to his income and the remainder is added to the income of the other parent, after the AFDC-Related Medicaid disregards and deductions have been applied to the other parent's income.
When at Least One Dependent Child Has Income

For children in the home with income, add together the non-excluded income of the child and the parent(s), unless one of the parents is an SSI-Related Medicaid client. In this case, the SSI-Related Medicaid disregards and deductions are applied to his income and the remainder is added to the income of the other parent and the child, after the AFDC-Related Medicaid disregards and deductions have been applied to the income of the other parent and child.

4.16.4.D.4 Deeming When There Is a Stepparent, Caretaker Relative Other Than a Parent or a MP

NOTE: Throughout this item, if any of the individuals from whom income is deemed is an SSI-Related Medicaid client, then the SSI-Related Medicaid income exclusions, disregards, and deductions are applied to his own income only, and are applied prior to deeming the income, even when he is a parent of the child. The deemed income is added to that of other members of the IG after the AFDC-Related Medicaid disregards and deductions have been applied to their income.

The following procedures are used to deem income when there is a stepparent, caretaker relative other than a parent or a MP.

When There Is a Stepparent

The stepparent's income is deemed only to the parent. When deeming from the parent to the children, none of the amount deemed from the stepparent is deemed to the children.

- Determining the Income Used for the Parent

The parent's countable income is added to the stepparent's countable income.

- Determining the Child's Countable Income

The child's own countable income is added to the parent's own countable income. Do not include any of the amount deemed for the parent from the stepparent.
When There Is A Caretaker Relative Other Than a Parent

- Determining the Income Used for the Caretaker Relative Other Than a Parent

  The caretaker relative's own countable income is added to his spouse's countable income.

- Determining the Income Used for the Child

  The child's own countable income is the only income counted for the child.

When There Is a mp Living With a MP

Cases involving a mp require special consideration, only because a variable, not present in other AGs, exists (i.e., there are two parental groups in the family). The first parental unit is the MP(s), and the second is the mp. Any of the following combinations of eligible people are possible.

- mp + child
- MP + mp + child
- MP + mp

See Chapter 3 to determine the appropriate AG. However, no matter who is included, the MP(s) is still financially responsible for the mp, and the mp is financially responsible for the child.

- When the AG Includes the mp and the Child

  Determining the income used for the mp:

  - The mp's countable income is added to the MP(s) countable income.

  Determining the income used for the child:

  - The child's own countable income is added to the mp's own countable income. When deeming from the mp, none of the income deemed to the mp from the MP(s) is counted for the child.

NOTE: A mp is a parent under the age of 18, regardless of completion of school or training.
When the AG Includes the MP(s), mp, and Child

Determining the income used for the MP(s):

- If there is only one MP in the home, the MP's own countable income is added to that of the MP's spouse, who is not a parent of the mp, to determine eligibility.
- If there are two MPs in the home, their countable income is added together.

Determining the income used for the mp:

- The mp's own countable income is added to that of the MP(s). When income has been deemed to the MP from the MP's spouse, who is not a parent of the mp, none of the amount deemed to the MP is counted for the mp.

Determining the income used for the child:

- The child's own countable income is added to the mp's own countable income. None of the amount deemed from the MP(s) to the mp is counted for the child.

When the AG Includes Only the MP(s) and the mp

Determining the income used for the MP(s): See Determining the income used for the MP(s) in When the AG Includes the MP(s), mp, and Child above.

Determining the income used for the mp:

- The mp's own countable income is added to that of the MP(s). When income has been deemed to the MP from the MP's spouse, who is not a parent of the mp, none of the amount deemed to the MP is counted for the mp.

4.16.4.E Irregular Income

Regardless of the source, irregular income is not counted because it cannot be anticipated.

4.16.4.F Lump-Sum Payments

Lump-sum payments are counted as unearned income in the month received.
4.16.4.G Withheld Income

4.16.4.G.1 From Earned Income

Earnings withheld to repay an advance payment are disregarded if they were counted in the month received. If not counted in the month received, the withheld earnings are considered income.

No other earned income is excluded from consideration just because it is withheld by the employer.

4.16.4.G.2 From Unearned Income

All withheld unearned income is counted, unless an amount is being withheld to repay income that was previously used to determine eligibility for AFDC-Related Medicaid.

4.16.4.H Funds Diverted to a Plan to Achieve Self-Support (PASS)

Funds diverted to a PASS account are treated as earned or unearned income, depending on the source.

4.16.4.I Unstated Income

There is no provision for counting unstated income.

4.16.4.J Spenddown

To be eligible for Medicaid, the IG’s monthly countable income must not exceed the amount of the MNIL. If the income exceeds the MNIL, the AG has an opportunity to spend the income down to the MNIL by incurring medical expenses. These expenses are subtracted from the income for the six-month POC, until the income is at or below the MNIL for the NG size. The spenddown process applies only to AFDC-Related and SSI-Related Medicaid.

4.16.4.J.1 Procedures

The Worker must determine the amount of the client's spenddown at the time of application based on information provided by the client. The spenddown amount may have to be revised if the verified income amount differs from the client's statement. The Worker must also explain the spenddown process to the client.

The following procedures are required for the spenddown process.

- The Worker prepares the verification checklist (DFA-6), attaches a DFA-6A and gives them to the client or mails them. A DFA-6A is attached to the DFA-6, which notifies the client that an eligibility decision cannot be made until he meets his spenddown by providing proof of medical expenses.

  The DFA-6 must also contain any other information the client must supply in order to determine eligibility.

  If the client indicates he needs help to understand the procedure for meeting his spenddown, the Worker provides all help needed. In no instance is the client to be denied Medicaid because he is physically, mentally, or emotionally unable to verify his medical expenses.

- The client is requested to provide proof of his medical expenses, date incurred, type of expense, and amount, and to submit them to the Worker by the application-processing deadline.

- Medical bills are entered and tracked in the eligibility system as they are received. When the bills or verification are received, the Worker reviews the information to determine:
  - The expenses were incurred, they are not payable by a third party, and the client will not be reimbursed by a third party.
  - The individual(s) who received the medical service is one of the persons described in Whose Medical Expenses Are Used below.
  - The expenses are for medical services and are appropriate to use to meet a spenddown. See Allowable Spenddown Expenses below.

- The Worker must enter the pertinent information about expenses received from the client in the eligibility system. This information includes:
  - The date of service
The provider of the service
- The total amount of the bill
- The third-party liability amount

Medical Processing in the Bureau for Medical Services (BMS) accesses the eligibility system to determine the date on which spenddown is met. Additional electronic notification to BMS is required only when a change is necessary to add additional medical expenses after the spenddown is met and will result in an earlier Period of Eligibility (POE). The client's eligibility begins the day the amount of incurred medical expenses at least equals his spenddown amount.

NOTE: Although eligibility begins on the date of service of the medical bills that bring the spenddown amount to $0, expenses incurred on that date that are used to meet the spenddown, as indicated in the eligibility system, are not paid by Medicaid.

If the client does not submit sufficient medical bills by the application-processing deadline, the application is denied.

The application is denied when the applicant indicates there are no medical bills or anticipated medical expenses in the 30-day application period that may be used to meet the spenddown for the Medicaid AG member(s).

NOTE: An AG that meets a spenddown remains eligible until the end of the POC in the following situations, regardless of whether or not the individuals is an AG member.
- A member(s) of the IG experiences an increase in income; or
- An individual(s) with income is added to the IG; or
- An individual(s) is removed from the NG.

4.16.4.J.2 Whose Medical Expenses Are Used

The medical bills of the following persons who live with the AG member(s) are used to meet the spenddown. There is no limit on the amount of one individual's bills that can be used to meet the client's spenddown.
NOTE: The past medical bills of any of the individuals listed below that were incurred while the individual lived with an AG member(s) may be used for spenddown, even if the individual no longer lives with the AG member, is deceased, or is divorced from the AG member. The AG member must be responsible for the bill at the time it was incurred and remain responsible for payment.

➢ Meeting the Spenddown of Adults

Use the bills of:

- The adult(s) who is the parent(s) or other caretaker relative
- The spouse of the parent or other caretaker relative
- The dependent children and their blood-related siblings of the parent or other caretaker relative
- The dependent children and their blood-related siblings of the spouse of the parent or other caretaker relative

➢ Meeting the Spenddown of Children

Use the bills of:

- The child
- The parent(s). Do not use the bills of the caretaker relative other than a parent.
- The stepparent
- The blood-related siblings of the child
- The dependent children of the stepparent and their blood-related siblings in the home.

Because the individuals whose medical expenses are used to meet a spenddown may be in separate AGs, the same medical bill is used to meet the spenddown in each AG containing one of the persons identified above.

➢ Meeting the Spenddown Examples

Example 1: A mother and her two children apply for Medicaid. Also in the home is the mother's husband, who is the stepfather of the children. His medical bills are used to meet the spenddown of his wife and of both children.
Example 2: A mother applies for Medicaid for herself and her two children. Also in the home are her husband and his two children, who are also applying for Medicaid. The medical bills of the husband and his children are used to meet the spenddowns of his wife and stepchildren as well as his own and his children's spenddown.

Example 3: Same situation as above, except the husband and his children are not applying for Medicaid. The medical bills of the husband and his children are used to meet the spenddown of the mother and her children.

Example 4: A man and woman live together, but are not married. They each have two children from previous marriages, and all are applying for Medicaid. The medical bills of the woman and her two children are used to meet their own spenddowns, but not those of the man and his two children. The medical bills of the man and his two children are used to meet their own spenddowns, but not those of the woman and her two children.

4.16.4.J.3 Allowable Spenddown Expenses

The following medical expenses, which are not subject to payment by a third party, and for which the client will not be reimbursed, are used to reduce or eliminate the spenddown.

- A current payment on or the unpaid balance of an old bill, incurred outside the current POC, is used as long as that portion of the bill was not used in a previous POC during which the client became eligible. No payment or part of a bill that is used to make a client eligible may be used again. Old unpaid bills, which are being collected by an agency other than the medical provider, may be used when the expense is still owed to the provider. If the expense has been written off by the provider, it is no longer considered the client's obligation, and is, therefore, not an allowable spenddown expense.

Medical bills that were previously submitted, but were not sufficient to meet the spenddown, are used again in a new POC. When only a portion of the old bill, incurred outside the current POC, is used to meet spenddown, any remaining portion of the bill for which the client is still liable may be used to meet spenddown in a new POC.

In addition, when the client submits an old bill and then withdraws his application, the old bill may be used again if he reapplies.

- Health insurance premiums, including Medicare or the enrollment fee for a Medicare-approved drug discount card.
- Medicare co-insurance, deductibles, and enrollment fees.
- Necessary medical or remedial care expenses. This includes, but is not limited to:
- Office visits to a physician
- Inpatient and outpatient hospital services
- Emergency room services
- Prescriptions
- Over-the-counter drugs prescribed by a physician
- Eye examinations
- Eye glasses
- Dental services
- Therapy prescribed by a physician
- Chiropractic services
- Prosthetic devices
- Durable medical equipment prescribed by a physician
- Rental of sickroom supplies
- Cost of in-home care
- Services of other licensed practitioners of the healing arts

Do not deduct any expenses that are included in a package of services, prior to the date services are rendered, such as charges for prenatal care and delivery services or orthodontia.

- Expenses for personal care services defined as: services provided in a client's home that are prescribed by a physician, delivered in accordance with a plan of treatment and provided by a qualified person who is not a member of the client's family, under the supervision of a registered nurse. For these purposes, home is defined as the client's full time residence, but does not include a hospital, nursing facility, intermediate care facility, or any other setting in which nursing services are, or could be, made available.
  - Family member for these purposes is defined as:
    - A spouse
    - A parent or stepparent of a minor child
    - A parent of an adult child
    - An adopted child or adoptive parent of a client
    - An adult sibling or stepsibling of a minor child
    - An adult sibling residing with an adult sibling client
    - An adult child of an adult client

The services must fall into any of the following general groups. Each general group shown below is further defined by examples, but is not limited to only the examples shown.
Personal Hygiene/Grooming: care of hair, nails, teeth, mouth; shaving; bathing; toilet assistance; dressing; laundry, when related to incontinence.

Non-Technical Physical Assistance: routine bodily functions; routine skin care, including application of non-prescription skin care products; change of simple dressings; repositioning or transferring into and out of bed, on and off seats; walking, with or without equipment; assist in administration of medication; following directions of a professional for use of medical supplies.

Nutritional Support: meal preparation; feeding; assisting with special nutritional needs, including preparation of special formulas, prescribed feedings, or special diets.

Environmental: housecleaning, dusting and vacuuming; laundry; ironing and mending; making and changing beds; dishwashing; food shopping; payment of bills; essential errands; activities and transportation necessary to move the client from place to place; other similar activities of daily living.

Expenses billed to the client for the personal care services shown above must, at a minimum, specify the amount billed for each general group of services.

Ongoing or one-time-only medical expenses are not projected. They must be used no earlier than actually incurred. Those persons who are billed for their care at intervals longer than monthly are to have the expenses used to meet spenddown on the date services are performed, not on the date billed. Such expenses are not incurred prior to receipt of services.

4.16.4.K Unavailable Income

Income intended for the client, but received by another person with whom he does not live, when the individual receiving this income refuses to make it available, is excluded.

4.16.4.L Income Received for a Non-IG Member

Income received by a member of the IG, which is intended and used for the care and maintenance of an individual whose income is not used in determining the eligibility of the payee’s AG, is excluded as income.
4.16.4.M Income Belonging to or for the Benefit of a Child

The source of the income must be known and Section 4.3 consulted for how the income is treated.
4.17 FORMER WEST VIRGINIA FOSTER CHILDREN (CATEGORICALLY NEEDY, MANDATORY)

There is no income test for the Former West Virginia Foster Children coverage group. See Section 23.10.5.
4.18 MEDICAID FOR ILLEGAL NONCITIZENS (CATEGORICALLY NEEDY, MANDATORY)

An illegal noncitizen, eligible for emergency Medicaid coverage, must meet the income requirements of any coverage group for which he is eligible, with the exception of the long-term care groups.

See the income policy and procedures used to determine eligibility for the appropriate coverage group in this chapter.

