About this Guide

This resource guide was assembled by the West Virginia DHHR, Bureau for Behavioral Health and Health Facilities, office of Consumer Affairs and Community Outreach as part of a broader initiative to help expand awareness of local resources available to people in their own communities. While many of us may be familiar with formal treatment services, it often appears that less of us are aware of non-treatment recovery type supports.

As the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration noted\(^1\) in its explanation of the need for Recovery Support programs, when establishing its working definition of recovery, the “process of recovery is highly personal and occurs via many pathways. It may include clinical treatment, medications, faith-based approaches, peer support, family support, self-care, and other approaches . . . Because recovery is a highly individualized process, recovery services and supports must be flexible to ensure cultural relevancy. What may work for adults in recovery may be very different for youth or older adults in recovery . . . Recovery support is provided through treatment, services, and community-based programs by behavioral health care providers, peer providers, family members, friends and social networks, the faith community, and people with experience in recovery. Recovery support services help people enter into and navigate systems of care, remove barriers to recovery, stay engaged in the recovery process, and live full lives in communities of their choice.”

Peer support values the expertise that comes from being a person with a disability. Peers have “been there, done that.” They can help you build self-esteem, learn new skills and feel less alone. Peer support programs serve the following counties: Monongalia, Preston, Randolph, Upshur, Tucker, and Barbour.

The Peer Support program hosts activities to create opportunities for people with disabilities to show their talents, gain new skills, and socialize with others.

Program Information

Oakhurst Heights is a facility operated by Oakhurst Outreach. It is a supportive, non-clinical environment that provides a safe residential space for women who are in the process of recovering from alcohol/drug addiction and transforming their lives.

Oakhurst Heights is not a drug treatment center, rather it is a “home-like” location where women can access the support needed to heal after alcohol/drug addiction treatment.

Women stay at Oakhurst Heights after drug and alcohol treatment, when going back to where they came from would not be a safe environment for them during their recovery. At Oakhurst Heights, they’ll have support from other women who know exactly what they’ve gone through, what they’re still going through, and who they can lean on in their future drug and alcohol-free lives.

Women who live at Oakhurst Heights have to commit to attend weekly AA and/or NA recovery meetings, but they do not receive counseling and treatment at the center. Women can live at Oakhurst Height for up to two years during their recovery for a minimal fee.

Program Information

In 2003, a group of individuals deeply concerned about the impact that drugs and alcohol were having on the community, came together to find a better way. They realized that in order to sustain long-term sobriety, a supportive living environment was needed. The former home of Mabel Gaudet was purchased and “Opportunity House,” a place for individuals and families to find recovery and a new life free from addiction was founded.

Working with Mabel’s daughter City Council woman Mary Gaudet Shoulders and other volunteers, The staff of Opportunity House, Inc. continued Mabel’s tradition of helping those in need, turning her home into a place of hope and healing. Opportunity House is open to everyone and provides an island of recovery and hope in central West Virginia.

Opportunity House provides a safe, supportive home for those who are seeking a new way of life free from addiction. It is part of a comprehensive recovery community that promotes individual recovery responsibility.

The program uses a holistic approach to recovery from addiction by addressing the physical, mental, emotional and spiritual aspects of the whole person. It provided housing: both transitional and long-term, daily twelve-step meetings, individualized treatment planning, and assistance in addressing many issues faced by those in recovery.
While some services such as Housing, Food, and Transportation are provided directly to program participants by Opportunity House Inc. Others such as Counseling services, Educational and Vocational training, Medical, and Mental Health Services are provided by a comprehensive collection of community partners.

To enter Opportunity House, residents must be clean and sober prior to entering, agree to abide by the house rules, and commit to a minimum stay of 6 months.

Oxford Houses of West Virginia

Contact: John Fox, Regional Outreach Coordinator
Telephone: 304-650-4184
E-Mail: john.fox@oxfordhouse.org
Website: http://www.oxfordhouse.org/directory.php

Locations: As of November, 2015 there are currently Oxford Houses located in Beckley, Benwood, Charles Town, Charleston, Dunbar, Huntington, Martinsburg, Oak Hill, Parkersburg, and Wheeling.