An illegal noncitizen who is a dependent child or the parent of a dependent child is income eligible if, after using all income policy, income is below the limit. Only the family member with the emergency medical need is eligible for Medicaid, even though it is necessary to determine the family’s eligibility.

An illegal noncitizen, who is aged, blind, or disabled, is income eligible if—after using all Supplemental Security Income (SSI)-Related Medicaid income policy, except for the spenddown provision in Section 4.14—income is below the maximum SSI payment for an individual or a couple, if applicable.
4.19 MEDICAID FOR CHILDREN WITH DISABILITIES COMMUNITY SERVICE PROGRAM (CDCSP) (CATEGORICALLY NEEDY, OPTIONAL)

The spenddown provision does not apply to CDCSP.

4.19.1 DETERMINING ELIGIBILITY

The Worker determines the child's own total income from all sources and compares it to 300% of the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payment level. No income disregards or deductions are applied to the child's income. If income is less than or equal to 300% of the SSI payment level, the child is income-eligible.

If income-eligible, the Worker sends income information to Bureau for Medical Services (BMS). BMS determines the annual cost of institutionalization, the annual cost of in-home care under CDCSP, and the cost of the type of services necessary for the child to decide the cost-effectiveness of the proposed in-home plan.

4.19.2 SPECIAL SITUATIONS

4.19.2.A Self-Employment

Gross profit is determined the same way it is for Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC)-Related Medicaid. See Section 4.16. No other disregards and deductions are applied.

4.19.2.B Annual Contract Employment

Annual contract employment is treated the same way it is for AFDC-Related Medicaid. See Section 4.16.
4.19.2.C Educational Income

Educational income is counted the same way it is for AFDC-Related Medicaid. See Section 4.16.

4.19.2.D Deeming

Income is not deemed to the CDCSP child from any financially responsible person.

4.19.2.E Irregular Income

Regardless of the source, irregular income is not counted because it cannot be anticipated.

4.19.2.F Lump-Sum Payments

Lump-sum payments are counted as unearned income in the month received.

4.19.2.G Withheld Income

Withheld income of the CDCSP child is treated the same way it is for SSI-Related Medicaid. See Section 4.14.4.

4.19.2.H Funds Diverted to a Plan to Achieve Self-Support (PASS)

Funds diverted to a PASS account are counted as earned or unearned income, depending on the source.
4.19.2.I Unstated Income

There is no provision that allows for counting unstated income.

4.19.2.J Unavailable Income

Income intended for the client, but received by another person with whom he does not live, when the individual receiving this income refuses to make it available, is excluded.

4.19.2.K Income Received for a Non-Income Group Member

Income received by a member of the Income Group, which is intended and used for the care and maintenance of an individual whose income is not used in determining the eligibility of the payee's Assistance Group (AG), is excluded as income.
4.20 AIDS DRUG ASSISTANCE PROGRAM (ADAP) (CATEGORICALLY NEEDY, OPTIONAL)

The ADAP is a Bureau of Public Health (BPH) pharmacy program contracted by the Bureau for Medical Services (BMS) to administer medical services. The eligibility decision is made by BMS, rather than the Worker.

4.20.1 DETERMINING ELIGIBILITY

Income eligibility is determined by BMS. The Worker must include income information for the individual, his spouse, and dependent children who live with him and are listed on the application, regardless of the source or amount. The income limit is 325% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL).

4.20.2 INCOME BELONGING TO OR FOR THE BENEFIT OF A CHILD

The source of the income must be known and Section 4.3 consulted for how the income is treated.

4.20.3 SPECIAL SITUATIONS

There are no special situations.

The schedule of payments for paying off a loan.

Assets
Total real and personal property the client has available to meet financial needs, including the value of assets assigned from certain individuals. Assets may be liquid or non-liquid.

Accessibility of Assets
A client may not have access to certain assets. In order to be considered an asset, the asset must be owned by, or available to, the client. If the client cannot legally dispose of the asset, it is not treated as an asset.

Annuity
An investment contract or agreement, which gives the right to receive fixed, periodic payments, either for life or a specific term of years.

Beneficiary
A person to whom benefits are payable.

Bonds
United States (U.S.) Government, municipal, or corporate.

Burial Funds
Burial funds include revocable burial contracts, revocable and irrevocable burial trusts, cash, savings bonds, and any other separately identifiable assets that an individual states are intended for expenses connected with burial, cremation, or other funeral arrangements.

Burial Contract
An agreement in which a provider of funeral services and burial items agrees to provide burial services or other final arrangements.

Burial Insurance
Insurance with terms specifically stating that the proceeds can be used only to pay burial expenses for the insured individual.

Burial Spaces
Conventional gravesites, crypts, mausoleums, urns, vaults, or other repositories that are customarily and traditionally used for the remains of deceased persons.
Burial spaces include the following:

- Headstones, markers, or plaques;
- Burial containers for caskets;
- Arrangements for opening and closing the gravesite; and
- Reasonable maintenance of such spaces.

BURIAL TRUST FUNDS

Assets placed in a trust fund for burial expenses.

CASH SAVINGS

The amount of savings or cash-on-hand held by the client or for him by another person.

CASH SURRENDER OR CASH-IN VALUE

The amount of cash received by the owner of the policy, if redeemed before death of the insured.

See LIFE INSURANCE, FACE VALUE, TERM INSURANCE, and WHOLE LIFE INSURANCE.

CATEGORICALLY ELIGIBLE SNAP ASSISTANCE GROUP (AG)

An AG that is automatically eligible for the SNAP without application of the usual eligibility tests.

CERTIFICATE OF DEPOSIT (CD)

Funds held in an account that specifies a maturity date.

COMMUNITY SPOUSE

A spouse living in the community whose spouse is an institutionalized individual. This definition is used when one spouse is applying for long-term care (LTC) benefits and the other spouse is not, and is used in conjunction with the definition of institutionalized spouse.

CONDITIONAL ELIGIBILITY

WV WORKS Only: The period of time during which eligibility is allowed, even though assets exceed the maximum allowable asset limit.

CONTINUING CARE RETIREMENT COMMUNITY (CCRC)

A residential community, also known as a life care community, which offers services for the remainder of an individual’s life, with a choice of services and living situations, based on changing needs at each point in time. Individuals that enter these communities sign a long-term contract that includes housing, services, and nursing care, usually provided in one location, enabling seniors to remain in a familiar setting as they age. These service and housing packages parallel independent living, assisted living, and skilled nursing facilities. Seniors who are independent may live in a single family home, apartment, or condominium within the continuing care retirement complex. If they begin to need assistance with activities of daily living, (i.e., mobility, eating, bathing, dressing, etc.), they may be transferred to an assisted living or skilled nursing facility on the same site.

CONTRACT BENEFICIARY
Any entity that is named in a contract as the beneficiary.

CONTRACT BUYER
A person who purchases goods or services as specified in a contract.

CONTRACT SELLER
A person, his agent, or his employee who sells, makes available, or provides contracts.

CONVERSION OR SALE OF AN ASSET
The sale or exchange of an asset from liquid to non-liquid or non-liquid to liquid.

CREDITOR
The owner of an agreement (i.e., promissory note) or a property agreement (i.e., land sale contract). A creditor or lender is the seller of the property or holder of a promissory note.

CURRENT MARKET VALUE (CMV)
The amount an asset can be expected to sell for on the open market, in the particular geographic area. Market conditions are reflected in an asset's CMV.

DEBT
Any form of legal indebtedness against an asset, such as mortgages, liens, loans, purchase contracts, and security interests. For purposes of establishing equity value, a debt must be legally recognized as binding on the individual who holds the asset.

DEDICATED ACCOUNT
An SSI recipient, who is under age 18 and has a representative payee, may have a dedicated account, so that back SSI payments can be deposited directly into the account. Social Security Administration (SSA) regulations require that certain such payments be directly deposited. Other payments of the same type are not required to be deposited directly into the account, but may be deposited in the dedicated account at the discretion of the representative payee. SSA places certain restrictions on the use of the funds deposited into these accounts. SSI representative payees receive notification from SSA that a dedicated account must be established and also receive notification when an SSI back payment amount is directly deposited.
ELDERLY

- For SNAP and WV WORKS: Age 60 and over
- For Medicaid: Age 65 and over

ENDOWMENT FOR PERPETUAL CARE

A contract for care and maintenance of a gravesite.

EXCESSIVE HOME EQUITY

This definition is used in the determination of eligibility for LTC for Medicaid. Excessive home equity can result in a denial of payment for LTC or waiver services when the equity in the homestead exceeds the current allowable maximum. This amount changes every year.

A denial for excessive home equity is subject to the Undue Hardship Provision.

EXCLUDED

Assets that are not considered when determining asset eligibility.

FACE VALUE

The specified amount payable on death of the insured, usually listed on the front of the policy, is the amount guaranteed and premium terms agreed upon via contract at the time of purchase.

When the premium payment specified in the contract has been fulfilled and premium payments continued to be made resulting in additional paid-up insurance, the policy’s death benefit, (i.e., face value), has increased and the current amount counted.

See LIFE INSURANCE, CASH SURRENDER OR CASH-IN VALUE, TERM INSURANCE, and WHOLE LIFE INSURANCE.

HOMESTEAD PROPERTY

The dwelling and land on which the dwelling rests, which is not separated by intervening property owned by others. This property does not have to be part of the original purchase. This includes the life estate interest, when it is the life estate holder’s home.

IMMEDIATE FAMILY

SSI-Related Medicaid Only: The SSI-Related Medicaid individual's immediate family includes: parents, or adoptive parents; minor or adult children, including minor or adoptive and stepchildren; siblings, including adoptive and stepsiblings. Immediate family also includes the spouse of the above relatives.

INCOME-PRODUCING PROPERTY

Property that is annually producing income consistent with its CURRENT MARKET VALUE.
INDIVIDUAL DEVELOPMENT ACCOUNT (IDA)
An IDA is a special bank account that helps an individual save for his education, the purchase of a first home, or to start a business. The funds are matched by a government or non-profit agency.

INSTITUTIONALIZED SPOUSE
An individual who is institutionalized and has a spouse living in the community who is not receiving LTC benefits. This definition is used when one spouse is applying for LTC benefits and the other spouse is not, and is used in conjunction with the definition of community spouse.

IRREVOCABLE
Impossible to retract, revoke, or annul.

IRREVOCABLE ARRANGEMENTS
Assets that are available for burial and held in an irrevocable burial contract or irrevocable burial trust. Irrevocable contracts and trusts are those that cannot be changed and that do not allow the client access to the assets.
See BURIAL TRUST FUNDS.

JOINTLY OWNED PROPERTY
An asset owned by two (2) or more individuals.

LAND SALE CONTRACT
A contract whereby a landowner enters into a legal agreement to sell property to another person by installment payments. The buyer is entitled to possession and equitable title to the property. The seller or creditor holds legal title until the buyer completes the required payments to fulfill the contract.

LIFE ESTATE
Under a life estate, an individual who owns property and transfers ownership of the property to another individual, while retaining certain rights to it for the rest of his life, or the life of another person. Generally, a life estate entitles the owner of the life estate to possess, use, and obtain profits from the property for as long as he lives. However, actual ownership of the property has been transferred.

LIFE ESTATE HOLDER
The person who benefits from the life estate.
LIFE INSURANCE
A contract whereby one party insures his own life, or the life of another party, for a specified amount of money.

LIQUID ASSETS
Those that are cash or payable in cash on demand, including financial instruments that can be converted to cash.

- Supplemental Security Income (SSI) Medicaid Groups: Liquid assets are those that are cash or that can be converted into cash within 20 working days. National, state, and local holidays are not working days.

See ASSETS and NON-LIQUID ASSETS.

LUMP-SUM PAYMENTS
Non-recurring, recurring, or advance payments. This may include, but is not limited to, Retirement, Survivors, and Disability Insurance (RSDI), stock dividends paid quarterly, or payments from an income disability insurance plan that cover a previous period, but are delayed for medical reports, etc.

MUTUAL FUNDS
A pool of assets managed by an investment company that buys and sells securities and other investments.

NEGOTIABLE AGREEMENT
An agreement whereby the ownership of the instrument itself and its face value can be transferred, (e.g., sold), from one person to another.

NON-EXCLUDED
Assets that are considered when determining asset eligibility.

See EXCLUDED.

NON-HOMESTEAD PROPERTY
Real property, other than the homestead, that the client owns or is purchasing.

NON-LIQUID ASSETS
Those that can be converted, or sold, for cash.

- SSI Medicaid Groups: Non-liquid assets are those that cannot be converted to cash within 20 working days.

See ASSETS and LIQUID ASSETS.
PERSONAL INCOME-PRODUCING PROPERTY
Movable belongings, exclusive of land and buildings, which are annually producing income consistent with their CURRENT MARKET VALUE.
See REAL INCOME-PRODUCING PROPERTY.

PRINCIPAL PLACE OF RESIDENCE
The dwelling the client considers his fixed, established home. The principal place of residence must be a home in which the individual has lived.

PROCEEDS FROM SALE OF HOME
Net amount received by the seller, after satisfaction of all encumbrances and sale expenses.

PROMISSORY NOTE
A written, unconditional agreement whereby one party promises to pay a specified sum of money at a specified time, or on demand to another party. It may be given in return for goods, money loaned, or services rendered.

PURE SNAP AGS
Every person included in the SNAP AG receives TANF-funded benefits, SSI, or is authorized to receive information and referral services. Pure SNAP AGs are categorically eligible for SNAP benefits.

REAL INCOME-PRODUCING PROPERTY
Fixed property, including land and buildings, that is annually producing income consistent with its CURRENT MARKET VALUE.
See PERSONAL INCOME-PRODUCING PROPERTY.

REBUTTAL
The process whereby the client refutes the Department of Health and Human Resources’ (DHHR) presumption of unrestricted access to resources.

RECREATIONAL VEHICLES AND EQUIPMENT
May include, but is not limited to, boats, snowmobiles, campers, camper-trailers, airplanes, and similar equipment that do not meet the definition of a vehicle. Also includes ATVs and similar vehicles that do not require licensing, even though they may be licensed. This does not include sporting equipment or toys.

RESOURCES
Income and assets.
RETIREMENT FUNDS
Funds in an individual account, pension fund, or retirement plan, (i.e., Individual Retirement Account, Keogh Plan, 401(k), Simplified Employee Pension plan, and employer plans).

REVOCABLE
Capable of being revoked, retracted or annulled.

SPOUSES
Persons legally married to each other, under the provisions of West Virginia State law, or those moving to West Virginia from states that recognize their relationship as a legal marriage.

There is no provision in West Virginia State law regarding common-law marriage. Any individual that establishes this type of relationship in a state that recognizes common-law marriages is considered married for DHHR purposes.

The states and cities that recognize common-law marriages are:

Alabama    Colorado    District of Columbia    Iowa    Kansas    Montana
Oklahoma    Rhode Island    South Carolina    Texas    Utah

Common law marriages are recognized in the following states if established by the date shown.

Ohio   October 1, 1991
Idaho  January 1, 1996
Georgia January 1, 1997
Pennsylvania January 1, 2005

Effective October 8, 2014, same-sex marriage is a legal marriage in the state of West Virginia. Same-sex couples legally married after this date are defined as legal spouses for the West Virginia DHHR program purposes. Same-sex couples who move to West Virginia, and are legally married under the laws of jurisdiction in which the marriage was celebrated, are recognized as spouses. This includes a civil union, or domestic partnership, only if recognized as legal marriage under the state law where such union was entered into.

STOCKS
A security representing a share of ownership in a business or corporation.

TERM INSURANCE
Insurance policies that do not have a cash surrender value.
See LIFE INSURANCE, CASH SURRENDER OR CASH-IN VALUE, FACE VALUE, and WHOLE LIFE INSURANCE.

TIME DEPOSIT
Any type of account that has a maturity date.
TRUST
Any arrangement in which a grantor transfers property to a trustee(s) with the intention that it be held, managed, or administered by the trustee(s) for the benefit of the grantor or certain designated individuals (beneficiaries). The trust must be valid under State law and manifested by a valid trust instrument or agreement. A trustee holds a fiduciary responsibility to manage the trust's corpus and income for the benefit of the beneficiaries.

- For SSI Medicaid Groups, the term trust also includes any legal instrument or device that is similar to a trust.

Legal Instrument or Device Similar to a Trust: Any legal instrument, device, or arrangement that may not be called a trust under State law, but that is similar to a trust. That is, it involves a grantor who transfers property to an individual or entity with the intention that it be held, managed, or administered by the individual or entity for the benefit of the grantor or others. This may include, but is not limited to, escrow accounts, investment accounts, pension funds, and other similar entities managed by an individual or entity with fiduciary obligations.

TRUSTEE
Person or institution that holds legal title to property for the benefit or use of another.

UNCOMPENSATED VALUE
The CMV, less any outstanding loans, mortgages, or other encumbrances on the asset, minus the amount of compensation received by the AG.

UNDUE HARDSHIP
Applies to Medicaid LTC groups only. This condition exists with the application of one or more of the following asset policies:

- Excessive home equity;
- Transfer to a non-permissible trust; and/or
- A transfer of assets penalty results in the denial of payment of LTC services, and causes the individual to be deprived of medical care to the extent that the individual's health or life would be endangered or his food, clothing, shelter, or other necessities of life are at severe risk.

When there has been a transferred asset, in order to meet Undue Hardship requirements, the individual must have exhausted all means, legal and otherwise, to receive CMV for and/or to regain the transferred asset. All means, legal or otherwise, refers to action through the court system and/or the voluntary return or recovery of the asset or item. Undue Hardship does not exist when the denial causes the individual inconvenience or might restrict his lifestyle, but would not put him at risk of serious deprivation.
UNDUE HARDSHIP COMMITTEE
A standing committee comprised of representatives from West Virginia Bureau for Medical Services (BMS) Policy Unit that determines if an individual’s denial for Medicaid LTC Services should be waived due to the individual’s Undue Hardship condition as defined above.

UNDUE HARDSHIP PROVISION
This provision only applies to individuals who are denied Medicaid LTC Services due to the application of the excessive home equity, transfer of asset to a non-permissible trust, and/or a transfer of assets penalty. The individual must be otherwise eligible for LTC Services.

UNIFORM GIFTS TO MINORS ACT (UGMA)
The State law that allows an irrevocable gift of money or property, made to a minor, to be tax-free. This may also be referred to as Uniform Transfer to Minors Act (UTMA).

VEHICLE
A car, truck, motorcycle, motor scooter, or a camper when the living section of the camper is a permanent part of the motorized section. To be considered a vehicle, it must require licensing to operate on public roadways, not necessarily be licensed. ATVs are treated as recreational vehicles, not as vehicles.

WHOLE LIFE INSURANCE
Insurance policies that have a cash surrender value.
See LIFE INSURANCE, CASH SURRENDER OR CASH-IN VALUE, FACE VALUE, and TERM INSURANCE.
5.2 INTRODUCTION

This chapter contains the policies for determining asset eligibility for Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), WV WORKS, Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC)-Related Medicaid, and most other Medicaid coverage groups. Instructions for determining the value of assets are included.

The following Medicaid coverage groups have no asset test:

- Parents/Caretaker Relatives
- Deemed Parents/Caretaker Relatives
- Transitional Medicaid
- Extended Medicaid
- Continuously Eligible Newborns
- Supplemental Security Income (SSI) and Deemed (SSI) Recipients, except Pickle Amendment Coverage (PAC) and Pass-Throughs
- Pregnant Women
- Children Under Age 19
- Adult Group
- Breast and Cervical Cancer
- Former West Virginia (WV) Foster Children
- Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) Drug Assistance Program

In addition, West Virginia Children’s Health Insurance Program (WVCHIP) has no asset test.

Social Security Administration (SSA) determines income and asset eligibility for the following Medicaid coverage groups:

- SSI Recipients
- Deemed SSI Recipients
  - Disabled Adult Children
  - Blind, Disabled – Substantial Gainful Activity (SGA)
  - Essential Spouses of SSI Recipients
  - Disabled Widows and Widowers
  - Drug Addicts and Alcoholics (DA&A)
5.3 COMMON INFORMATION

5.3.1 ESTABLISHING DATE OF ASSET ELIGIBILITY

5.3.1.A Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)

The asset determination must be made as of the date of application.

If the assistance group (AG) is not determined categorically eligible, and the AG’s countable assets exceed the limit on the date of application, the application must be denied. However, the application may subsequently be approved beginning with the date the AG is determined asset eligible, providing all other eligibility requirements are also met as of that date. The Worker must record the reason for denial and any subsequent approval.

5.3.1.B Supplemental Security Income (SSI) Medicaid Groups

The SSI Medicaid Groups include: SSI-Related Medicaid, CDCSP, PAC, QDWI, QMB, SLIMB, and QI1.

The asset eligibility determination for these applications must be made as of the first moment (defined as 12:00 a.m. of the first day) of the month of eligibility.

The client is not eligible for any month in which countable assets are in excess of the limit, as of the first moment of the month. Increases in countable assets during one month do not affect eligibility unless retained into the first moment of the following month.

SSI Medicaid Asset Eligibility Determination Example 1: Mr. Rose applies for SSI-Related Medicaid on April 21. On April 1, he had a savings account of $1,500 and two automobiles: a vehicle that he used for obtaining medical treatment and a second vehicle valued at $575. His total assets on April 1 were $2,075. He advises the Worker that on April 10, he withdrew $125 from his savings account to pay for automobile repairs. Even though on April 10 his assets decreased to $1,950, which is under the $2,000 asset limit, his assets as of the first moment of the month were in excess of the asset limit; therefore, he is not eligible.
If the applicant’s assets, as of the first moment of the month, are within the asset limit, and during the month his assets increase to above the asset limit, he is still eligible for that month.

The Worker may use any of the following items to determine first-of-the-month account balances:

- Printed or online bank statements and passbooks;
- The applicant’s check register or any bank-issued document. This includes, but is not limited to, ATM transaction receipts and/or deposit and/or withdrawal receipts; and/or
- The account transaction history on a bank’s automated telephone customer service line that provides complete transaction information, (i.e., deposits, withdrawals, cleared checks, and transfers to/from the account with transaction dates).

When the applicant states that a check has not cleared the bank, the Worker may use any of the means listed above to verify that the funds are legally obligated.

SSI Medicaid Asset Eligibility Determination Example 2: Mr. Oak’s bank statement shows a checking account balance of $1,350 as of May 1, which combined with other countable assets is $2,250 as of the first of the month. Mr. Oak states the statement balance includes his April rent check of $500 to his landlord, but his landlord has not cashed the check. The Worker finds an entry for check number 1345 for $500 written on April 25. He finds that check 1346 is cleared on the bank statement. The Worker also sees that Mr. Oak has written a $500 check for rent on the 25th of each month for the last six months. Because Mr. Oak wrote the check and legally obligated the funds in his account, and his records provide a complete and consistent picture of the account, the Worker deducts the amount of the uncashed check from the May 1 first-of-the-month balance as an encumbrance. The new checking account balance as of May 1 is $850 and Mr. Oak is asset eligible.

---

5.3.1.C  WV WORKS and AFDC-Related Medicaid

The asset determination must be made as of the date of application.

For AFDC-Related Medicaid, when medical coverage is backdated, the asset determination must be made from the first day of the month for which eligibility is being determined. All other eligibility requirements must also be met as of that date.

When there is an increase in countable assets that exceeds the limit, the AG is closed.
5.3.2 WHEN INCOME BECOMES AN ASSET

Money counted as income when received becomes an asset if retained within the month after the month of receipt.

EXCEPTION: The proceeds from the sale of an excluded home are treated according to Section 5.3.5 below.

5.3.3 DETERMINATION OF THE VALUE OF COUNTABLE ASSETS

Only the client’s equity, or portion of actual ownership, is considered, unless otherwise specified in Section 5.5 or 5.6.

Equity is determined only as follows:

- Determine the CMV of the asset.
- Multiply the number of installment payments remaining by the amount of the installment payment.
- Subtract the result of the calculation from the CMV. The remainder is the equity value.

When the Worker determines that the equity value of an asset, or of several assets, will increase to above the asset limit before the next redetermination, he must set an eligibility system alert to recheck asset eligibility.

When the client disagrees with the Department of Health and Human Resources-determined (DHHHR) value of an asset, it is his responsibility to provide verification of the actual value.

5.3.4 ACCESSIBILITY OF ASSETS

A client may not have access to some assets. To be considered an asset, the item must be owned by, or available to, the client and available for disposition. If the client cannot legally dispose of the item, it is not his asset.

Examples of inaccessibility include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Legal proceedings such as, probate, liens (other than those required for financing the asset). Items encumbered, or otherwise unavailable, due to litigation are not considered assets until the court proceedings are completed and a court decision is reached. The DHHR is required to follow the dictates of the court order.

- Property sold with a land sale contract. The property does not belong to the seller as long as a legal contract is in effect.

- Homestead/non-homestead property being purchased by a land sale contract. The property does not have equity value for the buyer until the terms of the contract are fulfilled.

- Acting as the authorized agent of an organization, such as the Treasurer of a church or the President of a community group or town council.

- Joint ownership: The meaning of such ownership may be indicated in one of the following ways:
    - AND - Joint ownership indicated by "and" between the names of the owners.
      Unless there is evidence to the contrary, each owner is assumed to own an equal, fractional share of the jointly owned asset.
      If the fractional share of the asset is not available to either owner without the consent of the other, and such consent is withheld, the asset is excluded as being inaccessible.
        - For SNAP only: The consent must be withheld by an individual(s) who is not a member of the applicant’s AG in order for the asset to be considered inaccessible.
    - OR - Joint ownership indicated by "or" between the names of the owners. The asset is available to each owner in its entirety.
    - AND/OR - Joint ownership indicated by “and/or” between the names of the owners. The asset is available to each owner in its entirety.

NOTE: For SNAP, see Section 5.6 for bank accounts jointly owned with deployed service persons.

5.3.5 CONVERSION OR SALE OF AN ASSET

Assets may be either liquid or non-liquid. An asset is converted from one form to another by sale or exchange. In addition, assets may be exchanged for assets of the same form.
5.3.5.A General Instructions

When assets are converted, the Worker must determine if the result of the conversion is an excluded or non-excluded asset. The result of the sale of an asset is never counted as income or as a lump-sum payment to the client. The only exception is when payment is received in installments, rather than in a lump sum. See Chapter 4. Instead, the new or converted asset must be evaluated as any other asset to determine continuing eligibility.

Asset Conversion Example: In July, Miss Redwood becomes disabled and is no longer able to continue the operation of a dress shop in her home. Her home is excluded as homestead property. She applies for SSI-Related Medicaid and becomes eligible in September. Her only assets are those associated with the business (i.e., a cash register, showcases, and mannequins), which were estimated to have a CMV of $1,400 at the time of application. In October, she liquidates these tangible assets and converts them to liquid assets totaling $1,295. The value of the cash is a countable asset, but she is still eligible because it is within the asset limit when considered with other countable assets; it has only changed form, from a non-liquid to a liquid asset.

Asset Conversion Example: A WV WORKS client sells a vehicle that is an excluded asset. She receives $1,500 from the sale. She has $700 in other assets, so her assets now total $2,200. She is ineligible for WV WORKS. Even though the vehicle was excluded, the money received in exchange for the vehicle is not excluded and must be counted as an asset.

5.3.5.B Exceptions for Sale of an Excluded Asset

For SSI Medicaid Groups: The proceeds from the sale of an excluded home are excluded if they are used, or obligated to purchase and occupy another home by the last day of the third full month following the month of receipt.

Example: If the proceeds from the sale are received January 13, they must be used or obligated by April 30.

The proceeds from the sale of a home are the net payments received by the seller, after satisfaction of all encumbrances and sale expenses.

- Encumbrances include, but are not limited to, mortgages, liens, and any other enforceable claims against the home or seller that must be, and are satisfied to, finalize the sale.
Sale expenses are all expenses that must be paid by the seller in connection with the sale. They include, but are not limited to:

- Broker fees;
- Broker commissions;
- Legal fees;
- Mortgage-related fees, such as "points" paid by the seller;
- Inspection and settlement fees; or
- Transfer taxes and other accrued taxes paid by the seller.