Program Information

Oxford House is a concept in recovery from drug and alcohol addiction. In its simplest form, an Oxford House describes a democratically run, self-supporting and drug free home. Parallel to this concept lies the organizational structure of Oxford House, Inc. This publicly supported, non-profit 501(c)3 corporation is the umbrella organization which provides the network connecting all Oxford Houses and allocates resources to duplicate the Oxford House concept where needs arise.
The number of residents in a House may range from six to fifteen; there are houses for men, houses for women, and houses which accept women with children. Oxford Houses flourish in metropolitan areas such as New York City and Washington D.C. and thrive in such diverse communities as Hawaii, Washington State, Canada and Australia; but they all abide by the basic criteria.

To apply a person must be in recovery from alcoholism and/or drug addiction.

A recovering individual must complete a standard “Application for Membership” and be interviewed by the residents of the house he or she want to live in. Click "Application for Membership" on the above web page’s How To Apply page to get a downloadable PDF copy to fill out before you go to your interview.

Find the Oxford House in the area you want by checking “Vacancies” on the home page of the above website. A special page will come up with a map of the United States. In the box at the top put in where you are looking for an Oxford House. Also check whether you want a house for men or women. Then pull down number of houses you want to review. A map will then come up showing houses that have vacancies. Click on the house you want and a pop-up will appear with three tabs at the top. Click on info and it will give you the number of vacancies and the phone number. Then call the house for an interview. Bring a completed application with you to the interview.

Hints for acceptance include: [A] show sincerity about recovery, [B] emphasize regular attendance at 12-Step meetings, [C] explain how you can pay the equal share of expenses collected by the group on either a weekly or monthly basis and the move-in sobriety deposit [usually equal to the equal share expense] and [D] be absolutely honest on the application and in the interview because it is very difficult to con fellow addicts in recovery.

Sometimes several individuals will apply to fill one vacancy. If you are not selected, simply try another house with a vacancy. It is not unusual that an individual who gets rejected at one house applies at another house with a vacancy and gets accepted.

If you are turned down at one house, evaluate your posture and apply at another. There is no stigma or penalty applied by a rejection; it is merely the judgment of the residents as to inviting you into their home. When you are a resident, you will be called upon to make similar decisions about new applicants.

Program Information

Recovery Point of Huntington provides a long-term program of recovery from alcohol and drug addiction. Since opening in January of 2011, Recovery Point of Huntington has graduated over 120 men. Currently, Recovery Point provides housing, food, and recovery services to 100 men. This peer-driven, social model of recovery has proven to be effective in initiating and sustaining long-term recovery from addiction. Current program statistics show that over 68% of graduates remain abstinent one year.

Traditional treatment centers operate under a clinical model comprised of licensed clinicians, counselors, and physicians. Recovery Point utilizes a peer-driven, social model introduced by The Healing Place of Louisville, KY which utilizes Peer Mentors as class facilitators. Each Peer Mentor will share their recovery experience with another peer early in recovery. The program places individuals in real-life experiences where they learn how to live sober. This same model is being replicated throughout West Virginia through funding from the Justice Reinvestment Act.

What is non-medical detox?
This refers to the process of detoxification from alcohol and drugs without pharmaceutical intervention. A typical stay in detox lasts 5-7 days. At least one Detox Monitor trained in CPR and First Aid is on duty at all times to monitor vitals for withdrawal symptoms. No medication is administered during the detoxification stage unless deemed medically necessary prior to the individual arriving. If a client requires medical attention, they will be immediately admitted to one of the local hospitals and remain under the care of hospital staff until medically cleared. As soon as the client is medically stabilized, he is required to attend in-house meetings and classes that will prepare him to participate in the recovery program.

What are the specific phases in the recovery program?

Off the Street (OTS) I and II: OTS residents are required to attend daily classes and participate in 12-Step meetings where they are introduced to the core concepts of recovery. Through interactions with peers who provide guidance, support, and model appropriate social and life skills. Participants are challenged daily to practice sober living skills, acquired through peers and staff in recovery. OTS residents will learn the basics of personal accountability to the group, and begin to move away from the “street” mentality.

Recovery Phase I: In exchange for room and board, all Phase I residents are required to complete daily job assignments and fulfill the requirements of the formal program of recovery 1) the curriculum of Recovery Dynamics 2) Peer Mentoring 3) Community Meetings.

Recovery Phase II: Residents who become Silver Chip eligible will have one of two options upon graduation: 1) Move into the Peer Mentor office 2) Move into the transitional living house. Peer Mentors are compensated through a small stipend, while transitional residents must be gainfully employed, pay rent and meet the house requirements as set forth by the Phase II Coordinator.

Recovery Point Huntington is also now offering classroom and online training for individuals interested in earning a peer recovery credential for the treatment of alcohol and drug abuse. Classes will be conducted in Charleston, WV beginning July 17, 2015. The free training provides the education credit hours necessary for credentialing by the West Virginia Certification Board for Addiction and Prevention Professionals for those who wish to work in the substance abuse and alcoholism recovery and rehabilitation fields.

Applicants for the training must have at least nine months sobriety and pass a drug/alcohol screen. Interested individuals may contact Greg Perry at Recovery Point Huntington 304-523-4673 for more information.

Program Information

The West Virginia Leadership Academy is an exemplary self-advocacy training program held several times throughout the year that provides a foundation for enhancing consumer skills for effective speaking and civic advocacy. The academy is open to any adult with mental illness as well as adult family members of persons with mental illness and/or addiction histories.

West Virginia adopted the Leadership Academy for Consumers and Families through the efforts of the Director of the Office of Behavioral Health Services, who was aware of the program from his work in Idaho. Key leaders within the Office of Behavioral Health Services, the West Virginia Mental Health Consumers Association, and the West Virginia Alliance for the Mentally Ill obtained a Federal grant to modify the curriculum and initiate the program in West Virginia. Leadership Academy materials have been utilized in most states and in several foreign countries. The curriculum has been translated into several languages.

The West Virginia Leadership Academy is held over a three-day, two-night period; meals and lodging are provided. The training includes classroom instruction, social and networking events, and concludes with a graduation celebration.

Program Information

The Kanawha Valley Fellowship Home is a West Virginia non-profit organization, supporting men who are serious about their recovery from alcohol and substance abuse who need a chance to build independent living skills in a structured residential environment.

The Kanawha Valley Fellowship Home offers an environment with personal security and the opportunity to begin a new life by breaking destructive patterns of behavior associated with alcoholism and addiction.

The home has fifteen individual bedrooms and eight and one half bathrooms. The programs are structured and include outside recovery meetings, weekly in house meetings of "Recovery Dynamics", and a group session with a certified addiction counselor.

Newly admitted residents must be in recovery, capable and willing to work full time and adhere to the KVFH rules and regulations. Potential residents are referred from treatment centers, detoxification facilities and personal, professional, and medical sources. The applicants’ commitment to the program is a minimum of six months with a potential of one year’s residency. The home provides:

• Room and board seven days a week
• Around the clock staff availability and supervision

• Individual counseling and group therapy

• Job placement assistance

• A program of activity designed to assist residents in overcoming addiction and maintaining sobriety.

Programs and services are provided both in-house and in cooperation with other groups or agencies with which the home regularly interacts.

KVFH is not a free program and it does have expectations of each resident. Individuals are expected to pay $75.00 a week toward their room and board. This places a certain amount of responsibility upon the resident for his own recovery process. Upon admission most of the residents are unemployed and receive services without cost until employment is gained. They are also expected to do washing, cleaning, light maintenance and other tasks at the home.

Kanawha Valley Fellowship Home receives referrals from treatment centers such as Thomas Memorial Hospital and Prestera Center, as well as from shelters, doctors, and families and friends. The director and house manager interview prospective residents to determine if they are a candidate for KVFH’s programs. To be successful in KVFH’s programs requires a sincere commitment and willingness to change. Residents must abide by house rules and work in the community.

For information about referrals or the admissions process, please call David McFarland at (304) 342-8051.

Program Information

The Lifehouse, Inc. (WV) is a voluntary faith-based fellowship that provides affordable housing away from drugs and alcohol. It offers safe, clean and sober housing for all stages of recovery. It encompasses a "self-help" peer awareness approach to recovery for people with alcoholism and addictions. The program firmly believes that responsibility indicates growth. The homes offer an alcohol and drug free environment in which people recovering are able to live together in an organized and structured way.

THE LIFEHOUSE - 4th Street
The Lifehouse- 4th Street was the first of the program’s sober living facilities. It is located near the Southside of Huntington, WV in a clean family neighborhood. The home houses up to 12 men and includes a living room, family room, exercise area, and office in the historic 3 floor home.

THE WOMEN'S LIFEHOUSE - 5th Avenue & Trenton Place
The FIRST installment of The Life House's sober living choices for women is The Lifehouse-5th Avenue. The home opened in April 2013. It serves 14 women during their sobriety journey and coincides with the program guidelines and structure of The Lifehouse-4th Street. The Lifehouse-5th Avenue includes a living room, family room, dining room, back deck, meeting area/office, and a clothing donation area.
The next women’s house was Trenton Place and also run and coincides with the other programs.