NOTE: Interest earned on the proceeds from the sale is not excluded.

Treatment of the proceeds depends on whether or not the client intends to purchase another home.

5.3.5.B.1 Client Intends to Purchase Another Home

When the client sells his excluded home and states that he intends to purchase another home, the exclusion applies. The Worker must record that the client has stated this intent and set an alert for the third month following the month in which the client received the proceeds from the sale to verify that the proceeds are obligated or used to purchase another home. The client’s statement of intent is sufficient to qualify for the exclusion, unless questionable.

The exclusion does not apply to the portion of the proceeds that exceeds the costs of the purchase and occupancy of another home. Allowable costs need not actually be paid to qualify for the exclusion. However, the individual must have legally obligated himself to pay the costs at some future time in connection with the purchase of another home. Examples of allowable costs of purchase include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Down payments
- Settlement costs
- Loan processing fees and points
- Moving expenses
- Costs of necessary repairs or replacements to the new home's existing structure or fixtures, (i.e., furnace, plumbing, or built-in appliances)
• Mortgage payments on the new home for the time prior to occupancy

NOTE: Mortgage payments made on the new home after occupancy are not excluded.

When an individual has already received the proceeds from the sale of a home when he applies, the proceeds must be used or obligated by the last day of the third full month following the month of receipt.

When the exclusion period expires, the Worker must contact the client to verify the dates and amounts of costs for the new home. Count retained proceeds, not used or contracted before expiration of the exclusion period, are counted as an asset, beginning with the month following the month the exclusion period ends. The period cannot be extended for any reason.

5.3.5.B.2 Client Does Not Intend to Purchase Another Home

If the client indicates he has sold a home and does not intend to purchase another home, the Worker must record the contact and count the net proceeds from the sale as an asset beginning with the month following the month of receipt.

If the client initially does not intend to purchase a new home, but changes his mind before the end of the third full month following the month of receipt, the exclusion is applied based on the original three month period.

5.3.6 COMPENSATION FOR LOSS OR DAMAGE

Settlements for lost or damaged assets or insurance proceeds earmarked for medical expenses, burial costs, replacement, or repair of assets are excluded, provided the client use the money, as intended, in a reasonable period of time. Reasonable is defined as being used in the month of receipt or the month following receipt.

EXCEPTION: For SNAP: Any governmental payments that are designated for the restoration of a home damaged in a disaster are excluded, as long as the AG is subject to a legal sanction if the funds are not used as intended.
Example 1: Ms. Basil receives an insurance settlement of $8,000 as a result of an automobile accident. Of the payment amount, $1,250 is used for medical expenses and $6,000 is used to replace the vehicle destroyed in the accident. Because the insurance settlement has been used as intended, for replacement of the lost asset and reimbursement of medical expenses, only $750 remains as a lump-sum payment.

Example 2: A payment of $30,000 from a utility company, due to the loss of Mr. Rose’s home through the company’s negligence, includes $28,000 for the home and household goods and $2,000 for personal injury. In this case, only the $28,000 can be subject to this exclusion. The $2,000 for personal injury is treated as a lump sum.
EXCEPTION: For SSI Medicaid Groups: Cash or in-kind items received from any source, such as, but not limited to, insurance companies, federal or State agencies, public or private organizations or other individuals, to replace or repair an excluded asset that is lost, stolen, or damaged, and any interest earned on such cash payments, are not counted as an asset for nine months, beginning with the month the cash or in-kind item is received, as long as the client states he intends to replace the asset. If he does not intend to replace the asset, the proceeds received are counted as an asset the month following the month of receipt. Any of the cash and interest that has not been used to repair or replace the excluded asset, after the nine-month period expires, is counted as an asset beginning the following month.

The initial nine-month period may be extended up to an additional nine months, for a total of up to 18 months, if it can be determined the client had good cause for not replacing or repairing the asset. The client is determined to have good cause when circumstances beyond his control prevented the repair, replacement, or the contracting for the repair or replacement of the asset. When an extension is allowed, the unused cash and interest are counted as assets, beginning the month after the good cause extension period ends.

In the event of a presidentially-declared disaster, the 18-month period can be extended for up to an additional 12 months, for a maximum asset exclusion period of 30 months, if:

- The excluded asset is geographically within the disaster area as defined in the presidential order;
- The individual intends to repair or replace the excluded asset; and
- The individual presents evidence of good cause as defined above.

When the client changes his intent to repair or replace the excluded asset, funds previously held for replacement or repair must be counted as an asset effective the first moment of the month following the month the client reports the change of intent.

The cash or in-kind item(s) that is received to replace or repair non-excluded assets, or for personal injury or other purposes, is not excluded, even if the cash or in-kind item is received in conjunction with, and/or from, the same source as the cash or in-kind item intended to replace or repair an excluded asset.
5.4 MAXIMUM ALLOWABLE ASSETS

To be eligible for programs listed below the total amount of countable assets cannot exceed the amounts that are listed in the following chart.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Size of AG</th>
<th>SNAP</th>
<th>WV WORKS</th>
<th>SSI Medicaid, AFDC-Related, Medicaid, PAC, CDCSP</th>
<th>QDWI</th>
<th>QMB, SLMB, QI-1</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Asset Limit</td>
<td>$2,250 – all AGs except as below.</td>
<td>$2,000 – regardless of the number in the AG.</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$3,500 – at least one Assistance Group (AG) member is age 60 or over, or is disabled, according to Section 1.16 regardless of the size of the AG.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>$2,000</td>
<td>$3,000</td>
<td>$4,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

For AFDC-Related Medicaid: Use the asset limit for the appropriate Needs Group size. Add $50 to the asset maximum for each additional Needs Group member.

For SSI Medicaid Groups: In cases involving spouses who are living together, only one of whom is eligible, the asset limit for two persons is used for their combined non-excluded assets, except when one spouse is a long-term care recipient.

NOTE: In cases involving spouses who are living together, only one of whom is eligible, the asset level for two persons is used for their combined non-excluded assets, except when one spouse is a long-term care recipient.
5.5 LIST OF ASSETS

The following alphabetical list identifies items that are considered in determining asset eligibility. Beside each item, there are three boxes. The yes or no in the boxes indicates if the item is an asset for the programs as listed below:

Box 1: Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)

Box 2: WV WORKS, AFDC-Related Medicaid (Aid to Families with Dependent Children)

Box 3: Supplemental Security Income (SSI) Medicaid Groups: SSI-Related Medicaid, Medicaid Work Incentive (M-WIN), Children with Disabilities Community Service Program (CDCSP), Pickle Amendment Coverage (PAC), Qualified Disabled Working Individuals (QDWI), Qualified Medicare Beneficiary (QMB), Specified Low-Income Medicare Beneficiary (SLIMB), and Qualified Individual-1 (QI-1)

Example:

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

When a “Yes” or “No” in the box shows an asterisk (*) beside it, special conditions apply, and the narrative must be consulted.

Unless specified in the narrative or marked with an asterisk (*), the comments apply to all programs listed.

For the purposes of Section 5.5, “SSI Medicaid Groups” includes M-WIN, CDCSP, PAC, QDWI, QMB, SLIMB, and QI-1.

NOTE: SSI Medicaid Groups: Liquid assets used in a trade or business are excluded as property essential to self-support.

NOTE: See Chapter 24 for special procedures related to Long Term Care (LTC) Programs. For any program not listed, see Section 5.2. See Chapter 7 for verification information.
5.5.1 ABLE Accounts

These tax-exempt savings accounts are available to persons with disabilities to use for qualified disability expenses such as education, transportation, housing, medical, dental care, community based supports services, employment training and assistive technology. The accounts are only available to individuals who have blindness or a disability that occurred before the age of 26, and they are a recipient of Supplemental Security Insurance (SSI) or Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI). Individuals can have only one ABLE account, but that account can be established in any State.

Funds in these accounts, including those from 3rd party contributions, are excluded.

Any funds taken out of an ABLE account and placed in another account or held by the client continue to be excluded, and they can be kept by the client and maintain exclusion indefinitely.

5.5.2 AGENT ORANGE COMPENSATION

All payments from the Agent Orange Settlement fund, or any other fund established pursuant to the settlement, are excluded by federal law.

5.5.3 ANNUITIES

SNAP:

The annuity must be accessible to an Assistance Group (AG) member.

AFDC-Related Medicaid and SSI Medicaid Groups:

The amount counted depends upon the status of the annuity and when it was purchased.

5.5.3.A Annuities Purchased Prior to November 1, 2008
The annuity must be revocable or assignable to be an asset.

- Revocable annuity: The value is the amount the purchaser will receive if he cancels the annuity.
- Assignable annuity: The value is the amount for which the annuity can be sold on the open market.
- Irrevocable or unassignable: The value is not an asset.

5.5.3.B Annuities Purchased on or after November 1, 2008

The value of the annuity is as follows.

- Revocable annuity: The value is the amount the purchaser will receive if he cancels the annuity.
- Assignable annuity: The value is the amount for which the annuity can be sold on the open market.
- Irrevocable or unassignable annuity: The value is the amount for which the current or future stream of payments can be sold on the open market.

See Section 24.8 for annuities as a transfer of resources.

LTC MEDICAID ONLY: When an individual is approved for LTC Medicaid and has an excluded annuity described above, for which Medicaid must be the beneficiary, the Worker must fax a copy of the trust document and the Medicaid recipient’s name, case number, and name of the recipient’s Power of Attorney or legal representative, if applicable, to the current contract agency for Estate Recovery. Information about this agency is in Chapter 24, Appendix E.

5.5.4 BANK ACCOUNTS AND CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT (CDs)

5.5.4.A Savings Accounts, Christmas Clubs, Checking Accounts, CDs
For CDs, the amount deposited, plus any accrued interest, minus any penalties imposed for early withdrawal, is counted as an asset.

Some funds held in CDs cannot be withdrawn prior to maturity under any circumstances. In this situation, the certificate is not an asset until the first month after it matures.

For a joint checking or savings account, or jointly owned time deposit, refer to the jointly owned assets section under each program of assistance.

The current month's income deposited in accounts is not counted as an asset for that month. See Section 5.3. Checks dated or posted before the usual check receipt date are treated as if they were received in the usual month of receipt.

SNAP:

- When excluded funds are kept in a bank account with non-excluded money, the normally non-excluded funds are excluded for six months from the date they were placed in the account. After six months, the exclusion ends and all money in the account is an asset.

- Educational funds are excluded for SNAP, even when co-mingled with other funds.

- When a non-AG member deposits his own money, for his own use, into the account of an AG member, the amount remaining in the account on the first day of the next calendar month is counted as an asset for the SNAP AG.

SSI Medicaid Groups:

- See Section 5.5.13 below for educational funds set aside for tuition and other educational expenses.

- Bank accounts and CDs used in a trade or business are excluded as property essential to self-support.

5.5.4.B Dedicated Account for SSI Recipient

WV WORKS and SSI Medicaid Groups:

- When the SSI recipient is under age 18 and the Social Security Administration (SSA) requires the establishment of a dedicated account for past due monthly SSI payments, the amount in the dedicated account is excluded as an asset. This applies when the back payment amount is deposited by SSA directly in the account and when it is deposited there at the discretion of the representative payee. These accounts may include checking, savings, and money market accounts. The exclusion continues until all funds in the account are depleted, or until SSA determines the account no longer meets the SSA criteria for a dedicated account. The exclusion continues after the SSI recipient reaches age 18, as long as the account remains a dedicated account.

- If the funds are commingled with any other funds, except accumulated earnings or interest from the account, the exclusion does not apply to any portion of the account.

For SNAP see Section 5.6.1.

5.5.4.C HUD FSS Escrow Accounts and Individual Development Accounts (IDA)

Funds in either a Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Family Self-Sufficiency (FSS) Escrow Accounts or an IDA, as well as any disbursements made prior to program completion, are excluded.

Any disbursement made upon completion of the program is treated as a lump-sum payment.

5.5.4.D TANF-Funded and Demonstration Project IDAs

Both Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF)-funded and demonstration project IDAs are excluded by federal law for all programs.

5.5.5 BONDS – U.S. SAVINGS

The cash-in value is counted.

SSI Medicaid Groups:

A U.S. Savings Bond is not an asset during its six-month minimum retention period. As of the first moment of the seventh month, the bond is considered an asset. If an individual receives a bond as a gift, see Section 4.3, U.S. Savings Bonds.
5.5.6 BURIAL FUNDS AND PLOTS

5.5.6.A Burial Funds

Money set aside to pay for funerals and related expenses may be counted as an asset. When set up as a trust, prepaid burials can be paid for by cash, insurance policies, or annuities.

For treatment of burial funds by program, see Section 5.6.

5.5.6.B Burial Plots

SNAP, WV WORKS, and AFDC-Related Medicaid:

One burial space, regardless of the type, per AG member is excluded.

SSI Medicaid Groups:

Burial spaces that are intended for the use of the client, spouse, or any member of the immediate family, are excluded.

The immediate family includes:

- Parents, including adoptive parents;
- Minor or adult children, including adoptive, and stepchildren; and
- Siblings, including adoptive and stepsiblings.

Immediate family also includes the spouse of the above relatives. If the relative’s relationship to the client is by marriage only, the marriage must be in effect in order for the burial space exclusion to continue to apply.

Burial Spaces Example: An individual owns burial spaces, two of which are for his brother and sister-in-law. Two years after he purchases the spaces, his brother and sister-in-law divorce. The space originally intended for the sister-in-law is no longer excluded.
5.5.7 BUSINESS AND NON-BUSINESS PERSONAL PROPERTY

5.5.7.A Business Personal Property

SNAP:

- Excluded if used in a business. If not excluded as business property, the equity value is an asset.
- This exclusion continues during periods of unemployment due to physical inability to work as long as the individual intends to return to work when physically able.
- Vehicles and recreational vehicles/equipment are excluded regardless of use.

SSI Medicaid Groups:
The following are excluded as business personal property, regardless of the rate of return:

- Property currently used in a trade or business
- Property used by an individual as an employee for work
- Property required by an employer for work. Examples include, but are not limited to: tools, safety equipment, and uniforms.

The property must be in current use or has been in use, with a reasonable expectation that the use will resume within 12 months of last use. The 12-month period can be extended for an additional 12 months if nonuse is due to a disabling condition. Verification of the condition is not required. The exclusion ends as of the date the person changes his intent to resume the self-support enterprise or employment for which he uses the property.

Excluded Property Example 1: Ms. Dahlia has a small business in her home making hand-woven rugs. The looms and other equipment used in the business have a CMV of $7,000. Her equity is $5,500 because she owes $1,500 on the looms. The $5,500 equity is excluded because the equipment is used in a business.

Excluded Property Example 2: Mr. Woods owns a commercial fishing permit granted by the State Commerce Commission, a boat, and fishing tackle. The boat and tackle have an equity value of $6,500. The $6,500 equity is excluded because the boat and tackle are used in a business.
5.5.7.B Non-Business Personal Property

5.5.7.B.1 Income Producing

</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>

<td>Yes</td>
<td>No*</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Property that is annually producing income consistent with its CMV is excluded. Vehicles and recreational vehicles/equipment are excluded regardless of use. This includes vehicles used as a taxi, truck or a fishing boat. Equipment used by someone who live on a farm and uses the equipment for self-employment is also excluded.

SSI Medicaid Groups:

Up to $6,000 of an individual's equity in personal or real income-producing property is excluded, if it produces a net annual income of at least 6% of the excluded equity.

The minimum amount of net annual income the property must produce is $360.

If the individual's equity is greater than $6,000, only the amount that exceeds $6,000 is counted toward the asset limit, when the net annual income requirement of 6% is met on the excluded equity.

- Net annual income is the gross income from the enterprise, less the cost of doing business for a one-year period.
- If the activity produces less than a 6% return, due to circumstances beyond the individual's control, such as crop failure or illness, and there is a reasonable expectation that the individual's activity will again produce a 6% return, the property is excluded.
- If the individual owns more than one piece of property, and each produces income, each has the 6% rule applied. Then, the individual's equity in all of the properties producing 6% is totaled to determine if the total equity is $6,000 or less. The equity in those properties that do not meet the 6% rule is counted as an asset. If the individual's total equity in the properties producing 6% income is over the $6,000 equity limit, the amount of equity exceeding $6,000 is counted as an asset.

The procedure to determine if the property is excluded is as follows:

- Step 1: Add together the equity value of all personal and real business properties used in one enterprise.
• Step 2: If the Step 1 amount is less than $6,000, multiply that amount by .06. If the Step 1 amount is $6,000 or greater, multiply $6,000 by .06.

• Step 3: Compare the Step 2 amount to the net annual income. If the net annual income is equal to or greater than the amount in Step 2, subtract $6,000 from total equity value of the property(s). The remainder is an asset. If the net annual income is less than the amount arrived at in Step 2, the total equity of the property(s) is an asset.

Income Producing Example: Mr. Aster owns a mobile home, which is not his residence that has a CMV and equity value of $3,000. He owns other property that has a CMV and equity value of $2,000. The mobile home produces a net annual rental income of $750, and the other property produces less than $50 a year. Because the mobile home produces more than a 6% return, its equity value is excluded. Because the other property produces less than a 6% return, its equity value is counted.

EXCEPTION: Property that represents the authority granted by a governmental agency to engage in an income-producing activity is excluded if it is:

- Used in a trade, business, or non-business income-producing activity; or

- Not used due to circumstances beyond the individual's control (i.e., illness), and there is a reasonable expectation that the use will resume.

5.5.7.B.2 Necessary for Self-Support

SNAP:

Vehicles, recreational vehicles/equipment, and mobile homes are excluded regardless of use.

SSI Medicaid Groups:

Non-business personal and real property is considered essential for an individual and/or his spouse's self-support if it is used to produce goods or services necessary for his daily activities. This property includes real property, (i.e., land), which is used to produce vegetables or livestock for personal consumption only, (i.e., corn, tomatoes, chickens, cattle). Vehicles used solely in a non-business self-support activity (i.e., garden tractor, boat used for subsistence fishing) are included under this policy, but not vehicles as defined in Section 5.5.48 below. Property used to produce goods or services or property necessary to perform daily functions is excluded, if the individual's equity in the property does not exceed $6,000. The amount of equity in excess of $6,000 is counted toward the asset limit.

Necessary for Self-Support Example: Mr. Crocus owns a small unimproved lot several blocks from his home. He uses the lot, which is valued at $4,800, to grow vegetables and fruit, only for his own consumption. Because his equity in the property is less than $6,000, the property is excluded as necessary to self-support.

5.5.8 CASH ON HAND CASH SAVINGS

This is a countable asset, except when any portion of it is the current month's income. Once the amount of cash, including cash benefits in an Electronic Benefits Transfer (EBT) account, the balance of unearned or earned income remaining on a pay card or debit card, savings, or cash benefits in an EBT account is determined, any remainder is an asset.

NOTE: For SNAP, pre-paid credit and pre-paid debit cards are considered cash on hand.

SSI Medicaid Groups:

Grants, scholarships, fellowships, gifts, or portions of gifts set aside to pay tuition and other necessary educational expenses are excluded for nine months following the month of receipt. Any portion of these funds used to pay expenses, other than those related to education, is counted as income in the month it is used to pay another expense. See Section 4.14.4.C.

Liquid assets used in a trade or business are excluded as property essential to self-support.

5.5.9 COLLECTIONS

Goods and personal effects of unusual value such as, but not limited to, expensive china, silver, art work, antiques, or gun and coin collections.

AFDC-Related Medicaid and SSI Medicaid Groups:

Any admission or entrance fee paid to a CCRC, or life care community, is considered an asset if:

- The individual can use the entrance fee to pay for care when other income or assets are insufficient; and
- The individual is eligible for a refund at death or upon leaving the CCRC; and
- The fee does not confer an ownership interest in the CCRC. See Section 5.1 for the definition of a CCRC.

*NOTE: The admission or entrance fee is the full amount paid to become a resident of the CCRC.

5.5.14 EITC (EARNED INCOME TAX CREDIT)

SNAP:

EITC payments are excluded for 12 months from the date of receipt, if the recipient of the EITC is an AG member at the time of receipt and participates continuously during the 12-month period. AGs that temporarily do not participate for administrative reasons, (i.e., redetermination), but who are otherwise eligible, do not lose the exclusion.

WV WORKS:

EITC payments are excluded in the month of receipt and the following month only. This applies when received as part of the person’s pay or as one payment at end of the year.
SSI Medicaid Groups:

Remaining portions of EITC payments are excluded for 9 months following the month of receipt. This applies when received as part of the person’s pay or as one payment at the end of the year.

5.5.15 EQUIPMENT ESSENTIAL FOR EMPLOYMENT

SNAP:

Property, such as the tools of a tradesman or the machinery of a farmer, which is essential to the employment or self-employment of an AG member, is excluded. This exclusion continues during periods of unemployment due to physical inability to work as long as the individual intends to return to work when physically able. Property essential to the self-employment of an AG member engaged in farming is excluded for one year from the date he terminates his farming self-employment. Vehicles and recreational vehicles/equipment are excluded regardless of use.

SSI Medicaid Groups:

Property that is required by the individual’s employer is excluded, regardless of value, as long as the individual is employed. Examples of this type of equipment include tools, uniforms, safety equipment, and other similar equipment.

Also see Business and Non-Business Personal Property, and Real Property.

5.5.18 GIFT CARDS/CERTIFICATES

AFDC-Related Medicaid and SSI Medicaid Groups:

Any unspent balance remaining on a gift card or gift certificate is an asset beginning the month following the month the gift card or certificate is received by the individual UNLESS:

- The individual does not have the right, authority or power to convert or sell the gift card/certificate for cash; AND
- The card or certificate cannot be used to purchase food or shelter.

WV WORKS:

Gift cards are not counted unless the card can be converted to cash or sold. The cash or sale value is considered an asset the month following the month of receipt.

5.5.19 HEMOPHILIA/AIDS SETTLEMENTS AND FUNDS

All payments are excluded by federal law.

5.5.19.A Factor VIII or IX Concentrate Blood Products Litigation, MDL 986, No. 93-C-7452, ND of Illinois

SSI Medicaid Groups Only:

Other assets purchased with funds, such as a home or vehicle, are considered according to the policy for that asset. See Section 5.5.46 for Trusts established with these funds. See Chapter 24 for Transfers of Resources.
5.5.19.B  Ricky Ray Hemophilia Funds

SSI Medicaid Groups Only:
Other assets purchased with the funds, such as a home or vehicle, are considered according to the policy for that asset. See Section 5.5.46 for Trusts established with these funds. See Chapter 24 for Transfers of Resources.

Medicaid Groups Only:
Payments made from any fund established pursuant to a class settlement in the case of Susan Walker v. Bayer Corp., et al. are excluded. Payments made as a result of an individual release of claims, instead of the class settlement, are excluded when the agreement is signed by all affected parties on or before the later of December 31, 1997, or the date that is 270 days after the date on which the release is first sent to the persons to whom the payment is to be made.

Other assets purchased with the funds, such as a home or vehicle, are considered according to the policy for that asset. See Section 5.5.46 for Trusts established with these funds. See Chapter 24 for Transfers of Resources.

5.5.20  HIGHWAY RELOCATION ASSISTANCE PAYMENTS AND URBAN RENEWAL RELOCATION PAYMENTS
5.5.21 HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS, PERSONAL EFFECTS, AND PETS

Furniture, appliances, personal effects such as clothing, jewelry, and pets are excluded. Certain livestock may also be considered family pets. The Worker and Supervisor must determine on a case-by-case basis whether or not the livestock reasonably qualifies as a pet, taking into account the number of livestock/pets and their usage.

5.5.26 LAND SALE CONTRACT

WV WORKS, AFDC-Related and SSI Medicaid Groups:

The property is considered to belong to the buyer or purchaser as long as a legal contract is in effect but has no equity value until the terms of the contract are fulfilled. See Section 5.5.39 below for the Homestead exclusion when the buyer lives on the property.

When an individual holds a land sale contract as a creditor, the outstanding balance of principal payments is an asset unless there is a legal bar to the sale of the contract.

NOTE: If the buyer defaults on the contract, the property is considered to belong to the seller again. The buyer only has equity value in the property after the terms of the contract are fulfilled.

Property sold with a land sale contract is not considered to belong to the seller as long as a legal contract is in effect.

Land Sale Contract Example 1: Mr. Birch sold property with a land sale contract to Mr. Pine. Mr. Birch applies for SSI-related Medicaid and the property is not considered his asset because he has a legal contract in effect.

Land Sale Contract Example 2: Same situation as above, except Mr. Pine defaulted on the contract when he failed to make three payments by the terms of the contract. The property is now considered an asset for Mr. Birch because there is no legal contract in effect.
5.5.27 LIFE INSURANCE (CASH SURRENDER VALUE)

SSI Medicaid Groups:

If the face value of all life insurance policies for one individual totals $1,500 or less, the cash surrender values are not counted as an asset. If the face value of all life insurance policies for an individual is in excess of $1,500, the cash surrender values are counted as an asset. The life insurance policy must be owned by the client or by a person whose assets are deemed to him to be counted. If the consent of another individual is needed to surrender a policy for its full cash surrender value, and the consent cannot be obtained, the policy is not an asset. Assignment of a life insurance policy to another individual means consent of that individual is required before it can be cashed.

NOTE: Endowment Life Insurance Policies are considered balloon annuities and subject to a transfer penalty for LTC Services. See Section 24.8.

5.5.28 LIEAP (LOW-INCOME ENERGY ASSISTANCE PROGRAM) AND ENERGY CRISIS INTERVENTION PAYMENTS

The payments are excluded by federal law.

5.5.29 LOANS, NON-EDUCATIONALS

SNAP:

Loans for which there is a verbal or written agreement to repay are excluded.

AFDC-Related Medicaid:

- Loans that meet the definition of Bona Fide loans, as found in Chapter 4, are excluded as assets.
• When an individual holds a loan as a creditor, the outstanding balance of principal payments is an asset unless there is a legal bar to the sale of the loan agreement.

WV WORKS:

• Loans are normally counted as income. However, when a loan is excluded from consideration as income and has not been used for the intended purpose within three months of the date the money is received, the funds remaining at the end of three months are counted as an asset. The remaining amount of a loan that was counted as income in the month of receipt becomes an asset in the month following the month of receipt.

• When an individual holds a loan as a creditor, the outstanding balance of principal payments is an asset unless there is a legal bar to the sale of the loan agreement.

SSI Medicaid Groups:

• Loans received under conditions that preclude their use for living expenses are excluded.

• When an individual holds a loan as a creditor, the outstanding balance of principal payments is an asset unless there is a legal bar to the sale of the loan agreement.

When a lump-sum payment is received prior to the month of application, the amount remaining during the month of application is an asset. When a lump-sum payment is received by someone being added to an active AG, the amount retained during his month of application is an asset.

SNAP:

Non-recurring lump-sum payments are counted as assets. For recurring lump-sum payments, see Section 4.4.4.

WV WORKS:

• When the SSI recipient is under age 18 and SSA requires the establishment of a dedicated account for past-due monthly SSI payments, any lump-sum SSI back payment amount deposited in the dedicated account is excluded as an asset.

• If the funds are commingled with any other funds, except accumulated earnings or interest from the account, the exclusion does not apply to any portion of the account.
SSI Medicaid Groups:

- SSI Dedicated Accounts

  When an SSI recipient is under age 18 and SSA requires the establishment of a dedicated account for past-due monthly SSI payments, any lump-sum SSI back payment amount deposited in the dedicated account is excluded as an asset. If the funds are commingled with any other funds, except accumulated earnings or interest from the account, the exclusion does not apply to any portion of the account.

- Retirement, Survivors and Disability Insurance (RSDI) and SSI Underpayments

  The payments are excluded for nine months following the month of receipt.

- RSDI and SSI Restitution Payments for Misuse by a Representative Payee

  The payments are excluded for nine months following the month of receipt.

SSI Medicaid Groups:

The amount counted is the total cash value of the account or plan, minus the amount of the penalty, if any, that would be applied for the early withdrawal of the entire amount.