THE LIFEHOUSE- 4th Street II
The Lifehouse, Inc. re-opened its third installment at a residence next to its first home in Huntington, WV. The home serves up to 10 men and operates parallel to the other homes of The Lifehouse. The home offers a comfortable environment that includes newly remodeled living space for program participants.

THE LIFEHOUSE- After Life
The Lifehouse includes a residence for participants that have shown positive outcomes, stability, and leadership and are ready to transition into their own residences in the near future. This new feature of the program is located in proximity of The Lifehouse-4th Street and The Lifehouse-4th Street II. It allows the residents of the home to take on more responsibility for their behavior and addiction by continuing with the available program support and lessened program rules and structure. This opportunity allows the staff to allow the participants to use the skills gained in one of the other residences and utilize them with less supervision but the same degree of accountability.

The Lifehouse- 9th Ave
The Lifehouse 9th Ave is our newest edition of The Lifehouse's. It is a large spacious family oriented atmosphere in the east end of Huntington. The 9th Ave is overseen by Justin Ponton a Lifehouse alumni who now helps men overcome the same struggles he personally walked through several years ago.

The Lifehouse Recovery Center
The Lifehouse is excited about the upcoming opening of an intensive recovery residence in Wayne County, WV. The site will be used as a home for men requiring a solace atmosphere to begin their journey of sobriety. The home sits on a 40 acres and it includes a pond, walking trails, a cabin, and beautiful country scenery.

Program Information

Peer Resource Network (PRN) is a peer operated agency offering services to help in the development of the statewide infrastructure needed by consumers who wish to form peer organizations. These can be groups wishing to have a voice in the development, operation, and maintenance of treatment and aftercare services for people who are experiencing mental health and/or addiction issues. It can be helping peers set up drop-in, wellness, recovery, and resource centers in their communities. PRN serves as a source of information and guidance in developing boards of directors, vision and mission statements, bylaws and other documents needed to become a legal entity. The staff assists in writing grants and working the steps to obtain a 501(c)3 designation. PRN has access to individuals with training to teach numerous peer related subjects such as Recovery Coach training, teaching people to do Mental Health First Aid, how to develop mentoring programs for staff and volunteers, etc. It serves as a central organizing agent to bring peer groups together to share ideas and support each other. PRN works to help consumers become a part of the development of new and needed services. It supports peers as they become stronger participants in seeing to that needed services and unmet needs are brought forward.

The organizers of PRN have over twenty-five combined years of experience working in the peer fields of mental health and addiction. The strengthening of peer services and commitment to collaborate with all agencies involved in providing care to this population is a proposed outcome of the project.

Warm Line: 304 679-8183

Program Information

Peer Support, Inc. provides peer support services to adults with mental health issues helping them to live successfully in their communities through supportive housing programs.

Peer Support, Inc.’s approach to recovery includes support to avoid depression and loneliness; educational opportunities to expand knowledge and understanding including medication effectiveness; volunteerism to encourage community interaction and acceptance; as well as fun activities that promote wellness.

This peer run, peer support organization encourages and enables people to take control of their lives, voice opinions, make decisions, understand consequences, and realize they have the ability to change and improve themselves and their communities. All of the programs utilize peer support and focus on respect, responsibility and reasonable expectations.

The Peer Support Warm Line receives calls from all across America. People searching for help come across our web site and see the Warm Line and call. From Maine to Oregon and the Carolina's the warm line staff have helped adults with mental health issues through some tough times. The line is operated 24 hours a day, seven days a week - one caller at a time!

The Warm Line is supposed to be a warm, friendly place to chat when you can't find anyone else. Staff can and do refer people to crisis lines but often the person on the other end of the call feels a bond and doesn't want to deal with someone else, so they just keep talking till the other person's concern grows less desperate.

Another wonderful use of the warm line is past residents who find themselves in need of some peer support and feel comfortable calling in to talk. Occasionally someone will call to have someone to celebrate or share a milestone or special event such as a month sober or "it's my birthday". Even current residents find it useful at odd hours or who find it easier to speak to a more anonymous voice than an actual in your face person. Sometimes people just need the WARM LINE to get them through a less than great day.

Peer Support, Inc.'s housing program supplies peer support, furnished housing, meals and goal setting. Homes are located on 19th Street and include:

4 double bedrooms and 2 single bedrooms at Victory Memorial,
1 double, 2 singles at Carriage House, and
1 double, 2 singles at William Manor.

All beds are for adults with mental health issues who want to work on their recovery.