Pensions or other retirement funds of spouses ineligible to be included in the SSI-related Medicaid category because they are not aged, blind, or disabled are not deemed, nor are those belonging to parents or spouses of parents. Once removed from the pension or retirement account, the fund(s) is counted according to the policy for the asset to which it is converted (e.g., bank account, CD).
5.5.35.B 401(k) Plans

SNAP:
The cash value of these accounts is excluded, unless removed from the account.

WV WORKS and AFDC-Related Medicaid:

5.5.35.C IRA, Keogh, Simplified Employer Pension Plan, or Similar Plans

SNAP:
The following are excluded:

- Tax-preferred retirement accounts such as, but not limited to:
  - Simple 401(k)
  - 501(c)
  - 18, 403(b) plan
  - 457 plan
- Federal Employee Thrift Savings plan
- Keogh plan
- IRA
- Roth IRA
• SIMPLE IRA
• Simplified Employer plan
• Profit sharing plan
• Pension or traditional defined-benefit plan, or
• Cash Balance plans

WV WORKS and AFDC-Related Medicaid:

IRAs, Simplified Employer Pension Plans (SEPs), which are considered to be IRAs, and funds held in Keogh plans that do not involve the AG member in a contractual relationship with individuals who are not AG members, are counted as assets. The amount counted is the total cash value of the account or plan, minus the amount of the penalty, if any, that would be applied for the early withdrawal of the entire amount.

If the KEOGH Plan is such that individual participants may make withdrawals without affecting in any way other parties who are not AG members, the AG member’s funds in the KEOGH Plan, minus any penalty affecting him only, are counted as an asset. The exclusion of the Keogh plan involving more than one person does not apply if the other persons involved in the Plan are members of the AG.

SSI Medicaid Groups:

The amount counted is the total cash value of the account or plan, minus the amount of the penalty, if any, that would be applied for the early withdrawal of the entire amount.

Pensions or other retirement funds of spouses ineligible to be included in the SSI Medicaid Group category because they are not aged, blind, or disabled are not deemed, nor are those belonging to parents or spouses of parents. The outstanding principal balance in the month eligibility is determined is an asset, unless the client submits verification of a legal bar to the sale of the agreement or an estimate from a knowledgeable source that shows the CMV of the agreement is less than the outstanding principal balance. 5.5.39 REAL PROPERTY

Also see BUSINESS and NON-BUSINESS PERSONAL PROPERTY

See Section 5.3.5 CONVERSION OR SALE OF AN ASSET; COMPENSATION FOR LOSS OR DAMAGE

SNAP:

All real property, mobile homes and timber rights are excluded, regardless of use.
5.5.39.A Homestead Property

The client's homestead is the property on which he lives and which is owned, or is being purchased by him. It is the dwelling and the land on which the dwelling rests, which is not separated by intervening property owned by others. Public rights-of-way that run through the surrounding property and separate it from the home do not affect this exclusion. Any additional property acquired and not separated from the original acquisition by intervening property owned by others is also excluded.

The value of structures on the property, other than the client's dwelling, is included in the exemption whether or not they are income producing, except for mobile homes.

WV WORKS, AFDC-Related and SSI Medicaid Groups:

The value of any mobile home on the homestead property, if it is not the client's dwelling, is considered an asset, unless it is income-producing property. See below.

SSI Medicaid Groups:

Only one dwelling is established as the client's principal place of residence, and only the principal place of residence is excluded. See Section 5.1 for the definition of principal place of residence. When an individual leaves his principle place of residence for any reason, but intends to return to it, the home is excluded. The exclusion is based solely on the individual’s intent to return, even if the home is vacant or rented. The individual need not have the ability to return to the home, but must simply have the intent.

If an individual leaves the principal place of residence with no intent to return due to domestic abuse, the home continues to be excluded until the individual establishes a new principal place of residence or otherwise takes action rendering the home no longer excludable.

When an individual is institutionalized, his home remains his principal place of residence, regardless of his intent to return, as long as a spouse or dependent relative lives in the home. For purposes of the homestead exclusion only, a dependent relative is one who is dependent financially, medically, or as otherwise determined, upon the institutionalized person. The following are considered relatives of the institutionalized person: child, stepchild, or grandchild; parent, stepparent, or grandparent; aunt, uncle, niece, or nephew; brother or sister, including relations of step or half; cousin or in-law.
When the client has only a life estate interest in his principal place of residence, the value of the life estate interest is excluded. For more information, see below. Temporary absences from the home for trips, visits, hospitalizations, or institutionalization do not affect the homestead exclusion.

5.5.39.B Non-Homestead Property

Treatment of non-homestead property as an asset depends on its use.

All real property currently used in a trade or business is excluded, regardless of value or rate of return.

The property must be in current use or been in use, with a reasonable expectation that the use will resume within 12 months of last use. The 12-month period can be extended for an additional 12 months if nonuse is due to a disabling condition. Verification of the condition is not required. The exclusion ends as of the date the person changes his intent to resume the self-support enterprise or employment for which he uses the property.

WV WORKS:

Any non-excluded real property that the AG is making a good faith effort to sell is excluded for six months. A good faith effort means that the property is currently available for sale through a real estate agent or through publication.

The only time this exclusion applies is when the client has agreed in writing, using a DFA-22, to dispose of the property within the six-month exclusion period. Any TANF payments made to the AG during this disposition period must be repaid to the Department once the client disposes of the asset.

If, for any reason, the client fails to dispose of the property, or the case is closed during the exclusion period, all of the payments made to the AG must be repaid. If, at the end of the six-month period, the client has failed to dispose of the property, it must be counted as an asset.

AFDC-Related Medicaid:

The equity in real property, other than homestead property, is an asset.

SSI Medicaid Groups:

When the client's non-excluded real property is not used in a trade or business, or does not meet the $6,000 or the $6,000/6% limitation, the equity in the property is an asset.

5.5.39.C Life Estates

When the client establishes a life estate with his own property, the property itself is no longer an asset to him because ownership has been transferred. However, the value of the life estate is treated as an asset when it is not the client's principal place of residence. The value is determined as follows:

• Step 1: Determine the CMV of the property.
• Step 2: Determine the age of the life estate holder, as of his last birthday and the life estate factor for that age found in Appendix A. The table contained in the WV State Code is not used; only Appendix A is used.
• Step 3: Multiply the CMV by the life estate factor determined in Step 2. The resulting amount is counted as an asset for the life estate holder.

If the client believes the life estate is worth less than the determined value, he must provide proof of a lower value.

NOTE: For long-term care cases, a penalty may be applied for transferring property when retaining a life estate or for purchasing a life estate interest in another individual's home. See Chapter 24.

When property is transferred to a client by someone who retains a life estate interest in the property, the transferred property is counted as an asset, unless the client cannot legally dispose of it.

5.5.46 TRUST FUNDS

In general, if the client has unrestricted access to the principal of the trust, it must be counted as an asset.

SNAP:

Any funds in a trust or transferred to a trust, and any income produced by that trust, are considered inaccessible to the AG and excluded if:

- The trust arrangement is not likely to cease before the next redetermination and no AG member has the power to revoke the trust arrangement or change the name of the beneficiary before the next redetermination; and
- The trustee administering the funds is either:
  - A court, or an institution, corporation, or organization that is not under the direction or ownership of any AG member, or
  - An individual appointed by the court who has court-imposed limitations placed on his use of the funds that meet all other fund requirements found in this item; and
• Trust investments made on behalf of the trust do not directly involve or assist any business or corporation under the control, direction, influence of an AG member; and
• The funds held in irrevocable trust are either:
  o Established from the AG's own funds, if the trustee uses the funds solely to make investments on behalf of the trust or to pay education or medical expenses of any person named by the AG creating the trust, or o Established from non-AG funds by a non-AG member.

When withdrawals are made from a trust fund, see Chapter 4 for policy about treatment of the withdrawal as income.

Dividends that the AG has the option of either receiving as income or reinvesting in the trust are not assets. See Chapter 4 for treatment of dividends.

A client cannot be required to petition the court for the use of the trust. In addition, this fund cannot be presumed to be available to the client.

WV WORKS, AFDC-Related and SSI Medicaid Groups:

For SSI Medicaid, AFDC-Related and SSI Medicaid Groups, M-WIN, CDCS, PAC, QDWI, QMB, SLIMB, and QI-1, this section applies to any trust established on or after August 11, 1993. For trusts prior to August 11, 1993, see Appendix B of this chapter.

• For WV WORKS, this item applies to any trust established on or after January 1, 1997. Trusts established prior to January 1, 1997, are not counted as assets.

Generally, all trusts are counted as assets, regardless of their purpose, restrictions on distributions, or on the trustee's discretion to distribute the funds, whether acted on or not. There are exceptions to this general rule and there is a difference in the treatment of trusts established by a will and those not established by a will. In addition, sometimes revocable and irrevocable trusts are treated differently. Details are found below.

If a trust is made up of the client's resources and those of one or more other persons, only the amount established with the client's resources is counted.

For purposes of this item, the terms "individual" or "client" include:

• The client
• His spouse
• Any person, including a court or administrative body, with legal authority to act in place of, or on behalf of, the individual or the individual's spouse
• Any person, including a court or administrative body, acting at the direction of, or upon the request of, the individual or the individual's spouse
5.5.46.A Trust Established by Will

A trust is treated as an asset only to the extent that it is available to the client. Clauses included in a trust that limit the trustee's use of the funds (e.g., exculpatory clauses) are recognized and the amount of funds affected by such exculpatory clauses is excluded. Irrevocable trusts are excluded, regardless of the amount. There is no penalty for the placement of funds in an irrevocable trust.

5.5.46.B Trusts Not Established by Will

When the following two conditions are met, the trust policy contained below in this item is applied. If the two conditions are not met, the fund is treated as any other bank account.

1. An individual has established a trust when his resources were used to form all or part of the corpus of the trust.

2. Any of the following persons established the trust for the individual by any vehicle other than by will:
   - Individual
   - Individual's spouse
   - A person, including a court or administrative body, with legal authority to act in place of, or on behalf of, the individual or the individual's spouse
   - A person, including any court or administrative body, acting at the direction of, or upon the request, of the individual or the individual's spouse.

5.5.46.C Excluded Trusts

In the following four trust situations, the trust is totally excluded. In addition, establishment of these trusts is not treated as an uncompensated transfer of resources, as defined in Chapter 24 and Section 5.7.

For excluded trusts 1 and 2 below, the SSA definition of disability is used. Therefore, any person medically approved for or receiving SSI, based on disability, meets the definition, as well as persons who have been determined disabled by the Medical Review Team (MRT). If no disability determination has been made, the case must be submitted for a MRT decision. See Section 13.8.

1. A trust containing the assets of an individual, under age 65, who is disabled, and which is established for his benefit by a parent, grandparent, legal guardian, or a court. The individual may establish the trust for himself on or after December 13, 2016. The exception continues even after the individual becomes age 65, as long as he continues to be disabled. This is commonly known as a special needs trust. To qualify for the exception, a trust must contain a provision that the State will receive all amounts remaining in the trust upon the death of the individual, up to the total Medicaid payments made on his behalf.

2. A trust that contains the assets of an individual who is disabled and that meets all of the following conditions:
   - The trust is established and managed by a non-profit association;
   - A separate account is maintained for each beneficiary of the trust, but, for purposes of investment and management of funds, the trust pools the funds in these accounts;
   - Accounts in the trusts are established solely for the benefit of the disabled individual; and,
   - Accounts in the trusts are established by the individual, his parent, grandparent, legal guardian or by a court.
   - The trust must include a specific provision that amounts remaining in the individual’s account that are not retained by the trust upon the client’s death, must be used to reimburse the State for Medicaid and/or WV WORKS payments which were made on the individual’s behalf.

NOTE: When an individual is approved for Medicaid and/or WV WORKS and has an excluded trust, the State must be the beneficiary. The Worker must fax a copy of the trust document and the client’s name, case number and the name of the power-of-attorney or representative, if applicable, to the current contract agency for Estate Recovery. Information about this agency is in Chapter 24, Appendix E.

3. Burial trusts that meet all of the following conditions:
   - The individual signs a contract with the funeral director promising prepayment in return for specific funeral merchandise and services.
   - The contract is irrevocable.
• The individual pays the agreed-upon amount to the funeral director in the form of a direct cash payment, purchase, or transfer of a life insurance policy or annuity that is assigned to the funeral director.

• The funeral director, in turn, places the pre-need payment or device into a trust or escrow account that the funeral director establishes himself. If the client establishes the trust or other device himself, the amount may be considered a transfer of resources. See Chapter 24 and Section 5.7.

4. A trust established with a settlement or funds received from the following:

• Factor VIII or IX Concentrate Blood Products Litigation, MDL 986, No. 93-C-7452, ND of Illinois
• Ricky Ray Fund
• Walker v. Bayer Settlement

5.5.46.D Revocable Trusts

Once the Worker determines that the trust was not established by a will and is not determined to be an excluded trust, the following rules apply:

• The corpus of the trust is considered an available asset.
• Payments from the trust to the client or for his benefit are counted as income.

5.5.46.E Irrevocable Trusts

Once the Worker determines the trust was not established by a will and does not meet one of the exceptions above, the following rules apply:

• If there are any circumstances under which payments from the trust could be made to the client or for his benefit, that portion of the corpus, or the interest, is an asset.
• If payments are made from the available corpus, or interest, to the client or for his benefit, the amount is treated as income.

5.5.46.E.1 Payment for the Client’s Benefit

Throughout the Irrevocable Trusts section "payments made on behalf of the client" or "for his benefit" means payments of any kind to another entity, such that the client derives some benefit from the payment. This may include, but is not limited to, clothing; television; payments for services or care rendered, whether medical or personal; payments to maintain a home, etc. Any payment for the benefit of the client is counted, even if it is not customarily counted in determining Medicaid and/or WV WORKS eligibility.

In determining whether payments can or cannot be made from a trust, take into account any restrictions on payments, such as use restrictions, exculpatory clauses, limits on trustee discretion, etc., that may be included in the trust.

Payment for the Client’s Benefit Example 1: A trust provides that the trustee can disburse only $1,000 out of a $20,000 trust. Only the $1,000 is treated as a payment that could be made to the client or for his benefit. The remaining $19,000 is treated as an amount that cannot, under any circumstances, be paid to, or for the benefit of the individual.

In determining whether payments can or cannot be made from a trust, the Worker must take into account restrictions included in the trust on how payments can be made; the Worker must not take into account when payments can be made. When a trust provides, in some manner, that a payment can be made, even though that payment may be sometime in the future, the trust must be treated as providing that payment can be made from the trust.

Payment for the Client’s Benefit Example 2: A trust contains $50,000 that the trustee can disburse only in the event that the grantor needs a heart transplant. The full amount is payment that could be made under some circumstances, even though the likelihood of payment is remote if the client does not have heart problems.

5.5.46.F Undue Hardship Caused by Trust

There is a hardship provision for LTC Medicaid that allows the DHHR to exclude a trust when counting it results in undue hardship for the client. All decisions about undue hardship are made by the Undue Hardship Waiver Committee. Any requests for such a determination are submitted in writing and must show complete details about the undue hardship that will result. See "UNDUE HARDSHIP" in Section 5.1 and Section 24.8.

5.5.48 VEHICLES

The owner of a vehicle is generally the individual to whom it is titled. However, when the title of a vehicle is not in the client's name, but the client states he is the owner, the vehicle is counted as the client's asset. If the title is in the client's name, and he indicates the vehicle no longer belongs to him, and the name on the title has not been changed, the vehicle is presumed to be his, unless he can prove otherwise. Only those vehicles of members of the AG, individuals who are disqualified or excluded by law and who would otherwise be required to be included, are considered when determining vehicle assets.

A leased vehicle, in which the individual has no equity and which he cannot sell, is excluded.

The trade-in value is usually used as the CMV for AFDC-Related, SSI Medicaid Groups, and WV WORKS.

See Sections 5.5.40 and 5.5.41 for RECREATIONAL VEHICLES and EQUIPMENT.

The trade-in value is not increased by adding the value of low-mileage or other factors, such as optional equipment or special equipment for the disabled.

Possible sources for obtaining the trade-in value are listed in Section 7.3. Throughout the following items, the term “listed value” refers to the value obtained from one of the sources in Section 7.3.

5.5.48.A SNAP

All vehicles, including recreational vehicles and equipment, as defined in Section 5.1, are excluded for SNAP.
5.5.48.B WV WORKS

For WV WORKS, equity is not a factor in any step of the process to determine countable vehicle assets.

- Step 1: Exclusion of One Vehicle as defined in Section 5.1 per Work-Eligible Individual in the household

  One (1) vehicle per Work-Eligible Individual in the household is excluded regardless of value.

- Step 2: Determining Current Market Value of All Non-Excluded Vehicles

  The listed trade-in value of the vehicle is used, unless one of the following conditions exists:

  o The client disagrees with the listed value.

  The client is responsible for obtaining one estimate on form DFA-V-1, Vehicle Estimate. The Department assumes any expense incurred in obtaining this estimate, using form BA-67. If the Department has no objection to the client's estimate, it is accepted as the CMV. The listed value is not used once an estimate of the value has been obtained.

  If the Department determines that the estimate obtained by the client is unreasonable, a second estimate is obtained by the Worker from a qualified appraiser of the Department's choice. Form BA-67 is used to pay for the second estimate. This estimate and the client's estimate are averaged to arrive at the CMV.

  o The vehicle is not listed.

  In this situation, the client's statement of the value of the vehicle(s) is accepted unless it appears incorrect. If the client's statement appears incorrect, the Worker requires that the client obtain one estimate. A DFA-V-1 is used, and payment, when required, is made by the Department, using a BA-67.

  If the vehicle is listed as junk with the Department of Motor Vehicles, as indicated on the title of the vehicle, a sale value of $25 is assigned to it, and that amount used as the value.

- Step 3: Determining Asset Value of All Non-Excluded Vehicles

  The CMV as determined in Step 2 above, of all non-excluded vehicles, is counted in its entirety, regardless of the client's equity.
The following steps are used to determine asset value for AFDC-Related Medicaid:

AFDC-Related Medicaid:

- Step 1: When the AG Has Only One Vehicle

  One vehicle is excluded, provided the equity does not exceed $1,500. When the equity of the vehicle is greater than $1,500, the excess amount is an asset. If the client disagrees with the value or the value cannot be obtained, procedures in Step 2 are followed to determine equity.

- Step 2: Determining Equity in All Vehicles

  The listed trade-in value of the vehicle is used, unless one of the following conditions exists:

  - The client disagrees with the listed value.

    The client is responsible for obtaining one estimate on form DFA-V-1, Vehicle Estimate. The DHHR assumes any expense incurred in obtaining this estimate, using form BA-67. If the Department has no objection to the client's estimate, it is accepted as the value used in determining equity. The listed value is not used once an estimate has been obtained.

    If the DHHR determines that the estimate obtained by the client is unreasonable, a second estimate is obtained by the Worker from a qualified appraiser of the Department's choice. Form BA-67 is used to pay for the estimate. This estimate and the client's estimate are averaged to arrive at a value used in determining countable equity.

  - The vehicle value is not listed.

    In this situation, the client's statement of the value of the vehicle(s) is accepted unless it appears incorrect. If the statement appears incorrect, the Worker requires that the client obtain one estimate. Form DFA-V-1 is used, and payment, when required, is made by the DHHR, using a BA-67. If the vehicle is listed as junk with the Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV), as indicated on the title of the vehicle, a sale value of $25 is assigned to it, and that amount used as the CMV.

    In determining the countable value of the vehicle(s), only the equity is counted. Once the CMV is determined, the amount of the periodic installment payment is multiplied by the number of payments remaining. The result is subtracted from the CMV to determine the equity. Only when the client indicates he intends to pay off the vehicle... in a lump sum is the pay-off amount used instead of the amount of remaining payments.

- Step 3: Determining Asset Value of All Vehicles

After equity is determined for each vehicle, $1,500 is subtracted from the one with the highest equity. Any amount in excess of the $1,500 is an asset for that vehicle. In addition, the equity in all other vehicles is counted in its entirety. See Step 1 above.

AFDC-Related Medicaid Vehicle Asset Value Example: A client has three (3) vehicles. The listed values are:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Vehicle</th>
<th>Value</th>
<th>Vehicle</th>
<th>Value</th>
<th>Vehicle</th>
<th>Value</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A</td>
<td>$2,500</td>
<td>B</td>
<td>$1,500</td>
<td>C</td>
<td>$1,750</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The client disagrees with the listed values of Vehicles B and C. He obtains estimates for Vehicles B and C as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Vehicle</th>
<th>Value</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>B</td>
<td>$900</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C</td>
<td>$1,200</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The DHHR disagrees with the estimate obtained for Vehicle B and obtains another estimate of $1,100.

The values used to determine countable equity are found by using the listed value for Vehicle A, accepting the client-obtained estimate for Vehicle C and by averaging the two estimates for Vehicle B. Therefore, the countable equity is determined as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Vehicle</th>
<th>Value</th>
<th>Value</th>
<th>Value</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A</td>
<td>$2,500</td>
<td>$1,000</td>
<td>$1,200</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B</td>
<td>$-300 Owed</td>
<td>$-400 Owed</td>
<td>$-500 Owed</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C</td>
<td>$2,200 Equity</td>
<td>$600 Equity</td>
<td>$700 Equity</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Vehicle A is the vehicle with the highest equity; Vehicle A receives the $1,500 exclusion.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Vehicle A</th>
<th>Vehicle B</th>
<th>Vehicle C</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>$2,200</td>
<td>$600</td>
<td>$700</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-1,500</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>700</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Total Vehicle Asset Value = $2,000. The case is asset eligible.

SSI Medicaid Groups:

One vehicle is excluded as an asset for these coverage groups regardless of value, when it is used for transportation of the AG or a member(s) of the AG’s household. For SSI-related policy, vehicles used for transportation include, but are not limited to, cars, trucks, motorcycles, boats, snowmobiles, animal-drawn vehicles, and animals. A temporarily disabled vehicle, normally used for transportation, also meets the criteria. The following do not meet the definition of a vehicle for SSI-related Medicaid groups:

- A vehicle with a junked title
- A vehicle only used for recreational purposes, such as a boat or snowmobile

When there is more than one vehicle, the vehicle exclusion is always applied in a manner that benefits the AG. The car with the highest value may not be the vehicle used for transportation; however, it may be excluded for that reason, if it is to the AG’s advantage.

SSI-Related Medicaid Vehicle Asset Example: Mr. Pine owns a first vehicle with a CMV of $18,000 and his equity is $1,000. He also owns a second vehicle with equity value of $3,640. This amount exceeds the asset limit. Mr. Pine states he uses the first vehicle for transportation. Based on Mr. Pine’s statement, the first car would be excluded for transportation and the equity in the second vehicle would be an asset. However, because the equity in the first vehicle is only $1,000, the second vehicle is excluded for transportation because it is more advantageous to Mr. Pine.

- Step 1: Exclusion Based on Use
  One vehicle is totally excluded, regardless of its value, when it is used for transportation of the AG or a member(s) of the AG’s household.

- Step 2: Determining CMV of all non-excluded vehicles.
  The equity value of any other vehicle(s) that is not excluded in Step 1 is an asset, unless the vehicle(s) is excluded by other policy, such as property essential to self-support.

The listed trade-in value of the vehicle is used to determine equity value, unless one of the following conditions exist:

- The client disagrees with the listed value.
- The vehicle value is not listed.

In either of these situations, the client is responsible for obtaining one estimate at his expense on form DFA-V-1, Vehicle Estimate, or providing similar documentation that contains the necessary information to establish CMV. If the DHHR has no objection to the client's estimate, it is accepted as the value used in determining equity. The listed value is not used once an estimate has been obtained.

5.6 ASSETS OF PERSONS IN SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCES

5.6.1 SNAP

The countable assets of the AG include all assets of the AG members and any individuals excluded by law or disqualified, including ineligible noncitizens. See Chapter 3. For information about the assets of non-citizens, see Chapter 15.

When an asset is deemed, the full equity value is deemed with no disregards or deductions applied.

5.6.1.A Assets of Those Disqualified, Ineligible, or Excluded by Law

The assets of non-AG members are not counted in determining the AG’s eligibility.

However, ineligible noncitizens, disqualified individuals, and individuals excluded by law must have their assets deemed to the AG. See Section 3.2.1.B for a list of disqualified individuals and those excluded by law.

The same asset exclusions that apply to AG members also apply to ineligible noncitizens and those who are disqualified or excluded by law.

5.6.1.B Assets of Ineligible Students

If a student is found ineligible to participate in Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) because he does not meet the criteria for student eligibility, his assets are excluded. See Section 3.2.1.E for student eligibility information.

5.6.1.C Jointly Owned Assets

The treatment of jointly owned assets becomes significant when all the joint owners are not included in the AG. An asset is considered jointly owned when the client has an investment in it or his name appears on it. Also see Section 5.2.
5.6.1.C.1  All Joint Owners Are in the AG

When all joint owners are in the AG, the total equity is counted, unless one of the joint owners is a WV WORKS or Supplemental Security Income (SSI) recipient. See 5.6.1.D.

5.6.1.C.2  All Joint Owners Are Not in the AG

If all of the joint owners are not in the AG, the asset owned jointly is considered available in its entirety to the AG, unless it can be demonstrated that such assets are inaccessible. If the AG can demonstrate that it has access to only a portion of the asset, the value of that portion is counted as an asset.

NOTE: When a client cannot dispose of his share of an asset without the consent of the other owner(s), and the consent is withheld, the asset is excluded as inaccessible.

EXCEPTION: Bank accounts that are jointly owned with deployed service persons are considered inaccessible as long as the AG can document that the access is for the sole purpose of attending to the service person’s affairs and cannot be used for the AGs own purposes. See Section 7.3 for verification. If the funds are used for the AG, the account is considered accessible.

All Joint Owners Are Not in the AG Example 1: Three people own a racehorse valued at $20,000. One of them applies for SNAP. The horse cannot be sold without the consent of all three owners and each person may sell his interest only to the other two owners. The other two owners do not want to buy the applicant's interest in the property at this time. The asset is excluded.

All Joint Owners Are Not in the AG Example 2: Same situation as above, except that the agreement does not stipulate that only the other two owners may buy the interest in the asset. One-third of the equity in the property is assigned to the client as an asset.
5.6.1.C.3  Residents of Shelters for Battered Persons

Assets are considered inaccessible to persons residing in shelters for battered persons when:

- The assets are jointly owned with persons they lived with prior to entering the shelter; and
- The shelter resident's access is dependent upon the agreement of a joint owner who still resides in the former household.

5.6.1.D  Special Considerations Depending on the AG Composition

5.6.1.D.1  Categorical Eligibility

SNAP AGs that meet the requirements for Categorical Eligibility found in Section 1.4.17, are not required to meet an asset eligibility test.

5.6.1.D.2  AGs Not Categorically Eligible

Clients who are included in an AG that has at least one person that is disqualified due to an IPV, or ineligible due to the striker provisions, or is in a penalty for transfer of asset, must meet an asset eligibility test. See Section 1.4.17.
5.6.1.D.3  Asset Determination Based on AG Composition

The diagram below summarizes the process of determining asset eligibility for SNAP AGs:

SNAP Assistance Group

- If the AG is categorically eligible as defined in Section 1.4.17.C.1, the AG is asset eligible.
  - If the AG is not categorically eligible as defined in Section 1.4.17.C.2, disregard all assets belonging wholly or in part to any SSI recipient that is part of the AG. Add together assets of all other AG members.
  - If countable assets are equal to or less than the asset limit, the AG is asset eligible.
  - If countable assets are above the asset limit, the entire AG is ineligible for SNAP.

NOTE: The asset limits for SNAP, as found in Section 5.6, apply.

5.6.1.E  Retroactive Payments

These monies are counted as an asset when retained into the month following the month of receipt.
EXCEPTION: When the Social Security Administration (SSA) requires the establishment of a dedicated account for past-due monthly SSI payments, the amount in the dedicated fund is an excluded asset. This applies, when based on the amount, SSA is required to deposit the funds directly in the dedicated account and when funds are deposited there at the discretion of the representative payee. See Chapter 4 for treatment of disbursements from the dedicated account.

NOTE: This provision does not apply to stocks, bonds, and negotiable financial instruments.

5.6.1.F Low Profit from the Sale of an Asset

In addition to assets that may be considered inaccessible according to the provisions above, an asset that meets one of the following criteria is considered inaccessible and is, therefore, excluded because it cannot be sold for a significant return:

- The asset has an expected sale price of $1,500 or less; or
- The cost of selling the asset will likely result in a return of $1,500 or less. The AG’s ownership interest must also be considered when determining the potential return.

This applies to a single asset, not to a combination of assets.

NOTE: An asset cannot be subdivided solely to obtain an exclusion as inaccessible.

5.6.1.G Burial Funds

The value of one funeral agreement per AG member is excluded. In addition, any burial funds in an irrevocable trust are excluded.
5.6.2 WV WORKS AND AFDC-RELATED MEDICAID

When an asset is deemed, the full countable value is deemed with no disregards or deductions applied.

5.6.2.A Assets of Disqualified/Ineligible Individuals

5.6.2.A.1 AFDC-Related Medicaid

The countable assets used for the AG include all assets of the members of the Income Group, except that the assets of a child are not counted for his sibling(s) or for his parent(s).

Assets of the ineligible stepparent are deemed to the parent, but never to the stepchildren.

The asset limit used for the AG is based on the size of the Needs Group. See Chapter 3 for determining Needs Group composition. Assets of all the members of the Income Group are counted, except that the assets of a child are never counted for his sibling(s) or for his parents.

Stepparent Asset Limit Example: A mother and three children are included in the AFDC-Related Medicaid AG. Her husband, who is the stepfather of the recipient children, and his two dependent children are in the home. The asset limit for the mother is the asset limit for a seven-person Needs Group. The asset limit for the children is the asset limit for a four-person Needs Group.

5.6.2.A.2 WV WORKS

The countable assets of the AG include all assets of the AG members and of individuals excluded by law or disqualified, who would otherwise be required to be included.

The assets of disqualified individuals, those excluded by law, and excluded SSI recipients age 18 or over, who would otherwise be required to be included in the AG, are counted as if they were members of the AG. The WV WORKS asset exclusions are applied and the remainder is counted. Assets of other ineligible persons are not deemed. For jointly owned assets, see below.
➢ WV WORKS Individuals Excluded by Law or Disqualified

Individuals convicted in federal or state court of having made a fraudulent statement or representation about residence to receive TANF, WV WORKS, Medicaid, SNAP, or SSI are ineligible for 10 years from the date of the conviction. The conviction must have occurred on or after August 23, 1996.

Individuals who are fleeing to avoid prosecution, or custody/confinement after conviction, for a felony or an attempt to commit a felony.

An individual convicted of a felony under federal or state law when the offense involves the possession, use or distribution of a controlled substance, as defined in Section 102(6) of the Controlled Substance Act and when the offense occurred on or after August 23, 1996.

Individuals who are violating a condition of probation or parole which was imposed under federal or state law.

A parent(s) or other included caretaker who does not report that a child is, or will be, out of his home for at least 30 consecutive days.

5.6.2.B Jointly Owned Assets

Also see Section 5.4.

5.6.2.B.1 AFDC-Related Medicaid

Treatment of jointly owned assets becomes significant when all the joint owners are not included in the AG.

➢ All Joint Owners in the AG

If all joint owners are in the AG, the total equity in the asset is counted as an asset for the AG.

➢ All Joint Owners Not in the AG

If all joint owners are not in the AG, the following general rules apply:
• If a non-SSI recipient parent is in the home and is not included in the AG, his assets are available to his spouse and children in their entirety.

• The assets available to the AG from the ineligible parent are:
  o The value of the assets owned solely by the ineligible parent; and o The asset value assigned to him as a result of joint ownership.

• The assets considered available to the AG from the ineligible spouse, who is not a parent of the dependent children, is the asset value assigned to the eligible spouse as a result of this joint ownership.

• The assets considered available to the AG from other joint ownership is the countable asset value assigned to the AG member as a result of the joint ownership plus any other assets owned solely by AG members.

Asset Example 1: A woman receives AFDC-Related Medicaid for herself and her children from a previous marriage. She is now remarried and living with her husband. She and her current husband jointly own all their assets (John Oak or Mary Oak). Their countable assets total $3,000. All of this amount is counted as an asset because the woman is in the AG, and because the jointly owned assets are considered available to her in their entirety.

Asset Example 2: Same situation as above except that the woman is not included in the AG. Because the jointly owned assets are considered hers in their entirety, and her children are in the AG, all of the $3,000 in assets is counted.

Asset Example 3: A woman, separated from her husband, receives AFDC-Related Medicaid for herself and her children. She and her husband jointly owned property and neither can sell his interest in it. Her husband refuses to sell the property and divide the money. The property is excluded, as long as she is unable to sell her interest.

Asset Example 4: A woman and her three children apply for AFDC-Related Medicaid. The woman owns her homestead property and another piece of land valued at $600. In addition, she and her sister jointly own property valued at $750. The deed shows the owners as Betty and Wilma Pine. They are trying to sell the property. The value assigned to the applicant is $975, i.e., the total value of the land she owns alone plus ½ of the value of the jointly owned property.

5.6.2.B.2 Assets Jointly Owned by an AFDC-Related Medicaid Client and an SSI Recipient

Treatment of assets jointly owned with an SSI recipient depends on the type of asset.
➢ Bank Accounts

When the joint owner, who is an SSI recipient, does not successfully rebut the presumption of ownership through SSA, all account funds are considered to belong totally to the SSI recipient. Otherwise, the portion that SSA determines not be his due to his successful rebuttal is considered to belong to the other joint owner(s).

➢ Other Assets

For assets other than bank accounts, unless there is evidence to the contrary, assume that each owner owns only his fractional interest of the shared asset.

5.6.2.B.3 WV WORKS

Treatment of jointly owned assets becomes significant when all the joint owners are not included in the AG.

➢ All Joint Owners in the AG

If all joint owners are in the AG, the total countable value of the asset is counted as an asset for the AG.

➢ All Joint Owners Not in the AG

If all joint owners are not in the AG, the following general rules apply:

- The non-excluded assets of an individual who is excluded by a law or disqualified, who would otherwise be required to be included, are available to his spouse and children in their entirety.

- The assets available to the AG from the disqualified individual are:
  - The value of the assets owned solely by the disqualified individual; and
  - The asset value assigned to the disqualified individual as a result of joint ownership.

- The assets considered available to the AG from other joint ownership is the countable asset value assigned to the AG as a result of the joint ownership, plus any other assets owned solely by AG members.
All Joint Owners Not in the AG Example 1: A WV WORKS AG consists of a mother, her 2 children, and her husband, who is a stepparent to the children. The mother and her husband are convicted of selling drugs, but receive probation. The mother owns a vehicle with a current market value (CMV) of $18,000 and a piece of property she owns jointly with her brother with a total value of $400. Her husband owns a vehicle valued at $700. Even though neither adult qualifies to be included in the AG, their assets are counted for the children as follows: $200 for ½ the value of the mother's jointly owned property. The mother’s and husband’s vehicles are excluded.

All Joint Owners Not in the AG Example 2: A woman receives WV WORKS for herself and her child. Her husband, who is the child’s stepfather, is disqualified. The woman and her husband own a piece of property in Ohio. They own this property jointly with the woman’s brother, who currently lives in a trailer on the property. Each owns an equal share of the property that has a CMV of $1,550. Each person’s share of the CMV of the property is $516.66. The woman’s share is counted as an asset because she is included in the AG. The stepfather is disqualified, but his share still counts for the AG because he would normally be required to be included in the AG. The woman’s brother's share is not counted as an asset; he does not live with the AG, is not included and is not required to be included. The total amount counted as an asset from this property for the AG is $1,033.32 or $1,033.

5.6.2.C Special Considerations Depending on AG Composition

For AFDC-Related Medicaid Only: Assets of a child are never counted for sibling(s) or for a parent(s), even though the child is included in the Needs Group of his sibling(s) and parent(s).

5.6.2.D Retroactive Payments

Retroactive payments are counted as an asset when retained into the month following the month of receipt.
5.6.2.E Burial Funds

5.6.2.E.1 WV WORKS

Burial funds of up to $1,500 for each AG member may be excluded, provided any amount in an irrevocable burial trust is excluded in its entirety first. This limits the amount of other excludable burial funds.

- If the irrevocable trust is $1,500 or more, no other burial funds may be excluded.
- If the irrevocable trust is less than $1,500, the difference between $1,500 and the irrevocable trust may be excluded.

To qualify for all or a portion of the $1,500 exclusion, burial funds must be formal agreements, such as burial contracts, burial trusts, or other funeral arrangements. Bank accounts, money set aside for burial and the cash surrender value of life insurance policies are not considered burial funds; they are countable assets.

5.6.2.E.2 AFDC-Related Medicaid

See Section 5.6.3.D below. For these coverage groups, the $3,000 limit on burial funds applies to each member of the AG.

5.6.3 SSI MEDICAID GROUPS

When an asset is deemed, the full equity value is deemed with no disregards or deductions applied.

5.6.3.A Assets of Disqualified/Ineligible Individuals

Assets of disqualified/ineligible individuals are deemed. The method of deeming depends on whether the individual is an adult or a child.
5.6.3.A.1  Adults

To determine the countable assets of the AG, the assets of spouses, including ineligible/illegal noncitizens, who are living together are combined.

Assets of an SSI Medicaid Group recipient and his spouse who lives with him are added together and compared to the asset level for two.

5.6.3.A.2  Children

When the child lives with one parent, including an illegal non-citizen, and there is no stepparent, all assets of the parent that exceed the asset limit for one person are deemed to the child. The child's assets are then compared to the asset limit for one.

When the child is living with both parents, or a parent and stepparent, including an ineligible/illegal noncitizen, assets of the parent(s) and/or stepparent that exceed the limit for two are deemed to the child. The child's assets are compared to the asset limit for one.

Child Asset Example: An application for a 10-year-old child is submitted for SSI-Related Medicaid. He is living with his mother, his stepfather, and two minor dependent sisters, none of whom are Medicaid eligible. The child's assets are $500. The combined assets of the mother and stepfather are $4,000. The asset limit for 2 is $3,000. Assets of $1000 are deemed to the child whose total assets are now $1500. The asset limit for one person is used to determine the child's asset eligibility.

For CDCSP, only the child's own assets are counted.

5.6.3.B  Jointly Owned Assets

The treatment of jointly owned assets depends upon the relationship of the joint owners and whether or not all the joint owners are included in the AG.

5.6.3.B.1  Joint Ownership by Spouses

For spouses, joint ownership is not the deciding factor.
Spouses Who Live Together

For spouses who live together, the assets of one spouse are counted in their entirety for the other spouse. The asset limit for two is used.

Spouses Who Do Not Live Together

For spouses who do not live together, only the jointly owned assets that are accessible to the applicant are counted toward the asset limit. The asset limit for one is used.

When one spouse is institutionalized, assets are treated as though they live together, even if they lived apart prior to institutionalization. See Chapter 24 for long term care applicants.

5.6.3.B.2 Joint Ownership with an SSI Recipient

Treatment of assets jointly owned with an SSI recipient depends on the type of asset.

Bank Accounts

When the joint owner, who is an SSI recipient, does not successfully rebut the presumption of ownership through SSA, all account funds are considered to belong totally to the SSI recipient. Otherwise, the portion that SSA determines not to be his due to his successful rebuttal is considered to belong to the other joint owner(s).

Other Assets

For assets other than bank accounts, unless there is evidence to the contrary, assume that each owner owns only his fractional interest of the shared asset.

5.6.3.B.3 Joint Ownership with Other SSI Medicaid Group Clients

When the joint owners include more than one applicant or client of an SSI Medicaid Group who are not spouses, the equity value of the asset is divided by the number of SSI Medicaid, M-WIN, CDCS, PAC, QDWI, QMB, SLIMB, or QI-1 clients, regardless of the number of other joint owners. The result is counted as an asset for each client.
5.6.3.B.4 Joint Ownership by Others

When all of the following conditions apply, jointly owned assets are counted in their entirety for each owner.

- Joint ownership is indicated by use of the word “OR.” See Section 5.3.4.
- The joint owners are not spouses.
- One of the joint owners is not an SSI recipient.
- The joint owners are not SSI Medicaid, M-WIN, CDCSP, PAC, QDWI, QMB, SLIMB, or QI-1 clients.
- The client has not successfully rebutted the presumption of full ownership.

5.6.3.B.5 Rebuttal When Client Denies Ownership of Assets

When the client has unrestricted access to assets, his ownership is presumed even though he does not consider himself an owner. He must be allowed to rebut the Department's presumption of ownership.

5.6.3.B.6 Evidence Necessary for Rebuttal

The client must provide the following evidence to rebut the presumption of ownership:

- A statement written by the client giving his explanation of ownership of the asset and the reason the asset is not accessible to him. In addition, when the asset is a bank account or certificate of deposit, the Worker must document who made deposits to and withdrawals from the account and who benefited from the funds.

- Corroborating statements from the other owners. However, if the joint owner is incompetent or a minor, it is not necessary to obtain a corroborating statement.

- Proof of change in the asset ownership designation that removes the client's name as an owner or restricts his access to the asset.
5.6.3.C Retroactive Payments

These are counted as an asset when retained as of the first moment of the month following the month of receipt, with the exception of the following.

➢ Retirement, Survivors and Disability Insurance (RSDI) and SSI Underpayments

The payments are excluded for nine months following the month of receipt.

➢ RSDI and SSI Restitution Payments for Misuse by a Representative Payee

The payments are excluded for nine months following the month of receipt.

5.6.3.D Burial Funds

A client may retain a maximum of $3,000 in burial funds for himself. He may also retain the same amount for his spouse. These funds may be in the form of money set aside for burial (maximum of $1,500, not comingled with other funds), face value of life insurance policies, revocable or some irrevocable burial trusts or prepaid funeral contracts, etc.

Burial trusts are treated like any other trust funds, unless all of the following conditions are met:

- The individual signs a contract with the funeral director promising prepayment in return for specific funeral merchandise and services. Such goods and services must be listed.
- The contract is irrevocable.
